In a Very Short Time He Got Great Relief

Saskatchewan Man Used Doddy's Kidney Pills

Parkerview, Sask., April 20 (Special)—"About three years ago I suffered with Backache and Rheumatism and could hardly move," writes Mr. R. Parkerview, who lives at this place.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and after taking the first box I felt better. So I got a few more boxes which gave me great relief in a short time.

"The natural way to treat Backache and Rheumatism is to treat the Kidneys and the natural way to treat the Kidneys is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Backache is caused by the presence of uric acid in the blood. If the Kidneys are sluggish in duty they will slrain all the uric acid out, or if they are diseased can no more Rheumatism.

"Therefore, put the Kidneys in shape to do their duty by using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Just give them a trial and be convinced. Obtainable from all Druggists, or The Dodds Medicine Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

"PINKHAM'S COMPOUND IS WONDERFUL"

Read This Letter from a Grateful Woman

Vassan, Ont.—"I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is wonderful. I have had nine children of which four are living and my youngest is a bonnie baby boy now eight months old who weighs 23 pounds. I have taken your medicine before each of them was born and have certainly received great benefit from it. I urge my friends to take it as I am sure they will receive the same help I did."—Mrs. Milton Mc-Muller, Vassan, Ontario.

"Way Out West" with William Haines Opens at The Capitol

RUSTIC WEST STILL EXISTENT.

The days when bandits swooped down on unwary coach trains and it was as much as your life was worth to attempt to cross the western deserts may have long passed into oblivion, but there still remains the feeling of romance and adventure on the western prairies.

These may have changed, the breed of cattle may be different and modern civilization may have left its mark, but the same cowboys of yore, the same reckless and the same spirit of daredevil adventure are still there, claims William Haines, the well-known comedian, whose latest picture "Way Out West" opens at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow (Thursday) for three days.

The location for this comedy drama of the cow-country is divided between the Fort Tejon cattle ranch, where thousands of cattle roamed, and the Hoal Indian Pueblo country near Gallup, New Mexico.

The story is fast and furious opening with shots of a circus, where Windy (Bill Haines), a side show grafter wins all the wages of the cow of the week.

boys from a nearby ranch. A dancer in the troupe steals the money and flees, whilst the boys, discovering Windy's crooked methods, follow him back to the ranch as a floor-scrubber and dish washer. There he falls in love with Molly, the owner of the ranch, and her interest in him fires the jealousy of Steve one of the cowboys.

Whilst the boys are at a round-up Molly is bitten by a rattlesnake and Windy rushes her to a Hoal Indian snake doctor. The ranch hands think he has eloped and follow determined to lynch him. Windy hides in an Indian pueblo, holding the men off with a gun, even after they have discovered the truth and want to apologize.

A hilarious comedy climax paves the way to the romance that follows and all ends well.

Lelia Hyams is cast as Molly, whilst Polly Moran and Cliff Edwards supply the soap suds and song respectively.

A comedy, a cartoon and the news will complete the programme which remains at the Capitol for the rest of the week.

H. M. S. "TIGER" ENDS CAREER

Famous Ship Will be Scrapped at Devonport

Plymouth, England, April 21 (CP). —H.M.S. Tiger recently returned to Plymouth with the other ships of the Atlantic Fleet and then went up the harbor to Devonport flytuz a paying-off pennant, which is to be the end of her career as a fighting unit of the Navy. She is to be scrapped.

This famous ship was laid down on June 20, 1912, at Clydebank, and, having been launched on Dec. 15, 1913, she was completed in October, 1914, at a cost of £10,437,-450. Her normal displacement was 28,500 tons, her length over all is 704 ft. 6 ins., and her maximum draught 34 ft. She is armed with eight 13.5 in. guns, 12 6 in., four 3 in. high angle, four 3-pounders, and four 21 in. submerged torpedo tubes. Her 85,000 h.p. turbines, the steam for which is supplied by 39 boilers, give her a speed of between 28 and 30 knots, and at this speed she burns about 1,200 tons of oil-fuel a day. Her annual upkeep is $218,450, and since her completion she has had several refits, each costing large sums of money. During the Great War she served with Admiral Beatty in the Grand Fleet, taking part in the action off the Dogger Bank and in the Battle of Jutland. At Jutland she was the fourth ship in the line until H.M.S. Queen Mary ahead of her was blown up, and then the Tiger took her place astern of the Princess Royal. During this battle the Tiger was hit 24 times, but her casualties were only 24 killed and 27 wounded, which seemed to bear out the claim that she was the most soundly constructed ship ever built. In recent years she has been the gunnery practice ship at Portland, until she recommissioned with a Devonport crew on May 17, 1929, for service with the Atlantic Fleet and the Mediterranean Fleet. During this, her last commission, she specialized in winning the Rodman Cup for racing cutters, the Fleet boxing cup, the King's cup for football, and the Tiger Rose Bowl cups, so, after she has come under the hammer, she will not be forgotten.

The Mulberry Dress

BY MARY ETHEL

Mary Lou hung her coat on the rail, dabbed a bit of powder over a nose too straight nose, and went wearily to her desk.

Another day to drag through, but worse—another night! She could shut out Jim's face a little while as she separated the mail: while she took Mr. Baldwin's dictation, she could forget Sally's upturned nose, her wide laughing mouth with the freckle on the edge that she longed upon having kissed. Jim was kissing that freckle last night while they thought she was upstairs getting her coat. Horrid, horrid freckle and saying: "Baby, you're slick!"

Mary Lou hadn't realized, really, until then that Jim had been hanging round her for just such moments as those with Sally. She had thought—but what difference did it make what she had thought?

A tear splashed over the edge of Mary Lou's stubby thick eyelashes. Sally had everything; dozens of men who wanted to take her places, short curly hair, a quick comeback, and that freckle! As far back as Mary Lou could remember Sally had had everything; most of the candy and all of the extra two-cent cones. Mary Lou hadn't minded much until Sally had wanted Jim—Jim with his sweet serious eyes that contrasted so oddly with his curly little boy's hair. There never had been anyone but Jim for Mary Lou. She took out her compact in an effort to cover the track of that tear. Mary Lou ran her fingers lightly over skin that was just a shade too dark to be touched, the thick braid of her hair. Well, she couldn't blame Jim, exactly. She wasn't much to look at.

Mary Lou jumped as Maisie slammed the door. Maisie always slammed doors but she got away with it —which was what counted. Maisie said. Mary Lou had known Maisie a long time; in fact, Maisie was second in Sally's crowd.

"Any personals for me this morning, Prim?" Maisie asked, leaning over Mary Lou's shoulder. Mary Lou took ed up.

"Well as I live and die." Maisie exclaimed. "Look! our little Miss Priscilla hasn't been weeping! What's it all about, honey? Some man bigger your heart?"

Mary Lou intended denying this but instead she sobbed. "It's Jim," she murmured, "Jim and Sally." I well, he's fallen for her. It isn't his fault, not really" she was talking fast, trying to hold back the tears. "She's so pretty and up-to-date and Windy rushes her to a Hoal Indian snake doctor. The ranch hands think he has eloped and follow determined to lynch him. Windy hides in an Indian pueblo, holding the men off with a gun, even after they have discovered the truth and want to apologize.

A hilarious comedy climax paves the way to the romance that follows and all ends well.

Lelia Hyams is cast as Molly, whilst Polly Moran and Cliff Edwards supply the soap suds and song respectively.

A comedy, a cartoon and the news will complete the programme which remains at the Capitol for the rest of the week.

"Sally's out," interrupted Maisie, "and took away that five thousand when we got going there won't be any left."

"But Maisie," Mary Lou said. "I don't understand."

"You don't have to," laughed Maisie, "just come along. But," she added, "in case you're too confused, I'm throwing a party to-night—a knockout of a party. There's a certain young man."

"Maisie," Mary Lou said, "you're a peach and I'll go, but I'm afraid you can't do anything about it."

They went to a beauty shop way back in the rear of a store; one that didn't look very expensive. Maisie told a girl named Nanette to thin out Mary Lou's hair and explained to Mary Lou that it was much too thick to be chic. After that they went to a millinery saloon where a small French shop that was going full blast specialized in millinery that had sharp zigzag lines in it. Maisie took one look at Mary Lou's head it against Mary Lou, and said that it would do. They had to hurry back to the office.

Mary Lou smiled a little as she slip ped into her dress, she couldn't think that all she had to do was to have a wand over an old dress and get a princess. Did she think that Jim would be taken in by a dress, even a mulberry dress. A lump came in her throat, and she turned quickly to her typewriter.

Maisie took Mary Lou with her that night and talked in a bright determined manner all the time that they were dressing.

"If I do say it I shouldn't," Maisie said as she parted Mary Lou's hair, "I'm some artist. When I get through with you tonight Big Bad Jim will be begging for mercy."

Mary Lou's mouth smiled, but she was too miserable to care. Well she'd just lost him, that was all. Lost him to Sally, who hadn't even got a dress. You couldn't fool Jim with a dress.

"Take a good look at that", Maisie was exultant as she led Mary Lou to the mirror back of the closet door.

Mary Lou turned to Maisie quickly, her eyes wide with astonishment. "Tell me Maisie," she pleaded, "am I—is this—me?"

Mary Lou walked up closer, touched herself in the mirror. Her dark hair fell in soft folds about her head there was a knot low on her neck. At the tip of each ear was a gold ear-rings. The zigzag lines in her dress made her look slimmer, and her more height! Her dark skin came alive against the color in her dress. "Oh Maisie," Mary Lou breathed, "do you really think he'll like me now?" Then her eyes misted. "You don't think," she said doubtfully, "that he'll—he'll see through that? My dressing up for him, I mean."

"Don't be silly," Maisie answered as she ran a perfumed finger over Mary Lou's eyebrow, "all men fall for clothes."

Jim was late but when he came he found Mary Lou in the midst of a half dozen boys. A tall boy named Tommy was begging her to dance with him, but Jim brushed him aside.

Jim, however, didn't get very far with her before Tommy was back. And after Tommy there were others. Jim scowled at her from the corner, and Mary Lou's heart thumped hard against the tight mulberry dress. He did care! Nothing mattered as long as Jim cared! Mary Lou laughed and the boy she was with thought he was being clever.

"Mary Lou," Jim said as he cut in, "let's get away from here. I've got something important I have to tell you."

"Not Sally," Mary Lou said.

"Oh Sally," Jim answered, as if he were trying to remember a person by the name of Sally. "Huh! Jake Sally."

"Honey," Jim whispered as Mary Lou slipped into her coat. "I've been a awful dumb-bell. I didn't know until tonight how much I loved you.

But when I saw you with those other boys," he slipped his arm round her coat—against the mulberry dress, "well—"

Jim found her lips. It was just as well, Mary Lou decided as she ran her fingers through his thick, curly hair, about the dress!

STRENGTH!

to Meet Today's Motoring Needs

Motorists today drive faster and harder—they pile up bigger mileage than ever before.

Out of this strenuous motoring age has come the modern Dominion Tire—with greater strength and greater endurance. Stronger to resist wear. Stronger to free you from tire trouble. Stronger to ensure greater safety. Stronger to give extra mileage—

Actually 18 per cent stronger than any other! That's Dominion Royal quality!

The moment you see this new-day tire, you read greater strength in its rugged beauty. You sense it in the husky deep-notched tread. You see it in the buttressed side walls.

Tread and side walls are things you can see. Yet they tell only part of the story. Beneath the tread . . . developed by exclusive manufacturing processes, lies the strongest tire carcass known. Buy Dominion quality.

YOUNG VICTIM IS IMPROVING

Hiram Rosebush of Glen Ross Died Suddenly

SIDING, April 21 (By Mail)—We are pleased to report little Betty Rea cook, who was accidentally hurt by an auto on Sunday, is progressing favourably.

Miss Dorothy Morton has completed her examinations in Queen's and has returned home.

Gardening and house cleaning is the order of the day, the weather being very propitious for same though rain is badly needed.

Rev. Jas Endicott from the West is to speak in St. Paul's church on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Norman Rosebush has been quite ill and is under the doctor's care.

Miss Jean Blake of Campbellford, spent Sunday in Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Whitehead, Glen and Mr. Charlie Allan, were Campbellford callers on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Gertie Calloran spent Tuesday evening with her friend, Mrs. Joe Whitehead.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Magee and two boys were Sunday callers at the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Magee.

What might have proved a disastrous fire occurred Monday morning through Mr. Delbert Usman burning up debris and the fire spread to fences adjoining. A bucket brigade was formed but finally it became necessary to call for the help of a neighbor's summer waterworks to get the fire under control. Fences made by the water had been turned on a couple of weeks earlier this year. People should be very careful in this waterless system "burg" and at such a dry time, in setting out a fire.

A fire started in the Village dump on Sunday morning and the countless all went to combat the fire. Messrs. Pitchett and Weir left St. Paul's church to help. Fortunately it was soon put out.

Hands Across the Seas Mission Band.

The above Mission Band met in the church parlors on Sunday at 2.30 p.m. with a very good attendance, Pearl Keating, the President, was in the chair. An interesting program was put on.

A very sudden death occurred on Monday morning at eight o'clock, when Mr. Hiram Rosebush, of Glen Ross, passed away. Mr. Rosebush went to bed in his usual health but in the middle of the night he awoke with severe pains around the heart. A doctor was called but to no avail, he passed away in the early morning. Mr. Rosebush was a highly respected Christian man, a kindly neighbor, a devoted husband and a faithful member of St. Paul's United Church of Stirling, in politics Mr. Rosebush was a Liberal. He will be greatly missed in the home circle and surrounding country. He leaves his widow, six daughters, Mrs. H. Hollis of Stirling; Mrs. Roy Bush, Bessie at Sidney; Gladys and Florence at home; Mrs. Jack Laies of Saskatoon, and Mrs. Peter Palmer, Girvan, Sask.; Ernest at home, and Norman who resides on the homestead. The funeral will take place on Wednesday

A rather unique occurrence at the funeral of the late Matthew Johnson was that fourteen sons were present and one step-son; also a step-daughter. Six married sons bore the casket to the church where an impressive service was held by Rev. F. J. Joblin in Wellman's United Church.

AUXILIARY BID MEMBER ADIEU

On Tuesday afternoon, April 14th, the members of the W. A. of Christ Church and Rev. Mr. Clarke, met at the home of Mrs. Cephas Johnson on Borrell street, to bid farewell to Mrs. J. H. Reid, one of their members, before she left to make her home with her daughter at Wallridge, Mrs. W. J. Bowey presented Mrs. Reid with the "Story of the Bible" written by the Rev. Josse Lyman Hurlbut, D.D., and Mrs. Alvin Morton read the following address:

Dear Mrs. Reid, It is with deep regret that we have learned that you are departing from our ch.y. No Doubt it is with feelings of regret that you are leaving what has been your home for so long, and we are sorry that your delicate health has made it necessary for you to do so, but we know you have chosen wisely.

We feel that we would be remiss in our duty if we did not voice our appreciation of the part, you have taken in our circle. Please accept this little gift as a token of our love and respect for you, and as you turn these pages may they bring fond memories of your fellow-Bellerille friends.

Signed on behalf of your friends,
Rev. C. E. Clarke
Mrs. Coulter
Mrs. Morton.

Mrs. Reid, completely taken by surprise, made a very feeling reply and thanked her many friends for all their kind expressions and invited them all to visit her in the country.

FISH RUN IS LIGHT THIS YEAR

Sea Flea Devotees Start Summer Sport

Picton, April 22 By Mail— Reports from the different fisheries in the country indicate that either the run of fish is late or will be light this year. To date, catches have only been fair, and much smaller than last spring. White fish and trout are the chief fish caught, herring being scarce. Prices are firm and fishermen have no trouble in disposing of their catches. In Prince Edward County, the chief fisheries are at Point Traverse, Indian Point, Consecon, Salmon Point, South Bay, Waupoos and Wellington. The annual catch is worth many thousands of dollars and several hundred people make their living in this way.

The Provincial Government has set its trap nets in the Bay of Quinte in the vicinity of Adolphustown. Eggs from the fish are taken to the Glenora Fish Hatchery which is the largest of its kind in Canada.

The Picton-Kingston bus commenced operations on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Zufelt visited friends in Prince Edward county last week. Mr. Zufelt is a former resident of the county and was educated at Picton Collegiate. Last Wednesday he received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity at Queen's Theological College.

On Sunday, April 12, he was married in Rochester to Evelyn Frances, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. McAuley, of Kingston.

There were many boats on the bay Sunday and one sea flea was among them. Motoring was also a favorite pastime on this very warm day.

Mrs. Garnet McMahon of Omemee is a guest of her brother, Mr. C. Carter.

Rev. Father Whalen is in charge of St. Gregory's Church Parish until Rev. Fr. Corrigan is sufficiently recovered to take charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ward motored to Gananoque and were guests of the former's brother, Mr. H. S. Ward and Mrs. Ward.

The Dr. Shorey Class was pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Lighthall, Main St. East, for their April meeting. Following a program, refreshments were served.

The Glen Allan mares her first trip to Montreal on April 27.

BRITAIN WILL CONSIDER HER OWN INTERESTS

London, April 21.—The Government of the United Kingdom will not consult the governments of the great growing dominions before deciding on the form of its contemplated wheat quota purchasing scheme, designed to ensure the use of certain percentage of British wheat flour mills.

Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions, made this clear in answering the questions in the House of Commons today. The dominions made it clear they considered their own interests first and Britain must do the same he added. Mr. Thomas said the Government had undertaken to consult the Dominion Governments as soon as it was in a position to do so.

The Oil for the Farmer.—A bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the farm house will save many a journey for the doctor. It is not only good for the children when taken with colds and croup, and for the mature who suffer from pains and aches, but there are directions for its use on sick cattle. There should always be a bottle of it in the house.

Expenditures for military purposes in Austria are expected to reach nearly $16,000,000 this year.

Even up to the late 1860's steel plates for ships, bridges and boilers were virtually unknown.

TWEED MILL IS TOTALLY DESTROYED BY FIRE

TWEED MILLING PLANT AND ELEVATOR WERE COMPLETELY DESTROYED BY FLAMES

Whole Village Was Threat ened at One Time—Residents Spent a Restless Night, Fearing Fresh Outbreaks—Loss Will Run Into Thousands—Is Still Smouldering — Num ber of Men Thrown Out of Employment by Disas ter — Volunteer Department Worked Heroic ally

A raging holocaust that at one time threatened the destruction of the village of Tweed, yesterday afternoon consumed the fine elevator and mill owned by the Tweed Milling Company, causing a loss so far unestimated. It is stated that the loss from the contents stored within the elevator will run to $15,000 and upwards. At noon today it had not been determined just how much insurance covered the buildings, but there will be some loss there also. Harold Furdy, manager of the Milling Company, stated that the business would not have been sold for $40,000.

Early yesterday afternoon fire was discovered in the elevator. Less than five minutes later, flames were shooting skyward and the highly inflammable contents of the structure were fearing blaze. The Tweed fire department was called out, consisting of about a dozen men and equipment, but they could do little. Two streams of water were played on the elevator, but were not powerful enough to reach the top, some sixty feet above the ground.

Late last night the entire mill was completely destroyed but was still smouldering and probably will continue to for some days unless a much needed rain arrives. Sparks and burning embers were lying over the surrounding countryside for miles around during the afternoon and evening and one time and another, eight or nine buildings were set afire The entire adult population of the village turned out to save the town from conflagration. Volunteer firemen helped to beat out the flames on the roofs of other buildings.

At one time the Separate School building, over a quarter of a mile away from the burning mill caught fire, the flames, with difficulty, being extinguished. Last night the sky glowed for miles around from the burning debris. There was little rest in the village during the night. A high wind aroused fear that the flames might break out at any minute in a fresh place.

WHOLE VILLAGE TOTALLY BLIND

Inhabitants Search for Food When Darkness Descends

Washington, D. C., Apr. 23. — A village of six hundred people is totally or partially blind, who never venture from their homes until after sundown was decided by Dr. Miguel Bustamante, Cuban Delegate to the second Panama – American Conference of Health Directors.

The village is Tulegio, in the state of Oaxaca, Mexico. Situated high in the mountains, it is reached only by a few horse trails and has almost no malady contact with the outside. The malady which blinded the inhabitants is known in the medical world as onchocercosis, and is contracted from the insect, the eradication of which has given hope in fight on the malady of which little is known. The disease causes blindness and, in addition — sensitiveness to light, so that one is stricken with it cannot stand sunlight. It is estimated there are twenty thousand cases in Mexico.

In the remote little villages where the people are suffering, there is no church, school, store, or public building, the inhabitants grow little corn and raise a few sheep. It is a weird sensation, he said, to see these folk stepping from their huts at dusk to hunt their food, berries and corn.

KING'S AUNT DIED IN PARIS

Was Left by Royal Family in Madrid at Abdication

Paris, April 23 (CP)— Infanta Isabella, aunt of Alfonso of Spain, died in the hospital here today. She was eighty years old.

Infanta Isabella's sister, Infanta Eulalia, and Infanta Beatrice, sister of Queen Marie of Rumania, were at the bedside. Victoria was notified at the hotel in Fontainebleau, where the family of the deposed Spanish ruler, have made their home and arrived at the clinic a few hours later.

Seeming ill at ease, Infanta Isabella was taken by the Count Paulo to Lausanne, without telling her of their departure jo France. But upon hearing the news and cheering in the republican mob, she asked what was the matter and then insisted of also being taken to France.

COMMANDER OF AIR DEFENSES KILLED TODAY

Vice Marshall Felton Vesey Holt Died in Smash

Seahurst Park, Sussex, Eng., Apr. 23.—Air Vice Marshall Felton Vesey Holt, Commander of the Air Defences of Great Britain, was killed today in an aeroplane collision. His pilot, Flight Lieut. Henry Moody, also was killed but the occupant of the other plane escaped injury.

Vice Marshal Holt was one of the pioneers of the Royal Air Force and had received the Distinguished Service Order for valor in a distinguished career. He was promoted to his present post, last January and appointed Air Officer Commanding the Fighting Arvo of Air Defenses of Great Britain" as recently as April 7. He had seen considerable prominence during the inquiry into the crash of the R-101 in which he was in charge of a party which made a technical examination of the airship's ruins in France.

BLOOMFIELD MAN RETURNS FROM EARTHQUAKE AREA

Tells Stirring Tale of Existing Conditions in Nicaragua

Richard Scott of Bloomfield has returned from Nicaragua and brings back with him a tale of much suffering and hardship following the recent quake and revolution in that country. Mr. Scott is an intimate friend of Constable Fred Isaacs of the Belleville police force who journeyed to Bloomfield yesterday to renew acquaintances and to hear the many strange stories that Mr. Scott recounted. Scott is employed on a large plantation in that district and was home on a month's leave of absence to visit his wife and friends. He left the district before the revolution and it is not likely he will be able to return before his leave expires. The condition of the country does not warrant his return as many Canadians and United States residents are coming home to be relieved of anxiety.

Mr. Scott stated to his friend that all commodities of living are exceedingly high in the district. Potatoes sell for $7.00 a bushel while butter is $2.00 a pound and the year round while eggs are 70 cents a dozen with all other necessities in equal proportion. The whites are ravged in that country and murders are not uncommon. The superintendents and managers of the plantations have fairly comfortable homes but the majority of the residents live in squalid hovels. The visitor brought home with him the skins of several snakes and the parrot, while monkeys abound. Mr. Scott at the present time is trying to get in touch with his firm through radiogram, but so far has been unable to do so as it is believed the radio station is out of commission due to the activities of the natives in the revolution.

PROBING DEATH OF FIRST WIFE

Former St. Catharines Man May Be Implicated in Murder

Catskill, N. Y., Apr. 23.—Authorities in St. Catharines, Ont., are believed to be investigating the death in that city in 1926 of Mrs. Hazel Roediger, wife of George Roediger, who is in jail here charged with bigamy.

Basic evidence in the case they are investigating the allegation of the brother-in-law of Roediger's second wife, that Roediger was responsible for his sister's death a week last summer.

The bigamy charge was brought by the first Mrs. Roediger, who charged she had been married to Roediger for two years before the death of his wife.

St. Catharines, Apr. 23.—Mrs. Metis Roediger died here in the summer of 1926 of pneumonia, according to investigation at that time showed. Inquiry into alleged poison for headache powders, but no blame was attached to anyone.

Roediger and his daughter moved to Catskill where the death of the second wife occurred a week ago last this year. Reference at the Catskill enquiry to the death of the first Mrs. Roediger here has revived interest in the case, and further action is being taken by the local police as to the 1926 episode.

She started action today to enjoin several of the peep shows from using her pictures and announces she will ask damages of $250,000. Before she was unable to learn how the penny arcades procured the photographs.

GANG SUSPECTS HELD BY POLICE

Believe Series of Thefts May be Cleared up with Arrests

Canadian Press

Montreal, Que., April 23. — With four men and a woman in custody and a fifth man under arrest at Port Hope, Ont., waiting the arrival of Montreal police officers, local detectives believe they have rounded up a gang responsible for a long string of automobile thefts, gasoline station robberies and one held up. Marcel Avelin, 19; Ernest Dalgreault, 19; Raymond Morin, 18, and Ernest Beschenault, 19, pleaded guilty when arraigned on three automobile theft charges. The girl, Georgette Langlois, 17, pleading not guilty. Your Belanger is under arrest in Port Hope.

ALEX. M. SOLOWAY GETS FIVE YEARS

Kirkland Lake Ticket Agent Convicted of Cheating Foreigners

Haileybury, April 23.—Convicted on three charges of fraudulent conversion of funds, Alexander Soloway formerly in business in Kirkland Lake as a steamship and steamship agent, today was sentenced by Judge Hartman, here to five years hard labor in Portsmouth Penitentiary.

The charges were laid by the Crown on complaints made by foreign residents of Kirkland Lake now residing in Kirkland Lake, and who desired to bring out from Europe relatives to join them here. Crown Attorney F. L. Smiley, K.C., told the court that there were a number of other charges of a similar nature against Soloway now pending and involving an amount, in all, of more than $3,000.

Soloway was arrested in Regina last December. He appeared in court earlier in the present month, when preliminary proceedings were completed to permit him to receive witnesses. Today one of these, D. E. Lazen, formerly traveling passenger agent for the Canada Line, who was brought here by the Crown, swore he had received no money at any time from Soloway for the latter's activities. He was cross of these.

LOST SUIT AGAINST GENE O'NEIL, WRITER

New York, April 23.—Federal Judge Conger today dismissed the $1,250,000 suit of Miss Georgs; Lewys against Eugene O'Neil in which she charged he stole the plot of "Strange Interlude" from her novel "The Temple of Pallis-Athenae."

The judge said he was convinced she had "made a wholly preposterous claim."

SIDNEY LOSES ESTEEMED MAN, FRANK WILSON

Well-Known Farmer and Cheese Board Official

Death removed a popular and high ly respected resident of Sidney Town ship yesterday, in the person of Francis West Wilson. A man of outstanding qualities, he possessed the happy faculty of making friends and while these were numbered chiefly among the agricultural element, nevertheless he had many associates in the cheese industry, all of whom held him in the highest re gard. He was a member of the Belleville Cheese Board and also served as President of the bayside factory for several years.

The late Mr. Wilson was stricken only last Friday and his illness rapidly grew worse. His death is attributed to a serious heart condition. In his seventy-eighth year, he was born in Huntingdon Township where he spent his early life and received his elementary education. He later took up his home in Sidney Township where he has resided for the past forty years, retiring a few years ago from active work on the farm to make his home with his sons.

He took an active interest in Township affairs although he was never a member of the Council. A staunch Conservative, he was a true worker for the party, while he was also a member of the Orange Lodge. The late Mr. Wilson was an active churchman and attended regularly at Bayside.

A particularly sorrowful role in his passing is the fact that only two days before the wife of his son Lewis was stricken, death resulting within a few hours.

The late Francis Wilson is survived by his wife, who was formerly Miss Jane Blakely, daughter of the late John Blakely, of Hungerford; three sons, Lewis and Percy, Sidney, of Trenton; Otexia, of Kingston General Hospital, and Alice, of Trenton, who was formerly a teacher at the Ontario Business College on this city. Two sons, Lewis and Frederick, of Sidney Township, also remain.

HONOUR MEMORY OF MICHAEL FARADAY

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 23.—Over Trans-Atlantic telephone, through the courtesy of the Earl of Bessborough, a tribute of commemoration was unveiled in London, England, to Michael Faraday, whose epoch-making discovery a hundred years ago led to the birth of the electrical industry.

In his message, His Excellency paid tribute to the miracle of science which is in the true line of succession to these experiments began in the laboratory at the Royal Institution one hundred years ago. He spoke over the radio while the industry means more to Canada perhaps than can be measured in the development of the Dominion. The electrical industry of every land, he said, is indebted to Faraday's patient and successful quest."

DROWNED SON IN BATH TUB, TRIED SUICIDE

Wilbur Bunker Removed to Hospital in Critical Condition

PLEADS IN VAIN

Wife Attracted by Disturbance and Found Horrible Scene

(Canadian Press)

Toronto, April 23.—After drowning his two and a half year old son in the bath tub at the family home on Armadale Avenue, early today, Wilbur Bunker, 45, unemployed for several months, attempted to commit suicide by slashing his throat with a razor. The father was removed to the hospital where his condition is reported critical.

Hearing a confusion in the bathroom, Mrs. Bunker, who was washing the dishes in the kitchen, rushed upstairs to find the door locked. She pleaded in vain with her husband to open the door and when there was no response, flew cries attracted the attention of neighbors, one of whom scurried up the ladder to the bathroom window. Here he found Bunker lying in a pool of blood on the floor and the body of the little son in the bath tub.

Two other little girls of the family were attending school at the time of the tragedy.

DROVE AUTO IN DRUNKEN STATE

Two Indians Are Held For Theft of Car

Preman Marsele and Clarence Zacharish, Indians, of Hallowell township, Prince Edward county were charged in a car allegedly stolen from William Claus, also of Hallowell township about eighty thirty o'clock this morning. Provincial Police Officer Zacharish, crashed into an elm tree at the junction of the Massassaga road and the Picton highway. Marsele suffered a broken thigh and is lying in the Belleville General Hospital, attended by Dr. C. A. Thomas.

Provincial Officer Prink, of the Highway Patrol, investigated the accident. He says that Zacharish was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor in Picton police court tomorrow morning.

FOUR INJURED IN EXPLOSION ABOARD BOAT

Canadian Press

Cudbury, April 23.—Four of five occupants were severely injured when the Killarney Quarry Mail boat caught fire and exploded while on board at Killarney dock yesterday. The roof of the cabin was blown off by the force of the explosion, while smoke from the engine and shattered the windows in a building 100 feet away.

The explosion occurred when Walter Burke, operator, stepped on the starter of the engine to start the gear and a flash followed. Burke however, escaped injury, but Mr. McNair, manager of the Dominion Mines and Quarry Company, was drulged about the head and had his left arm broken. Also injured were Joseph Turcotte, Miss Tyson and Rose Equimaux all suffered body injuries.

HUNTERS KEPT AWAY BY BAN

U. S. Visitors Cancel Trips —Soy Other Method Risky

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Apr. 23.—The regulation banning the use of dogs in hunting has already resulted in the cancellation of trips arranged by non-residents for this fall. Today Wilfred Belharic, of Bruce Mines, was informed by Alexander Grant, of Chicago that parties arranged by himself would no longer hunt in dozens, which means that the province will lose $140 in license fees in this party alone.

Conservation says: "I have just been informed that the use of hounds is to be prohibited in your section of Ontario. It is with regret that I write to inform you that, in view of this, our party feels it necessary to make other arrangements for our hunting parties. Still hunting is too dangerous and although we have very much enjoyed our associations with you, this new development makes it imperative that we stay this side of the border and do what hunting can be done in Northern Michigan."

HAIR REMOVED FROM HEAD TO PERMIT MEDICAL AID

Two Trucks Collided on Highway Near Marysville

Allegedly dozing off to sleep, while at the wheel of a large transport motor, a truck owned and driven by F. H. Powell of Brampton, crashed head on into a transport owned by the Reliable Motor Lines of Toronto, driven by Percy Lawrence, near Marysville, shortly after four o'clock this morning, both trucks being considerably damaged.

Percy Bray a passenger in the Powell truck was thrown heavily to the floor of the cab and suffered sufficient injuries to warrant his removal to the hospital by the ambulance, where he was attended by Dr. Farnsworth. Dominion Constable stated that his injuries were not serious, but it was necessary to remove the hair from his head as it was covered with splinters. The roof of the truck was torn off by the force of the explosion, while smoke from the engine and shattered the windows in a building 100 feet away.

The explosion occurred when Walter Burke, operator, stepped on the starter of the engine to start the gear and a flash followed. Burke however, escaped injury, but Mr. McNair, manager of the Dominion Mines and Quarry Company, was drulged about the head and had his left arm broken. Also injured were Joseph Turcotte, Miss Tyson and Rose Equimaux all suffered body injuries.

RECOVER BODY OF VICTIM IN BAY OF QUINTE

Remains of Arthur LaMorre Found by His Brother

NO INQUEST

Diligent Search Maintained for Companion, Henry Williams

Trenton, April 23.—Seven teen days after being reported missing in the Bay of Quinte while on a duck hunting expedition, the body of Arthur LaMorre was found early last evening by his brother, Councillor Alex. LaMorre, his brother-in-law James Lemoire and Chief of Police Bain. The remains were found floating among the logs two hundred feet from shore near the Trenton Cooperage Mills. The body was badly bloated.

Alex. LaMorre had been patrolling the Bay every day in a launch in an effort to find the remains and it was gathering dusk last night when they sighted a body which they assumed to be that of Williams floating among the debris. On investigation it was found to be that of his companion. Several shells were found in the young man's pockets which were coated with mud.

The body of LaMorre's companion, Henry Williams, has not yet come to the surface. LaMorre was in his stocking feet. It would appear he had made an effort to save Williams, but had become exhausted and pulled down in the attempt. LaMorre was a strong swim mer, on three previous occasions, while on fishing trips, he had pulled Williams from the water when the latter had got into difficulties.

Coroner Dr. W. B. Crowe said no inquest will be held.

LaMorre's remains will be interred in the Roman Catholic cemetery here.

Formerly a baseball and hockey player, he was well known in this town. In the meantime a diligent watch will be maintained for the body of Williams.

WEDDINGS

HAMILTON—SINE

A very quiet, but pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. William Reynolds, Hamilton, on Wednesday, April 22nd at 3 p.m., when Miss Olive Gladys Sine, youngest daughter of Mr. Edward Sine of Foxboro became the bride of Mr. Thomas Hamilton, Halloway. The Rev. Snell of Foxboro officiated.

The bride looked charming in a gown of powder-blue georgette trimmed with eggshell lace and carrying a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The couple were attended by the bride's cousin, Miss Aletha Sine and Mr. Howard Richards. The bridal procession entered the drawing room to the strains of Lohengrin's bridal march ably rendered by the bride's niece, Miss Eileen Reynolds. The groom's gift to the bride was a bowl wrist watch. To the bridesmaid, the groomsman and pianist each beautiful gifts. During the signing of the register Miss Eileen Reynolds softly played "Star of the East".

After a buffet luncheon the happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes by motor for Toronto and western points. The bride travelled in a brown crepe dress with eggshell trimmings and black broadcloth coat and hat and other accessories to match. On their return they will reside in their new home in Halloway.

Surviving are four sons, G. M. Taylor of London, W. J. Taylor of Woodstock, Melvin Taylor of Napanee and Donald B. Taylor of Toronto; also one brother, Peter Wilroth of Watertown, N.Y.

CHURCH CHOIR PRESENT COMIC OPERETTA HERE

Splendid Crowd Witness Performance at Tabernacle

Adding another to their long list of musical successes, the choir of Tabernacle Church presented the comic operetta "Bulbul" last night to a crowded auditorium. From the gay opening chorus to the last swelling notes of the finale, the performance was one of rare distinction and will linger in the minds of those present as outstanding in the amateur offering this season.

"Bulbul" is a dainty operetta, something on the style of Gilbert and Sullivan, its suggestion of a plot being merely a background for an enchanting musical score of a light and airy type. In the solo numbers and the ensembles the rich beauty of the voices captured the admiration of the audience. Tabernacle choir, which was assisted in the operetta by Mrs. (Dr.) Stobie as the Princess Bulbul and Mr. Jack Andrews as Dosay, has a wealth of musical talent and its members were fcund to advantage in the last evening's presentation. The operetta concerns the court of the gorgeous King Iamit and the amusing situations that occur when his daughter Princess Bulbul fell in love with a peddler who becomes betrothed to a prince. The royal couple had never met, and Prince Caspian determining to meet his future wife before the ceremony disguises himself and friends on visiting the court as peddlers.

He meets the maids of honor, finds the princess in the grounds and while singing her affections, tries to persuade her to elope. This she refuses but breaks the peddler to wait and he hides in the ballroom. The court assembles for the wedding only to find neither bride or bridegroom. Caspian's friends who now appear in resplendent military attire, to the consternation of the ladies-in-waiting, become most anxious. The princess enters, her beautiful court gown hidden under a long cloak, and tells her father she intends to marry a peddler. At this point, of course, the peddler soldier makes a dramatic entrance as the Prince and all is merry again. Even the court chaperon, the Lady Ida, is made happy by claiming the hand of the king, according to a rash promise he made, and Alain, the friend of the prince, becomes betrothed to the captivating lady-in-waiting, Lila. The three weddings arranged for "Tuesday at noon."

The leading parts were taken by L. A. Kells as King Lamit, who made much of the part of the operatic king who was finally captured, against his will, by the sentimental Lady Ida, Mrs. Stobie as the Princess Bulbul whose beautiful voice was heard at its finest and who made an enchanting fairy tale princess in her lovely costumes. Her solos "Love is a Flower" and "Croon, Silver Moon," were charming. Dr. A. B. Hafner, a favorite with Belleville audiences was a happy choice as the romantic Prince Caspian, his appearance adding greatly to the success of the operetta. Other soloists who contributed to the enjoyment of the evening were Miss Lorraine Bell as Ida the Court Chaperon, Mrs. Gordon Miller as Lilla, a friend to Bulbul, Ginny Maidens as Alain, the prince's friend. Jack Andrews as Dosay, keeper of the Royal Sceptre, and Gregory Darrah as Jusiso, the Keeper of the Royal Cash Box.

The chorus work was very well done, the voices blending in perfect harmony. The maids of honour—Mrs. Cecil Lee, Mrs. Jas. A. E. Jones, the Misses Mildred Cherrie, Mabel Charlton, Phoebe Deacon, Dorothea Wenson and Bessie Barlow—made a gainty picture in their picturesque frocks and poke bonnets hats of pale lavender, rose, blue and yellow, carrying quaint old fashioned nosegays. The housemaids chorus included Misses Lillian Sparkett, Leona Wolfrey, Gladys Emerson, Ethel Horton, Kathleen Tuck and Aileen Darrah, who, in their smart maid costumes sang "Brushing and Dusting, What Fun." Another chorus was of soldiers, the boys and girls in brilliant red uniforms, with the dashing Alain singing the "Soldier's Song." The girls in this number were Misses Lillian Sprackett, Leona Walmsley, Kathleen Tuck and Ethel Horton. Others in the cast were Aileen Cosden and Clayton Darrah, Body Guards to the King. A feature of the operetta was the pretty Minuet dance, those taking part being Mrs. Cecil Lee, Misses Phoebe Deacon, Mildred Cherrie and Mabel Charlton.

On behalf of the members of the choir taking part little Miss Marion James presented Mrs. Stobie with a bouquet.

The entire musical direction and training was done by Mrs. M. T. Duff and Mrs. Frances A. Nicholson and they are to be congratulated for their splendid work in preparing the production. Last evening's performance was greatly enhanced by the accompaniments played by Mrs. Duff and Mr. Rex Hunter assisting on the violin. Between acts a piano solo was given by pianiste Bessie Barlow and Kathleen Tuck.

BULLETIN BOARD

TO ADMIT BLIND
It was announced by Mr. George Forhan, manager of the Belle Theatre here, today, that the members of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind will now be admitted free to all Famous Players' Theatres across Canada. Guest tickets will be issued each week to the blind. There are sixteen members of the Institute in Belleville. The blind enjoy the dialogue and music of the talkies, whereas formerly, they were unable to get any entertainment from the silent pictures whatever. The Belle Theatre is, of course a link in the Famous Players' Chain in the Dominion.

MEET LOCAL BOWLERS.
On Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. alleys, the champion ladies bowling team of Peterboro will meet the pick of the Belleville lady bowlers.

START SOFTBALL.
On Saturday afternoon the local public schools will start their annual softball league. There are five teams in this league, one from each public school and one from St. Michael's Academy. These kids play a real snappy game and keen rivalry is the result.

TRAFFIC COURT TODAY
There were no criminal cases on the docket in police court today but a number of traffic cases were disposed of. Travellers and others persist in leaving their cars parked on the main street upon which the sweeper operates all night, and this offence is against the traffic by-law of the city. For the first few weeks, the police issued a warning but when that was found sufficient, a touch on the pocket book was made by a small fine. Today four paid $3.00 each for parking an unreasonably time. The police are also checking up on defective brakes and a motorist paid $10.00 and costs for not having his brakes in proper working order. Another motorist was using the main streets for a speedway and the little trip cost him $10.00 and costs. All the fines were paid.

A CHANGE OF WEATHER
Real April weather hit this vicinity last night and this morning there was a twenty-five degree difference in the maximum temperatures between yesterday and today. Whereas yesterday the thermometer registered seventy degrees, today at noon it was but forty-seven. Readings from the pump house for the past two days were:

Yesterday	72	43
Today	47	35

CHEESE MAKERS MET
Cheesemakers and patrons in the Campbellford district met in the northern village yesterday afternoon to discuss plans for the coming season. J. P. Griffin, manager of the Ontario Milk Producers' Association, Toronto, was present to address the gathering as was J. L. Irwin, Dairy Products Instructor for the district, from this city. Mr. Irwin and Mr. Griffin left for Kingston today on similar business.

SEND CLUB MET
The Send Club, a club composed of business men of this city which meets on the 23rd of each month, met last night. The gathering was held at Crowe Lake, near Mermora, in the cottage of one of the local bank managers who is a member of the club.

CYCLE ON FIRE
Early last evening the local fire department was called to the corner of Bridge and Bleecker Ave. to extinguish a fire which was burning a motor-cycle the property of Clas. Reid. The cycle was considerably damaged by the blaze.

COUNCIL MEMBERS IN TORONTO
Mayor Reid—Alderman Wotten and Secretary Collins motored to Toronto on Wednesday and returned last night. The mayor had the solicitor looked after city business on this trip.

EUCHRE HELD
The Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion held a successful euchre in the Memorial Hall yesterday afternoon. These euchre drives have been very popular of late and returned men and their dependents during the winter and have materially helped those, who have been unable to get work. The winners were Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Mountain and Mrs. Minne, the attendance being the largest of the year.

TEN DOLLAR GIFT FOR GRAIN FOR BIRDS IN THE SANCTUARY

President Walter Turner of the Belleville Poultry Association announced today that a friend has given $10.00 towards the fund for the buying of grain for the birds now at the Belleville bird sanctuary. This is a number of ducks are in the woods and some geese remain.

Successful test flights have been made by the navy with a collapsible seaplane that can be taken apart and folded into a trunk in three minutes for carrying on a submarine.

The British ministry of health has just estimated that to provide milk for school children would cost $15,000,000 a year, rising to over $20,000,000 in 10 years.

Here and There

Over 1,500,000 lbs. of salmon were caught in the coastal waters and rivers of Quebec last year, or 615,000 lbs. more than in 1929.

Potato shipments from Halifax are now over for the season and have been declared to be the biggest in the history of the port.

Illustrating the growth of tourist travel into Canada, 52,503 foreign cars entered Canada in 1926, while in 1930 the total was 5,409,458.

At the end of February of this year, official registrations of radio sets in Canada totalled 505,758, an increase of 81,612 over the similar period of last year.

Cadmium, a by-product obtained in the production of zinc, was produced for the first time in Canada early in 1928 at Trail, B.C. Used for plating purposes demand for it has increased very rapidly.

The Province of New Brunswick's largest bond issue was sold at the most favorable price in 25 years when a bid of $98.4142 was accepted for $5,215,000 4½ per cent. 30-year bond issue, making the interest cost to the province 4.52 per cent.

New bridges to span the St. Lawrence and other rivers are to be built by the Quebec Government this year at a cost of $8,000,000. They will be built at points that will link up the highways in the province as a whole.

First large cattle consignment to move east since November, 15 cars or 322 head of cattle for export to Great Britain, left Winnipeg by special Canadian Pacific train which totalled 27 cars of stock, including 22 cars for eastern Canada points.

A single British Columbia Sitka spruce may contain 8,000 to 10,000 feet board measure of lumber. Lumber used in building an ordinary five-or-six-roomed frame house is estimated at 15,000 feet, hence two good-sized Sitka spruce trees would suffice for the house.

Crowds estimated at 100,000 people watched the Empress of Britain sail down the Clyde from her birthplace at Clydebank to undergo trials. The ship was escorted by six tugs, a police launch and six airplanes. This 115,000,000 ship was built for a speed of 24 knots and has already done 24 knots in preliminary trials.

Ten minutes terminal stop at St. Ignace, Que., and a chance greeting between G. C. Hay and William Ardell, Canadian Pacific mechanics, spanned 45 years of separation and silence between Ardell and his fellow-craftsman. It appeared in conversation that Hay was Ardell's nephew and the latter will now visit his sister in Vancouver whom he has not seen for nearly half-a-century.

Interest paid on Britain's 5 per cent. war loan last year amounted to over $52,000,000.

U. E. LOYALISTS WERE INCLUDED AMONGST PIONEERS OF MURRAY

Many Veterans of 1812 Also Settled in Murray Township

Trent River, April 23—Early Settlement in the Township of Murray: The Township of Murray is bounded on the north by Seymour, west by Brighton, and by the Township of Sidney, in Hastings County. The township was one of the earliest settled by United Empire Loyalists.

Asa Weller kept a tavern at the Carrying Place, and also a sled and corn with which he conveyed passengers up the lake. Many settlers from the Bay of Quinte after a short stay at Carrying Place, took up holdings along the lake shore in Northumberland.

Hugh McQeoid was a prominent farmer and settled many years ago. He had been reeve of the township and was at one time a Justice of the peace. Colonel Bullock was another old settler who drew considerable land in Murray.

Descendants of Peter Maybee reside in the north of Murray, as do families of the Wessels, other early settlers. The Flemings were an English family among the first settlers. George and Stephen had farms and also ran the brewery at Trenton. One of the Sherwoods lived on the Old house. Walter Roblin on the 5th Concession, where the Town Hall was built, had many of the Roblin family in the neighborhood, amongst them being the Canniffons, one of whom, James, kept the Post Office.

There are large numbers of the descendants of the Germans, also a family of old settlers. The Squires were numerous about the village of Brighton, as were the Segars on the lake shore.

James Striker, on Presque Isle Point, was a son of the original grantee. There are lots of Wessels at Wooler, and Hazzards still further back. The Doxlanders removed to Percy, engaged in milling. Youngs are still plentiful in Murray, one Stephen was reeve of the township. There were many Potters and any numbers of Coles about Codrington. All farmers of respectability. Captain Roberdk Wilkins obtained large grants and deservedly so. He had raised a company of militia in the beginning of the war of 1812. When appointed chief commissary, he asked for written instructions and authority that he might not be hindered in his work—that militia colonels and subordinate officers should yield to his demands for men to act as batteaux men or do any other required duty. He was asked if he would be ready to set out in a day, the short reply was "I will start in half an hour." However, Captain Wilkins quickly wrote his resignation as Captain of the Company, settled his hotel bill and was on his way up the Bay the same day. Commissary Wilkins had many difficulties to contend with. There was the disposition among them to hold over provisions required, until higher prices were obtained. For pork weigh, 214 lb. were was asked. The result was that provisions wherever found could be taken at a fair valuation. John M. Lawson (commonly known as John Mukrall) was one of the few survivors of Commissary Wilkin's band. He resided on what was known as the Lawson Settlement, two miles east of Brighton. He was one of the 1812 men who drew his $20 pension. When at the age of 94, while at Cobourg, he challenged any man to run him a foot race for the amount of the pension. Matthew, his father took up 200 acres of land in Murray to which John M. his brother succeeded. John M. was drafted several times.

Joseph Gilbert was also an 1812 veteran and went to Cobourg for the annual 30th parade. Both men could tell wonderful stories of their early experiences and exploits, and how many changes that had taken place since their boyhood days, when they had daily and nightly encounters with bears and wolves, which then infested the township of Murray in large numbers. Lawson said it was quite a common occurrence to see five or six bears in company, leisurely eating beech-nuts as they went along. He also said that he spent only 25 cents for medical assistance in the course of his life and that was to draw a tooth. Colonel Rogers was the first judge of the District Court, and Captain Bullock.

There were three other 1812 men in Murray, Samuel Dockstader, John Colby and Joseph Talmage, the latter was a United States pensioner, who received $8 a month.

Edward Goodgear, one of the canoe men who conveyed Prince Edward, Duke of Kent (the late Queen Victoria's father) up the lake, was long a resident of Murray. It was remembered that the Prince and suite, put in at Presque Isle Point. They stopped at Herriman, on the lake shore and had dinner.

TO A YOUNG GIRL

Thy name it is of melodies
Informed, of airs that breathed
Down antique shores and groves
For the Mermaiden wreathed.

Prayed she the lyric Winds that daily
Ever o'er Corsica,
"Sing me a song of hill and valley,
Of faith and long duress."

Complaisant, the sweet strings are swept,
Variant, the pipes sift blown;
Sing they of song that loved, that wept,
To the Deep Sea unknown.

Nor lost those strains; thy music spells
Them soft. Hushed flute, mute string,
Singing within thy syllables,
Hear, Lydia, echoing.

—Anne Young.

HARRY RESER, Big Chief Eafaloe of the Chicoot Club Rakinos, of Oneida fame, is rated one of the best banjo players in the world—Oh, Boy, how he can make dat ole banjo talk. However, Harry has nothing on the banjo player depicted above who will strut his stuff this year at the All-Star Minstrels, to burst in all their glory of syncopated harmony upon an expectant public, starved for real minstrel entertainment. All the best of the old stars will be with us, besides a bunch of new talent just right to go, and goodness, gracious, gahumpous, how those boys can go! Laughs, and lots of them are more laughs in this show than Will Rogers, Ziegfeld and Eddie in the years. When you get the inside dope on the Rotary All-Star Minstrels, model, you'll fall out of your chair in your hurry to get your seats reserved for the Show of All Shows.

SOUTH AFRICA SHIPS ORANGES PRE-COOLED

Cape Town, South Africa, April 23 (CP).—The extent to which the fruit export trade from South Africa is increasing is evidenced by the fact that 900,000 cases of oranges were shipped from Cape Town during the year 1930 as against 400,000 in 1929, according to The Cape Argus. This satisfactory state of affairs has been brought about largely through the pre-cooling facilities provided by the South African Railways and Harbors at Durban as well as Cape Town.

The pre-cooling store at Cape Town is situated on the East Pier—No. 8 berth—whence the mailboats depart. When No. 8 berth is occupied it naturally follows that only the ship can be loaded from the store, and the Administration has, therefore, decided to construct an additional store on the seaward end of the East Pier, which will permit of ships at No. 7 berth being loaded with fruit from the store simultaneously with those at No. 8 berth.

The gallery will consist of a covered insulated overhead curved passage with double tracks, and will run from the second storey of the pre-cooling store to the upper storey of the cargo shed. The pre-cooled fruit will be packed on trucks in the store and a specially designed electrical trolley, with trailers will convey these barrows along the gallery to the loading platforms. The steelwork and reinforced concrete in the foundations are of superior design, and every endeavor will be made to have the entire work completed at the earliest possible date. The increased loading facilities will ensure swifter dispatch of traffic, and will considerably lessen the movement of ships in the basin.

In addition to the provision of this new gallery, further improvements are being made to the store itself in the raising of the air-lock roof and the construction of another floor, which will be refrigerated when increased traffic demands the additional accommodation. The demands of fruit traffic have received attention for some years, and a type of iced refrigerator truck, which maintains a constant temper ature of 33 degrees Fahrenheit for a continuous period of 60 hours without re-icing, has been in service for several years. This truck, which is equipped with ice-bunkers extending the whole length of the roof has been successfully utilized for the conveyance of delicate fruit, such as peaches and plums, over the 1,000-mile journey, from the Transvaal to Cape Town, for export to European markets.

BELIEVED TO BE LAST HEATH HEN

Washington, D. C., April 23.—One lonely old rooster on Martha's Vine yard off the Massachusetts coast is the only known hen alive. Officials of the Bureau of Biological Survey said that they had given up all hope of finding a mate for the lone cock. After he is dead the heath hen will have gone the way of the wild pigeon.

Thousands of dollars and much time and effort have been expended in an effort to keep the game bird from extinction but it was the old story of primitive life and after the house burned down. Early settlers along the Atlantic coast found huge flocks of the heath hen — in size and appearance much like the western prairie chicken—frequenting the sandy, Scrubcok plains of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Long Island, New York and other coastal areas from Maine to Virginia.

The cavaliers discovered that the heath hen was excellent for roasting on a spit before huge fireplaces. Pilgrims who hunted turkey, or wild deer, without success brought home heath hens for Thanksgiving. The heath hen, however, was the pot hunter's prey. It flew in a straight line and rather slowly on flushing it fell had an unfortunate habit of congregating in large flocks in open spaces.

BATTALION TO OPEN TRAINING

Argyll Light Infantry Schedule Is Cut

On Friday night the Argyll Light Infantry will start their spring activities, when the men will be equipped with uniforms. Spring training this year will be cut down, as the battalion will be called out for about eight days. The training will consist of more lectures, practical demonstrations and competitive sports than the actual routine of drill, in order to create more of a club spirit. The activity units only will train this season but they must remain at their local headquarters. The rural units such as the Hastings Rifles etc., will not go under canvas at all. There will be no rifle range used this year as Barrisfield but it is expected that a military school will be held for officers. The Argyll light infantry have no brass band now, but a fife and drum band has been organized under the direction of Pipe-Major Albert Johnstone. All of last year's officers will be in attendance along with a few officers who have joined since last season. The officers in command expect a very successful season.

Rogers' Funniest Film

ENACTS "A CONNECTI CUT YANKEE" AS O NLY A ROGERS COULD

Will Rogers makes a determined bid for the Motion Picture Academy award for the best performance of the year in Mark Twain's "A Connecticut Yankee." The production, which had its initial showing before a large audience at the Belle Theatre last night. It is by far the best thing Rogers ever has done.

The combination of Will Rogers and Mark Twain is a "natural" from an entertainment standpoint. Twain's humor is the sort that appeals to everyone and Rogers certainly is the only man in our time equipped to interpret the master humorist's great story.

As "Sir Boss," Rogers is immense. He imbues the character with a quality of sincerity and plausibility. Many of the funniest lines are recognizable as Rogers' own and embellish Mark Twain's original to a point that Twain certainly would have roared with laughter himself had he lived to see this version of his story.

Rogers, of course, dominates the production, but the subsidiary roles also are excellently handled. Maureen O'Sullivan never has been sweeter or prettier than in her role of "Alisande" and Frank Albertson, as "Clarence," adds a new mark to his unusual record of achievement on the talking screen.

Myrna Loy is satisfactorily mean and vampish by turns as "Queen Morgan Le Fay," the wicked sister of "King Arthur", while William Farnum, famous star of the silent picture days, is essaying a comeback after a long absence from the screen, comes all the way back as King Arthur in "A Connecticut Yankee."

Brandon Hurst is excellent as "Merlin," while Mitchell Harris is satisfactorily villainous in the role of "Sagramore."

David Butler, well remembered for his "Sunny Side Up," "High Society Blues" and "Just Imagine," has contributed his best directorial effort in "A Connecticut Yankee."

"A Connecticut Yankee" is more than a hit. It is a riot, the biggest laugh of the year.

HEADS RIFLE CLUB

Kingston, Apr. 23.—At the annual meeting of the Kingston Rifle Association Major W. E. Swaine was elected captain and president of the association for the year. Brigadier W. B. Anderson, C.M.G., D.S.O., was elected honorary president and the honorary vice-presidents elected were Brigadier W. H. P. Elkins, D.S.O. and Col. J. C. Stewart, D.S.O. The Secretary is Sergt. J. L. McBurney, and the treasurer is S. M. Gilbert.

SAVED BY CABLE

Owen Sound, Apr. 23.—A wire cable saved Henry Peirce of Toronto and his son from possible death today when their car suddenly left the road near Hatton's Corners, on the Owen Sound-Meaford highway. The car was held suspended over the 40-foot embankment of an overhead bridge until over the C. P. R. tracks by the cable placed along the road for protection.

CANADIAN ARTS

The Canadian Authors' Foundation established in letters and drama this week in Toronto has been created to "provide a perpetual fund for the benefit of any man or woman of distinction in Canadian letters or their dependents". The idea first formed to commemorate in fitting fashion the debt that Canada owes to Charles G. D. Roberts, has been extended to include all Canadian creative art. Prof. Pelham Edgar points out that "we have hitherto made the practice of literature so difficult that as a profession it is virtually non-existent, under conditions that make great creative work almost impossible. This proposal is not designed for the benefit of mediocrity but where genuine distinction is in question our responsibility and national honor is involved. For we cannot afford the eclipse of genius." After paying tribute to Dr. Roberts, the first beneficiary, Dr. Edgar went on to say: "There are younger writers of marked distinction for whom temporary aid would mean all the difference between failure and achievement." All subscriptions to the fund are to be treated as capital and only the interest will be available for the beneficiaries.

The new organization may prove of great assistance towards struggling men and women of letters whose work will be worth more to the national life than the discovery of gold mines, for all men and women in the writers' field do not get off to a successful start as did Bennett and others who have made and found the literary art "pay dirt".

RENEWING THE CITY

With so much talk of remaking the world in these days of stress and unsettling of traditions, the words of H. G. Wells, regarding the cities hit heavily. The ancient city must pass away with its ghosts of houses and buildings where lived, labored and died those of other generations. A new city must arise, one in which houses are new and fitted to the present period of progress. "We must accept the possibilities of rehousing all mankind, rebuilding every city in the world and reclaiming roads and countryside. I think we can well look forward to the time when towns will rebuild themselves as we now go to a tailor for a new suit of clothes."

That is the striking challenge of one of the greatest thinkers of today. Besides being sensational in its newness of thought, it has a material and social value for he says that this will bring about new means of employment and advert questions.

Pity the first council which goes out to rebuild Belleville. Now the old Belleville is being added to and been largely rebuilt. One has but to take a section of Front St., the lower end south of the city hall, and see that the whole area has been rebuilt. Streets have been rebuilt, houses are modernized, and many new homes have been erected. The only difference is that the rebuilding is a gradual process, not a deliberate attempt to renew the buildings of the city.

The reclaiming of roads and countryside may be made to include the provision of more parks for the entertainment and exercise of the citizens of the new city.

Perhaps men think about councils everywhere may ponder a little over what Wells has said in regard to the solution of unemployment and the reconstruction program.

ROME'S BIRTHDAY

Rome celebrated its traditional birthday of nearly 2,700 years ago when Romulus and Remus were suckled by a wolf. Every school boy knows the story of the brother who jumped the walls that Romulus built and was slain for the insult.

Rome has suffered many vicissitudes but it remains the greatest city in the world for many reasons. Historically and artistically, it leads all the rest of classical or modern times. Athens was on a higher plane philosophically and artistically, but Athens did not live in countless generations, the same city, ever moulding the world as Rome did.

Rome still remains great. Today there is a grandiose thought filling the minds of Romans—that of the revival of the great days when Rome was an empire with a world sweep. But revival of the glories that were Rome may not be possible for a city grows naturally, not because Mussolini or anyone else can force development. Rome may have seen her greatest day, but Italians do believe that and perhaps they are correct.

The name of the ancient and medieval city still means the world with a sense of solidity and strength and a sense of law and justice which mould the world day by day. Were Rome obliterated, she could still remain a city of influence, immaterial, but still potent.

Italians are justly proud of the city which has such a noble heritage. The story of the wolf and the wall is to be dismissed as myth and symbol to explain the foundation of the city, but there is enough of fact in Rome to merit the world's undying admiration.

TRUST TOMORROW
By Aline Michaelis

Trust tomorrow! Never fear
Any shadow drawing near.
All along your changeful way
Strength was granted for each day,
Though to some you looked with dread
At their dawn your doubting fled.

Trust tomorrow, it may bring
Gifts to make your spirit sing;
It may open vistas new
Full of joy and love for you,
Better things than you have known
In the seasons that have flown.

Little faith and less of hope
Seem our portion as we grope
Into regions new and strange
With time's ceaseless round of change
Trust tomorrow! It will be
Not too hard for you or me!

THE WORLD NEEDS A NEW HOUSE, so H. G. Wells told the Royal Institute of British Architects. I think we can well look forward to the time when towns will rebuild themselves as we now go to a tailor for a new suit of clothes."

WHEN WE SEE motor trucks and trailers like freight trains speeding over the government highways and the deluxe passenger busses making express time through wonderful scenery, one can not help but think that this new transportation system had it handed to them on a silver platter in comparison to the railroads which had to construct permanent roadbeds and gird them with steel at enormous expense before a wheel could turn. There seems to be no limit to the size of freight motor trucks and trailers, but if the expansion continues it may be necessary to set some limit or else build highways for freight traffic. Between New York and Boston a new highway is being constructed for fast passenger motor traffic exclusively.

Orphans Will View Circus at Its Best

New York, April 23.—The outstanding performance of the circus took place yesterday. It was orphans' day, when every nook and cranny of the Garden was filled by those who could not otherwise see one of the few remaining American institutions. In the audience were 14,000 such youngsters.

All day before attendants were preparing for the great event. Kind-hearted gentlemen holding large lumps of chalk went about the basement whitening the nails of the elephants, scrubbing them down with tremendous brooms. Other gentlemen curried the horses and the zebras, reducing them to the shining colors of their nativity. Even the stairs were polished so that mere concerts became a golden ladder to the second balcony.

Once each year the circus gives its famous performance. The aerialists are never more daring—or, as they say on the programs, death-defying—and horseback riders turn their somersaults with more than customary abandon. The clowns, ordinarily staid persons, with finished routines, on "orphans' day throw discretion to the winds. There are more grease paint, more gunpowder and safer and more powerful automobiles to fall apart during their spirited performances.

Then there is another element of the circus that does not appear on the programs—however large it may be written in the book of life. That is pink lemonade, and it is the best and most highly approved drink of them all. Combined with peanuts —and with John Ringling's band and about half a dozen of the clowns— it produces an intoxication which, fortunately, is more lasting than most. And that is enough to say for pink lemonade, save that most of the members who provide it are provided with it by the institutions that bring them to the Garden.

Other Papers' Opinions

THE SCOURGE OF TUBERCULOSIS

It is characteristic of medical research that the claims made in its behalf by the experts themselves are conservative to the point of modesty. Thus we are not surprised to find the main point emphasized by the committee of the National Research Council, at the annual public conference on tuberculosis at Ottawa yesterday, is that much work remains to be done before the problem of an effective vaccine against tuberculosis is solved."

Confronted with such reserve, the layman feels like the man who didn't realised that Vergil was writing a great epic and exclaimed: "Something. I know not what, greater than the Iliad, is coming into being." Parallel conservative research like that fostered by the National Research Council forms the background of advances in medical science which may prove positively sensational in their effects.

BRITISH IMMIGRATION

Times are not good in Canada, and it would be extremely unwise, under present conditions, to flood the country with newcomers. But it does not follow that Immigration is at an absolutely cease. On the contrary, an opportunity is afforded to secure an unusually fine class of immigrants, since the number assisted to come to Canada will naturally be much smaller than in more prosperous times. We are, after all one family, and if Canada can relieve the Mother Country of some of her unemployment without materially increasing Canada's own difficulties there can surely be little objection to a limited and restricted migration of certain youths or selected families.—Toronto Daily Star.

WHAT UNIVERSITY GRADUATES EARN

An interesting report has been issued based on a questionnaire sent to the graduates of 1926 at Yale University as to their present salaries and their work since obtaining their degrees. It will not cause much surprise when it is seen that the highest remuneration is received by professional men. It has been said for some years past that the ranks of the professions are overcrowded, and the report shows that most money is earned in commerce.

The report states:

"The average salary of the men born of Yale's 'C' class is close to $3,000. The enquiry discovered that such commercial pursuits as advertising, merchandising, commercial transportation and general office work led in salary returns by producing a yearly average of $4,000 for the class after a man four years out. After these come financial occupations—banking, investment, securities, real estate and insurance—with about $3,000 and close behind came manufacturing at engineering.

As to teaching, the average return was about $1,700. The best paid work was found to be salesmanship which averaged $4,200. It would be interesting to know how this agrees with the experience of other, and particularly Canadian, Universities.—Kingston Whig Standard.

FIGHTING FOREST FIRES

The aeroplane is established as an important factor in the detection of forest fires, and in this respect Ontario is particularly well equipped. While aircraft have to a large extent supplanted the old canoe, horse-back and footpatrol for detection of fires, the canoe and staff, and equipment stored at strategic points, always will be necessary for the fighting of larger fires and maintenance of systems of communication.

With the disappearance of winter conditions these flying firemen may be found all over the forests of Northern Ontario. This is a well trained and disciplined force directed by skilled aviators, and plays a tremendously important part in the protection of the province's timber wealth.

There is something picturesque and much that is of a hazardous nature about the work of these men who spend the summer in the clouds above the vast forest domain of this Province, watching eagle-eyed for the incipient fire that may mean disastrous material loss and perhaps death in its most terrible form. Their presence in these danger zones, and the conviction that they are animated by a keen sense of duty, justify public confidence that everything of possible will be done to prevent the terrible forest conflagrations of former years.—Toronto Globe.

LITTLE BENNY
By LEE PAPE

This afternoon ma was around to see my sister Gladdoes baby, and tonite after supper she and to pop, Willyum, do you know I bleeve little Willie has a real conception of the value of money. Thats not bad for a child one year of age, she said.

It is a good start, pop said. Now he's got the rest of his life to try to get hold of some real money to conceive the value of, he sed.

After all its not much of a conception of the value of somebody elses money, he sed.

Well as it happened, it was my money that he showed his conception of the value of today, ma sed. In fact I delibrity gave him his first lesson in the value of money, because its one of the most important things in life, from a practical standpoint. I had a 5 doller bill in my bag and I took it out and showed it to him, and I sed to him, Now Willie do you see this? This is candy, this is sugar, this is jam, this is biskitts, I sed to him. In other words I impressed upon his impressionable little mind the fact that money stands for many of the most desirable things of life. Then I put the 5 doller bill back in my bag and left him alone to give the lesson a chance to sink in. And thats exactly what it did, it made the most remark able impression on him. I found him about 15 minnits later and there he was on the floor with my bag open beside him, industriously chewing up my 5 doller bill. In fact he had already eaten about a therd of it, and the strange part is, ill proberly never be able to get the bill redeemed at the bank because the sharp little rascal had gone strate to the vital spots and chewed off all the numbers. Fortunately for his little helth it was a bran new bill insted of an old germ covered one, but still just the same I think ill call Gladdis up and find out how he is, she sed.

Wich she did, and he was asleep and all rite.

TODAY'S VERSE

FOR A DEWDROP

Small shining drop, no lady's finger
Molds so beautiful a thing,
At sun-up in the early air
The sweetness of the world you snare
Within your little mirror lens.
The green grass and the winged fly,
The lowest flower, the tallest tree
In your crystal I can see,
Why, in your tiny globe you hold
The sun himself, a mirage of gold.
It makes me wonder if the world
In which so many things are curled,
The world which all men real call,
Is not the real world at all.
But just a drop of dew instead
Swinging in a spider's web.

WEDDINGS

DEFOSSE—ASPERO

Peterboro, April 22.—A very pretty wedding took place on eight o'clock at St. Peter's Cathedral on Saturday when the Rev. F. Costello, rector of the Cathedral, performed the ceremony which united in the holy bonds of matrimony Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Aspero, of 290 Smith street, and Anthony Defosse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Defosse, of Trenton.

The wedding music was played by Miss L. Hurley, who also sang during the progress of the Nuptial Mass.

The bride was very attractively attired in white satin, made akiln length, with white satin slippers and white silk hose, veil of white tulle caught with orange blossoms and bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley.

The two bridesmaids were Miss Mary Defosse, of Trenton, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Mary Bacciano of Peterboro, cousin of the bride. They were lovely frocks of pale pink georgette with pink hats and black satin slippers and floral colored silk hose. They carried bouquets of dark pink carnations and lily of the valley.

The two little flower girls, Angeline Aspero, sister of the bride, and Catherine Defosse, sister of the bride groom, were charming in gowns of dark pink silk, carrying baskets of sweet peas and carnations.

The little page boy, small Benny Defosse, brother of the bridegroom, preceded the bride, carrying the ring on a heart-shaped satin cushion. He wore a trim suit of navy blue, with boutonniere of roses, carnations and lily of the valley.

Supporting the bridegroom were Messrs. Don Gangloe of Oshawa and Fred DiCarlo of Peterboro.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, followed by a dance. Many gifts were received by the young people, who left later by motor to spend a week at the home and then go on to Detroit. On their return they will live in Peterboro.

The bride travelled in a suit of navy blue, with matching small hat, black slippers, and matching hose.

Guests were present for the wedding from Trenton, Belleville and Oshawa.

Fashionably Speaking
By Lucille

Dear Readers:

Now that one is being given a taste of summer weather, here are a few hints for giving your home a cool appearance for the warm season.

"Slip covers are one of the first considerations for making overstuffed furniture cool. They not only save wear and soil. Linen, chintz and cretonne are the materials most used for the purpose; and patterns can be purchased for making certain standard sizes. An easy and pretty way to finish seams is to use bias binding in a harmonizing or contrasting color. Plaids as well as floral patterns in warp prints are in good style for the summer home. A new comfort are huge cushions, as tall as the davenport, covered with matching cretonne to match slip covers. These are very useful in the summer cottage or on a porch for "extras."

"Windows may be more simply draped in summer, to admit more breezes. The new washable window shades are inexpensive and come 42 in., to 84 in. wide. They are opaque, can be sponged over if spots or dust, dirt is visible, and come in several colors used instead of any draperies in the guests room or kitchen if desired. Side drapes and valance of oilcloth in sometimes used for these small rooms to make them airy in summer. None of these draperies have to be laundered.

"There is quite a variety of fabric akin to oilcloth, designed to resist the summer housekeeper. Table cloth, finished to look like linen, come in white and colors and bordered. A set of waterproof scarfs measuring 18 x 27 inches are designed in a choice of colors for use in the hall, fast nook, kitchen, bath, dressing or bedroom.

"Glassware is the ideal service for meals because it is so cool and dainty. Color makes some of the thicker and more servicesble pieces attractive. And it doesn't have to match through out! Two colors are sponsored by fashion. Or different colors may be

FRENCH BACKS PUZZLE JUDGE

Jurist Wonders if Garments Are Feminine

LAWRENCE, Mass., April 22.—No necessity for doffing his hat to any man on a question of law interpretation exists with Judge Frederic N. Chandler, presiding justice of the local district court. But he displayed a somewhat restricted understanding of style terms, as applied to women's and mens wear, during the trial of a civil case here.

A New York wholesale clothing concern was suing a local retailer over a bill of merchandise which included a Hemlined, "two dozen pairs boys' pants," and "two dozen pairs French backs."

"What are these 'French backs'?" queried His Honor, as he scanned the bill.

"Why, they're pants," replied one of the attorneys.

"Women's or men's?" pursued Judge Chandler.

"Why, men's," responded the smiling attorney.

"Proceed," ordered the Judge.

The Beauty Box
By Helen Follett

Deprive a woman of her powder puff, and she would be distraught. She flies to it on all occasions, before the arrival of the "first feller," after a bawling spell, when she is happy, and when she isn't. Putting the dull finish on the feminine nose is a part of the business of being a girl. All right, explained, and with no dire results unless the powder is too oily or too heavy and is ground into the pores with knore vim and gusto than the rite demands. A light powdering is just as good, and even better.

Restful sleep knits the body elements all together again, and chases away restfulness and spleen, puts one right in the world. Let the little flip-flaps keep this thought in mind when, after an active day, they trail you for the merry evening, to drag home worn and weary in the grey hours of dawn. You can't fool Mama Nature. Break her laws of health and the penalty will have to be paid. Take time with the arch foe of good looks.

A smartly new coiffure flutters ringlets at the rear. Those in the centre of the nape of the neck are longer than those at the side, the hair of shoulder length being cut to a point. A slender barette of white metal holds the galaxy of curls in place. It is curved the shape of the hair line, dipping in the centre, lifting at either end, over the chief.

Here is the swell-elegant exercise for reducing large hips and flattening a protruding tummy. Get down on the floor on all fours. Lift the right leg high and extend straight out. Same with the left leg. Sounds easy to do, but it isn't—it pulls hard on the muscels of the thighs, and dislocates of adipose tissues that may be increasing the measurements.

An excellent application to impart gloss to the eyebrows, to keep them healthy and happy, is made by combining one ounce of castor oil and one ounce of witch hazel. Put it on with a small eyebrow brush. It is nice to use as a final flourish when the new face has been made, to remove powders and corrals with hair into the fold where they belong.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Shall the Family Be Broken By Adoption?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Since the depression, we've had a hard time to provide for our five children, my husband's work often being irregular. I've tried to help out by doing a little substitute teaching, but it's been a severe struggle. I have a great aunt who is very well-to-do, and she wants to adopt legally our oldest daughter, aged 14. It would mean that the child would live in Canada and that we would see her but seldom, if at all. As an impartial person who is used to considering family problems, what would you think of such an arrangement?

ANXIOUS MOTHER.

I'm afraid that I believe so heartily in homes and family affection that I'm incapable of giving you merry worldly advice. Your letter, which is too long to print, tells how happy you've all been together and how devoted your children are. The girl is 14 and is being well trained to support herself, which she will be able to do in a few years. In your place, I'd try to keep the family together. I know this advice may not suit the modern urge toward money, but, to me, so many other things seem more important.

I Wants a Job So He Can Marry

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am in love with a girl of 21 which is my age, too. We hope to get married in June if I can find a job in the meantime, but I have been disappointed to find work for five months. I want to leave this city and seek work in my girl's home town. M.W.

You will see, my dear M. W., that I've left out some of your letter. In your place, I shouldn't think of marrying until I was on a firmer foundation with a little reserve fund in the bank. It would be a great injustice to the girl to marry with no definite prospects ahead. I hope you'll get a job. Good luck to you.

How Shall She Tell Them?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going with a boy for over a year. I am 16 and he is 18 years old. We are very fond of each other. I go to dances and associate with other boy friends, but refuse to accept dates with them. The boy I go with has met me to quit associating with these boy friends. Should I tell him their friendship or my special boy friend's company?

WONDERING GIRL.

It would be a mistake to give up associating with boy school-mates because a jealous youth asked you to do so. You're not engaged and you tell me you do not make "dates" with them. Such mixed, jealously guarded friendships of very young people are a mistake and usually end in a quarrel. You should have plenty of your friends of both sexes.

RUTH INJURED MAKING PLAY

Groves Beat Senators While Chicago Soundly Trounced Cleveland Yanks Win

Boston, April 23—The Boston Red Sox opened their initial appearance at home yesterday and dropped the first game with the New York Yankees 7 to 5.

Babe Ruth was injured chasing a two-bagger by Tom Oliver up the left field embankment of this park in the sixth inning. He collapsed and was carried, groaning, to the dark room on the shoulders of six of his mates, where Dr. Earle V. Painter, Yankees' trainer, after a superficial examination, advised calling an ambulance to remove Ruth to the hospital.

Though not considered serious the injury caused the "Sultan of Swat" considerable pain, hospital attaches said. Dr. Francis Newton of the hospital staff reported to police that the injury was a severe contusion of the left leg between the knee and thigh.

Dr. Newton said that although a complete examination had not been made he believed the injury was not a fracture.

INDIANS WERE DEFEATED

Chicago, April 23—Chicago White Sox opened their home season by soundly lacing the Cleveland Indians, 10 to 2, before a weather-scared crowd of 5,000 yesterday.

Richroch took four trips to the plate, scoring in each time, and bringing in a total of four runs. His work was the best of the Sox in any appearance this year.

The Indians took a 2 to 1 lead at the start of the game, but the Sox came back strong in the seventh and eighth, knocking both pitchers, Hudlin and Jablonowski, out of the box. Thomas relieved Jablonowski in the seventh, but the Sox would not be whipped.

GROVES COMPLETE MASTER

Philadelphia, April 23—The champion Philadelphia Athletics unofficially opened the American League season on their home grounds yesterday, beating the Washington Senators 5 to 3. Lefty Grove pitched up his second win, allowing seven hits and three walks.

The A's got to Hadley in the first inning and put across four runs, starting at Bishop's walk. Haas and Cochrane bunted safely to fill the bases, and Dykes scored on Simmons' forceout at second. Miller doubled, scoring Haas and Cochrane doubled to score Simmons and Miller. Fleddie Fielded Hadley and retired the side without further damage.

The Nats scored their only run when Cronin hit a homer in the second.

Fischer held the A's to two hits until the seventh, when he was relieved for a pinch-hitter.

Cochrane's homer in the eighth off Tauscher accounted for the A's final tally.

CARDS MAINTAIN WINNING MARGIN

Robins Took Another on Chin, While Giants Won Home Opening Game

Brooklyn, April 23—Brooklyn's weary Robins made their official 1931 home debut here yesterday and were defeated 4 to 0, by the Boston Braves. Some 25,000 fans watched ancient Tom Zachary blank the besieged Brooklyn sluggers, letting them down with four singles, none of which came in the same inning.

Babe Phelps worked eight innings for the Robins, allowing six hits. He was given miserable support, however, his mates making four errors.

"Rabbit" Maranville, veteran short stop, led the Braves attack with three hits. His double in the seventh scored two runs.

Manager Robinson of the Robins showed his disgust with the poor stick work of his sluggers in the ninth inning when he sent in pinch hitters to bat for Herman and O'Dool.

JOHNSON ALLOWS 4 HITS

St. Louis, April 23—The St. Louis Cardinals, National League champions, made their home debut of the season yesterday with a victory over the Cincinnati Reds 3 to 2, before 7,500 fans who braved the cold weather.

The Cards broke a two to two tie in the eighth to score the winning run on a single by Gelbert after Bottomley and Watkins had singled.

Sylvester Johnson, in his first start of the season, held the Reds hitless until the fifth when Wallie Roettger knocked a homer into the right field pavilion for the visitors' first run. The Reds made their final score in the sixth, Heath singling and scoring Kolp who had doubled.

Lindsey relieved Johnson and got credit for the victory.

The Cardinals made 13 hits off Kolp and Derry, but failed to make them count. Five double plays were made.

GIANTS RALLY TO WIN

New York, April 23—The New York Giants celebrated the official home-opening of their "golden jubilee" season yesterday with a 5 to 4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

A three-run rally in the fourth seventh gave the Giants the game after the Phils had gotten away to a three-run lead in the third. Freiberg, first man to face Clarence Mitchell in the third, started the Phillies off with a home run.

The veteran left hander settled down after the third and pitched shutout ball until the ninth when the Phils added their final tally.

The Giants got to Ray Benge for single runs in the fourth and sixth. In the seventh, Hughie Critz homered to tie the score. A walk to Leach and singles by Lindstrom and Terry ended Benge's stay and Phil Collins took up the hurling.

After two men were retired Jackson singled to drive in the final and winning run.

CENTRAL ONTARIO BOWLERS GATHER

Peterboro, April 22—In their agreement upon the dates of the district tournaments to be held in the season which seems already here, the executive of the Central Ontario Lawn Bowlers achieved their major objective tonight at a meeting in the Peterboro Clubhouse. Organized last Fall in the hope of bringing together the bowling clubs of this section of the province for their mutual convenience and also to promote the game in the fullest possible extent, this group survived the Winter with an enthusiasm that was indicated by the large attendance of representatives from Norwood, Oshawa, Whitby Cobourg, Port Hope and Lindsay.

The following tournament dates for rinks, except as otherwise indicated, were agreed upon by the executive: Lindsay—June 10, July 22; doubles, Aug. 26, Brighton—June 17, July 29, Sept. 26, Whitby—June 12, Aug. 12, Port Perry—June 3, July 29, Cannington—June 24, Aug. 19, Peterboro—May 25, July 15, Aug. 3, Sept. 2, Oshawa—July 1, Aug. 15, Sept. 16, Cobourg—July 8, Aug. 20, mixed, Sept. 7, Bowmanville—July 13, Aug. 3, Port Hope—Aug. 5, Sept. 7, Norwood—Dates left open.

The Rule of the Rajah

By HARDIN BURNLEY.

Had Rogers Hornsby played football at Notre Dame he would have delighted the late Knute Rockne because the "Rajah" tries so hard to win and hates so much to lose that he seems to have no concern for personal popularity, or any other thrill save victory. This will be his first real test as manager of the Chicago Cubs.

When he succeeded Joe McCarthy, now pilot of the New York Yankees, late last season, he was unfairly noised about that Hornsby had undermined his boss. Thorough investigation, however, shows the Wrigley ownership alone decided to make that managerial change with no sinister urging or o'her intrigue involved. McCarthy himself will verify that. He and "Rajah," like the latter and Joe McGraw of the Giants, were never exactly chummy, but Hornsby had no hand in the managerial "ride" which "Mac" took at Chicago last season. It is simply a business office change which stood because McCarthy failed to produce another pennant winner.

And now the "Rajah" himself is "on the spot," as it were, for—unless the Cubs become 1931 National League champions—he, too, may be handed the same Knute Rockne because the "Rajah" tries so hard to win and hates so much to lose that he seems to have no concern for personal popularity, or any other thrill save victory. ARE YOU "HITTING ON ALL SIX?"

Folks, the human body is just like a good car, everything must be in working order if you expect to get the best performance out of either.

You can't expect to feel 100% if your liver is out of order, your stomach upset, nerves jumpy or bowels tied up. You must build up your vital forces and you weak, weary despondent men and women who have been doctoring for ages trying to get back the vim and endurance of earlier years will be astonished, delighted and amazed to see how quickly strength, energy and vitality come back through the use of Tanlac.

Mr. James Burns, 418 Bay Street, Toronto, says: "TANLAC restored my health completely and I feel as active and energetic, as I did forty years ago."

Go to your druggist now and get a bottle of Tanlac. Millions of folks have started back on the road to health by using Tanlac, which is this world-famous tonic and there is no reason why you, too, can't begin today to rebuild your worn-out tissues and revitalize your entire system.

Your money back if you are not mightily helped by a fair trial of this world-famous medicine.

Boosts and Fair Criticism

The fine weather has enabled the Golf players to start on the greens about a month earlier, this year, than usual.

Golf has taken a big hold all over and Belleville has suffered none in comparison to other places.

Between the Belleville Golf Club in the East end and the Bay of Quinte Country Club there are about 500 members, so it can be readily seen that the game is being seriously taken locally.

The Belleville Golf Club has made fine strides, in recent years, in increasing its membership from 50 in 1924 to 250 in 1931, no small achievement. Much credit is due the men behind this organization, who have labored with a will.

The instructions at the Club are in charge of Jock Mitchell, the professional and he has plenty of promising material to work with.

Whether or not Ackey Ketcheson, Joe Legault, Lorne'and Art McConnell the leading men in the Club's 1930 can retain their laurels this season remains to be seen, but no doubt the opposition will be stiff and they will need to put forth their best effort to be up there.

The Club this year has seen fit to have an open membership policy and this should be a further boon to the game.

All in all a splendid season is looked forward to. With the early start much improvement in the players' game should be the result. The permanent greens are all ready—so the stage is set.

At the Country Club—plans are taking shape, matches with players from Cataraqui, Picton, Cobourg and Napanee are scheduled so with plenty of the competitive spirit existing things are beginning to hum there.

William Little is the new pro instructor for the club.

The Tennis Courts at the Club are reported to be in good shape—and the Bay of Quinte Country Club with Frank Cushing as President should enjoy their share of prosperity this year.

When I thought of the effort and time spent by those who planned and gave our City those two fine centres of recreation for those who enjoy golf—the Country Club Sailing and Tennis—well—I just had to give a boost in this column.

The City Council must listen to the arguments put forward by the sporting fraternity for daylight saving. Time and money is being spent to further the City's greatest advertiser — Sport. Mayor — and Alderman give them a break —and at least permit them to express their opinion by ballot on the Provincial list basis.

Young men and women, who work here and there, are always expend their money in our city—why should they not be entitled to a say in this matter. Fair play to all—they eat, buy the necessities of life attend places of amusement here, and when it comes to advertising our fair city are not behind the best, in fact they are human too as well as those opposed to the measure.

The Park Nine-G.T.R. game of 1910 mentioned in this column, Saturday night, had the old timers talking in groups.

If one of the old timers can forward Fair Play the names or names of players on the T. A. S., Colenus Flats and Ontario Street of that year, they will be published with pleasure.

"BAWLS and STRIKES"

Well, it looks as if the boys from the Limestone City will have to be satisfied with competition from the surrounding villages, this season. That's about their class, anyhow.

With Kingston out, no doubt "Hank" Cohen will consider entering his Oshawa Arabs in the Central League, as the Jumps will not be so great.

The local ball diamond has been groomed and it is in A-1 condition, and no doubt the locals will be out practice soon. There is a report around town that the fans will see a new shortstop this season; he hails from the Maritimes.

While the Central League are having their annual league meeting at the Y on Saturday, the local Juniors will start practising at the Fair Grounds. All players are invited to try out.

Both the Junior and Intermediate Leagues will hold meetings next week to draw up schedules and talk over the question of umpires.

Question: The batter hits a long fly to deep right-centre, both the centre and right fielder race over and simultaneously catch the ball for the put-out; who gets the credit for the put-out? Answer: The player in whose field the ball is caught.

All Senior teams in the T.A.B.A. go away to a flying start on Saturday.

Things all point to a banner season in Toronto this year.

Jim Mooney, who gained considerable publicity last summer when he fanned 23 batters in a night game in the Sally League, has been turned over to Bridgeport of the Eastern League by New York Giants. Mooney who was personally scouted by Manager John McGraw, is considered a sure-fire prospect, but appears to need some polishing to fit him for major league duty.

Did you know that Emil Levesson, while pitching for Cleveland, was the last pitcher to pitch and win a double-header in the big leagues. He performed this feat on Aug. 28, 1926.

Harold Schumacher of the Giants, a highly touted rookie hurler, never finished a game without eating two doughnuts—probably to help his sinker.....And Mitchell Bolaski, another rookie pitcher, recently of the Giants, was registered in the church book as Mieczyslaw Franciszek Bolas, which means Cyril in Polish.

When Bugs Raymond, eccentric pitcher, was with the New York Giants, one of his favorite stunts was to take several new baseballs from the clubhouse and then, on some dumb excuse, enable him to partake of the cup that cheers. At a recent fanning bee, someone mentioned Raymond's name to Buck Herzog, who was holding down second base for the Giants at the same time Bugs was a member of the team. Much thereupon ensued a yarn about how McGraw, disgusted and bothered by the disappearance of an unusually large number of new baseballs, openly accused his players of pilfering them.

"If I don't mind getting over a ball or two now and then, if you'll only ask me," explained McGraw, "but this business of stealing them almost right under my nose must stop, and any man I catch stealing one or a dozen will be fined $50.

Later, the same day, McGraw, sitting on the bench, became chilly. He reached up into the latter rack overhead, and found a sweater, when out bounced half a dozen new balls. His curiosity aroused, he investigated further and found seven more stuffed in Raymond's.

Concealing his anger, McGraw pushed the sweater back and called Raymond to the dugout. "Bugs," he said, it's getting chilly and you'd better get your sweater."

Raymond glanced furtively at the garment and replied, "Oh, I'm all right, boss. This is just the kind of weather I like."

After watching Bugs for half an hour, the Giants' doughty leader noticed that the pitcher was shivering. "Bugs, you're getting all cold. Here's your sweater," called McGraw for the same time jerking down Raymond's sweater so that the balls fell into the dugout.

"So that's how you get 'em, huh? Some dream, eh?" chirped McGraw.

"Well, you're fined $50!"

Raymond, whose pay check for obvious and sundry reasons had been going to his wife, greeted the announcement with a laugh.

"That will be tough on the old lady, won't it boss?" was his rejoiner.

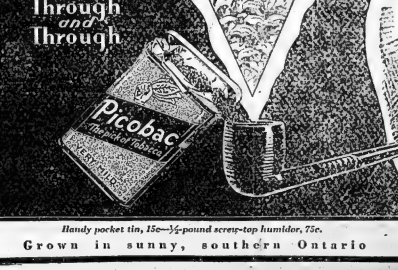
PHILLIES WON FROM ROBINS

Philadelphia, April 22—The Philadelphia Phillies pounded three Brooklyn Robin pitchers for 12 hits yesterday and the Phillies won 7 to 3, in the final game of the current series.

The Phillies virtually won the game when they launched a four-run rally in the third inning, in which they drove Grimsmith from the mound.

Fiscarelli—"Buzz" Arlett, Pacific Coast rookie, hit a home run in the seventh inning, scoring Whitney ahead of him.



Burrell and Whitney worked a double steal in the Phillies' eighth inning, Burrell crossing home plate.

Babe Herman contributed a home run for the Robins in the third inning.

Boston, April 22—Big Ed. Brandt held the New York Giants to five hits yesterday and the Boston Braves won the final game of the four-game series 5 to 3. Both teams won two games.

Allen's single and Lindstrom's triple in the first inning gave the Giants their only run. The Braves came back in their half of the inning, to tie the score. Clark singled and went to third when Terry fumbled a wild. Richbourg singled and Clark scored.

LEAFS WIN GAME TO EVEN SERIES

Rochester and Montreal Were Other Two Winning Teams in International

Newark, Apr. 23. — Nick Harrison showed Manager Steve O'Neill that he had the stuff that goes to make good pitchers when he held the Newark Bears to five hits yesterday and enabled the Toronto Maple Leafs to win the fourth of a five-game series 3-2, the same identical score as of the two preceding games. The set now stands even, each team having won two games.

Harrison was in danger on several occasions but fast fielding helped him. On the other hand, Newark used three pitchers, beginning with Manager Al. Mamaux, switching to "Elmer the Great" Faulkner, who once wore Toronto Livery and finishing with Byron Speece.

The Maple Leafs, taking a lesson from Professor O'Neill, who stressed the value of hitting after Tuesday's game, banged out 14 blows.

Ike Kirk Strong and Catcher Pete Slack, the latter acting in the capacity of a pinch hitter, got the honors of winning the game.

With both teams standing deadlocked at 2 to 2 in the eighth inning, Strong led off with a slashing triple to right field.

Strong's Long Hit

It was one of the longest hits ever made in the park. At Maple Leaf Stadium it would have been good for a tour of the bases.

The ball, however, hit the bleacher section, was returned to the infield before Strong could round third.

McHenry tried hard but his infield slash was short and the former New York University football star held third base. Then came Stack, who was sent in to bat for Rabbitt.

Mr. Stack couldn't have done better than he did. He placed a nice one-bagger to right field and in came Strong with a run and it proved to be a winner.

The Maple Leafs had to come from behind to win the ball game. They spotted the Bears two runs to start with through saffron fielding more than anything else.

They were two down in the first inning when Zitzmann beat out a deep hit to short. Herb Thomas, a notorious bad ball hitter, struck at a high one and it went for two bases, Zitzmann scoring. Rabbitt made a wild heave to the plate and the ball rolled to the Toronto dugout.

How It Happened

Just Playing Around

BY LEWIS ALLEN BROWNE

There was no mistaking his honesty, his sincerity.

"Chubb." I said, "you've had too many cocktails, or the moon has got you or something. You don't want to marry me!"

I knew better when I said it. He was absolutely stone, but I was sparkling for two. He almost took my breath away with the sudden pro posal, for he'd never made love to me before, although I had been with him a dozen times, finally in parties with Thad.

"You know I never drink too many cocktails, Katie, and it isn't the moon that's got me, it is you. Honestly, I want to marry you."

"Am I supposed to say that this is so sudden, is that it?" I queried.

"You might say that—I'll admit I'm all wet when it comes to doing the Romeo stuff, Katie, but that doesn't mean that I don't love you— and I'll be mighty good to you, always.

I was thinking. I don't believe I ever thought so rapidly before. If I turned him down flat that would be the end of it. If I kept him in suspense he would be at my beck and call, always ready to go places, always at hand to help me play around and have a gay time.

TERRIBLY IN EARNEST

"Say something; if it's only to bark at me, beautiful."

I looked at Chubb Osmund. He was perspiring a little. I could see it on his broad forehead. He was terribly in earnest about it.

"Why, Chubb, I wouldn't bark at you—I'm awfully fond of you," I murmured.

He embraced me.

"But—but I'm getting married— Oh give me a lot of time to think it over, Honestly, I never suspected that you cared that way."

Several seconds he had suffered

"How could any man help caring for you? Of course, I will give you lots of time—I'm so darned tickled that you didn't throw me down cold—I'll get you a perfect ring."

"Chubb! Now don't rush me like that. Let me think it over. Let's just be good pals for a while—honestly I'm awfully fond of you."

"Gee, but I'm a lucky guy," he murmured.

"You are now, think how ; lucky you'd be if you had me for a wife."

"No kidding, I'd be the happiest

"Man—on—earth!"

I finished the sentence with him and then we both laughed Chubb Osmund had an infectious laugh.

"Well, Chubb," I said, as if giving it all deep thought, "it's like this. I hadn't thought of getting married for a long while—of course every girl thinks of marriage almost all the time. I don't mean to have you think I'm not normal but there is plenty of time for marriage. Don't think I'm not pleased to have you feel that way about me and we'll be good friends. Some day I suppose I'll come to a decision and meanwhile

I paused for effect, and extended my hand.

We shook solemnly.

Viola and her friend came out as we were shaking hands. She wanted to know if it was a bet or something.

"It's a bet or—something," I answered.

Chubb didn't mention Thad Parsons during all that evening. If he ever thought that I expected Thad to marry me he never gave any hint of it even later, when he spoke of Thad.

We had a gay time together Viola was delighted with her new friend. Mr. Benny Thurston, Chubb had brought along.

Around three we got back to the city and decided that what Chubb called a "little local color" as a colored revue in a sort of combination speak easy and night club up in Harlem.

It was around the middle of Sunday afternoon that we prepared our breakfast in our suit of evening attire. Viola was scrambling the eggs.

"Chubb Osmund wants to marry me," I said.

Viola turned and stared at me.

"There are worse suitors—but a few who are fatter," she paused to giggle "how did he propose on the Rines? And who got him on his feet again?"

Viola agreed that I would be silly to marry him, but at the same time he was a nice jolly boy to pal around with.

We had promised Chubb and Benny to go with them the next Saturday night. We were to start early and go to Germantown, where Chubb's brother was giving a big house party.

As I started in with my daily routine on Monday, of helping to show sample gowns and arranging with them for the benefit of customers, I was thinking of Thad Parsons, and my thoughts were far from sad. Viola had been right, in her comical way. Getting let down was like having a tooth pulled, it hurt at first and afterward I felt better. I realized that it wasn't genuine love at all—it was the promise of living in the midst of luxury, mingling, as I dreamed, with high society people.

Cora was in town shopping and dropped in to see me. I knew she was worried about me. If she thought I was going to pine away she was mistaken. She grinned when she saw me, and said that I never looked better. I promised to see her some weekend soon and then she let the cat out of the bag.

"Peter will be glad to know you aren't taking it to heart, about Thad," she said.

"Did he send you to see me?" I demanded.

Cora was the sort who couldn't lie very well.

"I had to come in town anyway," she declared.

"Tell Peter I was never happier, that I'm having a swell time with all my nice friends. Tell him to go to Hell—no, I'll write him and do what I advised—marry some nice little house-wifey girl—"

"Oh, Peter," Cora declared, "it's you or no one."

"Mr. Peter H. Thompson will die a bachelor," I answered.

Cora sighed, then kissed me and went back to her pretty home, her lovely kiddies and her nice new husband.

A WONDERFUL PLACE

We had a gorgeous time down at Germantown. Chubb's brother had a wonderful big place. It was a jolly crowd, and as any of Chubb's really swell friends know that Viola and myself were just working girls—direct models—they never let on. That's the way with real aristocrats. Only the new-rich and cads and snobs get snooty at the working people.

Chubb said he would drive me out to Cora's the next Sunday, dropping Viola off at her brother's cottage and taking us back at night where we would meet Denny and have a little party.

On Wednesday he gave me a pretty little bracelet and wouldn't listen to any refusal. It was platinum with some small but brilliant stones. I had no idea what it was worth then or I wouldn't have taken it. Later, when I learned that it's value had been around five hundred there were reasons why I couldn't very well return it.

We were to go with Chubb and Denny Saturday for a little private party at Denny's home. His people were in Europe and he was having a down guests.

The dress problem was practically solved. Good Mrs. Mirrs let us wear samples almost anytime. In this way we saved a lot of money and almost always appeared in a new gown when out on a party, or just playing around town with just Chubb and Denny.

Saturday afternoon Viola had to meet her brother's wife in town and help her with some shopping. I went on to the apartment to do a little mending of undies and things.

Just as I got to the entrance Thad Parsons stepped out of a car that was parked there. It wasn't his old car and I naturally didn't recognize it.

GREETING

"Katie!" he said, coming toward me.

"Hello there, Thad!" I cried as I stopped and grinned at him.

"Katie!" he repeated.

"Well ,well, look at the stylish tan," I called out as he came toward me, "and how is the bride—is she in the car?"

"Of course not—I had to see you alone, Katie. May I come up for a moment?"

"Thad—be yourself!" I was still smiling at him, and almost dying of curiosity, but I had to keep up my attitude of cheerful nonchalance. "As if I entertained married men in my apartment!"

"Don't rub it in—I'm coming up, I've got to talk to you. Surely you can trust me."

"No, Thad, I cannot trust you but I can trust myself, come along up." I laughed as I said it.

What possible thing could Thad Parsons have to say to me?

As we walked into the foyer and took the elevator my thoughts were racing around in my head.

Not three weeks married and here he was, anxious to have a talk with me. Was he going to excuse himself for throwing me down? That was nonsense, we were never engaged.

I unlocked the door and let him in.

"Park yourself, Thad, and I'll be with you in a minute. Litt the bungalow off that China elephant's back and you'll find cigarettes—make yourself right at home." I said cheerfully.

I went into the kitchenette and from there to the bath room to slip into another dress. There was a mammoth dress closet off the bathroom, I used a little rouge and got into my most stunning gown, Oh, I admit that I was very human and proud and I wanted to make myself as attractive as possible.

LIKE OLD TIMES

I brightened up my eyes with a dash of eye wash put on my payes- smile and came prancing out to him.

"I had to get comfy, Thad—do make. Don't sit there—like that. I won't bite you."

I ran over, flshed out a cigarette and held a light for him. He nevertheless took his eyes from me until after he had inhaled deeply and placed the cigarette on an ash tray.

"You didn't have to doll up, Kitty —nothing you could wear would make you more beautiful than you are, naturally."

"And the great big mans came away up here to hand me a line of stale applesauce," I taunted.

"I came to thank you," he said suddenly, his face getting decidedly red.

"You are quite welcome." I made an old-fashioned curtsey, hand under my chin, eyelids lowered. Then I grinned at him, pushed him back in the big chair and plumbed my self down on his knees.

"It is so seldom that I have such a golden opportunity to flirt with a handsome man," I said, with a mock sigh of ecstasy.

Thad clasped his arms about me in an instant and started to kiss me. I tore away from his embrace and leaped up.

"You fool! You great big fool!" I cried, angrily, "haven't you the sense to know that I was just being jolly—just joking?"

Thad never flinched. Calmly he looked at me and nodded.

THE BITTER TRUTH

"Yes, I know that. Haven't you the sense to keep out of my arms? What do you expect?"

"I expect you to apologize from you- now. You were always gentlemanly but at least you have happen to be married."

He nodded and stared moodily at me.

"What was it you wanted to talk about" I spoke quietly again. I felt a little sorry for him, although I was still somewhat angry.

"The letters Kitty—I wanted to thank you."

"Thanks for nothing," I said crossly.

"Nothing?" He spoke with surprise.

"Yes, just that, 'nothing—they didn't mean a thing to me.

I turned away, ashamed that my chagrin had brought tears to my eyes.

"Some girls—most girls—would have sent them to—to my wife," he said.

"Most girls of your snobby set, not my sort—"

"Didn't it occur to you that I would pay handsomely for those letters?

"I'll did. I was advised to sue you for a million dollars. Since I made you a present of them you will probably admit that I didn't think much of that advice. Thanks for your thanks and now run home to the little bride—"

"Oh, lord!" Thad groaned as he said it.

"You'd better go on, Thad," I said softly.

"Not a word of reproach from you," he half whispered, staring at me, "no bitterness, not even a question as to why I married Arline."

"Why should I make a fuss? I had no strings on you. If I was sap enough to think you meant it when you made love to me—if I was dumb enough not to wonder why you never mentioned marriage, I had it coming to me. You've said your pretty thanks please run along. I've got to get ready for a big party tonight."

I wondered if he know how I was fairly aching to ask him why he so suddenly married spoolish little Arline Sargent—a girl I wouldn't trust despite her position in society, as far as I could throw a truck by the crank.

A FAREWELL

"We had too much to drink at a party down there. Arline and I got positively stewed and went down the coast in a launch. We got stuck on a sand bar and were there all night. She said I had compromised her," Thad explained.

I bit my lip. There were a hundred things I could say. My impulse was to tell him to ask her to explain about finsie Lawlor's husband, and I wanted to laugh at the idea of Arline Sargent being compromised.

I had sense enough to do none of those things.

"That was fine of you, Sir Galahad—and now run along, Thad," I managed to say.

He picked up his hat and I went to the door with him.

"Good luck, always," I cried suddenly, I didn't meant to, and yet I meant it, I think I did.

Thad pressed a little package into my hand.

"A remembrance, Katie—and God bless you," he said, hoarsely.

He slipped out and closed the door after him.

I stood for a while thinking.

Everything was all right. I wasn't heartbroken at all. I felt that I knew my ground then, and understood the whole situation. I had never really loved Thad, but I had loved his wealth and position. I forgot the little package for a moment—then I took it to the window to open it.

There was a pin-seal case and a platinum diamond fastener. I pressed it. The long narrow lid popped up. I stared down in breathless amazement.

Pearls!

A necklace, matched, delicate shell pink, and they glistened and glowed with such irridescent beauty that it made me gasp. They would be genuine. Thad wouldn't give anything else. They would be almost priceless, at least from my standpoint of money.

I put them on.

I looked at them. My eyes suddenly filled—with tears, Thad had loved me, even if I hadn't loved or cared for him.

"Pearls mean tears,' I muttered. Then I laughed.

Such a silly superstition!

"No more tears for me," I cried.

I remember this brief little soliloquy of mine many times during the time after this.

Chubb and Viola both declared that I was unusually quiet that evening. I passed it off by claiming that I had a slight headache. That night I told Viola about Thad's visit, I showed her the pearls.

"Tears," she said, and shrugged her shoulders.

"Don't be a damn fool!" I said, crossly. It was seldom I spoke that way, but she frightened me, and that made me cross.

Things went along as usual after this, with plenty of gay parties. I had other friends, men I met with Chubb, I were here and there with some of them, but Thad had passed with me most of the time.

We were found in another fashion show. The Misrs were planning big things and spread themselves this time. Five of the Misrs dress models were never called ourselves "mannequins—here to take part in this big display, including Viola and myself.

It was a bigger affair than before. Five French houses had been asked over with a display. Camera men were there for the rotagravure sections and news reels. I had my picture taken in a black velvet gown that was little more than a broad ribbon above the waist, and I wore the pearls Thad had given me.

I also had a picture taken with Viola in the newest bathing suit. All of these were taken before the opening, so as to be printed and create wider interest in the exhibition.

We had a stifling mob there the first afternoon and evening.

In the crowd around 10 o'clock I stopped as if to arrange a fold in the dress and said to them so that they could hear me:

"Hello, Thad's wife and Suzie's husband!"

Arline turned away: I heard her call me an odious name.

Pretending not to have heard the odious name Thad Parsons' bride had called me, I finished my slow display walk up and down the runway, never flinching at the "Ohh's," and "Ash's" that I heard on either side.

But my cheeks did burn red when, as I finished my little solo parade and was crossing the mirror floor of the platform, there was a burst of applause.

Mrs. Mirrs hugged me when I got back to our big room.

"Dearie—you did it—you got applause for one of the Mirrs' creation —the first applause of the day," she fairly gurgled.

REVEALS LURID MURDER TALE IN VANCOUVER

Chinaman Says He Went to Church Before Slaying

JOINTLY CHARGED

Possibility of a "Murder Syndicate," is Investigated

Vancouver, Apr. 23—Verging on collapse and only when his testimony in the witness stand with the assistance of police officers, T. Hitomi, a young Japanese, was sentenced to Magistrate R. C. Shaw what he alleged were the details of cold-blooded preparations made for the murder of T. Watanabe, a lumber contractor on the night of March 30th.—

Hitomi, who is charged with the murder, jointly with Shinkichi Sakurada, alleged operator of a private "hospital" at Steveston, broke at the preliminary hearing of the latter.

Hitomi told the court of coolly deciding against the use of a "surgical instrument" because it was too small for the killing. He said he accepted an axe suggested to him by Sakurada. Before the murder, he said, he and a friend attend a service at the Japanese mission of the Salvation Army.

He told the court that sometime before the murder Sakurada took him to a "noodle" joint and over a meal they discussed ways and means of killing Watanabe.

From there, he continued, Sakurada renewed suggestions, until on March 29, when he finally said:

"I want to have the nut cut is a job. It must be done tonight."

Sakurada finally arranged that he should call at the latter's home in the "hospital" on East Cordova Street, and should put a can on the steps of the place of a signal to Hitomi that all was quiet and that he could come in and finish Watanabe, who would be there. The drug plan failed and the two set out to find a place where they could do away with the victim. They picked on a spot on the tracks on Railway Avenue.

Hitomi said he was of a religious turn of mind and attended a Japanese service at the Salvation Army before rejoining Sakurada.

Hitomi testified that he met Sakurada, who said it was "time to go ahead." Hitomi asked what weapon were to be used. Sakurada produced a "surgical instrument". Hitomi objected that such an instrument was too small. They went to Hitomi's place, where Sakurada picked up an axe, saying:

"You may be able to kill him with the blow from this."

Details of Murder

"Sakurada suggested that if I wield the axe, maybe one blow would kill him. At same time, I will hold him up and help you,' Sakurada said.

"We took Mr. Watanabe for a walk that night. Watanabe could hardly walk. I suggested that I go ahead to the spot near the Alberta Can Company, and Watanabe and Sakurada would follow. I went down the track and waited, and I finally met the two and the three of us went down the track.

"While we were talking, Sakurada pulled my coat and said, 'Go ahead, quick.' I struck him from behind with the hatchet. I was not strong enough to strike him down and Watanabe attacked me. I asked Sakurada to help because although Watanabe was suffering he was still strong. I attacked him again and finally beat him down to the ground.

"After we beat him down, Sakurada said about six feet away and said: 'Why don't you cut his throat?' So, I did. I don't know where, but I managed to cut it. Then I threw the axe in the pool."

Developments from the Watanabe murder caused a furore in the Japanese community here recently with hints that a "murder syndicate" might have existed with purpose of profiting from insurance policies on the lives of the victims.

TWEED MILLING PLANT

Cause Not Certain

The cause of the outbreak cannot so exactly determined, but is blamed on one of two causes. The elevator was being operated yesterday morning and it is thought that an overheated bearing may have started the blaze. The other theory is that it had its origin in spontaneous combustion.

The elevator was filled practically to its capacity. Only this week two carloads of produce, one of wheat and one of sugar, were stored in it.

The Milling Company's buildings are brick for some years, partially frame while the elevator itself is metal-clad. It was thought at one time that one of the brick buildings might have been saved but this was found impossible. Despite heroic efforts on the part of the fire department and equipment, with the help of citizens, it was a losing fight from the beginning. At the time the outbreak was first noticed the fire department had answered a call to a burning home on the outskirts of the village.

The Tweed Milling Company employs about five men. It was built originally by the Rathbun Milling Company and controlled for some time by them. The Deseronto Milling Company, for a number of years, ran the outfit. About seven years ago it was bought by F. L. Purdy of this city and has been in constant operation since that date.

SALVATION ARMY TO OPEN SELF-DENIAL CAMPAIGN

Objective of Local Corps This Year is $1200

Ensign T. Howlett of the Salvation Army announces that the annual self-denial campaign commences on May 1st and concludes on Saturday, May 16th, with tag day.

The people of Belleville have responded splendidly in past years to the self-denial campaign appeal. This campaign is the one big financial effort throughout the Dominion that keeps the wheels of the Salvation Army going round.

There are hundreds of things done in Belleville every year by the Army that dollars and cents could never pay for. We think of the broken humanity, broken because of sin. But for the grace of God and to very often through the instrumentality of the Salvation Army, they have been made into the finest of citizens.

The Salvation Army stands for service to humanity. Creed, color, circumstances, form no barrier to one with outstretched hand for help.

The Army stands ready at all times to carry out the command of our Lord Jesus Christ: "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."

Day by day, year by year, under all conditions, this great human society for good carries on its work of the helpless hand. When you are called upon for your donation, for your self-denial, be generous, be sacrificial, do your best that this great work may be carried on even better. You know the Army. You know its worth.

The objective at this campaign is the same as last year, $1200.

Ensign Howlett desires to thank every citizen that has donated to the work in the past and he has every confidence in the people of Belleville that the objective will be reached.

THURLOW COUPLE GIVEN SHOWER

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Hall Honoured By Friends

On Friday evening April 17th about 125 friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lester to wish the recent bride and groom Mr. and Mrs. Ward Hall (nee Sylvia Lister) best joyous and best wishes and to shower them with many beautiful and useful gifts.

About 10 o'clock the gathering was called to order and Miss Edith Peacock read the following address:

Dear Sylvia and Ward:

We, your friends and neighbors, are gathered here for the sole purpose of standing by you our hearts, best congratulations and best wishes for your happiness.

We cannot give the customary —"What will be our lot, will be another's gain," for such is not the case. We are not going to lose you from our community, but we sincerely hope that we will see both of you at our church, and active workers in our young peoples' league.

We trust that your future

Will always be bright,

Your pathway be joyous

And your troubles be light.

Now if shadows should come

Just whistle and sing

It will make the clouds vanish

And much happiness bring.

Sylvia, be to your husband,

A kind, loving wife

And he will love you.

The rest of your life.

Ward, be a good sport

Don't get cranky or pout

Then your wife will be happy

When you are sport.

Now, on this great occasion

We have brought you to-night

A few little gifts

Which we hope you will like.

Please accept these fine gifts

As a slight token we pray

Of the love and esteem

We shall bear you always.

—Signed on behalf of the Community,

Edith Peacock, Mrs. Pound, Mary O'Brien and Annie Brown.

After the address Ward and Sylvia responded and thanked those present for the many gifts and invited one and all to visit them.

DAILY MEDICAL SERVICE

By Louis E. Bisch, M.D., Ph.D.
Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

Any normal healthy woman may expect to go through pregnancy with no greater risk than any of us take when walking down the street.

In all cases there are possibilities of danger, but if reasonable care is taken there is perfect safety.

Pregnancy is a normal condition, but it does mean that, for a period of time, nature is under a strain. The strain can be met without causing a breakdown, providing proper care is taken.

Every expectant mother should be under regular supervision during the whole of her pregnancy. By this we mean that she should have the necessary examinations to make sure that conditions are normal, to detect any abnormal condition and to have it treated before it becomes serious.

Serious conditions rarely develop suddenly. It may be true, though, they did so the person concerned, but there are usually certain changes which the doctor would have noticed days or weeks before. He cannot detect them unless the woman has put herself under his care, and this is one reason why we believe she should do so as soon as possible.

The expectant mother also needs insurance so that she will have a minimum of discomfort. To avoid the strain she needs to make some adjustment and she can be helped in doing this by proper advice. It is not a question of being fearful or making an unnecessary fuss. It is a matter of common-sense to make allowance for the special demands in order to be as comfortable as possible.

Nothing a mother sees, or any experience she may go through can cause the child to be marked or altered physically. There is no connection between the nervous system of the mother and the baby.

The baby does derive from the mother for its nourishment, but this does not mean that the mother should eat enough for two in the sense of eating twice as much as she did before.

The expectant mother should not eat more than a wholesome amount; she should not become over-stout; she should drink plenty of water each day. Her diet should include milk, green leafy vegetables and fruits.

Advice as to diet and other phases of her life will be given her by her doctor as part of the pre-natal supervision she should have during her pregnancy.

Questions concerning Health addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Have We Gone Too Far in Health Consciousness?

By Constance Cameron

Efforts toward improving the health of the school child are indeed praiseworthy. My only criticism lies in the fact that, in many cases, we have seemed to make the child think himself too conscious of what he should attain in the matter of health. Outside my window yesterday afternoon a group of children, ranging in ages from seven to nine, were playing. "I can lift you," proudly boasted Anna Lee. "Yes," came back the self-playing whine of Eva, aged ten, "most any child could lift me. I'm underweight."

From Eva's tone, one would have gathered that day after tomorrow at the latest, she'd be carted away feet first either to a hospital or for a permanent rest. And Eva is only ten!

Soon enough, women begin to worry about what ails them, soon enough they discuss calories and reduction, or gore themselves over the bridge table. But when a little 10-year-old girl tells in that voice of discouragement and self-pity that she is "underweight" it is time for us to do what we can about weight and diets for children in a discreet silence when the children themselves are around.

A diet can be directed by Mother. Deficiencies can be corrected. Rest can be insisted upon. Medical examination can be made ordinary, commonplace things—annual calls upon the family physician, without making the children self-conscious that they become imbued with fear and nervousness unduly.

There is much to be said in favor of the program of health building in the schools. It is a fine thing. The great danger lies in turning a child's thoughts inward to himself and his physical condition, when he should be as unconscious of himself as a puppy, eating well because he feels well, not because of the bogey of being "underweight."

Let's keep on helping the children to health, but let's not take them into the secret code so thoroughly. Health is something a child should be praised for in a wholesome, normal way; not a thing he should be made to concern himself about to the extent that it worries or terrifies him.

BEECH HEDGES

When trees are bare
An' winds blaw smell
Our sweet sister
As winters sell;
When a' the warld's a dowie grey
And like mornin' waff an wae
A cheer an dort dreamer;
The sun shines will gie a skimmer
An auirin, banterin glint an' glimmer
An' quietly beech-hedges flare
Wi' fernyear sangs

Plans for a systematic nation-wide programme for the scrapping of 3,000,000 motor cars annually were recently discussed in the United States.

THREE GREATEST DAYS IN CANADIAN HISTORY

The triad of days, April 22nd, 23rd, and 24th, represents in British and Canadian history unforgettable period of the late war when Canadians at Ypres, Langemark and St. Julien held back the German armies in one of the most desperate actions of the four years and four months of war. In these events Belleville men played a heroic part for this city was represented by a large number of young men who were at the front on this memorable occasion.

The men who served and those who thought of them during their absence meditated over the anxious days of early 1915 when Canadians improved their reputation as warriors.

Today the central day of the three is the greatest anniversary day in English history. It is St. George's Day, the anniversary of the patron of Merrie England. It is also noted for being the anniversary of the birth and death of William Shakespeare and the death day of William Wordsworth, the Lake poet. It is also the anniversary of the battle of Zoelbergen.

Rich in memories and rich in the gifts it has given to the English speaking race, today, yesterday and tomorrow are occasions of national pride and thanksgiving for what the deeds of men and the men themselves have given to English life.

Charles P. Joerger, a Philadelphia grocer, who died last month, willed $100 for the person who first raises the German national flag over Strasbourg, Alsace-Lorraine, as a signal that the city has again passed into the sovereignty of the German nation. The reward may seem low, but the indications are that before the time comes for the old "dates prove" to change flags once more, the interest will have greatly exceeded the principal.—Mail & Empire, Toronto.

A COOKING "SPECIAL" THAT WILL RECEIVE A GREAT WELCOME

EASIFIRST SHORTENING 1 lb. CARTON 10½c

The EASIFIRST Way to Good Cooking—

Doctors claim that vegetable fats are an important factor in our daily diet. EASIFIRST being 100% vegetable product is superior to animal fats for its digestive qualities.

Use EASIFIRST in baking. It creams perfectly, adding lightness and fine texture to cakes.

EASIFIRST may be used over and over for frying. Add a pinch of salt and strain each time. Easifirst does not absorb the flavors of articles fried in it.

EASIFIRST is neutral in flavor, smooth in texture, whips to a light consistency and makes a very attractive and palatable icing.

Economical too—use one eighth less in recipes calling for butter or lard. So don't fail to get your requirements at this very low price.

HON. THEODORE FACES DEFICIT

Treasurer of Australia at Time of Financial Stress

Mr. Theodore Plans Big Issue of Fiduciary Notes

(This is the second of a series of sketches of Australian political leaders prepared by The Canadian Press in view of the prospect of an early general election in Australia).

Hon. Edward Granville, Theodore has played an important part in the later acts of the Australian drama. Formerly premier of the state of Queensland, he entered the Commonwealth political arena in 1927. Who the Labor Party was returned to power under Prime Minister James Scullin in October, 1929, Mr. Theodore entered the Commonwealth Cabinet as Treasurer and Deputy Prime Minister.

But echoes of the days in Queensland came to embarrass Mr. Theodore. He was eventually forced to resign the treasurership, when the premier Queensland Government commenced commercial civil action against him for several damages. A royal commission had declared that "fraud and dishonesty" entered into the purchase of the Mungana coal mines by the former Theodore government. Mr. Theodore stoutly denied the charges.

But after the 1930 Imperial Conference when the Prime Minister returned to find things politically and financially in a state of muddle than ever before, he took Mr. Theodore back into the cabinet. Mr. Theodore's services were too valuable to be lost in a time of crisis, the prime minister asserted. So Mr. Theodore went back and the action cost the prime minister two of his right wing lieutenants, Hon. J. A. Lyons and Hon. James Fenton, while the Opposition never became reconciled to Mr. Theodore's re-entry and some stormy scenes followed in the house of representatives.

In any event, Mr. Theodore came back into office in December, 1930, at a most critical period. Besides the government's own difficulties, with an insurmountable budget deficit, a heavy adverse trade balance to be corrected by drastic customs changes, and a strong Opposition in parliament, there was trouble with the new extremist administration of New South Wales, led by the radical Hon. J. T. Lang. On April 1 the Commonwealth treasurer was forced to should er payments of more than £3,000,000 due in London as interest payments to holders of N. S. W. bonds.

Mr. Theodore is credited with being the originator of the Labor Government's main hope for finding a way out of the present crisis—the issue of £60,000,000 in fiduciary currency. It was planned to devote two-thirds of this sum, in regular monthly instalments, for works to relieve unemployment, the remaining £20,000,000 to be earmarked for wheat bonuses and relief to farmers generally. Mr. Theodore himself announced by for this measure, but it was termed by the government's opponents —including Mr. Lyons—as "inflation of the worst kind," who declared they were prepared to make it an issue in a general election. They counted on its defeat by the Senate, and Prime Minister Scullin declared if that happened the government would ask for double dissolution—the Australian double dissolve election—and go to the people on the issue. Mr. Theodore had explained the whole amount might never be needed; that only as much as was essential would be released at a time.

Mr. Theodore was born at Port Adelaide, South Australia, in 1884, the second son of the late Basil Theodore. He was educated in the Peninsular Public School and at the age of 25 was elected a member of the Queensland legislature, in which he remained until 1925. He became state treasurer and minister of works in 1915, leader of the Labor Party in 1919 and at the same time assumed the premiership.

Mr. Theodore was premier of Queensland until his retirement in 1925. Some of socialistic measures earned him the nickname "Red Ted" Theodore, his accomplishment a lot of useful work. He visited England and the United States on behalf of his state in 1920 and 1924, later as the latter visit to England he successfully floated public loans aggregating more than $120,000,000, the funds being chiefly required to meet maturing obligations.

Unsuccessful in an attempt to enter the commonwealth house of representatives in 1926, Mr. Theodore finally was elected federal member for Dalley, Sydney, in 1927. The following year he became deputy leader of the parliamentary Labor Party and assumed the commonwealth treasurership Oct. 22, 1929.

Mr. Theodore married Esther Mahoney of Toowoomba, Queensland, in 1900.

SAVED IMPORTED DRESS

"After a little wearing, a lovely green one—an imported dress—lost color so completely it was quite unwearable. A friend who had admired it asked me why I wasn't wearing it any more. On hearing the reason, she advised me to try Diamond Dyes. Having mended Diamond Dyes To make a long story short, it turned out beautifully. I have a lovely new dress that really cost just 15c—the price of one package of Diamond Dyes.

"I have since used Diamond Dyes for both tinting and dyeing. They do either equally well. I am not an expert dyer but I never have a failure with Diamond Dyes. They seem to be made so they always go on smoothly and evenly. They never spot, streak or run; and friends never know the things I dye with Diamond Dyes are redyed at all!"

MAN TRAIL

By Paul J. Fay

Harlan Masters slowly lifted the receiver. Who could be calling him? He had only arrived in Cranston the night before to take a position with the Kane Mercantile Co.

A pleasantly modulated voice greeted his "hello". "Mr. Masters, this is Miss Kane. I want to thank you for the flowers. I just adore roses. How did you guess it?"

Harlan was speechless for a moment. He had just met Miss Kane that afternoon. She had been in the office of her father, the president of the Mercantile Co. But Harlan hadn't sent her any flowers. Even if he had wanted to he wouldn't have dared.

"Why, I — I — didn't —" His denial was interrupted.

"Oh, you needn't deny that you sent those roses were my favorite flowers. You must be psychic. Wouldn't you like to come out to dinner tomorrow night?"

Harlan was more bewildered than ever. He couldn't refuse an invitation to the home of his employer. "I should be very pleased to come, Miss Kane," he replied. "But really, I —"

"All right, then. Six-thirty sharp. Conover, Mr. Masters. And she had hung up.

Harlan dropped limply into a chair. For the moment his bewilderment was superseded by irritation. Since he had been known in college as a woman-hater, should be accused of sending a woman flowers? Then all his fraternity brothers laugh. He knew what girls were like. They were frippery creatures who didn't enjoy honest food, honest sport, or honest music. They lived principally on chocolates, lettuce and lap music. His sister Frances, of course, was an exception. But as for the rest of them he would now be had promised to go to dinner.

After a maid had shown Harlan into the living room the following evening, he tried to plan the best way out of the situation. He had been trying all day without success. Then Juanita entered the room. Harlan drew in his breath sharply. By George she was lovely. The crimson evening gown formed a bewitching contrast with her languorous black eyes. She smiled as she held out her hand.

"I'm so glad you like roses, Mr. Masters."

Harlan made an incoherent reply.

"I've just been listening to the baseball scores over the radio," she continued, "and the Cardinals won again. I think they are sure to get the pennant, don't you? They have the best infield in the major leagues."

Before he thought, Harlan was involved in an argument. He heatedly insisted that Chicago would win the walk. And he was not even surprised — at the time — that a woman should be so well posted on the respective merits of baseball clubs.

By dinner there was candied ham — his favorite dish. It made him expansive. He even forgot to be properly deferential to Mr. Kane. But when Helen sat down to the piano after dinner Harlan groaned inwardly. Now he was to be bored by senseless jazz. Why didn't people enjoy music with tunes like "The Spanish Cavalier" or "Annie Laurie" song?

"Do you sing, Mr. Masters?" Juanita asked him.

Hang it! Now he was in for it. When Juanita glanced at the opening bars he could literally believe his ears. She was playing "The Spanish Cavalier." Harlan had to admit to himself that their voices blended well together. Then they sang "Drink Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "The Rosary." He liked every one of the songs.

After what seemed only a short time a maid brought in cocoa and sandwiches. Instead of the thin wafers of bread and fancy filling that Harlan would have expected, the sandwiches contained thick slices of Swiss cheese on rye bread. And no lettuce!

It was eleven-thirty when Harlan left. He had forgotten to mention to himself. I roomed with your sister at Vassar. From your photograph and from her description of you I fell in love with you. She told me you despised women, but I bet her a box of Cascolates that you would propose to me within four months after we had met.

Harlan grinned. "You would have won your bet anyway, even if I hadn't been for the flowers. Because I loved you the first time I saw you."

Juanita slowly winked at the Kewpie doll.

To Relieve Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to your druggist, and get 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength), and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water, and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

OLD AGE PENSION CHEQUES FORGED

LONDON, Ont., April 23—CP—The first case in connection with the province-wide investigation into the forgery of old age pensions' cheques was disposed of in county police court yesterday when Magistrate Hawkshaw sentenced Ronald Blake, 31, to two years less one day imprisonment. Blake pleaded guilty to forging the name of John Howe, 73 to a $20 a month pension cheque. A second arrest has been made in the district and the investigation is being extended to many Ontario centres.

WINDSOR FIRE BUG GUILTY

WINDSOR, Ont., April 23.—Because he was a menace to the community, Alfred Haig, 29, Windsor, was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary by Magistrate Brodie yesterday. He had pleaded guilty to one charge of arson and is suspected of responsibility for three other unoccupied homes in the spring. He claimed he had been drunk when he set fire to them, but in passing sentence Magistrate called him a potential murderer.

CENSUS OBJECTIVE

On June 1st the census taker will be at large in our midst. He will ask 156 questions. A representative of each of which a civil and at least partially intelligent answer is expected. There are places in which he will not find these people. Perhaps he has a grand objective before him. He is expected to furnish figures that show Canada to have more than 10,000,000 population. Such figures will take Canada back of the kindergarten class of nations and in turn will furnish Parliament with an excuse for a redistribution of the constituencies. Such redistributions do not as a rule work to the disadvantage of the Government. So said cynics and, unfortunately for Ri. Hon. R. B. Bennett, his colleagues and followers.—Toronto Telegram.

A SURE WAY TO RID YOUR HOME OF MOTHS

Follow these directions and FLY-TOX will effectively rid your home of moths. Close all windows and doors tightly in the room and with a FLY-TOX Hand Sprayer, saturate the air with vaporized FLY-TOX. See that all articles of clothing, rugs, chesterfield, etc., receive a thorough spraying. Leave room closed up for at least three hours before airing. Repeat weekly until all signs of moths disappear. Afterwards spray every two weeks as a precaution. FLY-TOX will kill all the moths and will not stain. Harmless to people.

FIRE DAMAGES ESTATE

Ottawa, Apr. 22.—"The Elms," a beautiful piece of woodland property owned by O. D. Conant, was seriously damaged by a grass and bush fire which started last evening and was extinguished until 10 o'clock this morning after the firemen under Fire Chief W. E. Elliott had fought it for hours with chemicals.

RADIO FANS CORNER

Reception is still having its ups and downs. If we are to judge from the reception last night. It has been much worse in its day of course but it wasn't any too smooth around Belleville to fade slightly, funny thing the long distance stations were a better last night than the regulars.

Olive Palmer was certainly at the top of her form last night, her voice was never better and the way she sang the "Lullaby" was wonderful. The quartet weren't doing so badly either on that medley of Victor Herbert's.

Uncle Abe and David are well away on another issue of the Hometown Tabloid-ean News but the news of Mary Lory's wedding in the near future, rather stopped work for awhile last night. Haven't had a big wedding in the years in the old town so plenty of fun is in store for the fans next week. Tune in to-night on WEAF for further developments.

The Mid-week Federation Hymn Sing from Wilder and Armstrong un till 7.30 and at 8 we're dug for a big night. Everybody is to be in the guest star and everybody knows who a comedian George is. Tune in at 8 p.m.

Jack Frost's Melody Moments from WEAF at 9.30 and at 10, R. A. Rolfe and his boys, at 8 special treat for us tonight the South Sea Islanders are going to be heard and this program so don't miss it. Cab Calloway warms up the atmosphere from the Cotton Club Orchestra at 11.15 and Jack Albin at midnight.

Greetings to the Jesters at 7.15 from Uncle Abe, Paul Sandwina violinist will be heard with his Concertist Piano Accordion. The Dixie Spiritual Singers at 8 over the same station and 9 Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson.

During the next program at 9.30 John Fogarty, tenor, is to be guest artist and Ben Bernie under the direction of Don Voorhees and "that's all" at 10 o'clock. Music is heard during the Gay Nineties program at 8 and at 10.45 the George Hall Hotel Orchestra. Ben Pollack music, Del Lampe's orchestra shines at midnight.

INSURANCE MAN WAS FOUND DEAD

Inquest Ordered at Owen Sound—Death Believed Asleep

Owen Sound, April 23—An inquest will be held on George Frederick Sharp, 50, Owen Sound local insurance agent, who was found dead yesterday morning in the rear seat of the car in which he had made a journey from Wiarton with some friends that week-end.

Zapfe's companions thought that he had merely fallen asleep during the trip from Wiarton to Owen Sound. Mr. Sharp was undisturbed while they went to the home of friends in Owen Sound, arriving later they found, however, that Zapfe had died during the night.

Deceased, who was in his 53rd year, was born at Detroit, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zapfe. He went to Kitchener with his parents when a boy, and lived there until he came to Owen Sound in 1905. He had been representative of the Dominion Life Insurance Co. for 24 years. In 1904 he married to Miss Gertrude Chapman of Alvinston, who survives with three sisters, Misses Dodds, Kitchener; Mrs. Ernest Zapfe of Kitchener, and two brothers, Frederick of Waterloo and John of Clinton.

SNOW STORM HITS THE BARRIE AREA

Barrie, April 23—After basking for nearly a week in mid-summer weather, this district awoke early in the wake of a mild blizzard that left the ground dotted with snow. The storm soon after 6 o'clock last evening, when a heavy shower of rain changed to the new grass had become a pure white.

TORONTO LOST TO NEWARK 3-2

Jersey City Took Third Straight From Rochester Wings

Newark, April 22—Steve O'Neill's Toronto Maple Leafs were the victims of close hitters with a wide varied assortment of benders and loops here yesterday and they dropped the third of a five-game series to the Newark Bears by a score of 3-2.

A badly-handled ball in right field by Joe Rabbitt allowed the Bears to tally two runs and tie the score in the fourth inning.

The Bruins won out with a run in the seventh. The Leafs put on a rally in the ninth but a fast double play killed their chances.

The Bears, main stays have made more runs than they did but for a great catch by Joe Rabbitt in left field and some dazzling work at the far corner by Ogden-Out of Lock

Warren Corley Ogden pitched good enough but to win an ordinary game but his team-mates were woefully weak with their bats. They collected but four hits, which added to the six made here Tuesday makes just ten in 18 innings, hardly enough, if you ask Manager O'Neill.

Under other circumstances the Leafs might have celebrated yesterday because of the return of Frank Barnes, southpaw pitcher from the New York Yankees, but O'Neill is considering for celebrations. What he wants is bigger and more opportune base hits and he aims to have them before he reaches the home playing field.

Barnes will report here today and will probably work against the Bears in the farewell game of the series Thursday.

Baltimore, Md., April 23—The Baltimore Orioles made it three straight over the Buffalo Bisons by winning a 3 to 2 decision in ten innings yesterday.

Ralph Boyle's triple in the tenth inning, scoring Smythe, was the deciding blow.

The game was a sound duel all the way through, each club being held to five hits. Cascarella and Smythe pitched for Baltimore, while Pound and Wertz toiled for the visitors.

Jersey City, April 23—The Jersey City Skeeters made it three straight over the Rochester Red Wings and four consecutive victories this afternoon by winning a 7 to 5 verdict.

The Skeeters started to "peck away" at Herman Bell in the first inning and continued to hit him plenty of trouble throughout the rest of the battle. Altogether the Skeeters nicked Bell for 11 singles to score seven runs. Hartman and Gerry Hoffman collaborated to hold the Red Wings at bay.

Ray Pepper connected for his second home run of the series in the fourth of Friday.

Reading, Pa., April 23—Reading rallied for three runs in the ninth inning to defeat Montreal, 9 to 8, for its first victory of the season.

Dutch Legrit singled in the ninth with the bases loaded to drive in the winning run.

SEARED AND YELLOW PAPERS REVEAL EARLY HISTORY OF BELLEVILLE AND DISTRICT

Pale Ale Purchased For Six Dollars a Barrell

HIGHLY PRIZED

Intelligencer and Hastings Chronicle of 1859 Found by H. Belsey

In the attic of one of the first homes built in this city, at present owned by Herbert Belsey, located at the corner of Dundas and Front Sts., there turned up the other day a number of newspapers of ancient vintage, most of them published in the year 1858 and 1859 although one was printed in 1853.

These newspapers, according to the writing at the top of one of them, at one time belonged to the late T. C. Wallbridge and they are now prized by their present owner for their historical value. Not only were Belleville publications in the bundle but Kingston, Toronto and Hamilton were represented. Included in the bundle were such publications as "The North American," published in Toronto, the issue of December 27th, 1853; "Hastings Chronicle," published in Belleville, issue of 1858, "The Morning Herald," published in Kingston, issue of January, 1854, the "Hamilton Spectator" issue of January, 1854, and a number of copies of "The Intelligencer" issued in 1858 and 1859. There is included, as well, a single sheet, that may at one time have been an "insert", that evidently belongs to "The Hastings Chronicle," and one issue of "Mackenzie's Weekly Message," published in Toronto, 1854, whose motto is "Industry, Economy, Intelligence." The "insert" is headed "The School Question", and deals with the question of Separate Schools. It takes the form of a letter, addressed to Mr. James Meagher, Secretary of the Separate Schools, Belleville, and deals with the whole question, it being signed by Lewis Wallbridge. On the same sheet is another letter signed by Hon. R. Pilot, Senator, in which he heartily agrees with Mr. Wallbridge's views and cries out "Hurrah for Lewis Wallbridge!"

A Terrible War

Talk of a general European War, as taken from the New York "Tribune" and reprinted in Mackenzie's Weekly Message is of interest to many The article in part says—"If indices predict conflict, then surely is Europe on the eve of a war the magnitude of which can hardly be estimated. A general war now in Europe will be a thing different from any yet known in the world. The means of offense and defense are developed without precedent. A musket that kills at nearly a mile distance; rifled cannon that deal death in the lump; a steamer that is independent of wind and tide, and riding the Baltic or Mediterranean, Danube or Rhine, does in a week the distance that two months hardly sufficed at the time of Napoleon's invasion of Egypt; a railway that can carry troops from Havre to Vienna in days instead of months as formerly."

Even at that, in those times, they did not have poison gas with which to contend; there were no such deadly weapons as submarines or tanks. What would our venerable ancestors think, though, when their talk of guns, if they had known that in the 20th century the Germans had a gun that could shell Paris from a distance of seventy-five miles? It makes one feel incredibly ancient to read of Napoleon's invasion of Egypt. Indeed, the younger generation hasn't even any recollections of the Great War.

No Local News

In the old Hastings Chronicle and The Intelligencer, although there is practically no local news whatsoever it is interesting to note some of the advertisers of those journals of which names can be found in print today. For instance—R. Holden and Co., Dealers in Drugs, Chemicals, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs and etc., Front Street, Established 1841; Mrs Louisa Black, Ladies Boot and Shoe Store, Front Street, Belleville, one door below Mr. G. Reid's Jewellery Establishments; G. F. A. Ridley, Bar Keeper, Dentist, Office Secondly north of Papineau's Hotel, over Yale's store, Front Street, as well as a host of others.

But there are some names which are family names in Belleville and whose descendants still reside here. Such as T. A. Lazier, Barrister and Attorney-at-law; Thomas Will, County Clerk, Conveyancer, Notary and General Agent, and others.

"It is amusing to read that at the Dafoe House there was good stabling attached and trusty hostlers were always in attendance and that good oats and hay could be purchased for six and seven dollars the barrel.

"So-called pure science, that is science devoid of contact with practical life, is a figment."—Nikolai Bukharin.

If Mahomet Went to the Mountain

IF he took it into his head to return to earth, and if he came to Canada, there is no doubt but that the Prophet would go to Mount Robson. For one thing, it is the loftiest and most majestic peak in the Canadian Rockies, and for another, Mount Robson would not likely go to Mahomet. Changes as miraculous as the moving of mountains have come to pass in the world since Mahomet's day, however, and the Prophet would be much impressed by the railway train—"The Confederation" or "The Continental Limited"—which carried him so swiftly and comfortably to his destination.

Canada has many wonders, as five and a half million tourists from the United States found out last year. Greater numbers of travellers are learning in summer that one of the first of them is Mount Robson. This year, the Canadian National Railways have organized several personally conducted tours of Canadian discovering their own country. Two of them will leave Montreal and Toronto in July, under the guidance of such well-qualified men as C.A. Adams, B.A., of Granby, Que., Myrtle Berry, B.A., of Hamilton and A. E. Bryson of Toronto. Rejoining with a Great Lakes trip, the tourists will see as much of the West as can be packed into three weeks. They will cross the prairies, visit the foothills and the Rockies—spending a time in Jasper National Park—and will see Mount Robson; they will go from Vancouver to Prince Rupert by Canadian National steamship along the placid, fjorded, "Inside Passage," and will turn east, along the Skeena, through the fascinating land of totem poles. The first of the tours will leave Montreal on July 10 and Toronto the following day; the second will be under way July 24 and 25.

RADIO, LATEST COMPETITOR OF THE NEWSPAPER

Advertising Over the Air Has Increased Rapidly

LINEAGE LOSS

Is Now a Major Industry Is Report To Publishers

NEW YORK, April 22.— CP—The radio was labelled a "terrible competitor" of the newspapers by a committee of American Newspaper publishers association yesterday. The report was submitted by the Radio Committee after action by the Association.

Citing statistics to show the ratio of radio advertising had increased from nothing in 1928 to 10.2 per cent in the first quarter of 1931 and that of 107 leading radio advertisers out their newspaper lineage from two hundred million lines in 1929 to one hundred and twenty-five million lines in 1930. The report said "the conclusion is inescapable that a large part of the lineage loss is the price paid by newspapers for the privilege of over exploiting the radio.

During the early years when the radio was a novelty, things, I dess perhaps the right to exploit it and still about it in every detail, the report continued, but today, the radio has taken its place as a major industry and there is no reason for the newspapers to exploit it than for the radio to exploit the newspapers.

In a Very Short Time He Got Great Relief

Saskatchewan Man Used Doddy's Kidney Pills

Parkerview, Sask., April 20 (Special)—"About three years ago I suffered with Backache and Rheumatism—could hardly move," writes Mr. S. Borowanchy, who lives at this place.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and after taking the first box I felt better. So I got a few more boxes which gave me great relief in a short time.

"The natural way to treat Backache and Rheumatism is to treat the Kidneys and the natural way to treat the Kidneys is to use Doddy's Kidney Pills. Rheumatism is caused by the presence of uric acid in the blood. If the Kidneys are doing their duty they will strain all the uric acid out of the blood and there can be no more Rheumatism.

"Therefore, put the kidneys in shape to do their duty by using Doddy's Kidney Pills. Just give them a trial and be convinced. Obtained from all Druggists, or The Dodds Medicine Co. Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

WE ALL CRAVE ROMANCE

Romance we all must have. Even when past middle life we are not immune to its call. And when we get it we are happy. There is consolation as much as when we are young.

Romantic ideals start, of course, during childhood. Father, mother, teachers, older brothers and sisters, aunties, grandparents and even sissy gee-gees to us heroes and heroines endowed with the most charming and admirable qualities imaginable. Besides, the child's mind is crowded with all sorts of imagery anyway. The boy and girl lives a life of make-believe more than a life of matter-of-fact reality.

So we keep on fashioning heroes in our mind's eye and living in a world of make-believe. Deliberately do we withhold all of the qualities, peopling them with the most lovable and adorable figures. And especially do we color our thoughts with ideas of romance and love.

In our teens we are looking forward to the days when we can meet only hero will somehow "just happen". We don't know just where this paragon of all his sex is—whether male or female — will emerge from, how we will look for or why. And we don't care. We just feel he or she will meet him or her. And we don't care. We just feel he or she will happen along — and that's enough.

Later, love does actually enter our souls; we greedily respond with all the romance that has been battled up from the past. We lose all sense of values. We become blind in fact. We won't listen to reason. We just don't care what happens anyway so long as we can possess this love object which has come to us. Unfortunately, this over-idealized romantic state seldom, if ever, lasts. Indeed, it may pass with rude and shocking suddenness. Marriage and its responsibilities may not always dampen the enthusiasm. Or the man we have loved all his manhood, as the case may be — may unexpectedly disappoint us and we are left with a sickening thud.

But does all this cure us of our romantic cravings? Not much? For a time, maybe, we may become cynical and say love is a joke, etc., etc., but sooner or later we are at it again, building castles, and considering romantic possibilities, again seeking our hero or heroine.

No wonder the movies have such a hold on people. Small wonder too that we are all more or less addicted to the happy ending in our dramas, novels and stories. We want to believe that romance exists even if it played us false in our own love affair. We like to think others have found lasting happiness in it, even if we ourselves have not. We insist that romantic love may still be ours some day.

And it is good to feel that way, too. It keeps us hopeful and cheerful. It softens our malevolence. It makes us human. That life is bound to give to everybody. And when we have reached the years when the chances of romance, in the ordinary accepted sense of the term, is not likely to knock at our door, then we think of the past and fashioning pretty fancies of what might have been.

Don't be ashamed of your romantic urges. Give way to them and foster them all you can. If you like love stories, read them. If you prefer romantic movies, attend them by all means. Don't repress romance because it is an instinctive urge that will try to express itself whether or no.

PREMIER SCULLIN HAS HIS TROUBLES

Defeat of His Financial Proposals By Australian Senate Will Mean Early Election

This is the first of a series of sketches of Australian political leaders, prepared by The Canadian Press in view of the prospect of an early general election in Australia.

Once a farmer's boy, James Henry Scullin became prime minister of Australia on Oct. 22, 1929, after the Labor Party's victory in the general elections and the defeat of the Coalition Government of Prime Minister Stanley Bruce.

A small man, no more than five feet six inches tall, Mr. Scullin is well-built with clear features and attractive head. He is level-headed and sincere and inclined to be a little impetuous. He does not narrate easily. He has an agreeable and dignified personality, with a direct method of speech.

Mr. Scullin has faced many difficult problems since he came into the office. The premiership of Australia between ill-health and the unflinching manner in which he flung himself into the heart of Australia's troubles, his hair turned white within the first six months of his appointment. On top of everything else, he was unexpectedly baffle with the extremists of his own party.

Mr. Scullin was in ill-health when he left Australia last summer to attend the Imperial Conference. While he was in London the party caucus had been stampeded into a proposal to postpone paying holders of maturing loans, for a year. Mr. Scullin would have nothing of this. His sole lieutenant, Hon. J. A. Lyons, carried through with great success a $140,000,000 conversion loan which was over-subscribed by the Australians themselves.

When Labor came into power Mr. Scullin had appointed Hon. E. G. Theodore, former premier of Queensland, as commonwealth treasurer and deputy prime minister. But Mr. Theodore was forced to hand in his resignation when the present Queensland Government commenced action against him for damages in connection with the purchase of coal mines by the Theodore administration.

After the Imperial Conference, Mr. Scullin returned to find a powerful army of extremists grouped solidly and aggressively pushing their policies on the Labor Party as a whole. Trying to gain some semblance of unity he took Mr. Theodore back into the cabinet—and thereby alienated Mr. Lyons and Hon. James Fenton, minister of trade, both of whom resigned. Now Mr. Lyons, commanding all the government's proposals and especially its proposal for an issue of $90,000,000 in fiduciary notes, is probably Prime Minister Scullin's most formidable opponent.

Early in 1930 Prime Minister Scullin succeeded in removing Hon. Frank Anstey and Hon. John A. Beasley, representing the extremists, from the cabinet. The extremists promptly established their own inner party in the house, and held the balance of power. In fact the government slaved off defeat on many times only with the aid of the extremists. On April 14 last, the government's majority was only two.

Undoubtedly the chief thorn in the side of Prime Minister Scullin and his colleagues is the extremist Premier of New South Wales — Hon. John Thomas Lang. State and Commonwealth Labor parties are closely related in Australia — or were until extremism practically swept aside party lines — and Mr. Lang was to all intents and purposes the leader of the Federal as well as state extremists. Prime Minister Scullin and Premier Lang had many clashes from the beginning of the year, especially over by-elections in commonwealth divisions in New South Wales, when Mr. Lang protested in putting up extremist candidates and the Prime Minister was forced to find his own candidates.

The Prime Minister also fought Mr. Lang stubbornly during the conference of Premiers in February. The Commonwealth Government put a platform of endeavoring to balance the budget in three years at most, of taxing interest payments on government and private loans, and cutting wages, was finally approved by the majority of state governments. But Mr. Lang, after several drastic speeches, left the conference with a warning to the prime minister that New South Wales would follow its own pathway.

Born near Ballarat on September 18, 1876, Mr. Scullin lived and worked on a farm after a brief period as a grocer's boy. He went to Ballarat and became interested in debating societies. He acquired some reputation as a speaker, formed a branch of the Labor Party and in 1906 opposed Rt. Hon. Alfred Deakin, Liberal leader, who was three times prime minister. Mr. Scullin established his reputation even if he did not get into parliament, in a stoutly fought campaign.

Mr. Scullin entered the house of representatives in 1910 as member for Corangamite. He lost his seat three years later, and became editor of The Ballarat Echo, a Labor weekly. He was victorious in Yarra in 1922 and has remained that constituency's being returned by acclamation in the general election of 1928 and 1929.

On the resignation and death of Matthew Charlton in 1928, Mr. Scullin became leader of the Labor Party. The results of his leadership were soon apparent. In the November, 1928, general elections, the Labor Party secured more seats than any other group, but Premier Bruce remained in office with a coalition of Nationalist and Country Party members. On October 12, 1929, the Labor Party secured a comfortable majority over all others combined. This however was all to a dangerously slim margin by defections, by the independence of the extremists with whom Premier Scullin will have no dealings, and the withdrawal of Mr. Lyons and Mr. Fenton.

Mr. Scullin for 14 years as an adjudicator at the South Street oratorical competitions at Ballarat. He is fond of music — especially the violin. He gives great credit to his wife, formerly Marie MacNamara of Ballarat, whom he married in 1907. She has always given me wonderful help and encouragement in politics with enthusiastic and unfailing sympathy," he says.

RESEARCH LABORATORIES OPEN IN BRANTFORD

Indicative of the importance of chemical research in industry, was the opening in Brantford, Ontario, last night, of one of the largest industrial research laboratories in Canada outside of those operated by the government and universities. The laboratory, a two-storey structure, is a development of the research department of G. F. Sterne and Sons, Limited, which not only serves the interests of the firm that sponsors it but other manufacturing concerns throughout the province, which have availed themselves of the facilities offered for confidential industrial research. At a banquet in the new building, last night over fifty industrial leaders were in attendance. The new laboratory, shown above, was formerly opened by Dr. L. F. Goodwin, professor of chemical engineering at Queen's University. Others speakers were Dr. O. S. Whitby, head of the chemical division of the National Research Council, Ottawa, and Dr. Leah Miller of the University of Toronto. The layout shows the four Sterne brothers responsible for this new scientific service to Canadian industry. They are (from left to right) G. F. Sterne, vice-president and secretary-treasurer; E. T. Sterne, chemical director and manager and president of the Canadian Institute of Chemistry; H. W. Sterne, president, who presided at the dinner and W. S. Sterne, vice-president.

FRANKFORD W.M.S.

The April meeting of the Frankford W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Harvey Bonisteel, the president was in the chair and announced the hymn, "Crown Him with Many Crowns." After prayer offered by Miss Fox the president led the members in the Lord's prayer in unison.

The minutes were read by Mrs. Wesse who also conducted the Treasurer's report received.

Mrs. Ketcheson then took charge and used part of an Easter service. This was followed by the hymn "Abiding, Oh So Wondrous Sweet." Mrs. Ketcheson then continued with the Easter service.

Mrs. Perry Sine read the fifteenth Psalm as a scripture lesson.

Then was sung "Look ye Saints," Mrs. Ketcheson led in prayer.

Then followed a vocal number by Mrs. Dogett, Mrs. Ketcheson, Mrs. Patrick, Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. M. Smith. The number was entitled "He Lives."

Prayer for the community missions in Canada was offered by Mrs. Coon.

Mrs. Patrick gave a reading, "A Gift of Love." A paper in five parts, on Easter day was then given.

All were much interested in a letter from Mrs. (Rev.) M. Craig, missionary in Japan. The letter lent by Mrs. J. Sails and read by Mrs. J. Rose.

There was held a season of prayer for one of the societies members who is very ill.

One stanza of Nearer My God to Thee was sung. Twenty five fourteen members answered and there were two visitors.

The last stanza of Nearer my God to Thee followed by the Mizpah benediction brought the meeting to a close.

Reduced by Asthma. The constant strain of asthma brings the patient to a dreadful state of hopeless exhaustion. Early use should by all means be made of the famous Dr. J. D. Several trucks from the city have been busy hauling back coal from Mr. P. Carter's for flower beds.

STIRLING

Stirling, April 22 (By Mail)—St. Paul's League met on Monday evening with a large attendance and as there was no group contest it was impossible to estimate the numbers. Rev. E. W. Rowland presided in the absence of the president. After devotional exercises, Mrs. J. R. Butler sang an appropriate selection, then a very interesting play entitled "The Pill Bottle" was given in four acts. The cast—Dorothy Jobbin, Dorothea Thompson, Etta Thompson, Mildred Richardson, appear in the first act as College girls graduating. Mildred returning to her home in India where her parents are missionaries. The other three scenes are pictured in India at Ruby's home, her aim is to be an independent worker. Characters are Mrs. C. Macklin and Mr. Ted Hulin. Later Mildred is taken ill by a doctor and several come in for treatment but when they learn it is her father who is a medical missionary, they are obliged by custom not to employ a male doctor for women, the patient died, this led to Mildred deciding to study for a doctor and the third depicts her office hours in India, not less than 30 and 40 patients in one day. Miss Lillian Ienis treated in one day. Miss Lillian McGuire was the bible woman, others in the cast, Mrs. Thelma Tullock, Mary Hulin, Irene Hulin, Marion Jones, Pearl Stapley, Ruby Stapley, Jean orone, Olive Monroe, Florence Bailey, Marian Bailey, Audrey Luery, Freida Sine, Evelyn Lindfield, Fred Joblin, Clarence Weil, Lloyd Rowland.

Hymns fitting in with the play were sung behind the scenes by Mrs. Macklin, Miss Crurie and Mrs. Lindenfield which made a beautiful setting. Sometimes one hears that in order to get a crowd one has to have a play with lots of humor in it nowadays. Sunday night that is not at all, the people are willing to come to listen to good solid realities of life. Rev. Dr. Endicott then closed the meeting with the Benediction.

Mr. Devolin and friend of Toronto spent Sunday with the former's sister, Mrs. May Seymour.

ANALYSIS OF T. A RDY AND G. MEREDITH

Librarian of Queen's Addresses Reading Club

WRITERS CONTRASTED

George Meredith and Thomas Hardy, the Victorian writers who lent glory to the last years of the nineteenth century, were the subject of an address by Mr. R. C. Kyte, librarian of Queen's University, Kingston, last evening before the Belleville Reading Club. His paper on Meredith was a masterly summary of the aspects of the novelist's genius. Meredith, he said, was not concerned with the beginning or ending of things, but dealt with what now is, and to understand him one must have a sober estimate of the present. The single of vision is that of genius and the expression is like wine on a lofty plane.

As a student and analyst of character, Meredith is very sympathetic and keen. He shows men and women as they are, not as in real life they mon often appear to be, with the inner motives obscured. The novelist believing earth not heaven is responsible for the soul, the roots of mankind must accordingly have a foundation in the good rich earth. His characters are not puppets, he sees them as a kind of sense, form and spirit. He has a gallery of portraits of amazing range, but Meredith's edge of his never sees false, and his intuition into the motives of women and girls is remarkable. He is a keen portrayer of the temptress and his men are of wide range. One of his early women showed life chasing moulded by events but all his other work reveals character as moulded by character.

Evil and Good

Meredith's work has a definite critical value. Evil according to his philosophy is sent into the world with a view to man's education. A moral purpose runs through the novelist's work; no action can fail in life of its consequences and consequence in action. A young committed may be pardoned but its result remains. Meredith is confident in good and is never impatient with slow progress. To him all the conditions of life are evidences of progress, he is the champlon of a new and higher age, praising God for evil and for good. He has a firm belief in the home established upon the realization of equal rights and duties of women as individuals not as a sex.

He brings to the task a comprehensive sympathy and respect.

Touching on his poetry, Mr. Kyte read from "Modern Love" and "Love in a Valley" which he called two of the greatest love poems of the nineteenth century. Meredith is a sculptor in words; if his cleverness were more artificial it would be more easy to understand him. Pageant, irony or psychology, pathos, tragedy, humor, are marks of his work. His comic spirit is opposed to the tragic spirit of Hardy. He can never be popular but he is like a rock which has to be struck to cause fresh water to gush forth.

Hardy's Courage

Turning to Hardy's work, Mr. Kyte said he has a tremendous personal message to the people; his tragedy is the struggle of man in the grip of forces he cannot understand and master; his climax is destiny working out its way through the unregarded bodies, minds and souls of all mankind. He deals with the perverseness of things, the conspiracy to beat man down; every possible conjunction of unfortunate circumstance meets his characters, the dice are loaded against man.

Now Hardy believes in a cosmic spirit, but it is tragic not diabolic. His people have little with but his personals have plenty of humor. His characters are lucid and capable of profound thought. He wishes his readers to see the helplessness of man before the tragic destiny of life. Often the very qualities which make a man great under certain conditions crush him under other circumstances. Hardy never spares his people, he knows no sentimentalities. His poems show the same philosophy, a peculiar sense of fatality of life.

Hardy believes in a God but he does not call him God. He believes in a First Cause, the Imminent Will, that has caused everything to be by its will, and which has lost itself by becoming enveloped in its will so that only blind resistless will exists. Hardy's philosophy calls for human courage in meeting it.

DEER'S HORN CANE IS 140 YEARS OLD

Estimated to be one hundred and forty years old, a cane owned by Mr. J. P. Cory, the hale and hearty Belleville merchant who resides on the west side of the city, has a notable history. It was made by his grandfather, E. Cory in Prince Edward County, in which he had settled after coming from the vicinity of Saratoga where he had lived until the close of the Revolutionary War of Independence. Coming to Canada with the rank of Loyalists in the eighties of the eighteenth century, the founder of the family in Canada lived an active life in what is now Prince Edward County. He was a carpenter and an artist with the chisel.

This cane is a hickory stick with a mounts of the butt of a deer's horn. The horn is highly polished and where it is cut it bears the name of the maker.

"In those days deer were very plentiful forahouts", commented the present owner of the stick.

NINE MURDERS IN DUSSELDORF

April 22.—Peter Kurten was sentenced to death nine times today for nine murders in this vicinity and received a fifteen year term in the penitentiary in addition to the loss of his civic rights and the costs of the court action. Kurten confessed to nearly a hundred fiendish murders here in recent years and a number of the girl victims of his attacks identified him. Physicians said he was sane.

SIX FIREMEN ARE INJURED IN MONTREAL FIRE

THOMAS BLUE INVOLVED IN LIQUOR DEAL

Is Alleged to Have Purchased Cases Stolen From Deseronto Store

RESERVE JUDGMENT

Gold Seys Madoc Hotelman Bought Liquor Last December

Judgment was reserved for one week by Magistrate Casement of Madoc, when Thomas Blue of Madoc, appeared before him yesterday afternoon in police court in this city charged with "Receiving three cases of liquor from Deseronto knowing the same to have been stolen" and "having liquor not purchased on an individual permit".

The first charge was the only one dealt upon and the evidence in it tried when judgment is given in the first case.

George Gold, who was sentenced to six months in Ontario Reformatory for breaking and entering and theft of liquor from the Deseronto Liquor Control Board store, appeared in court to give evidence against Mr. Blue. He was the only witness excepting the Provincial Police and Provincial Hon sheriff after the theft occurred. R. C. Donnelly conducted the prosecution and Charles A. Payne, K.C., acted for the accused.

Magistrate Casement before evidence was put in by the police pointed out that the case by the prosecution was based on presumption and assumption. The case was to be argued on presumption, the matter should go to a conviction. "It does not create knowledge". said His Worship. "There is absolutely any evidence to show that the accused knew the liquor was stolen. But it is simply a matter of presumption, and I don't think I am stretching the point unduly to advance on the technicalities that this point brings up." Nevertheless the defence evidence was placed into the records and judgment was reserved for one week.

George Gold was the first witness called. He stated that he knew the

PLUCKY VICTIM PHONED HIS WIFE BEFORE OPERATION

Grand Falls, N.B., April 24—Although his condition is serious, surgeons are held out for the recovery of Kenneth Jardine, Grand Falls business man, who had both feet amputated in the hospital here after he fell under the train he was about to board.

Linton, whose courage gained him an outstanding record while overseas in the Great War as a member of the fighting 26th Battalion, crawled 100 yards to the station, broke a window to attract the station agent and had himself carried to the hospital on a truck. Although suffering excruciating pain, he talked to his wife in Edmundston by telephone from the hospital a few minutes before he was wheeled into the operating room.

LEAFS RELEASE CLAYTON SHEEDY

BALTIMORE, Md., April 24.—(CP)—Following the announcement yesterday that the Toronto Baseball Club of the International League had secured Ivy Boley, hard-hitting outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, of the American League, on option, Manager Steve O'Neill, of the Maple Leafs today announced the outright release of Clayton Sheedy. Sheedy has been with the Toronto club for the past three seasons coming from the Baltimore Orioles. During his first season with the Leafs he batted .317 in 140 games, but in 1929, was handed the short end of the stick, batting to the local club last season.

ANOTHER BLAZE AT CALLANDER

North Bay, April 24—Hard on the disastrous fire of last Monday when nearly four was suffered by residents of the village of Callander were given trying moments last night when fire destroyed an unoccupied frame house lying on the edge of the village and owned by John Hearl. The house was only a short distance from the Canadian Timber Company's mill and large piles of lumber. Callander was saved from North Bay and the local department sent out a special call to Chief Brady. The firefighters were successful in confining the blaze to the house.

UNUSUAL BURIAL OF VICTIMS OF COLLISION

This picture, taken at Malagar, shows one of the victims of the collision between the British aircraft carrier, Viperia, being buried in a hole in the wall of the cemetery. The bodies buried in the vaults of the Malaga Cemetery are left there for three years, and then removed to make way for new corpses.

RECOMMEND DAYLIGHT SAVING VOTE ON DOMINION LISTS IN BELLEVILLE MAY 18TH

Water Service Outside City Limits Will Be on Meter

CONSIDERATION OF FIRE RATES

Belleville will vote on Daylight Saving as a measure for the years 1931 and 1932, when the voters' lists on the Dominion Election list on May 18th. This recommendation was made before the city council committee last evening and will be dealt with on Monday night by the council when the motion comes up for passing. The recommendation was as follows:—

"That a bylaw be prepared authorizing that the following question be submitted by ballot to all citizens of Belleville whose names appear on the last Dominion Election list.

"Are you in favor of Daylight Saving from June 15th to Labor Day, inclusive, in the city?"

"Said vote to be taken on Monday,

Whether Belleville will invest in a fire pumper may rest on the question of a reduction in fire insurance rates. Before the appearance in this city this week of two pumps for demonstration in raising the pressure from the Front street pumping station, a number of the matter of insurance rate reduction and of a pumper purchase.

Nothing as far as can be learned has been done in a formal way at deputation by the council in this regard but it is stated that there are some who are favorable to the purchase of this additional fire safe guard provided the fire underwriters are willing to make a reduction in the rates within the city.

Some consideration may be given the question in the near future, it is believed.

POLICE BELIEVE SERIES OF BREAK-INS ARE SOLVED

Toronto, April 24—When James Cockburn, of this city, spied two men running from the rear of a Bay street store early today and caught one after a brief chase, he began a series of investigations which police believe will clear up three weeks of break-ins in and around the down-town section.

Going to an address given them by the arrested man, Ernest Duncan, police found his companion, William Payne, and made a second arrest. The men admitted a charge and police have been entering stores all over the city since January, police say. They tried mostly to smash safes in stores.

PRECIOUS RADIUM IS RECOVERED BY YOUNGSTER IN GRAMP'S PANTS

Medical Clinic with $1,000 worth of radium on his person.

Relating the details in the Canadian press today, of how he had been turned nearly inside out by the doctors and attendants in their search for the radium, Mr. Lillicrap said that he had just undergone a radium treatment for his ears when the loss of the tube, containing $1,-000 worth of the most precious element in the world, was discovered.

"They undressed me several times, searched my clothes, searched carefully ever nook and cranny in the room, even looked in my mouth," "Finally they let me go home to Lakefield, did, thereby causing great excitement among the doctors.

Upon reaching his house Mr. Lillicrap told his family of the missing trap and the doctor's theory that it was somewhere in his clothes.

"I undressed again," he said, "and my grandson went through my clothes. No success. Then he my said, 'I bet I know where it is.' He felt along the cuff of my trousers, and there, tucked away in the crease, was that tiny tube of precious stuff."

There was jubilation among the doctors when the radium was returned.

BLAZE SWEPT FLOUR MILL IN MONTREAL

Flames Which Started in Elevator Spread Rapidly

SECOND FIRE

Six Fireman Injured and Taken to the Hospital

Montreal Que., April 24—Fire that started about four o'clock this morning, swept through the huge plant of the Western Canada Flour Mills Company in the north end, causing damage estimated at $500,000 and sending six fireman to hospital, some of them seriously injured. At ten o'clock this morning the danger of the flames spreading to nearby buildings had passed but Fire Chief Gauthier declared it had been the most dangerous conflagration in five years.

The three storey structure covers an entire city block and will be a total loss. Tons of flour stored in the second and third storeys, crashed through the weakened floors and created dense clouds of smoke throughout the building making it impossible to use equipment for the fire-fighters.

Starting in an elevator shaft the flames spread so quickly that three alarms were sounded in quick succession bringing 300 men from seven fire stations. The victims were primarily those caught in falling walls and collapsing floors. Firemen Audeau and Quellette were taken unconscious to a nearby hospital.

It was expected that the blaze would not be entirely extinguished until late this afternoon, but it was completely under control. Three walls had fallen in at ten o'clock and the front wall was tottering. Two years ago the plant was practically destroyed by fire but was immediately rebuilt.

STIRLING HOTEL PROPRIETOR TO PAY THE COSTS

Charge Against Connelly Akers Dismissed in Local Court

"Probably this will be a lesson to you to consult either the Crown Attorney or the Police Magistrate before laying a criminal charge," said Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan to Irs Whitton of Ivanhoe who laid a charge against Connelly Akers of the same address, charging that he had not paid his board at the Whitton Hotel for a week. The magistrate was dismissed on the charge, when it appeared from the evidence that the accused had paid his board and that he had not surreptitiously entered the bar of which Akers had been told to leave the premises. Crown Attorney Donnan informed Akers that he was in the wrong court to recover the money and that there was no criminal intent on the part of Akers. The Magistrate concurred with the Crown Attorney in his argument, dismissing the accused and ordering the costs to be paid by Whitton.

SUDBURY RED WAS IN COURT

SUDBURY, Ont., April 24.—A. Frontini, charged with assaulting Constable Leclaire, of the Copper City police force during the Red demonstration on April 15, was committed for trial today, when he appeared in the police court here.

Constable Poland stated he has been the accused pulling at Leclaire's arm, when he was trying to arrest Frontini. Under cross-examination, Poland was going to Leclaire's assistance when struck with a rock the trial was set for April 30.

FAIR OFFICIALS SPENT A JOLLY SOCIAL NIGHT

Walter Asselstine Not Forgotten on Birthday by Charlie Hanna

It is not all work for the officers and directors of the Belleville Agricultural Society, who are the powers behind the Belleville Exhibition each year, but over a first-class Fall Fair for the district, as was practically the case in this city this week of two days of demonstration in raising the pressure from the Front street pumping station, a number of the matter of insurance rate reduction and of a pumper purchase.

Nothing as far as can be learned has been done in a formal way at deputation by the council in this regard but it is stated that there are some who are favorable to the purchase of this additional fire safe guard provided the fire underwriters are willing to make a reduction in the rates within the city.

Some consideration may be given the question in the near future, it is believed.

The early part of the evening was devoted to a series of whist drive tables being in play and competition keen for the prizes offered. Mrs. J. R. Symons was successful in winning the first award, Miss Rosella Thomas, and Lorraine Smith and Miss Marguerite Asselstine being the booby lucky winners. At the conclusion Charles J. Symons was first honored by Dave Thomas and William Bamford and George Norton. As the chairman, Mr. Bamford said a few words and was served prepared by the ladies of the Women's Institute. A social half hour was spent. An orchestra composed of Jack Symons at the piano, Lorraine Asselstine, Reg. Hinchey and Maron Young delighted with their music and the company participated the light fantastic till the early hours.

An innovation not on the program provided for the evening was when Walter Asselstine celebrated a birthday. Those who are not unfamiliar with many years he has sojourned on this mundane sphere, remember that in days gone by the celebrant for many years prepared a little birthday party for himself and a select few of festivities made a presentation. It was nothing to do with the fair, if there would be a cabin somewhere, but the gathering was more that he was in the wrong court to recover the money and that there was no criminal intent on the part of Akers. The Magistrate concurred with the Crown Attorney in his argument, dismissing the accused and ordering the costs to be paid by Whitton.

CHICAGO GRAIN MEN APPEAR BEFORE STAMP

Probe Effect of Dealing in Wheat Futures in United States

MILLERS' VIEW

Extensive Program Outlined Before Royal Commission

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Chicago, April 24.—Grain men of Chicago, the home of the largest wheat speculative wheat market in the world, filed today one by one before the Royal Commission from Canada probing the effect of dealing in futures on the market, to give evidence more than a dozen persons, most of them members of the Chicago Board of Trade, or Grain Exchange were billed to give evidence at the commencement session.

Behind doors barred to the press and public, the witnesses might be at more free in discussions, Sir Josiah Stamp, Commissioner, and his fellow commissioners, chatted with constantly arriving grain men, free members of the Chicago Board of Trade were expected to be the nucleus of the programme for the afternoon meeting was an extra one, having been called as a result of a further gathering being held tomorrow.

T. E. Pevrin, chairman of the business conduct committee of the Chicago Board, was the first witness. He outlined in a brief manner in which the committee supervises actions of board members to assure the observance of regulations and the government regulations on trading in futures in Chicago. Mr. Peyrin was able, as well, to express the Millers viewpoint, since he is vice-president of the Star Grain Company, a milling body, and Co. official of the Washburn-Crosby Company.

The sitting is to continue tomorrow and will be resumed on March 31 following the hearing by the Dominion Commission of evidence taken from Montreal city in opposition to the application of the Montreal Harbor Commissioners for a social railway crossing between Longue Pointe and the Maisonneuve region. The city of Montreal will be afforded an opportunity to produce witnesses and submit evidence bearing on the report of engineers of the board for certain crossings between these points.

JURY TRIAL FOR GORDAN K. GASTLE

Appearance of Midland Murder Suspect is Indefinitely Postponed

Barrie, April 24—The trial of Gordon K. P. Gastle on arson and conspiracy charges, which was to open here today, has been postponed indefinitely, and instead of appearing before a jury Gastle will be brought up for trial next week, Crown Attorney F. G. Evans announced.

It is believed that the change was occasioned by the illness of Attorney Gastle's counsel. Gastle, a week ago was committed for trial on a charge of conspiring Mr. Elizabeth Riley of Midland, whose car plunged into the Georgian Bay on the night of his first cousin by marriage, Robert Riley, was to have been the chief witness in the charge when Magistrate Compton Heffe held that the Crown had failed to produce sufficient evidence to war rant a committal. Both men had been charged with conspiracy to burn an arson and conspiracy charges arising out of the burning of the Riley Manor House at Waubaushene last December.

Rumors that indictment proceedings had been preferred against Gastle on the murder count were denied today by Mr. Evans. Elliott remains in county jail because of inability to raise $20,000 bail requirements on the arson charge. Mayor D. P. McCuaig, his counsel, today intimated that he would probably go before the county judge next week to elect a speedy trial.

SHOT SWEETHEART ON LONELY ROAD

Flint, Mich., April 24—Accused of shooting her sweetheart to death as they struggled in her motor on a lonely road near here and wrecking the Helen Joyce Morgan, daughter of a wealthy Flint apartment house owner, was in jail today as police sought the real motive for the slaying.

Miss Morgan is said by the police to have admitted shooting Lee Cassett, 26, but asserted she did so to save her life after he had attempted to draw a gun and accused her of being a "police stool pigeon."

RIFLE INVENTOR MUST PAY WIFE

Washington, April 24—Sir Charles G. Rose, inventor of the Ross rifle and international figure, today was ordered to pay his wife, Patricia E. Rose, alimony of six hundred dollars monthly in addition to the income of forty-eight hundred dollars annually from the Trust Fund set up for her use.

The court denied Sir Charles the motion to relieve him of sixty thousand bond under which he is held here. The inventor claims his health is endangered by having to remain in Washington.

PAIR SENT UP FOR TRIAL ON MURDER COUNT

Sakurada and Hitomi to Face Trial for Murder of Countryman

Vancouver, April 24—Shinkick Sakurada, and Takeo Hitomi, self-confessed slayers of Kisaburo Nakamura, were committed today to stand trial for the murder of Nakamura, who was found to death on the night of March 29. They will be tried at the fall assizes.

Sakurada's committal was ordered by Magistrate H. G. Nelson in police court opened this morning and Hitomi was committed after a preliminary hearing at which some new evidence, including a written confession, was introduced.

In one statement Hitomi declared that Sakurada had murdered Nakamura, had requested aid in the murder of Nakamura so that he could realize on his insurance, amounting to $2,500 and had confessed to the crime. Hitomi's story on Wednesday when he said a s.le for the murder was first considered. Watanabe had been decoyed there on the night of March 29 and hacked to death.

The statement concluded with the words:

"Please reduce Mr. Sakurada's offence to one man, as he alone didn't did."

K. D. Paton, police surgeon, questioned regarding the sanity of Hitomi, said it was his impression that the accused was simple, but not a case for asylum treatment.

Hitomi was then carried in a state of collapse from the courtroom on Wednesday, was much improved in condition today, but paid little attention to the proceedings, as a result of the fact that all evidence was interpreted to him.

TRAIN HITS AUTO FARMER MANGLED

James Lillie Everton Killed at Rockwood—Deafness Blamed

Guelph, April 24—Dragged beneath the wheels of a C.N.R. locomotive which was practically demolished when struck by a C.N.R. passenger train at a level-crossing in the village of Rockwood yesterday afternoon, a well-known Everton farmer, met instant death today.

Little else is said to have been somewhat deaf, evidently failed to hear the approach of the train as it was proceeding towards Guelph, and hence his car directly in its path. Practically every bone in his body was broken by the impact. It was found when he was dragged from the wreckage about 100 feet from the crossing.

The victim of the fatality, who was a bachelor, was a son of the late Alexander Lillie, and is survived by his wife, one son and two daughters. An inquest has been called for Monday night in Rockwood.

CONCERNS TO CONFER IN SAVING TIME

Chief Cities of Ontario Will Advance Clocks Sunday

TOURISTS' PLIGHT

Belleville Remains on Standard Time—Others Start Later

Time changes Sunday for a number of cities in Ontario, radio broadcasts go on the air at advanced time, banks in the larger centres and long distance go forward one hour, brokerage offices and exchanges go on day light saving time. Local communities such as the Canada Cement, Industrial Alcohol, the banks, the chain stores, will adjust their time arrangements to meet their head offices working on the "summer time."

Tourists coming into Ontario will be largely on advanced time and will find themselves on standard time in Belleville. The plight of the tourist who arrives an hour before his train leaves, and then waits for another meal an hour late is one of the results of cast time factoring in different municipalities.

Brokerage offices in Toronto will be running from 9 a.m. standard time to 2.00 p.m. standard time instead of from 10 a.m. to 3 o'clock as now, beginning Monday.

Train schedules are changing on Sunday as a statement in today's Canadian Press says.

Toronto, April 24 (CP)—Double clocks will be the order of all those who have to do with interconnection between the cities, Canada's perennial story Sunday, April 26. Daylight saving will then go into effect in various towns and cities of Canada and the United States, in many cases long-established business men hour behind with old time, standard time. It will again be possible for the perambulator to glimpse his employer before the next town and arrive before he starts by the clock.

Cities doing going on daylight saving time this coming week end, Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, Kingston, Welland and Toronto Of necessity various municipalities adjusting these centres will also officially be days apart from that date. The greater part of Ontario will, however continue on the present, to keep with the sun. Some cities have elected to put their clocks ahead at later dates. These are St. Catharines, May 16; Guelph, May 17; Hamilton, May 24; Niagara Falls June 15; Peterborough, June 15 Brantford, June 21 and Cobourg, June 29. Some other cities in Ontario and Quebec are considering daylight saving proposals for this year. As in the beginning of daylight saving, it is a matter of "when in Rome do as the Romans" so is the ending. The termination for the cities will be the last Sunday in August 31 to September 27.

In the province of Quebec, the cities of Montreal, Quebec City, Sherbrooke and Three Rivers also commence daylight saving time Sunday, Halifax, N.S., and Saint John, N.B., make clocks ahead the same day.

The United States Naval Observatory will soon have special vaults for clocks of the highest degree of accuracy. The vaults will be embedded in the ground below the front line.

TODAY'S VERSE

THE HOUSE

The house I love best has no garden at all,
But the furze follows on to the foot of the wall,
And no wind goes by me but tosses within
The deep scent of heather, the bright scent of whin.

The house in my mind has no mulberry tree,
No elm for the ringdove, no lime for the bee,
But it knows the full shadow of cloud running little
And the windfallen stars from the branches of night.

The house of my heart has a road running near
An old tinker treads if three times in a year,
And straight from my doorsill I run in the dew
Or the lost little path that should lead me to you.

RECOMMEND DAY-LICHT SAVING

May 18th, and that all polling booths be manned free of charge by the Merchants' Association and Manufacturers' Association as per their offer."

Prohibiting Parking

Prohibition of parking on the west side of Coleman street, was recommended last night by the committee:—

"That a bylaw be prepared prohibiting the parking or leaving of vehicles standing upon the west side of Coleman street, in the city of Belleville, repealing all bylaws inconsistent therewith."

It was recommended that "a committee composed of Ald. MacMillan Ald. Woodley and the engineer investigate the request for permission to erect a mill on Everett street and report to the council."

A recommendation was made that "a sidewalk be constructed on the south side of Sidney street between North Front street and Gordon street under the L.O.A."

Purchase of Supplies

It was recommended that the chairman of the waterworks department be authorized to purchase the necessary quantity of alum from the Nichol's Company as per their quotations, in force from the 1st of May, 1931.

Manager R. T. Austin was authorized by the committee on Thursday night to install meters with the metering of water service outside of the city limits as per the recommendation of May 13th and as per city bylaw No. 2409.

Flushing of Sewers

Complaints of citizens having been heard about the effectiveness of the flushing of Front and Bridge streets, the public works committee last evening recommended:—

"That a committee composed of Ald. MacMillan, Ald. Woodley and the City Engineer be appointed to enquire into the advisability of flushing the business section of Front and Bridge streets, daily, except Sunday."

AIM TO FORM RADIO CLUB

Belleville Radio Enthusiasts Will Meet to Organize

This evening at seven thirty at the City Hall a meeting will be held of those interested in radio for the purpose of forming a club. An invitation to attend has been extended to all interested. Officers will be elected and discussion will take place on the plans of the organization.

One of the results of the formation of the club may be the securing of a broadcasting station in Belleville for the broadcast of local matters of interest provided a terms of license can be arranged. The radius of such a transmitter would be under twenty-five miles.

Objects of Radio Club

The aims of the club which is planned as outlined to the Ontario Intelligencer will be:—

To better the condition of radio reception in Belleville and vicinity by the following means.

1. The installation of a transmitter to provide the listeners in the district with programs of local interest and to broadcast local events.

2. The location and eliminations of domestic interference.

3. To advise the members on matters pertaining to radio.

4. To provide the community with a means to express its opinion on matters pertaining to the broadcasting conditions of Canada.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM MILNE

William Milne, 74 Cannifton Road, died last night in the Belleville General Hospital yesterday. The deceased was born in Rockport, New York, and had been ill for some time. He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Ida Stull, of Hamilton, Indiana and two sons Gerald and Peter at home; two brother Jacob of Chesterland, Ohio, and Peter of Texas, and one sister, Sister Mary St. Genevieve, Monastery of Our Lady of Charity, Toronto. The deceased was employed in the car department of the Canadian National Railways and was a member of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church.

MRS. SARAH RACHAEL KISER

Mrs. Sarah Rachael Kiser a lifelong resident of this district passed away at her home, Centre Street, Thurlow Township, yesterday, after an illness of some duration.

She was born north of Napanee, 72 years ago, being the daughter of the late Robert and Margaret Boulke.

A resident of Belleville all her life, the deceased made a wide circle of friends who will regret her passing. She was a member of the United Church. She leaves to mourn her loss, a husband, George Henry Kiser, two daughters, Mrs. George A. Smith, Toronto, Mrs. Stinson, Buffalo, N.Y., and one brother Lou Soules of this city.

accused and saw him in Ellis's Hotel downstairs around the 15th of December. "I asked him," said Gold "if he wanted to buy some liquor and he answered in the affirmative. He then gave me the price and I told him $40.00 a case."

"Did you sell him any?"

"Yes."

"When?"

"On December 22nd I sold him two cases for $37.00 each."

"Did you sell any to him before that date?"

"Yes, a week before that date."

"What kind as that time?"

"Under the O.C.A."

"Where did you get the liquor that you sold him?"

"I stole it from the liquor store at Deseronto, on the night of the 13th December 13th."

"Where was with you when you sold the liquor to Bliss?"

"Thomas Thompson, who is now in the Reformatory."

Stole 22 Cases

Cross examined by Mr. Payne, Gold stated that the party stole 22 cases and took bottles from the liquor store, and sold it to various persons."

"When did you canvass for it?"

"Some days before stolen."

"What story did you tell as to where you would procure the liquor?"

"I told Bliss that I had been to Montreal to make arrangements and would go back to make delivery in a week."

"Did you expect to get it in Montreal?"

"Yes."

"When did you start to deliver?"

"On the Tuesday after the theft from the store."

"Was it all delivered to one person?"

"No. Three lots were delivered on that day."

"How do you remember the 22rd of December on which you delivered to Bliss?"

"Because Mr. Bliss made a presentation to me of a large turkey for Christmas Day."

"How were you paid?"

"By cash."

Stamp on Case

Mr. Donnan asked if there was anything on the cases, and the witness replied that the stamp of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario and Vinkle, and that the word 'Deseronto' had been written on the cases in blue pencil but this was rubbed off.

High Constable Kenneth Barr-Hamner told of meeting Bliss in his hotel on time in March, accompanied by Sergeant Detective Percival Constable Campbell and that Bliss replied that he was waiting for Gold.

On that day Gold had been arrested and was in the police car outside. Gold was brought into the hotel and Bliss then admitted that he had bought cases from him for his own use and that he had set out where it came from as he had read in the papers of the break in and theft of liquor from the Deseronto liquor store. Sergeant Storey and Provincial Constable Campbell corroborated the story of the former's evidence, adding that a statement was taken from Bliss.

Going into the box in his own defence, Bliss stated that he met Gold last summer and purchased liquor from him. Mr. Donnan again put Gold in the box, who stated he was in New Zealand on a packet at that time. His story was mainly the same as had been recounted.

Even cross examination which was severe, the witness slightly changed his story. He was questioned at length on the purchases on his personal which showed that he purchased his liquor from the middle of December and the latter part of January, that the last case he stated that liquor was sold to him by Gold.

The case has stirred up considerable interest in the town, attorney and the judgment of His Worship will be awaited with interest.

ALBERT CLAPPER HURT IN SMASH

While motoring ten miles north of Wellby, a party including Albert Clapper, of this city, narrowly escaped death, when struck by a C.P.R. locomotive. Mr. Clapper was removed to Port Perry Hospital, where he is receiving medical attention.

Fortunately the engine was not moving at a very great rate of speed the brakeman observing the oncoming car, warned the engineer who was averted, as much as possible, a bad accident.

The other occupants of the car received medical attention from near-by physicians. A bell and a dog was signal fixtures at the crossing and it is very seldom that there has been an accident since their installation. The Brooklin police are investigating the cause. Mr. Clapper sustained a cut on the left side of his chin on the face and head and was bruised practically all over the body. Dr. G. R. Jeffery is in attendance.

INDIA ADVANCES TO NEW FOOTING IN BRITISH CIRCLE

Sir William Clark, British High Commissioner, Tells Toronto Luncheon Audience of India's Aspirations

TORONTO, Ont. April 24.—(By the Canadian Press)—"The old order is changing, yielding place to the new," commented Sir William Clark, British High Commissioner, in the course of an address on "The Current Situation in India", at the Hotel Mary Clark luncheon here today. "But let us never forget" he continued, "that the new order to which India is advancing is the same as that which, among the white peoples of the Empire, has wrought for a strong er loyalty and a surer unity under the Crown."

The national spirit has grown in India, in the last fifty years, with the increasing contact of Indians with England, remarked Sir William, and in spite of the many causes for dissension—immensity of its population, the diversity of its languages, the caste system—the consciousness of national unity has grown steadily and become "a vital inspiration among the politically minded, and is developing in a way which would have been unconceivable 50 years ago, among the less educated classes."

India, described in the Simon Commission's report as "a land of misery-ties", now presented a genuine and substantial national demand for political rights which, meeting with these natural and political difficulties, had resulted in a sincere effort of opinion and to the proper rate of advance. The eagerness of Indians to be on a basis equal footing with their fellow-citizens in the Dominions came to a crucial turning point at the Round Table Conference last year in London, recalled Sir William. Although the result of that epoch-making meeting, he pointed out that the greatest difficulties had been the realisation that an All-India Federation was likely to prove the only satisfactory solution to India's problem.

"Then, at the very beginning of the Conference," said Sir William, "a new note struck, a new and momentous proposal was brought for ward unconditionally because, as the British Prime Minister pointed out at the close of the Conference, many people, before it was made, were doubtful whether British India alone would bear central authority, and so the whole structure of the Indian constitution was in doubt. Now, with the support of the States, the question took a wholly different aspect.

The Federation scheme afterwards elaborated at Delhi was that of a temporarily elaborated was that of a self-governing unit understood in a Dominion, but the most important and the most difficult work of the Conference left outstanding was the question of safeguards for the natural Indian authorities. This was met with a statement read by the Prime Minister, Mr. MacDonald at the final session. This statement, which declared that His Majesty's Government would be prepared to recognize the principle of the responsibility of the executive to the legislature, the basic principle of British parliamentary government, had a profound effect in India, said Sir William.

The true of Delhi between Mahatma Gandhi and Viceroy Lord Irwin, which was a virtual result of the Conference, and the end of the civil disobedience campaign, Sir William remarked, showed that co-operation is gradually taking the place of abstention and opposition, in spite of the disquieting Hindu-Moslem Indian riots which recently followed at Cawnpore, an example of the communal problem which can be solved only by the Indians themselves.

"I have not alluded to outstanding the difficulties that remain," Sir William said in concluding, "but I trust that I have been able to show that there are now solid grounds for a great hope. And we who care for India, and who also know Lord Willingdon, his wisdom, his courage, his broad humanity, his devotion to the service of the King, will draw much encouragement from the thought that at this crucial period of her history the guidance of India's destinies will be in his hands.

Stop The Pain—Reduce The Swelling Swiftly With Joint-Ease

A Wonderful Worker That Seeks Right to the Cause—Try Down to Where The Trouble Starts

People in Canada must like Joint-Ease—they buy so much of it.

They use it because it helps to quickly ease their aches and pains.

They know it banishes the aching comfort to inflamed, pain tortured joints—they have learned that for stubborn rheumatism there is nothing so speedily helpful.

Old folks use it to bring youthfulness to joints that creak and ache and get troublesome.

It's good for many other ailments also; Neuritis for instance, and Sciatica, Lumbago and lame aching back—Rub it in good. Made in Canada and sold everywhere for 60 cents a generous tube.

LOVE AFFAIR RESULTED IN THE RE-ARREST

Dramatic Story Told of Capture of Escaped Criminal

Prince Albert, Sask., April 24—How the long arm of the law, reaching out through the medium of the press finally landed Leslie Blundell, convict who escaped from the provincial jail here Dec. 19 back to jail, was revealed today by the prisoner just before he was taken in the penitentiary to commence serving the three-year term to which he had previously been sentenced. Love for a girl played the leading role in the police tale which succeeded when other means of apprehending the fugitive failed.

It was this way. Just prior to his escape two letters threatening the local crown prosecutor, S. J. A. Branson, K.C., with death if he did not release Slonski, were received shortly after Slonski had been sentenced to three years for theft. The hand of guilt pointed to Miss Pauline Slonski, living on a farm in this district, but when she was supposed to appear in court here for preliminary hearing on the charge she was giving birth to a son in hospital here. She confessed Slonski was the father of the child and that the two were in love and in a statement admitted writing the letters.

Meanwhile Slonski had completely vanished, and in the hope that the predicament of his sweetheart might bring him back, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, contrary to usual practice, made available to the press complete details before the preliminary hearing. The press-wires carried the story to Eastern newspapers and in one of these Slonski read of the birth of a son and the trial in which fixed his sweetheart as he was working in an Ontario lumber camp. He immediately quit his job and set out for here, but was arrested in Moose Jaw. The police ruse had worked splendidly.

The dramatic story of the capture of the escaped criminal may shortly have a sequel. Both Slonski and Miss Sklar told police today they want to get married before Slonski's release, and it is probable the ceremony will be performed in the penitentiary shortly.

COMPLAINTS OVER BLOWING PAPERS

A suggestion has been made that city should place paper receptacles on the business streets into which discarded paper can be placed, so that the streets might be kept free of this nuisance. Throwing of paper on the street is of course against the by-laws, but a paper basket might result in more strict observance of the law.

Papers blowing about the street are largely caused by paper blowing out of alleys and driveways upon the main streets. This paper once upon the street cannot be picked up by a sweeper and only serves to block the grates of storm sewers in the event of flushing. If paper in boxes in the rear of business premises is so placed that it cannot be blown away, a great part of the paper nuisance on the streets would be eliminated.

POSSIBILITY OF AERIAL ROUTE IS DISCUSSED

Rease R. Howard Favors Establishment of Northern Service

French Lick Springs, Ind., April 24 —(By the Canadian Press)—Investigation of possibilities for the inauguration of an aerial transport service between North America and Europe via Port Churchill, Ont., Hudson Bay and Greenland is now under way, Case R. Howard, manager of the Foreign Department of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, New York, yesterday told the midwest section of the Bankers' Association for foreign trade.

Mr. Howard told the Association the venture would receive financial backing from British, Canadian, German, French and Unitier States interests and would receive the encouragement of the Canadian Department of National Defence and the British Air Ministry.

The Northern Air Route to Europe, he said, had been proved the safest and most practical for commercial purposes through research undertaken by Parker D. Cramer, former pilot for Sir Hubert Wilkins.

WILL ROGERS says that if he wasn't for Pyrrohes there wouldn't be any free radio broadcasting, and just as soon as a new toothpaste is discovered he's going to start a broadcasting station of his own. Will is a pastmaster of monologue and wisecracks, at all of which he hasn't got much on the monologue artist with the Rotary All-Star Minstrel, Smith Ballew, a newcomer to the local stage but an old-timer in professional vaudeville. Whether you believe me, the like of which was never seen before in Belleville—that Harmony Chorus alone is worth twice the price of admission. The fact that the proceeds will go toward the care and cure of crippled children should alone ensure overflowing attendance, but on merit alone, as an entertainment of the highest class of minstrelsy in the 1931 manner, The All-Star Minstrel Show is worth twice the price and then some.

TOURIST CAMPS READY FOR TRADE

Motorists Have Started On Summer Pilgrimage Through Canada

With the warmer weather, the local tourists lodges are preparing for another season.

The line weather coupled with the ever-increasing tourists has set the beginning to appear on the road, are saying the local tourist camping industries which depend on the traveling tourist.

Several local tourist camps that have been closed for the winter, are being repainted and the local lodges are showing signs of activity, as the spring rush is being got under way for the expected trade.

In conversation with some of the local camp owners, they state that they do not expect any great increase over the past season, but they are looking forward to a very successful season.

Although the usual time for opening is not until the middle of May, some of the summer resorts are preparing for an early opening this year.

RADIO PROGRAMS HELD ADVERTISING

U.S. Publishers Resolve Space in Newspapers be Paid for

MEET COMPETITION

To Investigate Legality of Direct Advertising Broadcasts

New York, April 24—The American Newspaper Publishers' Association today adopted a resolution classifying radio programs as advertising matter that should be paid for.

That stand was taken in one of three resolutions designed to curtail the competition of radio.

The others endorsed proposed federal legislation imposing on radio stations the same restrictions about lottery advertising that now apply to newspapers, and authorized an investigation into the legality of broadcasting direct advertising.

Officials of the association said many or three publishers reported having dropped radio programs from their papers without receiving any objections from readers.

The resolution classifying programs as advertising matter, introduced by J. D. Newton, of the Syracuse (N.Y.) Post-Standard, reads:

"Whereas, newspapers pay for the creation of all press association reports published by them.

"Resolved, that the president appoint a committee to take up with the press association the question of the broadcasting of news reports and be it

"1. Confining broadcasting of news reports to press association and newspapers.

"2. Bringing about proper regulation of such news broadcasting by press associations and newspapers.

"And whereas, with few exceptions radio programs as published in newspapers relate solely to advertising in one form or another, therefore be it

"Resolved that such programs, if published, should be handled as paid advertising."

RADIO FANS CORNER

Reception last night was on the up and coming order and hope it will continue in its upward climb because tonight happens to be Friday and we always look for a plenty good night to stick by the sets. Plenty of favour lies on the programs and some new ones that we should try and make room with.

"Canada on Parade" first crack out of the box, a fairly recent addition to the radio world and a good one it's always good entertainment, or at least hasn't been cluttered up with "interviews" and "interviewers" and "interviewees" as yet.

GODERICH BODIES ARE RECOVERED

Goderich, April 24—The bodies of William Mallough, 21, and Leonard MacDonald, 17, were recovered today from the waters of Lake Huron within 300 yards of the scene of the double drowning on March 29. The gale of Wednesday night is credited with bringing the bodies to the beach, where they were found. Mallough is seven a.m. and MacDonald at 4.30 p.m. today. The two bodies were found within 100 yards of each other. It is expected that a double funeral will be held on Friday afternoon.

J. L. LEWIS

Hamilton Spectator pays the following tribute to a Belleville native, Jones L. Lewis, whose death occurred on Wednesday of this week:

"It is with extreme regret that we have to record the death of Mr. J. L. Lewis, formerly editor of the Hamilton Herald. Mr. Lewis has been living in retirement for some years and has latterly taken no active part in newspaper work, but he has left an abiding impression on Canadian journalism by the exceptional gifts which he brought to bear as an editorial writer. Of decided opinions, Mr. Lewis'editorial utterances as timely in the main as they were graceful in expression, and he could always be depended upon to give distinction to the subject in hand. Associates of the profession he was respected as much as he was admired, and the announcement of his death will be read with sincere feelings of regret by all his old colleagues and by the community which he served so well. Canadian journalism has produced few abler writers than he; he was one who loved his work and devoted his life to its service. A true master of the craft and a conscientious servant of the public has been called to his rest."

VERTICAL PARKING

"An engineer of East Pittsburgh, H. D. James, solves the automobile parking problem in a new way. Since there is not space enough on the ground, he goes into the air," says the New York Times. "The cars are stored in cages carried on vertical endless chains. As he enters the garage the driver is directed to a certain elevator door. By the time he arrives, the door opens. He drives into the waiting cage and steps out of the car. As he leaves, he moves a handle, which closes the door and gives him a check. Whereupon the cage is hoisted to make room for an empty one and a new customer.

"The check, like the claim checks in a check at a control desk and pays the charges. The cashier presses the proper but ton on a panel, and the cake containing the right car descends at the rate of 100 feet a minute. The doors open automatically and close again as the car is driven away.

"A method for operating the cages by dropping half-dollars in a slot has also been developed. The far-seeing inventor has even devised mechanism which automatically locks the cage-door if the allotted time has been overstayed. Only when another coin has been swallowed by the controlling mechanism will the door open again.

"A twenty-four-car cage machine has been in successful use in Pittsburgh for months, with a waiting list for empty cages. It delivers a vertically parked car in exactly one minute. Each cage tenant has a key which he inserts in the proper hole of a panel, whereupon the machine does the rest."

PROTECTING ONE'S FUTURE

Madam Melba earned a great deal of money but is surprisingly small an estate, probably the victim of unscrupulous promotors and high-pressure salesmen and fortune-hunters, as the Mail and Empire suggests.

How difficult it is for those who have money to match their wits against crooks in order to save their money in one of the facts of life written on the sky for all to read. If those who have extra money had sufficient knowledge and caution to avoid them, many crooked "dealers" would be leading honest lives because they would be forced to do honest work instead of "working" innocent people.

The greatest perversion of life is probably that where a man robs his fellowman cheats him into death. He who willingly sells another a proposition without making sure that it is worth while, is one of the world's lowest type. He is not simply mean, he is a criminal. The law catches some, but many escape.

He who has no great amount of money and knows how to save it from the hands of fortune-hunters knows nothing of the perils confronting the person with money, who is met on every hand by those who seek to relieve him of it, and by brilliant temptations which stocks offer.

How about a few motor parties and tours around Hastings and Prince Edward Counties? Not for individuals, but for councils and official bodies. The counties have the roads and unrivalled attractions.

Few dared to dress in summer style though summer heat marked the first couple of days this week. Winter or spring clothing seemed the safest.

Few have been using water on their lawns though the temperature was high and the weather is dry. Many a householder has threatened to get out the hose if rain does not come. Soon the sound of the shower will be heard in the air.

MOUNTAIN MAID
By Aline Michaelis

As one who through the clouds and mists of earth
Beholds afar
Beyond the sounds of tumult and of mirth,
The evening star;
As one who, burned by desert's parching heat,
Sinks to the sands
And finds a thread of water cool and sweet
Beneath his hands;
As ship by ocean's restless fury lashed
Will hope seemed gone,
That sees from lighthouse crest a signal flashed
To guide it on.
So, amid storms and weary wastes of life
Where I have strayed,
The thought of you has kept me through the strife,
My mountain maid.

SAILING IS A WONDERFUL SPORT, healthy and exciting. One of my friends has taken up sailing as a pastime, provided himself with one of those big beam craft called dinghy, and how he does turn up speed on the Bay of Quinte. Now he's considering taking an exploratory trip up the Trent river, canal, or both, if they'll open the bridge at Trenton for him. When a sailor friend suggested that it would be easier to step the mast than to swing a non-swing bridge he scorned the idea as too much trouble. Can't block navigable waters, y'know. His knowledge of sailing has been acquired very recently but he has made a keen study of the subject and has acquired considerable skill in handling his craft under all conditions. In fact he has a book which he takes along on his cruises and when the wind dies down, studies various aspects of the art of sailing. Not long ago he took a friend out for a sail, the wind freshened and soon was blowing a half gale. He handled the craft all right but it took a keen eye and a stout hold on the tiller and the main sail sheet. The friend in the midst of a particularly vicious blow said, "Hadn't you better see what the book says about what to do now?" The answer burned a hole in the mainsail.

JOIN ALDERMAN ADMIRAL GRIFFIN'S NAVY and see the World's Fair at Shannonville. Alderman George is resident commander of the Navy League forces here and is a gay sea dog in uniform. A smart corps of Navy League cadets are being drilled here and find plenty of interest in the training. Skipper King Rogers suggests that sailing punts be obtained for the cadets so that they can learn how to handle sails and ropes in a quiet and easy manner before graduating to larger craft. It would be good exercise and good sport. King says he is willing to give the boys the benefit of his experience and all the time necessary. That's an idea.

History Revealed in Trinity Volumes

Washington, April 24 — Many points bearing upon international relations of the United States from the Declaration of Independence to 1918 are brought out in Volume 7 of the new Treaty Edition issued by the State Department, advance copies of which were received from the printer today.

The edition, as a whole, will comprise at least ten volumes. The public may procure the volumes from the Superintendent of Documents.

Sections of Volume 1 have been previously published, but these constist of descriptive matter, lists of documents, tables, and so on. Volume 7 is the first to contain the texts of treaties. The first treaty, that of alliance with France on Feb. 6, 1778, and the latest one with Great Britain on Oct. 6, 1918.

"During the period covered," Hunter Miller, editor of the treaties, said today, "some of the most important events in the history of the United States were made."

The French Alliance of 1778, which had so much to do with the success of the Revolutionary War; the treaties of peace with Great Britain of 1783 and 1793; the other European treaties of the Continental Congress Period, those with the Netherlands of 1782, with Sweden of 1783, and with Prussia of 1785, which were the basis of many later treaties; the celebrated and then highly unpopular Jay Treaty with Great Britain of 1794; Pinckney's Treaty with Spain of 1795; fixing our then frontier with the Floridas; the convention with France of 1800, which completed the relation between the two countries; the treaty for the cession of Louisiana by Napoleon in 1803; the Treaty of Ghent of 1814, the Treaty of Peace following the War of 1812; the Commercial Treaty of 1815 with Great Britain, which was destined to be the basis of relations between the two countries for generations to come; the famous agreement of 1817 for disarmament on the American lakes, which existed to this day, and the convention of 1818 with Great Britain which adjusted the northern boundary as far west as the Rocky Mountains."

Reproductions to be Literal

The texts of the agreements printed have been compiled from the most authentic documents and are literally reproduced, as far as possible, except to reproduce a hand-written text in type. The letter and punctuation of the originals even in such matters as spelling, capitalization and punctuation, and, accordingly, in the case of any errors and slips that were made by the scribes. In the case of some of these treaties, at least, authentic exact texts have before been printed.

Two agreements which have not heretofore been included in treaty collections are contained in this volume: An exchange of notes with France of 1784 and the cartel for the exchange of prisoners with Great Britain during the War of 1812.

Each agreement is reproduced in its shortest language or languages in which it was written. In cases of no English text, the translation made by the Government at the time is printed; but all these translations have been examined and, while not revised throughout, attention has been called to obvious and grave inaccuracies in which have been constantly reproduced, even in official publications heretofore; for example, in the contract with France of 1778 the French "quinze," or "fifteen," had always been printed as "five" in the Statutes at Large and elsewhere.

Following the text of each treaty are notes relating to the treaty. These notes are in general of technical or procedural nature; they relate to the documents and to the making of the agreements; but they do not, in general, give any account of the diplomatic history of the treaties or of the judical and other business based on them. Volumes containing diplomatic and judicial notes are included in the collection, but these will not appear until the publication of the document volumes is completed.

The Religion of the Peace Treaty.

"In the preparation of the notes to Volume 7," Miller said, "considerable interesting gaps in the files of the early treaties were observed, and as a part of the work of preparing the edition, resumbles of documents in foreign archives have been obtained in order to complete the files as far as possible.

"There is, for example, no signed original in the archives of the Department of State of the preliminary treaty of peace with Great Britain of Nov. 30, 1782, although a true copy made at the time, certified by Benjamin Franklin and bearing his seal, which is over the original blue ribbon that still binds the sheets together.

"The absence of the original document in this case is not to be explained by inadvertency, although it seems likely that no such original ever received here. A facsimile of the original in the British archives is now in the treaty file.

"Still more surprising, perhaps is the fact that there is not, and apparently has not been since 1783, a signed original of the famous Jay Treaty in the Department of State archives.

"This Jay seem originals in duplicate in the archives from London, where the treaty was signed, and from Paris, where it was sent for incasion. The other original which arrived here and which was sent to the Senate was mistakenly sent back to London with the ratification of the United States instrument of ratification.

The Treaty That is a Mystery

"The original texts of such early foreign treaties were usually in French. Languages have also been reproduced, in fac-simile, by photography, of the treaties with the Barbary States of Tripoli and Tunis originally in Arabic or Turkish appear in this volume. These texts have been retranslated by competent linguists, and some startling results.

"Article II of the treaty with Tripoli of 1796," Mr. Miller points, "as translated in the contemporary English version, reading to the English translation of the Koran, is the principle ever since, the famous phrase, 'The government of the United States is not in any sense founded on the Christian religion.'

"It is now learned that neither this phrase nor anything in the remotest degree resembling it is to be found in the original Arabic. Indeed in the Arabic there is no equivalent whatever of Article 11 of that treaty with Tripoli. The Arabic text opposite that article in the original treaty book is in form a letter, crude and flamboyant and without quite unimportant, written by the Dey of Algiers to the Pasha of Tripoli.

"Now that script ever came to be written and why it is regarded as in the early translation, as Article 11 of the treaty as there written is a mystery. Many of the diplomatic correspondence of the time throws any light whatever on the point; and it is perhaps an equal mystery why afterwards no one seems to have been called to the complete discrepancy between the original and the supposed translation.

Italian Translation Diff ss

"Ever since then or thereabouts there has been in the archives of the Department of State an Italian translation of the Arabic which, generally speaking, is a reasonably fair equivalent o fthe Arabic text.

"The most casual examination of that Italian translation shows that in despect of Article 11 it does not bear the slightest resemblance to the supposed English translation, and on that Italian translation is founded the statement to the effect that the English translators of the time was extremely erroneous.

"That statement was written by James Leander Cathcart, who was one of the American captives in Algiers for several years, from 1785 to 1796, and who for twenty years thereafter was a representative of the United States'abroad at various times across Europe and elsewhere."

"Unprotected treaties," as they are generally called, or, in other words, treaties which for one reason or another failed to get the Senate's signature, are not included in the volumes of treaties. Nevertheless, unprotected treaties include not only treaties rejected by the Senate, but treaties which failed for other reasons to be disapproved by the President or by either Government. It is planned later, however, to publish the texts of such unprotected treaties, many of which are of great historical interest.

Britain's Rejected Senate Change

Unperfected treaties, Mr. Miller said, "date from a very early period. The first was the Anglo-Consular convention with France of 1794, which the Continental Congress did not approve.

"The next was a treaty with Great Britain of 1803, which was never amended by striking out an article relating to the right of the British Indian boundary in Minnesota, an amendment which the British Government refused to accept.

"It may be said that that article which the British struck out was the frontier in Minnesota west from Lake Superior, along the forty-ninth parallel, or, in other words, exactly the location of the existing line.

"Unperfected treaties and postal conventions are not included among the treaties printed in treaty edition, but all other treaties that have been entered into force, whether now in force or not, are so included."

LABORATORY FOR WHEAT

The amazing progress to which wheat has become an international factor affecting the economic stability of half the world has roused thinking men and women everywhere to look at it from a new angle and with a broader understanding. Hitherto it has been regarded merely as the basis of flour which in turn is made into bread for food. Today it is something far more important than the staff of bread. It is the thing which has become a great determining factor in world economics, world finance, world trade.

It is not surprising, therefore, to find the suggestion that a research laboratory for wheat should be established centrally far and wide. The fundamental idea is to endeavor to find new uses to which wheat may be put, and thus guard against any such situation as that created during the last eighteen months by over-production and the upsetting of the world's markets. That idea is not a fantastic one. It is, on the other hand, serverely practical. —Montreal Star.

Pity the greatest sufferer among the unemployed—Money itself, at least so far as New York is concern ed. For various reasons idle money has been increasing in volume, and call loans have dropped as low as 1 per cent. and funds in unprecedented during the mad speculative days of the boom. The United States Government can borrow at less than 2 per cent., and funds in unquestionably available for investment. What is the remedy? Where can the money be put to work?

The chief remedy lies on the Continent, particularly in Germany, Poland and the "secession States," in lack of capital, says the New York Times. "We have it in superabundance. This is one reason why we should continue to place it when we can be safely done at the disposal of other countries—that is to say, set it to work."—The Globe, Toronto.

Saturday afternoon ma went downtown to do some shoppin, me going with her and on the way we met pa coming home in the other end of the trolley car, saying I declare thats Blantch Bullerd, well she needent try to make it so obvious if she wont reconkoize her, Ill cut her as ded as a door nale and as flat as a flounder, Ill look rite through her like she was a telescope.

Why, ma, G, what did she do? I sed.

She accused me of making backbiting slanderous statements and remarks about her, and thats one thing I wont allow any woman to accuse me of, ritely or wrongly, ma sed.

Well G. ma, maybe somebody told her and she thawt it was the truth, and maybe thats why she sed it, maybe, I sed, and ma sed, Well of corse there maybe something in that. Goodness knows theres no lack of any scarcity of people who are always reddy to spred falls reports about you to the ferst pair of ears that will stop to listen, and corse Blantch Bullerd may of unsispectingly bleeved some lying gossip. Well, I sippose there's no use being too hard on her, we're all human in one way or another, tho doubt. Ill speck to her, Ill make a concession, but I wont express the slightest regret, I sed.

Wich just then the lady wawked passed us on her way out, and ma smiled a small smile at her and the lady looked at her as if she had never saw her before and would be relevved if she never saw her again, and then went out of the trolley car, ma saying, Well of all things, the ideer I was never so insulted in my life, the nerve of it, the presumption of it, I never herd of such brazen impudenta in all my born days, I declare to goodness Im glad of every single thing I ever sed about her and I only wish I had sed a few more, and the next time I see her Ill just treet her as so much unnecessary mud to be spened under foot.

WOMAN OCCUPIES THE TOP PLACE

New York, April 24—The modern young man, said Count Hamilton today, is just about 50 percent. below the modern young woman.

It may be due to rickets, Mr. Hamilton finds. At any rate, the 1931 dish author observes that:

"The modern young man is afflicted with half-wittedness, a nervous curve, under 1; and inability to earn his living, a tender skin and mental freckles."

"Man should be dominant," he added. "The present transcendency of women is the decline of the cycle—the beginning of the end."

"Way Out West" Playing Capitol is Surprisingly Sweet Romance

Everyone enjoys a western. Everyone likes Bill Haines. No one likes a villain so that everybody should like "Way Out West," the melodramatic romantic comedy now playing the Capitol. It is devoid of a villian, the one only "bad man" being Bill Haines, and he is so bad that he may ries the "boat"—Lilia Hyams. He rules the cowboys of their pay with a crooked roulette wheel. They discover the fraud and make him payin work. Everything from chopping wood to operating the delivery wagon —this being the "honey-cart" which transports the natural fertilizer. The cowboys are a jolly lot, except in Bill's estimation and Clint Edwards finds opportunity to sing in his own inimitable style to the stars—and Polly Moran thow positively ugly that she's comedienne (it is)

Everything is going fine with the boys until the boss, or should we say the boss-ess, steps in and has them ease up on Bill—because Cupid has been working overtime.

This does not please the gentlemen of the new business, so that when the lady boss is bitten by a rattlesnake and Bill rushes her to the Indian medicine man, they follow under the impression there has been an obsequement. What happens then is fair, and everybody should see it.

"Way Out West" is a picture that will talk the most fastidious, be it man or woman.

The supporting programme is very much up to standard, including the news, a Lucky Rabbit cartoon, a clever vaudefilm and a funny comedy.

We liked the short film advertising the Rotary Club Minstrels show Mon. and Tues., May 4 and 5) and "Hell's Angels" and "City Lights" will talk the most fastidious, be it man or woman.

"Hell's Angels" will be shown Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, daily at 2.30, 7.15 and 9.15.

CUPID HEALS WAR WOUNDS

Out of the chaos of the World War has sprung a romance unsolicited by any in the fantastic flights of fiction. Mrs. G. Duff (above) widow of an officer in the British Air Corps, developed a friendship with Otto Von Kronsbruke only to learn that the latter, while fighting in the German Imperial Air Corps during the war, brought down her husband. After a meeting the two were brought together once more with the result that they were recently married in Berlin.

How to Save Pennies on Food and Eat Well

By Hannah Wing

A food budget is a necessity if one is to live within one's income, a wise place said to be the most comfortable of all to both mind and body. Every one who tries to save money realizes that it is poor economy to spend little for food that the safety of health is in danger. There are certain foods which are important in any dietary, no matter what the cost, others should be provided first, then others added to give palatability. Food luxuries should be included only if there is money to spare.

Real economy in menus means being sure that money wisely spent for food is one of the best kinds of health insurance. Select first the most important foods and add others if there is money to spare, losing as little food value as possible in preparing the day's meals and using the left-overs. Take care to make the wholesome foods attractive so that the family will like what it has to eat rather than eatiny merely what it likes.

If a garden is possible, its products will help save money.

In substituting one food for another of lower cost it is essential that an equally good food is chosen. Any greens may be used in place of spinach which can be either canned or fresh in season. Tomatoes may be used for oranges when the latter are high priced. Apples usually are cheap and should be used raw as often as possible.

By combining the fruit with cereal foods, it may be stretched and so appear often but in small amounts. In place of all milk, it would be economical to purchase cottage cheese occasionally at 15 cents or 20 cents a pound because its food value is similar and the cost is less. Cabbage should be served raw as often as possible because its more valuable raw than cooked. Prunes or raisins are many times the best cheapest of the dried fruits.

When eggs are 60 cents a dozen or more, it may not be advisable to use them often. They may be reduced in quantity from the diet temporarily until the price is lowered or when eggs may be used. Should be included in the diet as a source of protein. Cereal foods, too, should be made as digestible as possible particularly for children.

Bean soup probably is their most acceptable form. If cheap cuts of meat can be purchased attractively the family may afford more than is otherwise possible. Even the meat may be stretched by combining meat and cereal foods and vegetables.

Bread and cereal are somewhat interchangeable, but it is important to emphasize the whole grain products. Other sweets can be used in place of sugar, but it is best secured as low as six cents a pound.

If liberal amounts of fruits and vegetables are allowed, if bacon and marmalade are added to increase the satisfaction and food value of the breakfast, if cream instead of milk is provided for cereal and coffee and other similar high spots of flavor are included, an extra amount will need to be added to the weekly allowance. An extra allowance will have to be made on any budget if food is purchased out of season. If it is wanted, or if wages are more than moderately high.

When a diet is generous or on a luxury level, there is more temptation to exceed the limit of moderation especially in the foods that betten but do not strengthen the body. Special care should be taken to see that the total amount of food is no more than health requires and that the selection is of the best.

Fashion Fancies

By Alice Alden

The cup that cheers is receiving quite some attention with the stressing of formal tea gowns. Very new and altogether lovely is a tea gown, on clear fitting lines, made of white and silvery lame with heavy white lace forming the "V" neckline and cuffs.

Grey clouds now hover over the evening mode with the adoption by some fashionable women of misty grey chiffon for evening wear. Quite one of the most alluring of the new freaks has been developed in a filmy grey chiffon with the bodice embroidered heavily with silver spangles. The vest is high-waisted and the long skirt sparsely trimmed with the spangles, falls to the instep.

Flowers of the field are back again. A large hat of ecru linen has its starched brim embroidered with flat clusters of dimlar flowers, buttercups, poppies, cornflowers and marguerites, centrics the crown in wreath form.

An extra lease of life has been given the fur jacket for Spring wear. A new ensemble consists of a brown plaid woolen frock with cuffs of brown astrakan. With it is worn a sleeveless jacket of brown astrakan with the back of the vest of a band of plaid which makes the belt.

Get out of town and in the country. The word can be quaint and of navy wool jersey with a blouse and knitted scarf of white knaka embroidered in red dots. The jacket is short and straight.

Be careful of print and see that it is of the right design if you would have a successful print frock. One of the best models is of shantung with a tiny tweed-like design of red, black and green on a cream ground, with the material used differently, ways to lend variety to the theme. Add detailed garment. There is a red patent leather belt.

Peevish, pale, restless, and sickly children are under condition to worms. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will relieve them and restore health.

Fashionably Speaking By Lucille

Dear Readers::

With Spring calling for a replenishing of the linen cabinet these hints on choosing linen may be useful.

"From earliest times "fine linen" has been listed among man's most prized possessions, and there has been produced a lasre lovely background for silver, glass and china than today's ginsy double satin damask. Nor has such beauty ever before been within the reach of people of modest means.

"In the selection of linen it must be remembered that there are two parts to the flax plant; the long, extremely fine, splendid fibers that lie in bundles and form a thin layer lengthwise of the stalk, and the low fibers, that form the bulk of the bark. Yarns spun from the long fibers have silver lustre, smoothness and strength than those spun from the short, slightly curling tow fibers. So between the linens made from the two forms of flax there is a considerable difference. The cheaper grades of linen handkerchiefs

GUY CANTRELL IS RETURNED TO TORONTO

GUY CANTRELL BACK TO LEAFS

Along With Shiver, he is Released to Toronto Club

Detroit, April 24. — The Detroit Baseball Club late today announced that Guy Cantrell, right-handed pitcher, and Ivey Shiver, rookie outfielder, had been released to the Toronto International League Club.

Cantrell, who was purchased from the Leafs last year, was sold outright and Shiver was released on option.

Shiver, a former Georgia football star, played with Beaumont in the Texas League in 1926.

The disposing of Cantrell by Detroit came as a big surprise to baseball men who were with the Tigers on the training camp, as he shaped up nicely at the camp and also in the exhibition game in which he was used, and there was no reason to believe that he wouldn't beat out a couple of pitchers for the bullpen staff job going to return

Cantrell's flaying was what was good if not better than some of the veterans' and in addition his behavior was of the best.

As for Shiver, he is an outfielder of possibilities. He has a lot of power at the plate but did not appear to be ready for regular work in the majors. Shiver is a fine ball player and can be counted on that if instilled with confidence. He is a right-hand ed hitter and a fair fielder.

BERG FAVORITE FOR BIG BOUT

Chicago, April 24—The first international lightweight championship bout in 25 years will take place at the Chicago Stadium tonight when Tony Canzoneri of New York, 135-pound titleholder meets Jack (Kid) Berg of England over the 10-round route. Ray Arcel, the veteran Longard brought the lightweight title back to the United States when he scored a technical knockout over Freddie Welsh of Wales in the ninth round of their bout in New York City.

Tonight Berg, who has won 24 straight victories since he was held to a draw by Stanislaus Loayza in June, 1929, threatens to take the title back to England. Berg gave Canzoneri one of the worst defeats of the latter's career in January, 1930, in a 10-round bout in New York City, and tonight was a form 6 to 5 favorite to repeat his earlier triumph.

Canzoneri, who won the lightweight title by knocking out Al Singer of New York in 86 seconds of fighting Nov. 14 last year, will pin his hopes for victory on a knockout. In his first meeting with the English whirlwind, Canzoneri had Berg groggy in the opening round but couldn't finish his man, and tired so badly in the closing rounds that Berg easily won the decision.

The Rule of the Rajah

By HARDIN BURNLEY

The annual Winter tour of America's leading professional golfers clearly established the veteran Gene Sarazen as the most likely to succeed Bobby Jones as the world's greatest linksman provided he can keep his game at top for another six months or more. Gene shot the recent La Gorce open into the other prizes in his gold money bag. He has been displaying such excellent form through most tournaments since last December that, at present, he's a standout overshadowing Tommy Armour, MacDonald Smith, Al Espinosa Johnny Golden and other topnotch pros.

Walter Hagen is still in the doldrums after his sad 1930 fade-out and his youthful pal, Horton Smith, already struck one of those gruesome slumps as a climax of which he rolled up an 85 on a final round in one of the Southern tourneys. An 85 for the par-clipping "Mechanical Marvel from Missouri"—it's all but inredible!

It is an axiom that all who play golf steadily for years inevitably "crack wide open." All the game's masters have experienced those brutal streaks, and hope is still high that the 22-year-old Horton Smith will regain his 1929-30 form that made him loom as the successor to Walter Hagen, if not to the Hindenparable Jones.

In the meanwhile, Sarazen is reviving the glories of Sickle where he beat Jones in the final, way back in 1922. Gene is planning to enter the British Open this spring and all other major golfing events to which he is eligible.

While a conqueror's light beats on the tanned Sarazen, the winter campaign finally brought a victory—in the North and South championship—to the popular Wilfred (Wiffy) Cox, of Brooklyn, N.Y., one of the best liked of the pro group all who know him. Wiffy is a highly skilled golfer and he had been trying for years to win a big tournament. He often led the field with two or three brilliant rounds, but faltered in the finals.

This time he had to play off nine extra holes with Joe Turnesa but Wiffy did not win under the rules. That Cox Victory was one of the highlights in all the long tour that lasted from December into April.

With Cantrell and Barnes Back O'Neill Expects Team to be Winner

Baltimore, April 24.—Steve O'Neill said his Toronto Leafs would fare from Newark late last night to find word awaiting that the Toronto club has purchased Pitcher Guy Cantrell, for a number of years the stormy petrel of the International League, from Detroit Tigers, and had obtained Ivey Shivers, an outfielder, on option from the same club.

With that information digested, O'Neill, all smiles, expressed the opinion that his Leafs, from 11th in second to a strong factor in the pennant race. "We haven't done badly so far, at that," said O'Neill.

Having landed Frank Barnes, south paw, from the New York Yankees Steve had hopes of obtaining Cantrell but was hauling 25th on promises as a matter of fact, the Toronto moguls were more or less surprised when Barnes was turned over to the Leafs.

O'Neill, on learning that to-day's game with the Newark Bears in New ark had been rained off, departed early for the Monumental City.

O'Neill Puzzled

"Why the scribes in the International League circuit declared that Toronto did not have a team this year surprised me not a little," declared the Leaf manager to-night. "We have a fine team, and before long we will make our presence felt. I have been in need of two good pitchers, but with Barnes and Cantrell in the fold, and Shivers available, I can safely say that it will take a mighty powerful team to stop us. Before long we may have still another major league flinger."

O'Neill, before he left Newark, tried to swing a deal or two with the officials of the Bears. He visited at Harvin, a pitcher on whom the New York Giants have first claim. No double it the Giants did not have first call on Harvin he would have gone to the Leafs in a trade. There was a report that Steve would have taken Jon Brenzel, a shortstop handled by er, who beat the Leafs in one game of the series, but Harvin was the man he wanted.

Boosts and Fair Criticism

One could hardly pass up the "y" Bush League Five Pin Bowling average published last night—without comment

Topping the list of bowlers was Ted Austin, manager of the City Water Works Department, with an average of 217 for 30 league games. He was the real leader, although Gerald "Jeff" Lynch had the same splendid average for 25 games. The veteran Teddy takes much interest in bowling and plays the game in a sporty way Bowlers at the Recreation Alleys and the Y Alleys enjoy trying their hand against Teddy's heavy hitting.

Others in the select class of 200 were Joe Legault, Edgar Rutherford, Jack Darrell, Silas Davidson and Sparky Adamo—then the club averages reflect the class of bowlers they are.

The Junior and Senior bowlers also did well but hats are off to the Ontario Infelligencer Scribe, Phil Harrison. Mr. Harrison piled the three score and ten years in age and until this winter had not been trundling balls for the past four or five years. Nevertheless he was in there with a score of 165 for 33 games topping many of the younger men.

The Ladies too deserve mention here. Two fine high bowling season's efforts that should not go by unnoticed are—Mrs Pat Belanger's score of 170 for three games including singles of 79, 378, 320 rolled at the Y Alleys and Mrs Peg Holway's 829 three string rolled at the Recreation Alleys. The three string included singles of 312 281, 236. Miss Holway is a well-known softball player as a member of "Bounce" Holway who performed for Belleville Senior and the O.H.A. Hockey team during the past season.

Just take a look at the report of the "Trophy" Banquet at the Y last night—If anybody tells you there is not plenty of sporting activity in this neck of the woods—well there is your argument. A fellow would need to be more than twins to follow them all during a season.

In the past year or two Harry Pearson and Ralph Murden two men who are interested in Track and Field events have made great headway with their work. Each of them has worked zealously and it is reported that last year's opening day at the Fair the attendance was increased more than 1,000 over the previous year. The reason for the increase attendance was probably largely due to it being Athletic Day. Many stars and coming stars including Toronto will be on hand to make up the Track and Field programme.

For the coming fair it is understood that Track and Field day has been moved to the Wednesday. Whether or not this is a wise move the second year is debatable. However it might have been better to build for another year before moving for a Wednesday. The Exhibition features such events—but heavy responsibility rests on the shoulders of the local Track and Field men to give as good a programme as they did last year.

With open events and closed events for Hastings and Prince Edward County—geopolitics will get a better break this time—it should add more interest especially and Sloan as the game is only getting on its feet, here.

Manufacturers, Merchants, this column is looking for your efforts to Daylight Saving. The sporting organizations which number many of the most progressive citizens are for it. Let's hate the vote, Mr. Mayor and Council.

RUTH CONFINED TO HOSPITAL 3 DAYS

BOSTON, April 24.—Babe Ruth, baseball's highest salaried player, showed "continued improvement" at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital here today where he lay stricken with an ear infection.

It was in the sixth inning of yesterday's Red Sox-Yankees game at Fenway Park that Babe Ruth collapsed while chasing a fly in left field. Pre viously in the game he turned an ankle sliding home from third base. Since having been admitted to the hospital he has improved almost hour by hour and was able to sit up in bed and enjoy an occasional cigar. Official Bulletin

At 5 p.m., an optimistic bulletin on Ruth's condition was issued at the hospital. It read:

"Continued improvement of the muscular and sensory injury of Ruth's left leg has been observed during the day. A more complete examination by X-ray adds no information of importance.

It was signed by Drs. Francis C. Newton, John Homans and Merrill Sosman of the hospital staff.

It may be at least three days or perhaps a week or more before the Yankees' home-run slugger leaves the hospital. Hospital attaches said today that after his release Ruth would have to rest up for a short period."

"BAWLS and STRIKES"

Oshawa will have a delegation at the Central league meeting on Saturday, as they could not get a grouping in Toronto.

Well at that, three teams of good senior calibre, will make a very interesting loop and give the fans some ball this season.

There is no reason that the Central league can't come back to its former days, all that is needed is co-operation for the smaller towns.

With three teams this year, perhaps, Cobourg, Port Hope or Lindsay could be brought back into the loop next season.

All the local minor league players are pulling for daylight saving as they will play their games under the evenings, perhaps the seniors would consider twilight ball if the measure came into effect.

At least eight teams will be represented at the intermediate league meeting next week, there will be two groups, four teams in each group, one group for the Kingston league and one for the south.

Kingston should have a lot of fun winning from the near-by villages this year but they always did like to be a "big toad in a small puddle."

Question—Can a batter be taken out of a game after ball and strikes have been called on him. Answer—Yes! but the batter taking his place must assume the called balls and strikes on the replaced batter.

Jim Lindsey of the Cardinals gets his week's nomination, as one of the National League's drollest humorists. When Dizzy Dean couldn't stand up like a man and take a bawling out from Gabby Street and announced that he was going home, Lindsey remarked:

"This is the first time in National League history a team ever lost 36 games in one day."

As Ruth goes, so go the Yankees is an old saying in the American League, but for the first week or so the Yankees will have to travel on their own. The Babeline is a mass of the sick and injured list, the effects of which may bother him for the balance of the season. The Babe always did have shaky underpinning. Ruth's injury has been termed a "severe charley-horse."

Did you know that they had a baseball league in England? They play their games at Stamford Bridge grounds on Sundays, it is a four teamed league, but the players are mostly American, Canadian and Japanese.

Seven-Come-Eleven for McGraw

It's seven-come-eleven for John McGraw this year, and knowing how Jawn loves to taze a chance, it is a safe bet that he will shove all his blue chips in the kitty to make a pennant kilting with his Giants this season. It will be seven years since he has won a flag and it will be his eleventh championship if he cops this year, which is a combination that ought to appeal to any gamper. Incidentally, McGraw celebrated his fifty-eighth birthday on April 7 and appears to be fitter than ever.

"Why can't you bushers bit 'em like that?" said Manager Johnny Dobbs of the Atlanta Crackers to a dugout full of players who were watching the Philadelphia A's pound Lefty Grove and all Cripple Creek during an exhibition game on the spring schedule.

Grove and Dobbs are old friends from Roy Francis, but it sufficed to stop his bost. "If we could do that we wouldn't be here in this dugout listening to you tide us," retorted Ray.

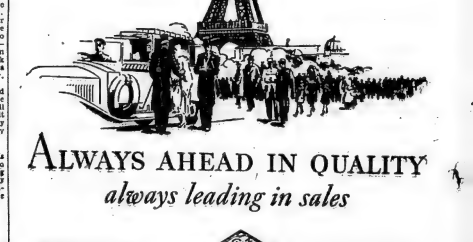
DEADLINE FOR HAFEY

St. Louis, April 24.—The ten-day grace period in which Chick Hafey hard-hitting Cardinal outfielder, may don a Cardinal uniform expires today and his automatic suspension will follow.



Haldora Hafey and his baseball club are only $1,000 apart in their terms. President Sam Breadon has offered the outfielder what Chick has asked $12,500.

If trade deals are off, President Breadon said.

How It Happened—

Just Playing Around

BY LEWIS ALLEN BROWNE

I knew that the applause was for the gown, but I wasn't such a fool as not to realize that part of it was for myself. Chubb Osmund was there, of course, and I caught a flash of him and of Forrest Malvern, and both were applauding.

While some materials were being shown and lectured about by an expert, some of us went into the ring. It was all in the game. Men stared at us. Women looked at the dresses.

Chubb pressed forward when he saw me too before he could get to me I ran into Arline and Curt.

Arline pretended not to see me.

"Hello Curt—where's Susie?" I asked.

"She—er—couldn't get here tonight Miss Hasen," he said, just a shade embarrassed.

A TAXY GREETING

Arline forced to look at me as though I were a worm.

"We've taken her to Arline's husband," Curt added.

"Oh," said Arline, when she saw that she had to recognize me, "you are the young person who was down at Curt's place one week end."

"Yes, indeed," I answered, flashing her at least little smile, "and you are the older person who was stuck on the bar all night!"

Curt Lavlor actually laughed but Arline Ramsow-Now odd it pleased to think of her as Thad's wife!—turned about a brief red, pushed Curt's arm and fairly dragged him away. I'm sure she heard me laugh. I intended that she would.

Chubb came up and greeted me, his eyes popping as he saw me clinging to the darling dress.

"Oh, you beautiful," he whispered.

"Positively the star of the show," said a voice at my other side. I turned and saw Forrest Malvern smiling at me.

"How do, Miss—er—" Fanny Dutton hesitated.

"Miss Mason," Mr. Malvern said, and I am sure I saw him scowl at her.

"It's perfectly marvelous what clothes will do for a person," she said.

Not half as marvelous as what a beautiful girl can do to adorn clothes," Mr. Malvern answered right back.

"I'll hand it to you, Mr. Malvern," Chubb said. "You sure say the right things before I can even think of them."

Fanny Dutton began to talk about the dress, and I left them to catch up and she turned to admire Viola's dress, a sort of Alice Blue gown affected only by a large artificial red plant pompon. It was stunning! Then Fanny Dutton was talking to Viola Mr. Malvern turned to me.

AGREES TO A PARTY

"My dear," he said, "we must all have a party soon."

"That's Polly's middle name," Chubb declared, with a laugh.

Then it's as good as arranged. I telephone you," Mr. Malvern said.

I agreed. He was certainly the most distinguished gentleman about there. And this time it was quite different from the other time he had telephoned me, for at that time I was expecting Thad to marry me. Now I put marriage out of my mind for the time being. Time enough for that when a nice rich lad came along. As for present and future was in gay parties, and I knew that Forrest Malvern was a wonderful entertainer from the little I had seen and from all that Polly Hawkins had told me.

"Have you heard from Polly?" I asked Mr. Malvern.

"Dclly, Dolly? Oh, the little Hawkins kid—No, I haven't heard from you I imagined she had gone back to the farm and married some nice steady-going hick."

"Not Dolly; she wasn't that sort," I insisted.

Fanny Dutton turned back to us and Malvern instantly changed the subject.

I wondered why he seemed to have so utterly forgotten pretty little Dolly Hawkins. I was almost as far from seeing them, he used to be so crazy about her, I decided that he was peeved, and his pride hurt because she had disappeared.

The fashion show pleased Mr. and Mrs. Miern. They had great success This time both Viola and myself got a present of a hundred dollars.

And I had my future in three ringmaster sections and also in a news reel. Viola was almost as fortunate, she got in the news reel and one newspaper.

NO SIGN OF FANNY

"I'm many more a call from Ziggy, himself," Viola declared. "And think! Mother! There are four hundred a week for being glorified show girls."

"Dream on," I told her.

A month later, it was, before we got around to the party with Forrest Malvern. Chubb took me, Fanny Thurston took Viola. To my surprise Mr. Malvern came alone. There was no sign of Fanny Dutton. He was a wonderful host and we had a glorious time of it; in a private dining room with special entertainers and little diamond bargin favors for the girls. There were four girls in the party and five men, including Mr. Malvern.

He made us promise to have another party a month from that date. We were to take in a new revue that would open then.

Japanese servant served our supper. There were wines and cocktails galore. If I had indulged in half of them I should have been down and out.

There were twelve of us. Four got to playing bridge. The rest of us listened to radio music, the music coming at that late hour all the way from an orchestra in San Francisco, over Mr. Malvern's special radio that he called his "DX." He had another for local stations.

Mr. Malvern took me about the place. The library was lined with books, the big living room was brilliant with wonderful paintings, each with it's own soft light overhead.

A COZY LITTLE DEN

There was a cozy little den and on the walls were probably twenty pictures of girls.

I want one of yours—to top the lot, Kitty," Mr. Malvern said.

I promised to get one for him.

"Oh, there's a picture of Dolly Hawkins," I said, indicating it.

"Yes, she was a cute kid—too bad she went back to the sticks—now here's Duchess Frank, she was a New York girl—" and he chatted away for a while and then he went back to the dancing.

As Chubb was getting ready to take me home Mr. Malvern got a chance to speak to me for a moment.

"You and I must have a twosome party soon, Kitty," he said.

"I'd be delighted—but of course not up here," I answered.

"No, unfortunately not—we can't fly in the face of the allwise conventions nor flaunt Mrs. Grundy, my dear."

Chubb came along at this time. He and Fanny took Viola and myself home. The sun was rising!

How the time had whizzed around without our realizing it.

And I had to be at the Miers establishment at ten the next morning.

SUES FOR DIVORCE

The alarm clock awakened me at nine and I yanked Viola out of bed. I started the coffee. Viola went to bring in the tiny jar of cream and with it the morning paper.

The thing that caught my eye was a single column heading on the first page. It read:

MRS. CURTIS LAWLOR BRINGS ACTION FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. M. Thad Parsons is Named in Sensational Suit—She Is a Bride of Less Than Six Months

Viola saw my eyes pop and heard me exclaim. She read over my shoulder.

"For Pete's sake," she yelled, "can you tie that one!"

"Poor Thad," I muttered.

"Serves him right—Oh Gee, I wonder if you'll be dragged in this case any way—as a witness or something?"

I stared at Viola. The idea frightened me, and yet there was a possibility of that very thing happening.

"How can I be dragged into the Lawlor divorce scandal?" I asked Viola. At the same time the thought gave me an uneasy feeling, for I knew, and Viola knew, that I quite witnessed a number of seeming indiscretions between Thad and Susie Lawlor, both before and after Arline had married Curt.

"I don't know why not," Viola answered; "there was the time we were at the Lawlor home, Thad—That was before Arline Sargent married Thad Parsons, but Thad was trying to do with Mrs. Lawlor's case against her husband, because of Arline and Curt Lawlor were always mushing? Remember when he was out on the porch arbor? And when we found them down on the private beach in the moonlight—Gee, I wish I knew that wouldn't burn 'em up when it got in the papers?"

I didn't relish the idea of having to go into court to tell about Thad. I know the game—photographers playing flashlights on Arline and ugly cross-questioning by Curt Lawlor's lawyer. I'd never stand enough such cases to visualize the whole thing.

"They can't drag me into it, can they, if I insist that I don't know a thing?"

APPREHENSIVE

"No, Kitty; no one can summon you, or whatever it is, and at least make you get on the witness stand and take an oath that you never saw anything wrong."

"I can do that," I said.

"Sure you can, and then if there is proof that you did see something—Cowie! Perjury!"

"You should have been a lawyer," and I laughed, but it wasn't a very sincere laugh.

"A great many know that I used to go about with Thad. I'd almost testify against his wife they'd say I was doing it for revenge."

Viola agreed. She hadn't thought of it in that light.

Not long after this Mr. Malvern telephoned me.

"I've been thru the little twosome, Katie?" he asked.

"It sounds good to me, but as I am due back on the job here at ten tomorrow I have to be home by one at the latest, Mr. Malvern."

He agreed and was to call for me a month later, it was, before we got around to the party with Forrest Malvern. Chubb took me, Fanny Thurston took Viola. To my surprise Mr. Malvern came alone. There was no sign of Fanny Dutton. He was a wonderful host and we had a glorious time of it; in a private dining room with special entertainers and little diamond bargin favors for the girls. There were four girls in the party and five men, including Mr. Malvern.

He made us promise to have another party a month from that date. We were to take in a new revue that would open then.

Japanese servant served our supper. There were wines and cocktails galore. If I had indulged in half of them I should have been down and out.

There were twelve of us. Four got to playing bridge. The rest of us listened to radio music, the music coming at that late hour all the way from an orchestra in San Francisco, over Mr. Malvern's special radio that he called his "DX." He had another for local stations.

Mr. Malvern took me about the place. The library was lined with books, the big living room was brilliant with wonderful paintings, each with it's own soft light overhead.

A COZY LITTLE DEN

There was a cozy little den and on the walls were probably twenty pictures of girls.

I want one of yours—to top the lot, Kitty," Mr. Malvern said.

I promised to get one for him.

"Oh, there's a picture of Dolly Hawkins," I said, indicating it.

"Yes, she was a cute kid—too bad she went back to the sticks—now here's Duchess Frank, she was a New York girl—" and he chatted away for a while and then he went back to the dancing.

Improving Individual and the Race as Well

Improvement of the individual and improvement of the human race are the only two fundamental ways of bringing about human betterment, declared Dr. A. S. Lamb, director of the department of physical education, McGill University, in a lecture under the auspices of the National Council of Education over the station CFCAC.

In talking of "The Cycle of Life," Dr. Lamb said:

Our three-score years and ten are dependent upon innumerable factors, many within our power to influence and many beyond our control. We are born into the world with capabilities, potentialities and tendencies which shape our destinies and which for the most part are the determiners of what we are, or what we are to become. On the other hand, these same characteristics with which we are endowed may be influenced by our environment our training, our education, so that a very different result might be the outcome, depending upon the nature of these modifying factors throughout our years of growth and development.

The curve of life is very clear in its similarity to the process known as plant life as we take the seed and plant it in a favorable medium, the process of maturation and germination proceed, the fruit and tender shoot appears, it is cared for and nourished. It thrives and grows and develops, its leaves are opened to the air and sun, it provides for its reproduction and glories in its mature blossom. Its fruit is ripened. Its seeds are scattered, then its duty done, as in all this line we take the seed and plant it in a favorable medium, the process of maturation and germination proceed, the fruit and tender shoot appears, it is cared for and nourished. It thrives and grows and develops, its leaves are opened to the air and sun, it provides for its reproduction and glories in its mature blossom. Its fruit is ripened. Its seeds are scattered, then its duty done, as in all this line we take the seed and plant it in a favorable medium, the process of maturation and germination proceed, the fruit and tender shoot appears, it is cared for and nourished. It thrives and grows and develops, its leaves are opened to the air and sun, it provides for its reproduction and glories in its mature blossom. Its fruit is ripened. Its seeds are scattered, then its duty done, as in all this line we take the seed and plant it in a favorable medium, the process of maturation and germination proceed, the new being has all its own systems but their functions are not fully established until birth occurs. The nutrition, for example, is provided by the blood of the mother, although there is no direct connection between the blood of the mother and that of the unborn but there is there any connection between their nervous systems. Food materials, waste and other substances are transferred from one individual to the other through the walls of the minutest possible vessels to reach the other circulation. The nervous force which originally unified, determine the potential characteristics and the growth and development are also dependent upon the nourishment, habits, mood and conditions of living of the mother, during the period of gestation.

Helpless New Born Child

Even after the long months of elaboration and perfection of its organs and systems, the human infant at birth is helpless to an extreme. It now has to breathe its own air, digest its own food and regulate its own temperature. Enormous growth and development continue and perhaps one of the most striking changes is the very rapid growth of the brain. There is not, after birth, any addition to the number of nerve cells. The infant starts life with approximately ten thousand million brain cells, but these have to become associated, inter-related and differentiated. By the end of the second year of the child's brain has attained more than half the adult size, and at the end of nine years it has reached approximately its full weight. During these years, the greatest progress has been going on at a tremendous rate and although the size of the brain might have been acquired, its quality and fitness for its great and progressive changes and development almost throughout the whole of its life. There need be no cause for anxiety lest anyone will use up all the brain cells with which they are endowed.

What of the other systems? Their growth and development is parallel and all are subject to the same influences which affect any one system There is no stationary phase in the human life-cycle, but there is either developing or decaying and different tissues perfect themselves and wear out at different times. And thus the life cycle goes on with each succeeding generation. Modern knowledge and procedure produce an improvement in the present, in the sense of placing the individual in the most favorable circumstances for developing his capabilities to the utmost through education, but the immediate and urgent need in our day is for the race. Eugenic principles are applicable to growth and development in all cases, the learning processes are definitely stimulated through the result, normal healthy, happy beings will depend upon the measures as employed to safeguard our future citizens through the years of development to the fullness of wholesome living.

The next generation? No, the boy do not inherit only the good qualities of the father and the girl only the good qualities of the mother, as much, we do not know, as we should like this to be so. At one time it was thought that each one of the parents only responsible for the characteristics we transmit to our children.

Not so, though it is probable that the continued acquisition of favorable traits by one parent may in turn, may increase the number of favorable traits inherited from the family strain. There are only the two responsible for the child's inborn human betterment, namely, by improving the individual and by improving the race. We must aim at the best of the heritage with which we have been endowed, and at the same time, seek for those to follow, in the words of Kipling:

"A heritage, it seems to me
A king might wish to hold in fee."

HON. J. A. LYONS EMERGES LEADER OF NAT. MOVEMENT

Erstwhile Lieutenant of Prime Minister of Australia, Lyons Leading Great Conservative "Union and Sane Government"

(This is the third of a series of sketches of Australian political leaders, prepared by the Press Division in view of the prospect of an early general election in Australia.)

Hon. Joseph Aloysius Lyons, a hard working member of the Labor cabinet of Prime Minister James H. Scullin, finally revolted against what he thought was "truckling to the extremists," left the Cabinet in December 1930 and threw himself into the fray as leader of a great campaign for non-party union designed to the restoration of financial and economic stability in Australia. Such are his personal qualifications that he became in a few months the logical man to form a government, probably a coalition cabinet of the Nationalist and Country parties with the aid of right-wing members of the Labor Party itself. Hence, the Labor Government's defeat in the general election that appeared inevitable.

Hon. Mr. Lyons who was born Sept. 15, 1879, entered the Commonwealth arena in 1929, after a brilliant political career in the state of Tasmania. He was Minister of Education and of railways in the Tasmanian government from 1914 to 1916. He was premier and treasurer of the state from 1923 until 1928.

In 1929 Mr. Lyons was elected to the Commonwealth house of representatives for Wilmot, and entered the cabinet of Prime Minister Scullin as postmaster-general and minister for works and railways. After the defeat of the Scullin administration in October, 1929. He became Treasurer as well, when Hon. E. O. Theodore resigned the treasurership in the following September.

In the autumn and early winter months of 1930 Mr. Lyons aided Mr. Scullin was absent at the Imperial Conference, but Lyons found a hard and gallant battle against the extremists within the Labor ranks. The differences with them widened to an open split in December, when he was unable to prevent his colleagues carrying a resolution that holders of maturing bonds to the value of $140,000,000 should be asked to wait another year for payment.

But, backed by Premier Scullin and Hon. James Fenton, minister of trade Mr. Lyons successfully blocked this first step towards repudiation by the Commonwealth of Australia. He insisted a year's moratorium on only half of a conversion loan. The loan was oversubscribed by the Australians before the previous December matured in December and the result was a triumph for Mr. Lyons and for Mr. Lyons.

The minority of Mr. Theodore in the cabinet was strongly opposed by Mr. Lyons and eventually with Hon. Mr. Fenton, he resigned. Outside the party, he became an implacable critic and stirred up opponent of the Labor Government. In March, 1931, when Hon. T. Lang, radical head of the New South Wales government, carried out his threat to default payments of interest to London bondholders on April 14 Mr. Lyons encountered his biggest campaign. He declared he would organize a great national party pledged to the restoration of economic and financial balance.

The campaign proved an immediate success for Mr. Lyons. Crowds gave him a great ovation when he made his first speech at Adelaide, South Australia, April 9. He set out his policy briefly in a statement of the budget and the restoration of "sound money and economy." He proposed the appointment of an expert, nonpolitical commission to investigate and determine the periods over which the budget could be balanced. If he was appointed premier of the next Commonwealth government he would enable her to reduce the heavy burden of unemployment, offer only the squashing of the talk of repudiation, forbid any further attempts to interfere with the currency or with the administration of the banks. He would give any prospect of successful convention operations to lower interest rates, and he would immediately put the proposal for a fiduciary issue of £20,000,000 before the parliament. Not later he had another success—in a by-election, contingent amongst the extreme leader, Premier Lang, for the election of Mr. Lyons to the public buildings for a projected premier.

CHANGE MADE IN TRAIN SERVICE

Picton Gazette Now Publishes Three Times a Week

(Special to Ontario Intelligencer)

Picton, April 24.—Announcement of a change in train service here is made by the C. N. R. to become effective next Sunday, April 26. At present a train arrives here from Trenton at 8.50 a.m. and leaves at 9.10, while the afternoon train arrives at 1.40 from Trenton. After Sunday there will be only one train a day. This will arrive at 8.55 a.m. but will not go out until 3.25 p.m.

The new schedule cuts down the time required to make the trip from Picton to Toronto. At present it takes four hours and thirty minutes, after next week it will take three hours and fifty minutes. Passengers leaving Picton on the after noon train at 3.25 will, change at Trenton Junction to the "Ocean" which will arrive in Toronto at 7.15 p.m.

Postal and express services will be affected by this change which in brief means that Picton is to have one incoming and one outgoing train each day. Mail leaving Picton in the afternoon will reach rural routes in the county no later than 8 will no doubt be necessary for rural mail carriers to deliver the mail the next day.

The Board of Trade and others are looking into the matter and it is hoped that some arrangement for an outgoing morning mail as usual may be made.

Softball

The various teams in the Prince Edward County Softball League are getting into condition for the game which begins next month. Entries closed this week with eight teams playing entry fees. These are as follows: South Bay, West Lake, Demorestville, Collegiate, Moose, Zurekes, Bankers and City Service, the latter five teams being composed of town players. Softball has taken the place of baseball here and is very popular with the public.

The Picton Gazette this week commenced publication three times a week, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

The Oddfellows Encampment and Rebekah Lodge held their annual At Home in the Assembly Hall when a large number of members and their families were present to enjoy a social time.

Euchre was the popular pastime, thirteen tables being in play. Prizes fell to Miss Robbie, Mrs. Stella Fox Mr. O. A. McGinnis and Mr. T. V. Hess. Refreshments were served in the dining hall, the long tables being well laden and very prettily decorated. After supper, dancing was enjoyed. Greenfield's orchestra furnished delightful music.

Sheriff D. J. Barker underwent an operation at Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital on Wednesday. Dr. Dupart of Kingston was in attendance. Sheriff Barker is reported as coming through the operation in good style.

The golfers have been out in full force these fine days.

Picton Rotarians Club members went to Belleville on Tuesday evening for an inter-city meeting. Local members were very pleased at the reception tendered them.

Dr. D. W. Caldwell, President of Picton Kiwanis Club will represent the Club at the Kiwanis convention to be held in Miami.

GILEAD-ST. ANDREWS MISSIONARY SOCIETY HELD GATHERING

Gilead, April 24 By Mail — The April meeting of the Gilead-St. Andrews W.M.S. was held on Wednesday, April 8th at the home of Mrs. Wilfred Clare.

The meeting opened with singing the hymn "Behold the Saviour of Mankind." Mr. Merrick then lead in prayer Again a hymn "Alas and Did my Saviour Bleed." Was sung. Scripture lesson from Matthew was read responsively. The minutes of the last meeting were head and adopted.

The business session followed. The group leaders then chose their members. It was decided that the next meeting be held in the church. A reading "The Brother" was given by Mrs. Marion. Then followed a very interesting Easter pageant.

Several of our school children help ed in this.

This form of programme was decidedly out of the ordinary and well produced and all enjoyed it.

Another distinctly interesting feature of the programme was a pantomime "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" by Mrs. Clare.

The meeting was closed by repeating the Watchword, 19 members and 1 visitor were present.

An enjoyable lunch was given by the hostess and all enjoyed a social time.

The Oil for the Farmer.—A bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the farm house will save many a journey for the doctor. It is not only good for the children w'n taken with colds and croup, and for the mature who suffer from pains and aches, but there are directions for its use on any cattle. There should always be a bottle of it in the house.

Husband's Ways

By Ruby Gruber

Ann Caldwell stood in the kitchen door gazing at the two airdale pups playing on the grass. Her eyes wandered to the tiny spaded square in which she had fondly expected to plant flower seeds.

The sight caused her to turn with a resigned sigh back to the kitchen. The puppies had found the fresh soil ideal for digging and they had dug, as only happy rollicking puppies can dig.

Under the sink stood a minnow bucket, and rubber boots lay on the linoleum where Ben had thrown them. Ann sighed, knowing, somehow, he was busily unwinding or maybe winding fishing line. Saturday afternoons were a hectic time to dainty little Ann Caldwell, for Ben her husband was a sportsman.

His gulf clubs stood in the front hall, and made the hunting coat hung in the back hall. The spotted big-eyed hound dog was bad enough, but now the two puppies on hand was almost too much even for patient adoring Ann.

"Thank goodness, I'm spending the week end with Helen and Jack! Maybe I'll hear something besides the catching ability of a certain type of 'Fly', or a golf stroke." Ann muttered to herself, as she mounted the stairs.

A few minutes later she stood before Ben. He glanced up as she entered, surveying her in surprise. "Ann, darling, is it that late? I had no idea. Been fooling with this reel." Ben's attention was again on the reel.

"I must run, Ben. You'll feed the birds?"

"Sure, honey, don't worry about anything, have a good time. Say hello to Helen and Jack for me." He kissed her tenderly.

At the home of Helen and Jack, Ann immediately began to silently compare Helen's home and husband with her own careless Ben.

The dinner was perfect. Jack was immaculately dressed in correct evening attire. Ben would only dress like that for a wedding or a funeral. Jack's nails were manicured, his hair faultless. Ben had laughingly only one day when also had attempted that he got a manicure; and it seemed Ben's hair would never stay combed. He had an adorable little unruly curl right in the middle of his forehead that looked sweet and boyish at times, but at other times, when she wanted him to look dignified, it annoyed her.

Helen's spotlessly polished floors gleamed in the soft candle light. No trace of muddy puppy tracks here. She sighed as she thought of the possibility of Ben having both puppies and the hound in her dainty little kitchen at that moment.

As she prepared for bed, in answer to a timid tap on the door, she admitted Helen.

"Helen, you look unhappy." Ann spoke concerned.

"Oh, I am! I just must tell some one. Ann, Jack is seeing another woman." Helen sat down on the bed. Ann dropped down beside her.

"How could he?" Ann was astounded.

"I don't know how to tell you. May be you won't understand. Ben is such an old dear." Helen hesitated to wipe away a tear.

"Maybe you're wrong, Helen, may be he isn't serious about this other woman," Ann compiled.

"But he has, he admitted it. It seems a pretty face is the only interest he has in life."

"Oh, you poor darling." Ann put an arm around Helen's shoulders.

"He has often gone out with different ones, but this is the first time that everyone has found out about it. How they must pity me."

"You will leave him?" asked Ann.

"I can't. I love him." Helen admitted, sobbing.

After Helen went back to her room Ann couldn't sleep. She fitfully little heart throbbed with sympathy for Helen, her own troubled thoughts crowding into her troubled thoughts. Could Ben ever do anything like that she wondered.

Morning found her wanting to go home. She hastily packed her overnight bag, and amid the tearful pleadings of Helen she slid under the wheel of her modest roadster, and started home.

Maybe Ben was'ed to go out, as he was so enthused about her week end with Helen and Jack—maybe he wanted her away . He had insisted that she accept the invitation. She remembered how positively he had refused to accompany her.

"I hate that tailor's dummy Helen married—you go alone. Helen was your school chum, you can gossip about old times, and have a great time without me." He had laughingly said.

Her heart was throbbing, the motor racing along the country high way as Ann dashed home.

The front door was locked. She inserted her key with cold nervous fingers. The windows were closed—Ben was not at home.

Up the stairs she ran, his closet door stood open. At a glance she could see how the careless Ben had dressed. His best suit was gone—she entered the bathroom. He had shaved, using his best facial lotion. Wet bath towels lay on the floor—the shoe shining box lay on the wash stand—

Ann sat down on the unmade bed, her eyes filled with tears.

She went down stairs—her heart numb with aching—. She would call Helen, maybe Ben had chanced his mind and was going to go over there.

"No, Ann—Ben has not been here" Came Helen's voice over the phone.

Sadly, Ann went into the kitchen —oddly she began washing the dishes Ben had used. Tears fell unheeded into the dish pan.

She wiped her eyes and went out in the yard with a plate of scraps for the dogs. Under the little peach tree sat her best aluminum baking pan filled with milk. With a sigh, she picked it up.

"Hello, Ann." Mrs. Smith a gossipy neighbor called.

"Hello" Ann answered, hurrying up the path. She didn't want Mrs. Smith to see her tear stained face.

"Ben wasn't looking for you heard this afternoon." Mrs. Smith called. "He took our mulatto and Bobby Jones to the circus this afternoon."

"Thanks a lot, Mrs. Smith." Ann exclaimed happily.

Ann picked up the ball belonging to the pups and with careful aim threw it in the center of the flower bed, feeling that they would both land there simultaneously and a mad scramble would ensue to see who would get the ball.

THE END

SPECIAL MUSIC SERVICE GIVEN

Tweed, April 24 By Mail—A special musical service was held in the United Church, Sunday evening, April 19th, in charge of Rev. R. Cooke.

The choir was assisted by Miss Conley, Messrs. Chas. Allen, J. Clute, Will Jones and Harold Way of Stirling with Mr. Allan as organist.

Dyeing in service vocal numbers were rendered by Miss Conley and Messrs. Clute, Jones and Way. These were greatly enjoyed and appreciated by all.

After the evening service Mr. Allan gave an organ recital and was assisted by Mrs. C. Clark, Miss Conley and Mr. J. Clute. Mr. Allan has a high reputation as an organist and this was exemplified on an eminent degree.

The Sunday Y.P.S. held their meeting on Tuesday evening. The topic was given by the President. The programme consisted of a mixed prayer by Mrs. Conger, Mr. Clark Cardy and Mrs. F. Baldwin. The con test went to the party who have a substantial lead. The topic for Tuesday will be taken by Rev. Price and should also prove interesting.

The Easter thankoffering service of the W.A. was held in the vestry of Bethel Church. The president Mrs. F. B. Asher in charge. The meeting opened with hymn 2 followed with prayer by Mrs. Conger. An Easter thankoffering reading was given by Mrs. Phillips. Mrs. M. Graham read the Scripture lesson. An Easter reading was given by Mrs. H. Tucker. Duet by Mrs. H. Slater and Mrs. D. Clark "I Know My Redeemer Lives." A reading on "Thankfulness" was given by Mrs. J. Wilkinson. The meeting closed with hymn 127 and Gords prayer.

Mrs. Arthur Thomas who underwent an operation in Hotel Dieu hospital for appendicitis about a week ago is improving nicely.

Mrs. H. C. Kindred and daughter Virginia and Mrs. Walter of Tweed, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Deighead of Hawkin over the week end.

Mrs. M. J. Quinn and daughter, Marjorie, Messrs. Tracey and Anthony Quinn spent a few days in Toronto last week.

A number of Eastern Star members of Tweed attended the inspection of chapter 35 Eastern Star of Belleville.

Mrs. Jno. Quinn returned from California this week after spending the winter with her daughter Alleen, Mr. Vincent Quinn of Renfrew, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Quinn.

Mrs. Winifred LeHaie and sister Mary accompanied by Miss Grace Carey spent Sunday in Picton.

QUALITY

The most economical thing you can buy

When you buy a Tip Top Suit or Topcoat you buy more than so much cloth and tailoring—more than fine style and exclusive fabric. You buy the most reliable custom-tailored clothes it is possible to purchase, from an institution that has satisfied more than two and a half million Canadian men in the past twenty years.

"Still More Quality" each season is the Tip Top policy—a policy that made us leaders and kept us leaders—for after all, nothing you can buy is quite so economical as quality. And never was this so true as it is to-day.

WEST BROMWICH ALBIONS ENGLISH CUP WINNERS

WEST BROMWICH ALBION WON ENGLISH CUP FINAL FROM BIRMINGHAM 2-1

Richardson, Centre Forward was Hero of Soccer Classic

HEAVY RAINS

Thousands Pack Wembley Stadium to Witness Defeat of Birmingham

Wembley Stadium, near London, April 25.—(Canadian Press Cable)—West Bromwich Albion today won the English Football Association Cup. Emblematic of the soccer championship of England, when they defeated Birmingham by two goals to one in the final of the competition here. W. G. Richardson, centre forward for West Bromwich Albion, scored both their goals, one in the fourteenth minutes of the initial half and the second in the eighteenth minute of the last half. Bradford, star forward for Birmingham had their goal in the seventeenth minute of the second half.

The teams were:

Wembley Stadium, near London April 25.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Cheers and counter cheers from fans who had travelled to London to witness the final of the English Football Association Cup between Birmingham and West Bromwich Albion, were transferred here from the streets of the metropolis as the hour for the opening of the game approached. The great grey amphitheatre in the midst of which the rivals were to engage in their soccer tussle was soon a babel of noise and a blaze of blues and whites. Thousands were armed with rattles and bells which drowned out the organized community singing. With the arrival of the band of the Welsh Guards amateur enthusiasts were themselves drowned out in a flood of popular airs that played on trumpets and cornets behind it. Twenty solid hours of rain which had fallen did not affect the spirits of even the most mild of the enthusiasts. At noon sixty thousand people were sitting or standing in the stadium. After the customary ceremonies were exhausted all joined in a great hurrah which rolled down from the green carpet of turf and rang around the building.

JUDGE CRITICISES METHODS EXERCISED BY THE POLICE

Aged Man Taken From Jail Cell at Night

Owen Sound, Ont., April 25 (CP)—A statement obtained last December of Stella Ivy, married daughter of Cook of Meaford and Denton of Owen Sound, was admitted yesterday as evidence yesterday by Judge G. T. Sutherland, before whom Bert Denton, his daughter, Mrs. Percy Lavers also of Clarksburg, are facing trial. Mrs. Lavers also faces the charges of theft.

The manner of obtaining the statement as detailed in court was criticized strongly by Judge Sutherland. The evidence by Denton showed that Bell, a man aged 70, was taken to the jail at night by the two Provincial Constables who questioned her in order to secure the statement.

"Apparently the possession of the statement was obtained by false pretences," said His Honour. "That conduct on the part of the police constable is most reprehensible and so long as I occupy the bench in this county I trust I shall never again have a case to deal with such as this."

NOT SATISFIED WITH LOOT THIEVES RANSACKED ARMY CLUB

North Vancouver, B.C., April 25.—Thieves who broke into the Salvation Army and Navy Veterans' Club not only stole $160 in cash but opened all the spigots of the beer barrels. When the robbery was discovered the floor was blanketed an inch deep with beer. The burglars wrecked the place generally, smashing a radio, cutting the upholstery on the billiard table and damaging furniture. In addition to the cash they got away with about $150 worth of cigarettes and pipes.

STUDENTS OF COLLEGIATE IN MUSIC NIGHT

Literary Society Members Excell in Presentation

Societies in school life are ideal for the development of latent talent in a student, and the Literary Society of a Collegiate Institute and Technical School, is probably, the most prominent of any organization of this kind. Last night in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute the students body accompanied in many instances by the parents, enjoyed one of the best evenings that the Literary Society has given in its long history. The programme with the evening, there was given a musical exhibition under the direction of Ross Hunter, teacher at the school and the entertainment made by the student body in the short space of time that the innovation has been in force, is indeed most meritorious. The band, glee club and violin ensemble all gave splendid numbers and one was encored heartily.

Harold Smith, president of the Literary Society, presided over the evening, and in the absence of marks welcomed the students and parents and visitors. He explained that the idea of having the literary meeting and music exhibition, in the form of a concert met with approval. P. C. McIlmrith, principal of the school, also spoke a few words.

The development of the band, during the past year has been considerable time, but the more would justify itself and he paid a tribute to Bandmaster Ross Hunter who has this work in charge. This work has not been accomplished alone as the Board of Education and Col. W. H. Porter, chairman of the music committee, have worked indefatigably for the advancement of music in the school and the results are now being realized. Mr. McLearin also stated that the school was drawing to the end of the year, and that the attendance was increasing. This spirit was noticed also in the fall opening as the staff costs were working for their new quarters and the spirit was there and the pupils were being rehabilitated, and everything was working very well. The principal invited all to be present on May 1st when a party will take place on Queen Victoria school grounds on Monday morning.

William Harvey, chairman of the Board of Education, and Mrs. Thompton, chairman of the music committee, also spoke a few words and the pupils were being rehabilitated, and everything was working very well. The principal invited all to be present on May 1st when a party will take place on Queen Victoria school grounds on Monday morning.

It was not all music in the evening, as Literary Society giving two one-act playlets that brought down the house. The first of these, "Cave a play, "The Rehearsal", under the direction of Miss Young and the playlet represented a company in the time of the Shakespeare rehearsing for Macbeth. All the characters in this rehearsal were taken by pupils of being a rehearsal, the men were dressed in the costume synonymous with that time. Miss Young and the cast of Shakespearean roles, Burbridge, Evelyn Argyle in the role of Lady Macbeth, the different members of the cast, and Betty Wood was the witches and old Mots was the producer, stage manager Ross Hunter, Macbeth, Ted Hughes, Lady Macbeth Ted Day, Shakespeare, Dorothy Young and Wilfrid Twining. The Doctor Ross Weese, Fred Welch Ralph Ashton, Second Witch Ethel Wood, Third Witch Ralph Champagne, and Banquo Gordon Hall. The cast of actors gave their lines in an almost perfect manner, and received much play, "Suppressed Desires", under the direction of Miss Young was also given and was quite to the high standard of the remainder of the programme. Those taking part were, Audrey Burgess, Jean Dickens, Jock Smith.

The band opened the programme with three selections, The Royal Dragoons' march, "Idle Thoughts", by Kenney, and a novelty number, "Watch Your Step". Each number was received most heartily with perfect rhythm and full tone.

The violin ensemble made with ever thinly on the platform, gave three numbers. "Drink to me only With Thine Eyes" was followed by Grieg, and "The Heavens Declare". These numbers were all effective and of perfect coloring. The choice of the violin ensemble showed their numbers given by the Glee Club. All members of the club showed their training and their four numbers were very pleasing. Two were solos for girls' voices only while the other two were for mixed voice, the choice of the latter being the last number "Summer Winds Blow."

The orchestra gave three numbers and the programme closed with full choruses by the Glee Club and the hymns. The evening was most enjoyable and the Literary Society is prepared to the gymnasium floor, Principal Thompson and his staff entertained a programme of dances and the party wound up an evening in a jovial mood.

HERE'S THE PRIZE FISHING YARN

HAMMOND, Ind., April 25 CP—This is a fish story based upon a tale by Hugo Volkman.

In landing a pickerel, yesterday, he sprained his ankle, fell to the bottom of the boat, injured his scalp, wrenched his back and neck in striking, lost his false teeth, then toppled into the lake. When fellow fishermen pulled him out Hugo was hanging onto the fish.

AVIATRIX MAY ENTER APPEAL ON CONVICTION

Lady Mary Heath Protests Windsor Affair

Windsor, April 25.—(CP)—The possibility that Lady Mary Heath may appeal against a conviction and fine on a charge of reckless operation with the announcement that Gerald McHugh, K.C., had been retained by the famous aviatrix to act for her in the matter. Reginald Williams, Windsor lawyer to look after the case with her at the time of the arrest, announced that he would not be in charge against him.

Mr. McHugh announces that Lady Heath contends that when she post the $10 cash it was with the understanding that there would not be a court hearing and that a formal charge would not be laid. Today she gives as the reason for not appealing in court to oppose the charge.

HEPBURN FLAYS GOVERNMENT OF R. B. BENNETT

Says Construction of Waterway Will Never be Financed

DAIRY INDUSTRY

Liberal Leader Says Premier has Failed in Election Promises

Campbellford, April 25 (CP).—Lengthy criticism of the Dominion Government's policies marked the address delivered here this week Liberal Club last night by Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P., for Elgin, West, and Ontario Liberal Leader.

Touching on the St. Lawrence waterway development, Mr. Hepburn declared, "If Hon. R. B. Bennett's policy on this project is typical of financing, we never will be able to construct the Waterway." Dealing with the situation in Western Canada he maintained 80 per cent. of the Western farmers were "bankrupt, with no relief in sight." The problem was one of justice to the masses, he said. "We have got to have an investment slump and we will not get anywhere while we have Mr. Bennett and his Tories in power. We cannot do anything while the present government is in power."

Premier Bennett, Mr. Hepburner had failed to fulfil his election promises to the dairy industry and that since the present administration had been in power the dairy industry had suffered hardships.

FERGUSON IS SPEAKING OUT OF HIS TURN

Toronto, Ont., April 25 (CP).—The quicker he is recalled the better," says a Conservative MP here to press by T. L. Church, K.C., commenting upon a speech given by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London delivered Thursday in which Britain was warned to be careful in her dealings with Russia. The Church in his statement claimed that Mr. Ferguson's statement has gone outside the scope of his functions and authority. "He is making Canada look ridiculous and Canada looks ridiculous," says the statement.

TOY AEROPLANE CRASHED IN BUSH, STARTED FOREST FIRE AS WELL AS WILD YARN

Austin Gunn, Young Aviation Student Centre of Interest

PROBE IS MADE

Unoccupied Plane Crashed in Bush East of Soo

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 25.—An interesting story comes today from Bar River, 70 miles east of here, where Austin Gunn, an 11-year old boy aviation fan. With all the enthusiasm of those who get a kick by piloting through the air, marked channels of space, sent aloft a large toy airplane which travelled two miles, started a fire, but he has also a report that the men manning plane had been killed in a crash near that place.

While reading a magazine not long ago Austin came upon an announcement which said he could get an airplane by selling 30 packages of needles. The announcement so intrigued him that he set about winning the prize.

He sent for the needles, and spent two strenuous days disposing of them to neighbors. "Within the first day" he walked seven miles and sold half of his stock in trade, and completing his sales the next day, sent the proceeds on to the company. In due time the plane arrived, he received his "airship". It was six feet long and made of balsa wood.

The night the contraption arrived, Austin's father suggested that he put it into the air. His motive power was a spirited llama which created heat. Not thinking that the airplane would fly far, he left the pair neglected while he took a string to it, according to directions, and they were surprised when the machine left the ground, flew in the air and disappeared in the distance. The incident was closed insofar as they were concerned.

Yesterday news came to them that a plane had crashed two miles away, and Austin's father, had started a bush fire and that the occupants of the machine were killed. People of the area got in the mob, with one accident by phone and a party was organized to proceed to the scene of the fire and to rescue if possible the unfortunates who had come to grief.

An investigation disclosed that when the inflator of the toy machine had burned out, it had come to the ground with sufficient fire remaining in the spirit lamp to ignite the surrounding bush. The story he sent from the Gunn home, so Austin's father and others found, was untrue on the spot with the others and succeeded in extinguishing the fire before it assumed dangerous proportions.

MURDER CASE AT CORNWALL IN LIMELIGHT

Police Have no Knowledge of Schnabel's Arrest

Montreal, April 25.—The police last night denied knowledge of the arrest of a reported arrest in a small town in the province of Ontario of Schnabel, here for the murder of his wife.

The disappearance of Schnabel in 1926, many rumors have reached Montreal that he had been seen in various parts of the continent, but investigation always proved the reports unfounded. It was stated at headquarters.

Mrs. Schnabel left her home here with her husband on Sept. 1, 1926. He returned to the city shortly afterward to tell friends that his wife was with relatives at Hamilton, that she did not return. Some time afterward it was discovered that a body found in the St. Lawrence at Cornwall, and buried in a cemetery there, was that of the missing wife. Before he could be detailed for questioning, Schnabel placed his three children on board a train for Hamilton and disappeared.

Ottawa, April 25.—CP—The proposal of Armand Lavergne, Deputy Speaker, to have judges in Criminal Code cases sit with juries was defeated in House last night, 74 to 57.

OTTAWA, April 25 —CP—House rose half past yesterday and advanced half a dozen measures for presentation to Senate.

PRINCE EDWARD WOMAN MARKS 97TH BIRTHDAY AT CROFTON

Mrs. David Moran Looks Forward to Century Milestone

Mrs. David Moran of Crofton Prince Edward County, is today celebrating her 97th birthday and is in hale and hearty, eagerly looking forward to the century mark and carrying out the even century of life. Mrs. Moran is a daughter of the late Norman Sage, Miss Emma Eaton, being of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Eaton, Prince Edward County and one of the United Empire Loyalists, a fact of which she is proud. She is a member of the Garden County of Canada all her life and also the proud mother of seven of the past 70 years. Her husband died about twenty-three years ago.

Mrs. Moran daily works about the house, her eyesight being excellent although her hearing is not of the best. She is also very interested in fancy work especially the making of rugs. She has won many first prizes at the fall fairs throughout the country. She resides with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. E. Moran, her son living in Alland, B.C. while a daughter, Mrs. J. W. White resides in California. Mrs. Moran received many congratulatory telegrams from friends far and near today and in the evening a number gathered at her home to wish her many years of continued and happy life.

WORK PROGRESSES ON LINGHAM ST.

Level Has Been Changed and Sewer Pipe is Being Laid

Work on the Lingham Street bill project is progressing rapidly. The hill has been levelled to the proper grade and workmen are engaged at the present time in putting in the sewer. After the sewer fill has settled sufficiently the road will be laid on the hill and the roadway surfaced. Some side walks will be constructed to replace some taken up owing to the changing of the surface level. Outside of the present operation the rest of the works department is not very heavy.

SCOTTISH BOYS COME TO CANADA

Brockville, April 25—A party of 34 Scottish boys, between 14 and 18 years of age, arrived here today to settle on routes to Fairbrowne Home, Brockville, with the boys being placed on farms throughout Eastern Ontario according to word received today by officials of the home. They come from the orphan homes of Scotland in Edinburgh.

Blubber is now believed to be the equipment that enables whales to withstand the pressure of great sea depths.

The night the contraption arrived, Austin's father suggested that he put it into the air. His motive power was a spirited llama which created heat. Not thinking that the airplane would fly far, he left the pair neglected while he took a string to it, according to directions, and they were surprised when the machine left the ground, flew in the air and disappeared in the distance. The incident was closed insofar as they were concerned.

Yesterday news came to them that a plane had crashed two miles away, and Austin's father, had started a bush fire and that the occupants of the machine were killed. People of the area got in the mob, with one accident by phone and a party was organized to proceed to the scene of the fire and to rescue if possible the unfortunates who had come to grief.

An investigation disclosed that when the inflator of the toy machine had burned out, it had come to the ground with sufficient fire remaining in the spirit lamp to ignite the surrounding bush. The story he sent from the Gunn home, so Austin's father and others found, was untrue on the spot with the others and succeeded in extinguishing the fire before it assumed dangerous proportions.

HAMILTON TEAM READY FOR RELAY

Ambitious City Students Scored Impressive Victory

Philadelphia, Penn., April 25 (CP). With one impressive victory to their credit, Hamilton, Ont., Collegiate entrants in the Pennsylvania track and field relay today were ready for the class B one mile relay event which they were said be able to repeat yesterday's performance in which Central Collegiate was in the Inter-Scholastic medley against a field of 16 teams.

One of the high spots in yesterday's programme was the running by Barney Berlinger, captain of the University of Pennsylvania's track and field team of the classic decathlon, all round field and track competition.

FEARS FELT FOR LOST SURVEYOR

London, April 25.—Great anxiety is felt for the safety of Augustine Courtauld, surveyor to the British Arctic Air Route Expedition who is missing in Greenland, Earlier reports circulated Canada had been asked to assist in a search for the Arctic expedition but the Canadian Press has informed last night that only Courtauld was missing.

Courtauld is a former director of Courtauld's Limited. This is his third trip to the Arctic regions. He was one of a party which reached the summit of Peterson Peak which is to be the highest mountain in the Arctic regions.

AUXILIARY EUCHRE

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion held a euchre in the Memorial Hall last night attended by a large number. Refreshments were served at the close of the party and a social half hour spent before dispersing to their respective homes. The winners were ladies, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. D. Batchelor, Mrs. Titterton and the gentlemen's prize was Hallam Rolls, Thomas Green and Fred Grey.

CHANGES FOR MAILS

With the changing of the time table on the Canadian National Rail way tomorrow, changes will be made in the time for mail closing at the local Post Office according to J. V. D. Wilson, Postmaster. For the Montreal and Toronto train No 18, eastbound, the mails will close at 11.15 a.m. while for train No. 9 westbound, the mail will close at 4.30 p.m. The mail closes for train No. 18 eastbound and train No. 19, westbound at 11.35 p.m. and this includes the Peterboro mail. Trains No. 18 and 19 do not run on Saturday night, the mails being carried on trains No 20 and 21, which leave the surrounding on Saturday. These are the only changes that will be made and those sending mail should govern themselves accordingly. The mail for train No. 307 northbound to Madoc closes at 4.30 p.m.

A COURTEOUS POLICEMAN

The local police are called upon to perform many duties which they are not compelled to do by police regulations. Constable Fred Isaard yesterday, seeing a lady in distress, hurried to her assistance. It was right at the busy time for traffic, about 4.30 yesterday afternoon, when a young lady, driving a Model T Ford car of ancient vintage stalled at the four corners. Constable Isaard hurried over when he saw the fair occupant was unable to get started again and spent many backbreaking minutes trying to crank the machine. The pleasant smile with which his labors were rewarded was ample reward.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

Clarence Zaccarian, of Hallowell, Prince Edward County, was given a suspended sentence by Magistrate Ponton in Picton police court yesterday on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition. Consideration was taken that the young man was the sole support of an aged mother and had never been in trouble before. It will be remembered that Zaccarian and Freeman Marsicle who was taken to the hospital as a result of injuries received, crashed into a tree on the Bloomfield road on Sunday morning, both allegedly being in an intoxicated condition. Provincial Officer Frank investigated and placed Zaccarian under arrest.

TO ATTEND MEETING

Delegates from the local Electrical Contractors Association will attend the Provincial meeting of the Ontario Electrical Contractors Association to be held in Niagara Falls next week. The purpose of this meeting is to license all electrical contractors in the province. The local association will join the provincial body. Mr. F. Finkle, President and Mr. John Hibbard, Secretary-Treasurer will leave for Five Mile Inn, Niagara Falls on Monday where the meeting is to be held.

BANKERS MET.

Seventeen bank managers, representing the branches of the various banks in this district, gathered at the Belleville Club last night to discuss business conditions in this district, which are in good shape. Managers of the Bank of Toronto, Bank of Montreal, Canadian Bank of Commerce and the Royal Bank from Trenton, Tweed, Stirling, Frankford, Madoc, Deseronto and Belleville were present at the meeting. C. A. C. Weir, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal and president of the local Clearing House Association, was chairman for the evening.

YO-YO CONTEST

The championship for the Yo-Yo Spinners was held at the Belle Theatre this morning. Long before the doors opened hundreds of kiddies were lined up outside the theatre. The admission was only two potatoes and buckets of "spuds" were the results. These potatoes will be given to the local charitable institutions. After a very keen competition the following were winners in the Yo-Yo contest—First prize, Harold Cruthers, second prize, Tom Cruthers; third prize, James Seymour. The boys displayed some wonderful talent to win the coveted prizes.

MOTOR ACCIDENT.

Early this morning Mr. Harry Evans me; with an accident, while driving his car. Mr. Evans was proceeding north on Front street when a car started to come out of Market street. Mr. Evans stopped to let the car cross the intersection when a truck, driven by H. Semark, rammed into him five miles rear, considerable damage being done to the back of Mr. Evans' car.

PLANE DROPPED FASSES.

Around noon today an aeroplane was hovering over the city although there was no cause to worry about an air raid or anything of the sort. It was merely a plane dropping passes for the Capitol Theatre. The plane drew considerable attention from the local citizens.

TRAFFIC CASES HEARD.

Three traffic cases were disposed of in the Police Court today. Two motorists were fined $3.00 each for parking their cars an unreasonable length of time, while the third paid $10.00 and costs for driving recklessly on the street of the city. One man was remanded until Monday on a charge of intoxication, when he pleaded "not guilty".

OBITUARY

CHARLES FREDERICK

There passed away at his home on the Marshall Road, Sidney Township today, Charles Frederick, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Frederick in his 84th year. Mr. Frederick was born in Belleville but had lived on the Marshall Road for the past twenty years. He had been ill for some time.

He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, two sisters, Mrs. George A. Smith, Foxboro, and Miss Melissa Frederick, Foxboro, and one brother William, of Kirby, Saskatchewan. Deceased was a member of Holloway Street United Church.

MANY ATTEND MOHAWK DANCE

Auxiliary Sponsor Entertainment at Council House

In ancient days, when the Indians started in to dance, our forefathers cleaned the trusty musket, strengthened the stockade and prepared for trouble—much trouble. With wampein daubed upon their faces and bodies, whooping and yelling, the noble Redman made 'big medicine' in preparation for a foray against the Paleface.

Anyone who attended the monster fish dinner and dance held in the Council House on the Tyendinaga Reserve last night would have heard the 'whooping up' when the Indians have seen the dancing, but would have missed the war-paint and the picturesque Indian dress. Lest anyone think that Mohawk was not making 'big medicine' on the Victoria-mac; he was out for a good time and he certainly had it. From early evening until decidedly early morning, the 'swing your lady', the simple foxtrot and the lazy waltz took the place of the war-dance. The orchestra was not given a rest. As soon as it would end a number, the Councilhouse would be quivering with the thunderous applause for more.

It might not be exactly true to say that every Mohawk on the Reserve and in the surrounding district was present for he affair last night but there couldn't have been many who stayed away. Early in the evening it was practically impossible to crowd into the door of the council-house. The upon tier of Indians were seated in the large, all beautifully applauding the step-dances of some of their brethren, competing for prizes. Some smart tap-dancing is seen on the vaudeville circuits in Toronto; the best 'hoofers' that America can turn out, have danced in the Queen City, and yet, the Hills, the Maracles, the Brants (and many other equally famous Indian names) would have to take back seats to none of them.

Square dancing is a popular pastime among the rural sections, for square dance 'as is' square-dance, but last night it was a different affair that of last night. The enthusiasm displayed by both the dancers and the announcer was fervid, to say the least.

The affair last night was under the auspices of the Mohawk Branch of the Womens' Auxiliary. Mrs. Homer Amey, of Deseronto, president of the Deseronto Womens' Auxiliary, was in charge. The fish dinner, accompanied by salads, vegetables and several varieties of desserts, was delicious. The evening from every standpoint, was a complete success.

LOCAL VETERAN TELLS TALE OF PRISON CAMPS

Archibald Cook Suffered at Hands of Germans

Tales of brutality in German prison camps are being brought to light at the sessions of the war reparations commission now being held in Toronto. This week a Belleville veteran, Archibald Cook, was among the ex-soldiers who came before the commission to tell of their treatment while prisoners. Mr. Cook formerly resided on College Hill.

Determining to evade work in the German camp, Mr. Cook who is a veteran of the 2nd Battalion, tried twice to escape and resorted to any device to incapacitate himself temporarily. Once he poured a pot of hot water over his foot and the scar from the scalding still remains.

He was beaten and lined up to be shot for refusing to work and failing to mimic German N.C.O.'s, he told the commissioner. "They let us off and we went back to work. I replaced to work on a Sunday at a farm and was struck with the bulkend of a rifle and marched through the village at the point of a bayonet. After four days in the village jail, I was given two weks' detention in a dark cell, with bread and water." "I fetched illness and came home unwork in that manner," Cook continued.

"How did you feign?" "On one occasion I developed an itch by scratching myself with a pin and a brush."

"If two prisoners knew they were being sent to any of the worst camps places where they never return—they would use chemicals or any means to become ill" said Cook. "I saw one man put his arm into a pot of boiling water."

In the fall of '17 Cook escaped. Recaptured, he was given six weeks' special punishment in a stone quarry. "We were made to work from sunset to sunrise, given poor food, and made to work exposed to the wintry cold. We had only wooden shoes, no socks."

"made another break for liberty in 1918," related Cook. "Walking by night and sleeping during the day, I made 150 miles and was only 10 miles from Holland when caught. It was given three weeks in a dirty, lousy stone quarry this time."

Cook's nervous system is so affected as a result of his prison experience that his earning capacity has decreased by two-thirds, he is a salesman.

ODDS ON CHOICE IN THE LAUGH HANDICAP

"Laugh and grow fat" is an old and true saying, for solemncholy fits seldom smile, let alone laugh. Laughter is the best of medicine, even the medical family admit that—so here's a laugh prescription guaranteed to cure the worst blues, melancholy, depressionitis. Or what have you: Go to the Rotary All-Star Minstrel show in the Capitol Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, May 4 and 5. If you go Monday you will surely go Tuesday for the show is a great laughing show and creates an appetite for more. Even at the rehearsals the boys get weak from laughing and have to stop and that's no joke but the real McCoy. Everybody who has heard the great Harmony Chorus of 50 voices say it will surprise Belleville as it has never been surprised before. The interlocutor will be another surprise, the dynamo of the laugh factory, and he sure will be, a laugh generator himself, quick on the uptake and fast on the trigger. The first part is a riot of mirth and music, while the olio is full of thrills, surprises and genuine interest. One of the olio numbers is a genuine novelty produced by sixteen pupils of the Ontario School for the Deaf, their funny features.

Reserve Seat Plan for the Rotary Minstrel opens Monday morning at 8.30 at Chas. Symons' Men's Store.

Mineola, Tex., Golf Club members have abandoned their course to drillers searching for oil.

MISS MATTHEWS DESIGNATED AS NEW DEACONESS

Stirling, April 25 By Mail—A very solemn and impressive service was held in St. Andrew's Church on Wednesday evening when Deaconess Miss Predia Matthews, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Matthews was designated as Deaconess of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

The meeting was presided over by the minister of St. Andrew's Church, Rev. A. N. Reid, who is also Moderator of Kingston Presbytery at the present time; after the opening hymn, Rev. Harold Reid, B.A., of Pinkerton read the Scripture lesson, Matt. 7:1-12 and led in prayer. Rev. Harold Reid preached to the people from the text "By their Fruits Ye Shall Know Them," he said the marks of a Christian character were as follows: 1st Godliness, a person's Christian character remain nothing, if not godly; how can we expect fruit where there is no good mark in service, and in order to be of service to others, one must have godliness. General Booth's message by cable was "Others." 3rd Love for mankind should be the dominating factor in our lives to make effective Christian workers and above all one must be devoted to Christ and so let your lights shine before man, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven. "Breathe on us breath of God," was then sung and then Rev. A. N. Reid M.A., called Miss Matthews to the front and after her taking her vows, he then designated her as a Deaconess, and Mrs. Alex Fargey, President of the local W.M.S. on behalf of the General Council made a few remarks and presented Miss Matthews with the Deaconess pin as insignia of her office. Rev. G. E. Nichol of Trenton then spoke to Miss Matthews giving text 1 Cor. 3:9, "We are Labourers together with God," yea! co-labourers, partners, co-operation, spoke of an engineer who had a young assistant, and the engineer took good care to inform the young man how much help he was in his work; Mr. Nichol said "Remember! you have the Presbyterian Church behind you and better still, you have Jesus Christ to back you up.

A telegram sent from Winsloe, bearing greetings from Mrs. Geo. A. Reid, President of Kingston W.M.S. Presbyterial was read by Mrs. Alex Fargey. "Oh Master let me walk with me," was sung, a hymn, by the way, which Miss Matthews said was sung frequently at the Deaconess Home. Rev. R. J. Craig of Demorestville, cleric of Kingston Presbytery offered the benediction. After this, Mr. P. T. Ward on behalf of St. Andrew's congregation addressed as follows:

Stirling, April 22, 1931.

"Dear Miss Matthews:

We, the members of St. Andrew's congregation take this opportunity of expressing to you our mingled feelings of pride and regret, pride at even of your departure from our midst. Surely we should feel proud to know that from our ranks, there is going out, one who will ever stand for all the principles of truth and right. Our interest in missionary work will should be deepened when we feel that we have a very real share in the missionary work of our church. To us at home, you are throwing out a challenge to rise to our responsibility and to do our share for the church at large.

In every organization of St. Andrew's, you have been a willing worker and you will be greatly missed. In the Sunday school you did much to give the deeper set to the lives of the wee folks. In the Guild, your faithfulness and willingness have left their imprint. In the choir you rendered valued assistance in the service of song. In the Mission Band you proved an able leader. Therefore it is but natural that the whole church should wish to present to you a slight token of their esteem as you go out into the broader sphere of work.

Signed on behalf of the Congregation Guild, Sunday School and choir— Alex Nathan and Mrs. Roy Eggleton."

Mr. P. T. Ward then presented Miss Matthews with a case in which was enclosed a $15.00 dollar gold piece, Miss Matthews thanked the congregation in a very fitting way, then the following ministers of King ston Presbytery gave Miss Matthews the right hand of fellowship, Revds. A. N. Reid, M.A., Harold Reid, B.A., of Pinkerto, C. K. Nichol of Trenton, G. Marshall of Madoc, D. A. McKenzie, B.A., of Burnbrae and R. J. Craig of Demorestville.

We feel that Stirling should be justly proud of Miss Matthews as a Deaconess for as far as the knowledge of the writer goes this is the first instance of a graduate Missionary nurse going out for indefinite service for the Lord's cause and all wish her success in her new undertaking as teacher in an Indian school at Kenora, Ont.

The funeral of the late Mr. Hiram Deschamb was held on Wednesday, April 22nd in St. Paul's church. Rev. E. W. Rowland preaching a comforting sermon, G. L. Clute and Betty Conder sang "There'll be no Night There." A large concourse gathered to pay their last respects to one who was always ready to help his neighbors and friends.

The floral tribute were many and beautiful. The pall bearers were Messrs. A. Parks, Percy Umbach, Jim McDonald, Frank Carr, Tom Donohue.

Allan McKitrick, Donald Ross, C. Mayes jr., and Irene Bailey has returned from Kingston having completed their year's work in Queen's University.

Embarrassing Moments

"Hell's Angels" the Mighty Electrifying Air Spectacle

The Greatest Picture Since Cinemaphotography Came Opens Capitol Monday For 3 Days

THE STORY OF "HELL'S ANGELS"

Two English boys, Monte and Roy Rutledge (Ben Lyon and James Hall) brothers, spend their summer vacation in 1914 with an Oxford chum, Karl Arnstedt (John Darrow) in Munich.

Of the two brothers, Monte is the finer, figured and care-free while Roy is the serious and idealistic one. Monte has an affair with the wife of a German officer, Baroness von Grass (Jane Winton). The results are discovered by the Baroness' husband (Carlos Privell) and Monte is challenged to appear on the field of honor.

Monte has no taste for such an affair, and Roy accepts the challenge so that the family honor will not suffer. He subsequently is slightly wounded for his pains.

The three chums are next seen attending Oxford. Roy wants Monte to meet "his girl", (Jean Marlow), but Monte is indifferent, saying he cannot be serious, ever any girl Roy might choose. War is declared, and Karl receives his order to report to his regiment in Germany.

Later Roy enlists in the Royal Flying Corps. Monte sneers at the idea, but finally is the victim of a pretty girl who admires those who will sign up in the Corps.

Monte does not meet, nor's girl, Helen until the night of a Charity Ball at which Roy is the guest of honor. Roy has little chance to be with Helen as Monte has cut in ahead of by the two, for both Monte and Helen are smitten with each other.

Roy's duties keep him late, so Monte accepts Helen's invitation to have supper with her apartment. She invites him up and he accepts, and Monte then discovers that Helen is not the lily white lady Roy believes her to be.

He leaves, disgusted with himself and Helen.

Overhead a mighty Zeppelin roars through the dark night enroute to bomb the sleeping city of London. As a member of the crew, we find a young officer in the person of Karl. It is his duty to descend in the night seeing car, to telephone back to the Zeppelin the objective. He abhors the thought of bombing his chum's people.

Karl is lowered in the sighting car, and is ordered to bomb Trafalgar Square. Instead he orders the bombs dropped in the river, although the commander is unaware of this. Meanwhile, at the front, are carrying Roy and Monte, take off to bring the Zeppelin down. They gain on the big ship and the Commander orders all surplus weight dropped. Karl is sacrificed, as the weight of the sighting car weighs down the big ship and it becomes apparent to those on board the ship that part of the crew must jump overboard if the necessary altitude is to be gained.

The aeroplanes keep up a steady attack against the big ship. All planes but one are forced down, including the one manned by Monte and Roy. The remaining flyer climbs higher and higher, dirigible. As ammunition gone, the pilot decides to crash into the big ship as a final means of attack. This he does, and the monster falls, scattering flames

Later we find Monte and Roy attached to a pursuit squadron in France. Helen is there, on a manager of a canteen. Roy still is in love with her, and believes her to be a saintly creature.

Monte breaks under the strain of the constant fighting, and is looked upon by his comrades as a weakling. However, both Monte and Roy volunteer to pilot a captured German planes behind the lines and blow up a German munition dump so that the British can launch an attack. Before they start, Monte wants to celebrate, but Roy goes to see Helen. They both find her in the arms of an other officer in a cafe. Monte then tells her what he thinks she is not worth his attentions and Roy, disillusioned, joins Monte with the French maidens in drinking and love making. Monte ultimately gives in to Roy's pleading that they go back to their squadron to prepare for their hazardous flight at three in the morning.

Final instructions are given, and the two brothers take off, Roy at the controls and Monte in the bombers sighting cockpit.

They are successful in reaching their objective as the enemy markings of the plane do not raise suspicion from the ground. As they reach the munition dump, Von Richthofen with his squadron of Fokkers fly high above on their way to the front lines. They see the bombers, but do not pay any particular attention to it, and it is not until the squadron leader sees the big plane precipitate explosion after explosion does he realize that the munition dump is being blown up by the Gotha.

Monte and Roy drop their cargo of bombs and head back to their airdrome, while the Fokkers above, lay in wait for them. Finally, Lieut. von Bruen (Frank Clarke) gives the signal for attack and the eighteen Fokkers dive on the boys. They have a perilous time of it and are saved from certain death by the appearance of a British squadron of fighters who engage the Fokkers in a thrilling dog fight. As was his custom, Von Richthofen flies high above the battle waiting for the opportune moment to strike at his prey and seeing the bomber above, dives upon it, and shoots the boys down. They crash in German territory and are miraculously saved, being captured by infantrymen and taken before the German commander, who, we find, is Baron von Kranz.

He gives the boys fifteen minutes to decide whether they will tell the time of the British attack and live, or face the firing squad as spies. Monte flying a German plane is the same as wearing a German uniform.

Hysterical and shell shocked, Monte tries to tell, but Roy demands him temporarily. He conceives a plan and is brought before the Commander, and tells him he will tell the English plans. Given to his own care, Monte made, as he—Monte—had stolen his girl and Monte would tell of the perfidy after the war. The German gives him a revolver with one bullet.

Returning, Roy plans with Monte to face the consequences, as their keeping silent will insure the success of the attack of the British. Monte still wants to tell but Roy begs him to live, and screaming, rushes to the door. Roy shoots Monte.

Monte, mortally wounded forgives Roy and is happy that he has not told. He dies in Roy's arms as the German general appears on the scene. It is not until then that the General learns the boys are brothers.

He admires the boy's pluck, but is forced to put Roy before a firing squad. Roy says: "I'll be with you in a moment, Monte." and is shot. As the echo of the shots die away, the first rumblings of the British barrage is heard, and we next see the brigade sweep through to victory.

In a Very Short Time
He Got Great Relief

Saskatchewan Man Used Doddy's Kidney Pills

Parkerview, Sask., April 20 (Special)—"About three years ago I suffered with Backache and Rheumatism and could hardly move," writes Mr. S. Borowancky, who lives at this place.

"A friend advised me to try Doddy's Kidney Pills and after taking the first box I felt better. So I got a few more boxes which gave me great relief in a short time.

The natural way to treat Backache and Rheumatism is to treat the Kidneys and the natural way to correct the Kidneys is to use Kidney Pills. Rheumatism is caused by the presence of uric acid in the blood. If the Kidneys are doing their duty they will strain all the uric acid out of the blood and there can be no more Rheumatism.

Therefore, put the Kidneys in shape to do their duty by using Doddy's Kidney Pills. Just give them a trial and be convinced. Obtained from all Druggists, or from the Dodds Medicine Co. Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

THE APPEAL OF ROME

Rome has always had an appeal to the world-traveller.

"This comes partly from its long and continuous history, and its significance to the civilization and the religion of the world," says the New York Times.. "Partly this is due to the beauty of its setting, celebrated in every literature of the world, and the fame of its ruins. But chiefly, perhaps, it springs from the fact that the very streets which Caesar, Rienzi and Garibaldi trod, which have echoed to the war-cries of the Vandals and the chantings of the Christian Church, may be traversed by any tourist today.

"With great ceremony this week the Fascist Government of Italy has celebrated the "2,684th" anniversary of the date when Romulus is said to have turned his plow into the earth of the Palatine to mark the course of the city wall. Authentic records prove that the computation of the age of the city is not far wrong. Fragments of temples and palaces dating from the fifth and sixth centuries B.C. have been found on the southern slope of the Palatine, where was placed the traditional "hut" of Romulus. Certainly seven or eight hundred years before the birth of Christ the little villages on the hills gathered themselves into a city and walled it for protection from all those tribes catalogued by Macaulay in the "Lays." From those walls, gradually and then rapidly expanding, the tides of history have rolled back and forth for nearly 3,000 years. Any event in the life of such a city, even an anniversary, sets the whole modern world to dreaming of man and the long and painful annals of his ascent from savagery.

"The thought of Rome-pride, Wanderlust in the hearts of the most home-keeping, its effect upon those who have cast their ha'penny in Trevi's Fountain is ever more impelling. To have watched the sunset from the Pincian Hill; to have climbed St. Peter's dome and looked away past Caligula's prefect's to San Angelo from which Benvenuto escaped—these are bright memories which ever demand renewing. Other cities have their appeal. The Egyptian has as much to so many. Our past, which the sands have covered so often, may still be read in the eternal streets of Rome."

PEARLS CAST BEFORE PEDESTRIANS

"The happy idea of a pavement artists' exhibition in London in May has drawn attention to the gems that often shine on the sidewalk," says the Christian Science Monitor. "H. C. Connell, the proprietor of the Albany Gallery, says, that having done away by pavement artists in London that is considerably above the level of the Royal Academy and he had the chance to see their work properly some of the men would be given commissions and put on their feet."

"Lionel Ellis, once a farm laborer, and then a pavement artist in Trafalgar Square, London, has recently been making preparations for an exhibition at Wembley. He received enough money from passers-by on his pavement to supplement his scholarship allowance of £60 a year.

"Then G. France made a bust of one of his comrades of the London Fire Brigade which was good enough to submit to the examining committee for the Royal Academy.

"All this is a superb illustration of the beauty that lives and persists in many humble places. The sidewalks are the lowest places in the street—and may be the highest.

"Art, endeavor, the ambition of men to surmount escapes, to Breast the blows of circumstance

And grasp the skirts of happy chance.

these are engaged in the urge for a pavement artists' exhibition.

"These men were willing to limn their gems on the dusted cement of the street. They were willing, for want of a higher easel, from lack of a more sumptuous salon, to cast their pearls before pedestrians.

"In the inspiring success of these pavement artists there is a reward for them and for the passers-by who, with the need of a few flung pence, helped them to rise on paving stones to higher things."

Belleville city council members and officials were present to welcome Cobourg council and officials on Tuesday when they were here to witness a demonstration of fire-fighting equipment. It would remove any sense of rivalry and undoubtedly help raise the interest in municipal politics. The problems facing those who govern a city are important problems and the ingenuity of various councils is good from the standpoint of goodwill and of knowledge of civics.

The cool spell of the past few days was a natural reaction to the summerlike weather of the first days of this week. The law of opposites rules in the weather as elsewhere.

With voting on the daylight saving measure to be set for May 18th the people have about three weeks for discussion of the issue, the vote deciding on two years whether or not the city will work under advanced time.

QUILTING TIME
By Aline Michaelis

How does it seem at the end of day
To the man who digs through the sand and clay
To the man whose pick strikes the stubborn rock
From early morning till five o'clock?

When the whistle blows and the gang is done
After long hours in tht winds and sun,
After the sweat and toil and grime,
How does life seem at quitting time?
Oh, it must be good, when his strength is spent,
His back is weary, his shoulders bent:
To trudge away to a waiting wife
And all of the other side of life!

The other side that spells peace and rest
And a good hot meal in his cosy nest,
With his paper to read and his babe on his knee
For the man whom five o'clock sets free!

A TINY BLAZE creeping up through a grating in front of business property in the business section Friday morning, indicated the trail of the careless smoker. A lighted cigarette had been dropped through the grating, inflammable rubbish swept into the grating caught fire and was blazing merrily when a passerby noticed it. Prompt confiagration with the possibility of a business block being destroyed. Fire Chief Lynch, upon being notified, extinguished the blaze with a pail of water and was careful to see that all vestige of fire had been obliterated before leaving it. This incident illuminated something that might not other wise have been noticed, that many of the sidewalk gratings in the business section, which some young men evidently think have been placed there as receptacles for live cigarette and cigar butts, are full of scrap paper and all kinds of inflammable rubbish —potential fire breeders. Let's all get careful, for a change, clean out these tinder boxes, and, if we smoke in public, extinguish our cigarette or cigar butts before throwing them into basement windows.

MOTOR MADNESS is a variant of spring fever, begins with the first fine weather of the spring season, expresses itself in more or less violent convulsions as time wears on, gradually wears itself out as the season advances, with occasional relapses until more or less complete sanity is reached in the fall. This is the season of the year when the young idea loves to shoot and there is considerable reckless motor car driving, particularly late at night—trying to see just what the old bus is good for, anyway. In the opinion of many citizens there should be a traffic officer appointed to look after city traffic exclusively, and the appointment should be made at once and continued for six months. The very fact that an officer is appointed serves to curb careless use upon the part of motor car drivers, and one or two police court convictions with attendant publicity helps to drive home the lesson that reckless driving does not pay and is not the part of good citizenship. Seems like this should receive the early consideration of the powers that be in the interest of the safety of all.

Other Papers' Opinions

NO "DOLE" FOR CANADA

Comment generally has been in approval of Premier Bennett's announcement that no government of which he was a member would ever enact legislation providing for noncontributory state unemployment insurance. The statement was made a few days ago at Ottawa in reply to the "demand" of a deputation representing the "Workers' Unity League of Canada, Red International of Labor Unions."

"We will not put a premium on idleness, and we will not put our people on the dole," the premier said.

Mr. Bennett added that the question of unemployment insurance was before the government, and that it was his hope something could be done about it. But if action were taken, it would be not a step to destroy men's self respect.

An unemployment insurance system with employers and workers contributing would be serious enough for this country to contemplate, because of the enormous state contributions involved. State unemployment insurance without contribution from labor would be unthinkable.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

WHEAT FOR NEW PRODUCTS

Wheat has become a grave problem for Canada as much as it has become other countries. We have more than we know what to do with and a new crop will soon be on the market. Hitherto it has been used almost exclusively as a food. Says Printers' Ink, a New York magazine, makes the suggestion that some organized work might develop from this grain a group of new products which would quickly use up any surplus and provide a steady demand for wheat. Following up this suggestion, the James Plate Corporation has made a few Canadian business men get together and take the matter up with the Dominion Government. Themselves organize a national wheat research laboratory and open a wide after field for wheat. Who knows what might be the result? Wheat as a regular beverage, or a cross with anothes grain forming a new cereal, or a new fuel element to improve the quality of gasoline. Wheat for fine dyes and various medicinal preparations have been evolved from the once despised corn. Wheat for beautiful rayon fabrics, from sloppy wood pulp. The list of developments and products out of wheat is not fantastic. The only wonder is that investigation has not already followed this direction. It is a subject that might well be taken up by the National Research Council in Ottawa or by the Canadian Wheat Pool.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

LEGAL AID FOR THE POOR

While the world views with repugnance the strife in Montreal, there is nevertheless a growing desire for justice to prevail with an offense secure fair play. Progress made in this direction in the past century has been phenomenal, but considerable room is left to grow. There has been an agitation in Ontario along at least two lines of further progress—the appointment of juries or other means of support for the family of a person killed and the appointment of a public defender for those unable to pay for legal assistance.

Magistrate James Edmund Jones, who has had exceptional means of studying the plight of prisoners in his long service on the local bench, and who is also noted for his broad humanitarianism, has contributed an article to the Canadian Bar Review for April on "Legal Aid for the Poor," in which he reviews recent progress in the matter and urges the Ontario Government to answer the appeal of 500 members of the Ontario Bar for action along this line. —Toronto Globe.

AT ROME

The celebrations in Rome were characteristic of the Mussolini dictatorship, patriotism being the keynote. New public works were got under way, some of architectural interest. Others had to do with the establishment of public gardens and the construction of model dwellings for the workers. New School were also begun and new streets opened. All these events were largely attended but the most important ceremonies were connected with the admission of new recruits to Fascism. Premier Mussolini himself appeared in the uniform of a corporal of the honorary Fascist militia and received a tremendous ovation at every appearance. Several thousand young people of this sort formally admitted into the ranks of the Fascist party and hundreds of juveniles were accepted as members of the Avanguardisti, the younger Fascist group, which is growing tremendously. Outside of Rome itself, similar celebrations marked the day, and it is reported that some 60,000 young Fascisti joined up, and some 100,000 of the younger element also. From these figures it would seem that the great mass of the 40,000,000 inhabitants of Italy is enlisted in the Fascist ranks. Mussolini remains the idol of the people, whose support of his policies increases in strength as the years pass. Each twelvemonth sees new members in the ranks and the children in the schools are being taught to accept Fascism as the only policy for Italy. In his address Mussolini emphasized: "I am desperately Italian. I believe in the function of Latinity." By his conduct of affairs he seems to have made Italy a Latin preserve.—Mussolini.—Montreal Gazette.

FOILED WIFE: "You—you—you fugitive from justice!"
—The Illustrated, London.

Love The Greatest of Good Gifts

Though abalt love the Lord thy God with all thy might, mind and strength and thy neighbor as thy self.

The ten Commandments in the 20th chap. of Exodus delivered to Moses were the essence of Christ on earth but the command given by Him, it is said by some to be the Eleventh Commandment, which comes our whole duty to God and man. Love is the fulfilling of the law.

Who is thy neighbor?

It is He whom thou hast power to aid and bless.

Whose aching heart and burning brow they soothing hand may press

Thy neighbor 'tis the fainting poor

Whose pining cry we hear—

Whose hunger sends from door to door, go thou and succor God!

And now abide's faith, hope, charity (love). These three, but the greatest of these is charity.

Love is the greatest of God's gifts and of the Christian virtues.

I don't think that we will require faith when we get to heaven. Before the throne of God we shall walk by sight and not by faith. Nor shall we need hope then as we shall have attained to the full measure of pure bliss. Faith and hope will be past, but love will still reign. There love is called the greatest. Love is from everlasting to everlasting.

Thou shalt love the Lord thy God and as we are taught in God's Holy Word is that He is love. He is eternal that love will exist throughout eternity.

The most powerful sermon Christ ever preached was His discourse to Nicodemus. In it are there have been more souls born again by reading the third chapter of St. John's Gospel than by reading any other chapter in the Bible, and that beautiful and wonderful sermon was preached to one man.

If we Christians have the same mind that Christ had not despising the day of small things but each one of us doing what we can to bring some one to the Saviour we shall see a great work accomplished.

Before finishing this letter I went to call the minds of those who read it, the short duration of life on earth. We have no lease on our lives here, and hope we read from Scripture that "Man's days are as the world without a moment's warning, prepared or unprepared, and of the duration of E ernity never ends. We should not be satisfied until we are sure that our names are written in the Lamb's book of life and that we be prepared to meet our God in peace, when it shall please Heaven above, whare Angels live and love.

Old London Streets Being Torn Down

By T. Walter Williams in New York Times.

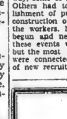
London, April 25—A mobile police force with small cars and motorcycles has been established in London and is creating terror among the speed maniacs who have taken to the habit of dashing through narrow streets regardless of the lives of the pedestrians. Many motorists have been dismissed for neglect of duty and this has made the members of the uniformed force keen to catch delinquents violating the speed limit.

The innovation of one-way streets has added to the perplexity of automobilists and taxicab drivers, who have to drive in certain areas and around at by police on point duty until they become bewildered and give up all hope of reaching their destination.

The struggle between the railways and the London County Council continues on in the courts over the right of way to the Strand. As it is argued it not pay the taxes or anything for the use of the streets. The smaller autobus companies have been forced to sell out to the big trade combines, which are putting on the coaches with 50-horsepower engines and can average forty-five miles an hour comfortably.

The traffic congestion is worse than it has ever been in the history of the British metropolis and, according to the records of the old City steamship lines, it is argued that the new ships that have been put into the Atlantic passenger trade have not developed travel in any way and have only taken the patrons away from on the other steamers.

The same thing is said about the 'tube' trains that are being put in London. The latest is the Dorchester House, one of the most up-to-date buildings of its kind in the world. The Atlantic passenger Railway has just bought a site in Piccadilly to erect a hotel along the lines of those operated through Canada from Quebec to Victoria, B.C., and have similar meals and service.



Building, indeed, is going on in every direction and old streets are being done away with to make room for the broad avenues that eventually are to go through London north, south, east and west. The Temple is one of the few places that remain untouched. Also Staple Inn, which was built in the fourteenth century, still stands with its quaint old black oak gate just by the old Tudor houses in Holborn whose tenants in those days stood at the windows and cheered Queen Elizabeth as she rode by on her white palfrey.

The sale of intoxicating liquors has dropped considerably this year and the public houses, or saloons, are not drawing the crowds they did a year ago. This is said to be due to the scarcity of money and the fact that people all over the world are drinking less than they did when times were good and beer was also good and cheap.

Perish, pale, restless and sickly children are the direct conditions, worms. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will relieve them and restore health.

LITTLE BENNY
By LEE PAPE

We was eating supper, mermee and me and pop, being unmarried and me not, and pop having made it special on account of me and pop both liking it better than all the other kinds put together. Being one of the best kinds mermee prize she ever made, with the lemmin part about 2 inches thick and the mermang part about 1 inch, a yard full of cheese and pop took a big hunk on his fork and ate it with a expression like he was going to heaven, saying, O boy I recommend this pie. I gess I will have a piece, I vootch for it and im highly in favor of it, he sed.

Thats the way I like to hear you carry on about my cooking, Willyum, ma sed. Thats the sort of praise that makes baking a pie seem an unadulterated plezure instead of an unmitigated duty. But look at Benny, my goodness he's hardly taken —his fernt bite and he's eating as though he was afraid every mouthful would be his last, she sed.

I dont blame him, pop sed. If I was his age and I had a piece of pie as marvellous as that Id try to make it last a week, he sed, and ma sed, I know, but-theres no use drawing it out to that extent, its paneful to watch. My hands hurry pie and eat it and enjoy it.

Put some animation into your appreciation, theres another slice waiting for you just as soon as you finish that one, she sed.

I think ive got a stummick ake, I sed.

Think, yee gods he thinks, pop sed, How can you think when it comes to such a subject, you either have or you havent, havent you?

Well, it feels like it but i dont wunt to make up my mind till I eat my pie, I sed. Ill finish my 2nd peece and then Ill decide, I sed, and ma sed, Yes, crazy thing youll do nothing of the kind.

And she quick took the rest of my first peece and put it on top of the mantlepeece, saying, Now, when youre all rite again you can eat your pie, she sed.

Me being glad of the relief of not having t oeat it in my condition, and I made ma put my 2nd peece up there with it, and she gave me some medicine and just before I went to bed I felt almost all better so I ate both peeces.

PREACHERS CHANGE MODE OF DRESS

LONDON, April 24.—(By the Canadian Press)— A Brighton preacher has just pointed out how the clergy are giving up the use of the clerical "dog-collar". Even the "customary suit of solemn black" has been discarded by many clerks in Holy Orders, except maybe upon Sundays and other days of special note.

Writer in The Manchester Guardian remarks upon how the cut of a clergyman's clothes at one time a pretty certain guide to his "color" as an ordained churchman. "The waistcoat which, like the collar, had its buttons fixed, was to severe Protestants an unmistakable 'mark of the beast.' While it was easy to recognize that the new dress was dangerously 'High' from his preference for the

Mr. F. C. Moffatt, was in Toronto yesterday attending a banquet at the Royal York.

Mr. Dave Waters who has been seriously ill at his home, Forin St., is recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Reid have returned to the city after spending the winter months in Miami, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Sanford and son Clifford, of Rochester, and Mrs. Egbert Vanallen of Adam's Basin, N.Y., have been called home owing to the illness of his father, Mr. R. A. Sanford.

Mrs. Quick and son of Belleville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hopwood this week when they attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah Hartshorn, — Peterborough Examiner.

Many attended the enjoyable euchre and dance held last evening in the Johnstone Academy. The prize-winners for cards were ladies first, Mrs. Vickers, second Mrs. Shaw, third, Mrs. Byrne; men's first, Mrs. Connor, second, Mr. Darrah and third, Mr. Lennon. Supper was served after which Benny Stewart's orchestra provided music for dancing.

Misses Phyllis Wilson and Naomi Anderson are spending the week-end with relatives in Bancroft.

Mr. Jack Thompson is in Bancroft for the week end.

Mrs. E. Ervine of 29 Grier Street, has returned home after visiting relatives and friends in Brown's Bow, Lincoln and Falls City, Nebraska. While there she attended the wedding of her brother, the Rev. T. Porter Bennett of Bruken Bow, to Miss M. Myres, of Falls City, Nebraska.

"On Monday afternoon of this week, Mrs. Angus Moveal of Windsor, Ont., entertained at tea in honor of Miss E. L. Moveat of Kingston, the guests being "Queen's Girls" of classes from 1906 to 1930. Most of them were "Residence Girls" and included, Mrs. G. L. Fraser (Laurie Reive), Mrs. R. O. Ross (Harriet Solmes), Miss Annie Hume, Mrs. James Quaill (Frances Cheney), Mrs. Landrieu (Dorcas Kelly), Miss Minerva Stothers, Mrs. W. M. Wright (Marjorie Hopkins), and Miss Eleanor Malone ville and Miss Jessie Fraser. Many reminiscences of old days were gone over notably the "Top Floor Ball."

Visitors to the auditorium of John Street United Church yesterday were delighted with the novel tea and sale arranged by members of the Church Help Society. The function was in the form of a Delicatessen Shop and Menu Tea. The former was arranged along the south wall of the hall and its tempting wares were in great demand be, the enthusiastic buyers. The delicatessen shop was divided into four sections each in charge of two conveners, who were white with gay little green caps. Green and white were used in decorating the shop, and cakes and sandwich fillings, dressings of all kinds were found in the first booth; the second was devoted to meats, jellied and arranged in dainty fashion. Stuffed chicken legs and boned roast chicken were novelties at this table, whose contents were announced by rolls of liverwurst and Brunswick sausage which were hung about it. Pies of delectable appearance and appetizing cakes were displayed in the other two booths. The tea room which was divided by a partition on which old brassware gleamed in the firelight was very dainty with its decorations of pink stocks. At the tea table Mrs. Robert Hall and Mrs. George Graham presided. Two supper parties had reservations for the evening, and all through guests were entertained. The conveners of the affair were Mrs. Jessie McCoy, Miss Templeton and Mrs. Dews who were assisted by members of the Society.

DAUGHTER OF BRITISH NEWSPAPER BARON WEDS

Miss Betty Hulton, daughter of the late Edward Hulton and Lady Hulton, is here seen cutting her wed ding cake following her marriage to Captain Greille Sierens, A.D.C. to the Governor of Malta. The late father of the bride was one of the strongest newspaper Barons in England prior to his death and he owned a string of newspapers in the North of England.

WEDDINGS

QUIRT—OLIPHANT

On Thursday afternoon at 2.30 at the Old Historic Moodie Cottage, Asher Cheney Grinion Quirt, druggist, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cheney Quirt, and Miss Helen Mae Oliphant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. John Oliphant, of Toronto, were united in the bonds of holy matrimony, by the Rev. Albert Geen, Mr. and Mrs. Quirt will reside for a time in the city.

HILL—MOORHEAD

A pretty little wedding took place at Christ Church on Saturday, When Miss Dorothy Ann Moorhead became the charming bride of Mr. Geo. Hill of Belleville. Miss Moorhead came to Canada some years ago from Ireland. Mr. Hill is a native of Hastings having lived here most of his life. The happy couple will take up their residence at the home of the groom, on West Bridge Street.

TORONTO CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC MIDSUMMER LOCAL EXAMINATIONS

The Toronto Conservatory of Music announces that the Midsummer Local Examinations for 1931 will be held throughout Canada in May, June and July next. Applications and fees from Ontario Candidates east of Sault Ste Marie should reach the Conservatory not later than May 15th, 1931.

Belleville music lovers will welcome the opportunity to hear again one of the city's favourite artists Gerald Deacon, son of Mr. W. B. Deacon. Eighteen months ago this singer gave a recital in the city and the audience was carried away with the beauty of his remarkable voice. On Monday, May 11th he will give a concert at the Collegiate Institute. Mr. Deacon has been studying under Edgar Schofield in New York and has been pursuing his studies in repertoire for the past year under the direction of Mr. Cimmara—assistant director of the Metropolitan Opera House. This summer Mr. Deacon will again sing at the Banff C.P.R. Hotel, his third year as soloist there.

Fashionably Speaking

Dear Readers:-

In purchasing washable gloves, it is advisable to see that they bear the manufacturer's guarantee as to washing qualities. Then they should be cleansed after each wearing, because embedded soil is difficult to remove. Before they are submitted to soap and water any rips or tears should be repaired so these will not be enlarged during the laundering process.

For cleaning, dissolve white soap flakes in hot water, then add cold water to make a thick lather. Cream suds that will last throughout the washing. With the gloves on the hands, rub the hands and the sudsy water together just as though washing the hands alone. Obstinate spots may require a hand brush, and this scrubbing does not affect some fabrics, though it roughs up some others. One should use judgment in this matter. If the water becomes very dirty, wash the gloves the second time in a second suds, then rinse them in clear luke warm water and remove the surface moisture by wiping as though drying the hands with a turkish towel.

Remove the gloves, now into them to pull the fingers into shape, drew them out flat lengthwise and dry in a current of air but away from excessive heat. 9 safety pin to hold the wrists together through buttonholes or some other place where pinning will not show, makes a convenient means of suspending the pair from a bar in the bathroom, if the work is done there.

Chamois gloves are apt to tear when subjected to this treatment, but they come out beautifully clean after being dried with the other clothes in the washing machine a few minutes. They should then be rinsed in clear water and dried in a towel. When they are thoroughly dry the rough head the fabric between the fingers to restore the appearance of the surface, then stretch the gloves out flat and smooth. Wash gloves may be washed and rinsed in a washing machine without any effort at all as they go through with the rest of the clothes.

If stitching or other trimming on a glove is likely to run and leave a streak on the fabric, stuff tissue paper or a dry wash cloth lightly into the glove to absorb the excess moisture, and dry quickly.

Fashionably yours,
Lucille.

TODAY'S VERSE

ONLY

Only a whisper glad
Out of the heart of the night—
But the darkness has faded to dawning
And the world is wrapped in light.

Only a lilting song
From the lips of a maid—
But the whole world has turned to sunrise,
And the desire of my heart is stayed.

WHEN CHILDREN CRY

CHILDREN often cry for no apparent reason. Many times we can't guess what is wrong. The crying may mean a touch of colic; the little bowels may be sluggish—or some other upset. It may mean any of the common little ailments that children suffer. To bring quick comfort to your little one, give a few drops of Castoria. Most upsets of children are soon soothed away by this pleasant-tasting remedy that children all love.

In five million modern homes, Castoria is a mother's first thought when a child is out of sorts, feverish, cross, doesn't eat right or sleep right. When bad breath, coated tongue, or languor tells of constipation. These five million wise mothers know that children should never be given stronger medicines meant for the fully developed systems of grown-ups. Castoria is gentle—safe, yet always thorough and effective for a child of any age. It may be given to the tiniest infant for any little upset. Watch for, look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on wrapper.

HORNSBY WAS BASEBALL HERO WITH 3 HOMERS

Chicago Manager Played Leading Role in Cubs' Victory

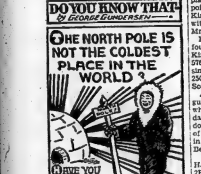
By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated press Sports Writer.)

The Major League pitchers have generally held the upper hand over baseball's batters so far this season, but in one sweep the fans have shown that the new "dead" ball is not so dead that it can't be hit hard and far.

Seven Major League games yesterday produced 15 home runs, well distributed among the competing teams, and many of additional extra-base hits. Rogers Hornsby, its lead and manager of the Chicago Cubs' slugging attack, was the star of the slugfest, driving out three circuit clouters and raised seams of the pellet used in the National League. He clouted three home runs in succession to pile the leading role in his team's 10-6 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

With one single to boot, these three homers, accounted for eight runs and tied the modern Major League record for homers in one game. The slugfest may be a fluke, made by Bob Lowe and Ed. Delehanty back in the '90's.

The home run hitting was distributed among nine clubs, three by Hornsby and two by Glen Wright of Brooklyn gave the National League spoil, which supposedly dead ball, 9-8 margin in the number hit. Wright's trade, one a homer by Del Bissonette and some fine pitching by Watson Clark, enabled the Robins to win their second game of the season, defeating the Boston Braves 7 to 1.



The Phillies and New York Giants put the first tie game of the season on record as darkness halted their clash after 10 innings with the score 7 to 7. Kept idle again by the weather, the St. Louis Cardinals found good news when Chick Hafey agreed to terms and led when it was learned an injury will keep centre fielder Taylor Douhlin out a week or more.

Al Simmons, whose failure to hit has retarded progress of the White Sox champion Philadelphia Athletics, broke loose to show the American League how to hit the ball.

Simmons connected for a homer and three singles to lead the A's to a 10-7 victory over Washington.

Red Ruffing combined pitching and hitting as the Ruth-less Yankees trounced the Boston Red Sox 7 to 4. Pitching alone still held sway in the two western circuits as Cincinnati bested Earl Whitehill gave the St. Louis Browns five hits, two on Cronin homers, in a route duel against Sammy Gray. Detroit whipped Cleveland 4 to 2. Willis Hudlin of Cleveland, pitched a four hit shutout against Chicago for eight innings and let up in the ninth to gain an 8 to 1 triumph. Altogether he gave seven hits.

One Took 'Em; Other Didn't

By HARDIN BURNLEY

Pugilism today affords few more striking contrasts than that between the present status and careers of Paul Berlenbach and Tommy Loughran, former light heavyweight champions of the world. Paul took 'em; Tommy didn't—that is, Berlenbach did not trouble much about avoiding blows; while Loughran knows nearly all there is about how to receive minimum punishment in a given bout. And in what has this contrast in ring styles resulted?

Well, today, Loughran appears as a formidable heavyweight contender despite his 1929 knockout by Jack Sharkey and that fact that he is real by a natural light heavy. Berlenbach on the other hand, is nearing a comeback after a three-year lay-off. Poor Paul's return to the ring recently was pitiful. A shambling hulk, battered less than three full rounds with him, but the 1931 "Berg" was a grim mockery of the 1924 "Astoria Assassin" who bore in and belted out scores of opponents before outpointing Mike McTigue for the title in 1925. A little more than a year later, Jack Delaney gave Berlenbach a whaling for fifteen rounds and thus "Punch 'em Paul" lost his crown. The decline was swift.

Some friends feared "Berly" was "all in" when he retired after 1928. He had not disgusted but he had earned plenty of leather and cash, as sport buys know, is not good for mental digestion.

In contrast, Loughran started professional boxing back in 1918, five years before Berlenbach gave up wrestling for the rewards of socking and being socked. He has engaged in about 130 regulation bouts, meeting all the light-heavy and, such talent as Gene Tunney (before Dempsey "forgot to duck"), tornadic Harry Greb, Bill Stribling and a sizeable array of genuine punchers. Tommy was the only one to stop Loughran, a few outpointed him, but Tommy always had the best of the field. He did not "take 'em" either; he had developed into a first-class defensive fighter. Which proves that "Berly" probably owe nearly the same amount of punishment that Paul absorbed in five.

A striking contrast, indeed — exactly that—but quite logical to all who know their boxing.

Leafs Scored Sixth Victory in Nine Games Yesterday

(By Associated Press)

The changes in the International League standing these early days of the season come almost too fast to follow, but the northern half of the circuit appears off to a good lead over its southern rivals as the champion Rochester Red Wings have toured the place they usually hold, only Baltimore can gain a place among the leaders.

Rochester brought its average back above the .500 mark after a sojourn in the second division by taking the first game of their series from Reading 8 to 4. The Red Wings now are tied with Montreal for fourth place with five victories and four defeats. Reading again did plenty of hitting but could not make the Rochester ingoal Carmen Hill.

Jersey City which has been up near the top, fell back into a tie with Newark as the nest rung on the ladder taking its fifth defeat of the season from Buffalo by outlasting match 13 to 8. Poor of the Skeeters pitchers were both weak and wild, allowing eleven free passes as may walks. Each team hit two homers.

Toronto continued to head the standing, scoring its sixth victory in nine games at Baltimore's expense. Frank Shaute, the Leafs' star pitching job for the Leafs, allowing only seven hits and losing a shutout on a homer by Bubbles Hogan. Another home run shoved Montreal down a peg as Newark won the league opener from the Royals 6 to 3. Outfielder Bell outslugged the Bears contribution when Joe Moore, a former Chicago Cub, made his first appearance for the Bears, clouted a homer in the sixth inning.

BERG IS BEATEN BY CANZONERI

Little Italian Whips Son of Britain to Scale New Heights

Chicago, Ill, April 25—(By William Braucher, Associated Press Sports Writer).—Tony Canzoneri, grinning Italian from New York, has scaled pugilistic heights never before attained by a little fighter.

Little Tony, a shoverder in the betting, last night fought one of the finest battles in the eventful career to wreck the drive of Jack (Kid) Berg of Great Britain, by a stunning knockout victory in the third round of their scheduled 10-round title bout on the Chicago stockyards.

The triumph over the gallant son of Queen Victoria restored Canzoneri's hold on the lightweight championship of the world, and gave Berg's junior welterweight crown to the Chicagoan's collection. Canzoneri, not considered more or less washed up after losing the featherweight title to Andre Routis of France, in 1929, surprised the flatic trade by blasting the lights-eight championship loose from Al Singer last November.

Before he climbed into the ring last night to tackle Berg, who had not met a reverse in twenty-six starts against ranking opposition, there was more talk that Canzoneri was washed up—just another has been. Berg, bold, almost mathematically perfect battle to emotionally ouclass the serious-faced Briton.

"BAWLS and STRIKES"

All eyes of the baseball fans in Eastern Ontario, are on the Central League meeting being held at the Y.M.C.A. today.

It is hoped that they may be able to see their way clear to operate this season, as it would be too bad to break up such a once powerful loop.

It is now up to every sporting fan in Belleville to get out and boost for daylight saving.

The Hastings County Junior League will meet in the Wellington library next Thursday evening; six teams are expected to be represented.

The Victorias, of the local Intermediate League, will hold their first practise at Pine St. diamond on Monday evening, at 6.30 p.m. All players are invited to try out.

Providing the nice weather keeps up the Seniors will be out to practise next week A number of new faces will be seen this season.

Did you know that Geo. Stokes, local Superintendent of the C.N.R., was a pitcher of no mean ability, about 30 years ago, when he was the pride of Western Ontario?

Question. At the end of the second innings the pitcher is sent to the penalty box, another pitcher replaces him on the mound. Can the first pitcher come back later, and act as pitcher in this game? Answer. Yes, as long as he remains as a player in the game.

The Central League used to be the strongest in the province, outside of the Intercollegiate. And it is no good reason why it shouldn't be again this year. There must be enough sporting men in Kingston and Cobourg to back a senior outfit in each town. Belleville and Peterborough will enter, all right.—Peterborough Examiner.

Something should be done by the O.B.A.A. to cities like Cobalwa and Kingston, such as not permitting them to operate intermediate team. Cobalwa's senior team was maintained. This is unless a very good reason could be advanced why it was impossible to enter a Central League outfit.—Peterborough Examiner.

Detroit baseball writers could not understand why Cantrell was not used after the excellent form he showed during the training siege.

Now that Cantrell, Barnes and Silvers will be with the Leafs Steve O'Neill is not likely to lose much time getting rid of some of his excess baggage.

When Walter Johnson was pitching for Washington in 1910 in a game against the Athletics, he brought the sedate Washington stands up in the most voluminous cheer in years when he sent three Athletic pinch hitters to the bench one after the other via the strike-out route.

Third Baseman Ossie Bluege, of the Washington Senators, considered one of the best fielding hot corner artists in the big leagues, and who has cherished for a long time an ambition to turn in a .300 batting average in the big show, hopes to realize such an accomplishment this season. "I have been well over the mark for stretches," says Bluege, "but have always fallen below it before the season closed. This year I hope to keep my batting figure up to the mark. A look at my first big league .300 figure when the 1931 averages are issued."

Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals has a way of his own in handling members of the press with newspapers, and the following is an example which is brought from the Sunny South, where the Cardinals hold their spring training:

"Has the prospective trade of Hafey for Klein progressed to any extent?" queried a scribe, of the boss of the famous Cardinal farm system.

"We have a great young player in Eddie Delker," replied Rickey. "How about trading Hafey to the Phillies for Delker?"

"Phoolie isn't a bad sort of a game, but I prefer bridge, and I like eventually to end there."

And thus ended what was intended to be a perfectly good interview.

Billy Hughes Well-Known Coach to Handle Tigers

Toronto, Ont., April 25 (By The Canadian Press) — Smashing line plungers and sensational interference plays may have won Hamilton Tigers a high percentage of football championships during the last five years, but next season the Jungle cats will adopt different tactics.

Recently the Tiger officials signed Billy Hughes, the well known Montreal mentor, as coach for the team and the big coast champions commence their gridiron campaign next fall.

Hughes has started strengthening the team already, according to reports from Alberta. For various centres, Mid winter rumors had it Ross would be found with a well known local football coach endeavoring to win the Intercollegiate crown for University of Western Ontario.

The Sport Eye Column

Contributed By FAIE PLAY
Boots and Fair Criticism

Here's one for the old-timers who played and watched the game 20 years ago, possibly not much present day conditions, but nevertheless enjoyed the old ball game just as well.

How many remember the famous St. Michael's pinches in Holton's Grove, when over 5,000 people used and were looked to, as one of Belleville's big field day's each year. When free carry-alls ran from downtown to the grounds for the convenience of those who wished to attend.

Well, one attraction that was booked as a headliner turned out to be all that could be expected. That was the O.T.R. Park Nine game, arranged by the energetic committee.

The day was August 11th, 1910. And as the boys fought hard to win on those picnic days—each team was bolstered with imports.

Letty McDonald and Wilder were the battery for Park Nine. Sullivan was the starting pitcher, and later on in the game for the O.T.R. when Saunder took up the burden.

After seventeen innings of great ball—which is not as one of the longest games we know of around here—the O.T.R. finally emerged victors in the 17th innings by a 5-4 score.

If I remember correctly—Shorty Frank had a lot to do with the victory, the winning run crossing the plate when Shorty laid down a bunt along third base line—Old Timers am I right on this?

In the game — O.T.R. scored twice in the second—Park Nine once in the same frame—Park Nine hung up 3 in the fourth and one in the eighth, O.T.R. added one each in the 6th and 7th. From the eighth on no scoring resulted until 17th, when O.T.R. scored the counter which meant so much.

What a boost for the class of ball played then.

No doubt Ladies' Softball players feel that the Sport Eye Column leaves little about them—but let me tell you, I have heard that a certain industrial team has been trailing practically every outstanding softball player in the city for the past three or four weeks. In fact so much so, that some of the players will begin to rate themselves as away above their ability.

This Club has been signing players on paper which does not mean a thing, as far as the league is concerned, but which more or less should be respected as a "verbal honor".

However—some of the young ladies in question have signed this paper—and then openly declare they do not intend to play with the team in question—which happens to be the Claco Club. Now these young ladies are only fooling themselves and are not being honorable about the matter.

These players may have to account for their actions before the League executive—and if President Harold Wookey is the big man of the game he will see that they are asked to explain.

Should the Bay of Quinte League operate—it will only be after Frontenac National holds the league leads or some new teams throw their hat in the ring. The popular Frontenac team is reported to be through. The Maple Leafs of the National Frontenac managers are sitting pat apparently not caring much about the league operating or not. It is up to the players themselves.

Another point in question will be whether the executive permit players to jump from one team to another, without obtaining a release from the team they performed for last season. How strong is President Ben Dafoe on this?

Monday night's council meeting will show the sporting Frontenacs who are their friends. The question is Daylight Saving vote or light

On the Sport Trail

Meet Barney Oldfield, famous race car driver of the world. He will be in Belleville on Monday and will be pleased to meet any who wish to be introduced. Barney Oldfield, a name to be conjured with when racing machines are mentioned, has had a long and varied career. At one time he was the champion of the world on both dirt and ball-up tracks, and held records that have only been beaten in the last few years. He has not escaped injuries and many times has been hurt but always he came back with a smile and another record to his long string. He was the winner of the Indianapolis 500 mile road race on two occasions, but his chief work was done on the dirt tracks around the country. Oldfield will not be here to talk about racing but any high-hat anyone will find Barney a regular fellow willing to listen his numerous adventures at the wheel of his flying car and the chances with death that he took.

Before this is read, the meeting of the C.O.B.L. will be past event and the outcome of that meeting is looked upon with doubt. It appears that Picton and Belleville are the only two cities ready for the starting with Oshawa and Kingston (the big little cities) sneaking right behind and afraid to face the music. It seems strange that there are not sufficient public-minded citizens and sport-loving followers in Kingston to induce a good team. Possibly Kingston does not want to step up with the faster class of team col-

BUSINESS IN FORCE EXCEEDS HALF BILLION

The monthly statement of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada shows that at the end of March business in force exceeded $501,000,000. A comparison of the returns on the first month of each year with those of 1930 reveals new paid business in the corresponding month practically last year's level, and that net lapses are slightly less this year than for the same period of 1930. There is also a noticeable drop in the rate of mortality of the Company.

RADIO CLUB IS LAUNCHED

Mr. John Dewer President Pro Tem at First Meeting

Bay of Quinte Radio Association was organized on Friday evening at a meeting of those interested in the formation of such a society held in the furthering of the interests of radio listeners in Belleville and district. Mr. John Dewar was chosen present pro tem and Walter Cleaver was voted pro tem secretary. Members are very enthusiastic over his function.

Mr. Dewar outlined the aims such a club might set out to achieve and objects of the local association were adopted as follows:—

1. To instal and operate a transmitter in a location situated in order to provide the listeners of the district with programmes of local interest and to broadcast local events.

2. To improve radio reception conditions generally.

3. To maintain a technical service for members.

4. To provide the community with a voice to express its opinions in matters pertaining to the broadcasting industries of Canada.

Broadcasting

The matter of broadcasting occupied considerable attention. It was felt that there was no necessity to write to the Radio Telegraph branch of the Department of Marine and make application to them in order to operate a broadcasting station within the limits of a 50 mile radius, and that a wave length of 250 metres, Mr. Hamilton Brown, Dominion Inspector there being sufficient equipment in Belleville and surrounding districts already here, owned largely by Mr. Reid. Mr. Brown said that the club the use of the station if a license can be obtained. Mr. Reynolds of Trenton was present.

Should an amateur license be secured from the Department this will allow broadcasting there will be, it is pointed out, no interference with other programs.

Mr. Dewer laid other objects before the association as the aims of the club should be.

The meetings adjourned after arrangements had been made to have several speakers present. It is planned to have a very large number of citizens.

OPEN HOUSE WILL BE HELD

Y.M.C.A. Plans Evening of Interest on Tuesday

On Tuesday evening next April 28th, the Young Men's Christian Association of Belleville will hold Open House. The citizens of Belleville, the contributors, members and their friends, are all extended a cordial invitation to visit the building between the hours of 7.30 and 9.30 in the evening and inspect the activities. The program will be in operation during this time. Basketball, boxing alleys, swimming tank, gymnasium, auditorium, lobby and game rooms will be demonstrated for the inspection.

The following Street Church Orderlies have been selected by the senior physical class and then team age girls will act as an exhibition basketball, playing boys rules. At 8.30 the married men's team will come to demonstrate to the single men that they in the single days were also capable to learn about the game of volleyball. Following the volleyball games the Bridge No. 2 Basketball team winners of the Church League will play against the all star aggregation picked from the other five teams. The line-up for the all star team will be composed of the following players: Dalrymple, Don Campbell, Leo Flagler, G. Scott, O. Wagner, B. Goodman, Ed Savage, G. Sinfield, W. McCreary, Zeke Tobe, A. McCreary, E. McMurrus and Dick Pollard.

In the Pool

At 8.30 the ladies will be seen in action in the swimming pool and during their half hour period an exhibition of life saving will be given by Mrs. Gordon Halvey. Those who were successful in passing their Royal Life Saving Society's Examinations during the year. Later in the evening the boys may be seen doing their stuff in the pool, when they demonstrate the life saving programme adopted as the Royal Life Swimming and Life Saving Programme of the Y.M.C.A.

YOUNG SWEDES DIED OF POISON

Pair Recently Liberated From Jail Drank Wood Alcohol

Cobalt, Ont., April 25—(CP)—Two young men, Swedes, who were released from the hospital here yesterday, allegedly as a result of drinking wood alcohol. They are Oscar Carlson, aged 34, and Isaac Erickson, aged 30. Both had been released two days earlier from jail at Haileybury, Ont., where they were sentenced on charges of breach of the Liquor Control Act.

A bottle of wood alcohol, sold in the form of perfume to Carlson, was traced to the vicinity of a boarding house where the men were seen. In this town, according to Inspector W. J. Mercer, at Provincial Police headquarters.

Carlson and Erickson were expelled to the United States shortly after they failed to respond to restorative methods applied by Dr. G. A. Schmidt.

MAY START PARK RESERVE IN NORTH

Orillia, Ont., April 25—(CP)—Some 25,000 acres of land in the township of Matchedash may be set aside as a park preserve, Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests of Ontario intimated last night, addressing a meeting in Coldwater, Ont., of municipal officials and councils of the townships of Orillia, Ora, Medonte, Tay, Tiny and Matchedash. The portion to which he referred has a shore line of about 70 miles on the severn river and Gloucester Pool.

Glasgow, Scotland, has a campaign against women smoking in theatres. Statement of best sugar in Lithuania.

The Star and the Director

MARLENE DIETRICH, exotic Paramount star who came to Hollywood from Europe a little over a year ago and immediately achieved fame in America, is shown above with Josef von Sternberg, the director of her most recent talkie, "Dishonored," which comes to the BELLE theatre on Monday and Tuesday, matinee daily.

Von Sternberg is generally credited with having "discovered" Miles Dietrich when searching Berlin's stage for a leading woman for Emil Jannings' "The Blue Angel." After that picture was completed, Miss Dietrich appeared in the Hollywood-made film "Morocco," with Gary Cooper. Von Sternberg has directed all three of her pictures.

Pratt-Fed Chicks
—the Future Egg-Makers of Canada

The average loss of Baby Chicks is 50%. This is unnecessary and poultrymen should adopt the practical way of saving 90 to 100% of their Baby Chicks by feeding them exclusively on PRATTS BABY CHICK FOOD in troughs or feeders keeping it before them all the time. Whether you want broilers or egg layers PRATTS BABY CHICK FOOD is your surest guarantee that you will get full grown birds with the desired capacities.

Pratts
Baby Chick Food

contains the essential vitamines and the minerals and vegetables proteins in the proportions maximized growth, with full development of size and vigor. PRATTS BABY CHICK FOOD contains dried buttermilk, a preventative of rickets. Dried buttermilk is also a tonic and appetizer. Cod liver oil helps build bone. There is also iodine in poultry. Your start the chicks on PRATTS BABY CHICK FOOD. It is a balanced ration to maximize against chick losses, a profit maker in raising the finest of farmers' flocks.

Read This Extract

From a specialist's advice in a recent poultry paper:—"Two ounces per a feed too good for young chicks, or your egg yield will depend greatly on how your pullets are developed. The highest priced chicks feed in the market will cost you only about 10c a chick up to eight weeks of age."

PRATTS POULTRY PREPARATIONS are sold on most Canadian dealers. If there is no dealer near you, write direct for prices. We ship from 100 lbs. to one ton, freight paid to your railway station. We will send sample order, 5 lbs. to any place in Ontario for 75c; in Quebec, 85c.

Just Playing Around

BY LEWIS ALLEN BROWNE

Should I have been grateful when wealthy and artistocratic Thad Parsons, admitting his mistake in marrying Arline Sargent, informed me that he would divorce her and then marry me?

Perhaps I should have felt a glow of happiness. After all, Thad did love me best and I knew it. He had been tricked into marrying Arline, as he explained, and now, only six months a bride, she was named as co-respondent in a sensational divorce case.

But somehow I wasn't grateful at all. It wasn't because Thad had broke on my heart, I knew by this time that it had never been true love on my part. But Thad did break my pride. While my kindler judgment was to forgive and be sorry for him, the other side of me seemed to still be bitter.

"Didn't you hear me dear?" Thad asked as I remained silent while thinking this over.

His chauffeur was driving slowly around the winding serpbah in the park.

"I said that I intend to divorce Arline at once and then I shall marry you."

NO SURPRISE

He pressed my hand but I did not return the pressure.

"Now isn't that sweet of you!" I finally answered.

Poor Thad! He recognized the tone of sarcasm in my voice.

"I've explained how I felt duty bound to marry Arline, you must know that I loved you, and you alone," he pleaded.

"Who could doubt it, Thad," I cried heatedly, "you loved me so much and only that you had to be snobbish, reckless and even worse sort of girl, aside you into marrying her. The——"

"But dearest...."

"Just a minute, Thad. The biggest laugh that was ever handed me was when you told me how Arline fascinated she was compromised! Wasn't that just too funny! I laughed bitterly.

"You speak as if you knew something about her."

"Here's the Lawlor case. Believe me, it didn't surprise me."

"Then you had seen things before ....you knew about her affair with Curt!"

"One week-end at the Lawlor's was enough for that." I told him and then I would say no more.

"I take it," he said, "that I am not hob forgiven....that you would never, me when I am free."

"No, Thad, I won't marry you. After we were married you might be out with some other girl in a few days and get stuck on a reel at low tide. That would compromise her and you'd have to divorce her and marry her."

"I didn't know you could be so bitter, Katie."

"I didn't know you could be such a fool, Thad. You didn't have to marry Arline. You were simply afraid your swell friends would look askance at you because you married a working girl, a dress model."

"Perhaps time will heal your bitterness, Katie, and change your mind. Meanwhile I shall divorce Arline and wait and hope. At least we aren't enemies."

THAD KISSES HER

"Never. I wouldn't have accepted those proposals if I hadn't still felt friendly toward you."

"Thad," he called and then to his chauffeur, "drive back, please and then to the club."

"So you have moved to the club, have you?"

"Naturally."

Just as the car was stopping in front of the apartment block Thad kissed me. I didn't resist and I certainly didn't cling to him and return the kisses. I thought, at the time that my lips knew were stained like those of Forrest Malvern, decidedly intense.

Viola was all eagerness when I came in, to hear about it. I had left of the previous proposal of marriage from a married man, and of my refusal.

"Hot Pancoka, Katie." Viola cried, clapping me on the back with a hearty thud, "you are all right—like your spunk!"

Two nights later Susie Lawlor called on me.

The moment I saw her at the door I wanted to slam the door and tell her to keep away. I knew what she was after.

I also knew that I had made a great mistake telling Thad Parsons that I had "seen things" between his wife and Curt Lawlor when I was at the Lawlor place for a week end. That was before Arline tricked Thad into marriage.

I couldn't be rude. I took her in. After a little chat she asked about Viola. I told her she was out with a friend.

"You know why I came Katie," she finally said.

"I can guess, and I can guess who sent you. You didn't know my address. Thad Parsons has been talking with you."

Susie nodded. If I expected to see her forlorn and hurt I was very much mistaken. If I expected her to be bitter with Arline, that was another mistake.

ASKED TO BE A WITNESS

"Arline did me a good turn, the little fool. It was a mistake, my dear Curt, but I was happy and we decided to stick it out, until this came up. What you and I can place we're plenty. I want you to be a witness for me, Katie."

"You know that I don't want to do that," I protested.

"I thought you would be willing to help me."

"Blandly, yes. But think how it would look—everyone knows that Curt was going with you and you were crazy about each other. Everyone will say that I testified against my wife gladly to get even with him."

"Oh, no they wouldn't, my dear. They would say that you did it to help Thad—he's left her already. He'll get his divorce."

"Then they'll say worse things. They don't mind if I am trying to help frame his wife so as to get him—your husband's smart lawyer will see that and make a big point of it," I argued.

Susie Lawlor seemed startled at this phase of the situation.

"I'll talk to my lawyer about it, Katie. I never thought of that. I don't actually need your testimony. I've got the goods on both of them. I wanted to show that I was long suffering and patient for a long while, knowing what was going on."

"Then if you don't actually need me I surely won't testify. I can always say that I don't remember or that I simply saw them walking together on the beach or sitting chatting in the arbor—and there is nothing in that to help you," I declared.

Susie Lawlor agreed and we parted good friends.

"Imagine you and Thad will marry, sometime!" she asked at the door.

"Never, Susie, never," I assured her.

I had been right about it. Susie telephoned me soon after this, when I was at work.

A COMPLIMENT

"Katie, you're right, my dear. My lawyer says you were bright to think as you did at this point and that you testified against Arline it could be made to appear like an attempt at a frame up," she said.

No fake danger was over and I was thankful.

Viola changed her mind and decided that she would testify if Susie Lawlor needed her.

"Go to it, dear Katie," was my comment, and Viola did visit Susie Lawlor about it. She said later that she had any reason to frame Arline. It was decided that they might bet her testimony.

Dear Ira Chubb agreed that I was lucky to get out of the mess.

And so did Forrest Malvern when a few nights later, we went to see a show and then to a night club for some dancing. It was during that night I could stay out until all hours.

To my surprise I saw Arline at the show. She had a girl with her and I didn't know the girl.

"Tis dollars to cigarette coupons," Forrest said. "that those two will meet a couple of Johns after the show and go places."

"She wouldn't dare, with this Lawlor case coming up so soon," I ventured.

"She has nothing to lose, Katie—she knows she is in for it and that Thad is through with her," he argued.

After the show, while we were waiting for Forrest's car, we looked every where to see if Arline and her friend had left the theatre. They did not, but got into a taxi almost right ahead of us. I stared at Arline, but if she had recognized me she never looked my way.

Forrest took me uptown to meet some of his friends and around 2 o'clock we went to a certain night club that I had never heard of or read about.

A BRAZEN SHOW

The show they were putting on when the head waiter took us to the table Forrest had reserved was certainly the most brazen thing I ever saw both for nudity and questionable songs.

Forrest danced with me three times before ordering. When the champagne was brought and he tasted it he made an awful grimace.

"I'll see Rosa, he's the manager—they've got good stuff and should have given it to me," he complained.

How It Happened

IT'S ALWAYS TOUGHEST — PEACETIME JOB!

A CHAP TOO HALF LONG... WOULD BE HELPED TO HIS FEET BY A FRIENDLY SHOULDER... THE FRIEND PUSHED, THE CHAP FELL BACK... GEORGE SPROT, MAKING CONVERSATION WITH HIS NEIGHBOR, HAD NO IDEA THAT HE WAS HELPING TO PUSH A CHAP DOWN AND OUT!

GEORGE SPROT, MAKING CONVERSATION WITH HIS NEIGHBOR, HAD NO IDEA THAT HE WAS HELPING TO PUSH A CHAP DOWN AND OUT!

I was sitting there, watching the dancers when I felt a hand on my shoulder. The hand pinched, the nails cut in. I turned in alarm and found myself staring up at Fanny Dutton. Her eyes were glaring and at the same time red with too much drink. Her face was flushed and she certainly looked as though she would love nothing better than to strangle me right there.

"You cheap little skate," she cried, "you lay off my man or I'll tell you!"

She backed up and grasped the wrist of her hand that was clutching my other shoulder so painfully, and gave it a sharp twist.

Fanny Dutton uttered a little gasp of pain.

I looked up and smiled at her as I didn't want a scene. Then I moved a chair over and told her to sit down. Her face became her wrist until she did sit down.

"You did what I said," she muttered. "Forrest belongs to me. There was a little too much of you, you have taken him away from me. I'll get him back."

I suppose the cheap little skate doesn't intend to do anything of the sort?" I asked.

"You'll be sorry—he's just playing with you," she said, fiercely.

"I love to play around," I assured her.

Fanny Dutton leaned over to me and her anger seemed to have departed for the moment. There was something rather pitoous in her expression.

"You've heard of the girl Polly, haven't you?" She first keeps him smiling with her laughter and then annoys us with her sobbing. Is that clear to you?"

"Quite clear, only my name isn't Polly." I told her that so long as he wants to take me places I am going to do my part," I declared.

Susie Lawlor agreed and we parted good friends.

"Imagine you and Thad will marry, sometime!" she asked at the door.

"Never, Susie, never," I assured her.

I had been right about it. Susie telephoned me soon after this, when I was at work.

never have been, any man's mistress. Suppose you sit here until Forrest comes back and let him decide this, and, furthermore, if you insult me again or lay your hands on me I'll slap your ears down so hard you won't pry 'em up with a crowbar! Is that clear to you?"

"You'll be sorry," she muttered, and before I could stop her she rose and hurried away. I looked around and caught sight of Forrest on the opposite side. He had been talking and stood stock still, staring in surprise. Then he hurried over to me.

"Did she talk with you?" he asked. He seemed somewhat agitated.

"Oh, yes," I answered.

He looked around the room as if trying to see where she went and then sat down close to me.

"Did she annoy you, Katie?"

She wasn't very entertaining at first.

"Don't mind her, please. Fanny takes a little too much at times when she does she is disagreeable."

"Oh, let's forget it," I pleaded.

The waiter came out with the new champagne. Forrest seemed disturbed. He was usually so serene and pleasant that I noticed this. After one glass was opened he asked me what she said. I told him that he had asked me that once before, and to change the subject, but he knew better, and insisted.

NO LAUGHING MATTER

"The little lady insisted that you belonged to her and that I was to keep away or else I would meet some terrible fate—she hinted that either she would annihilate me or you would do much worse."

"The little cat—I wish she would drink. Forget it, Fanny will leave and apologize the next time she sees you."

I knew better. Liquor or no liquor, Fanny was serious about Forrest Malvern. Evidently she didn't want to play around with anyone else, and she didn't propose to have anyone else play around with Forrest.

I didn't see the girl again that evening, and after a while Forrest was his old gay self and I had had a dandy time, and I thoroughly enjoyed it.

Things went on like this for quite a while. Every now and then Aunty Osmund would ask me if I had arranged a date for some marrying him, and always I told him that it was too early—to wait a year.

We had parties of a dozen or more guests up in Forrest's bachelor home in the big cottage-like place on the roof of the apartment block. I learned that this block belonged to him, along with a number of others. His wealth evidently wasn't all tied up in his General Utilities Corporation.

The Lawlor affair was dead, didn't create such a splurge as I expected because some other big news had broken in the papers. But Susie won her divorce without the least trouble and also big alimony from Curt.

Susie came to me after the divorce was final. Curt had asked her to call, but she would never admit it.

"My dear," she said, "in winning my divorce from Curt I thought that Thad will have no trouble at all. Proving his wife's guilt in my suit is the proof that he is guilty of his own divorce."

"That's good, but it would have been better if Thad hadn't been such a fool as to marry her," I said.

"You ought to be good to Thad; he loves you, Katie."

"He had one swell way of proving it when he married Arline, and let's forget it."

PLANNING TO GO ABROAD

Susie sighed and dropped the subject. It was agreed that she was to get the Long Island place, along with her settlement for her court expenses, and then a lump sum instead of alimony instalments.

She was planning to go abroad and have a gay time. I certainly envied her, for she had forced a fortune out of Curt, and she had plenty in her own name. She was free as a bird and could play around to her heart's content.

By this time it was mid-Summer, or almost. I wanted to go somewhere on a vacation. I had never been away on a real one of two or more weeks. Viola wanted to visit her people up State, and I disliked to go alone.

We had saved plenty of money, aside from the $200 Mrs. Mirers had given us for our work at the fashion show. More than that, good Mrs. Mirers promised to let me take all the newest sport suits and other gowns that I needed out of the sample stock. But it wouldn't look exactly right for me to go alone. Finally we decided that I would visit Viola's people up on the farm for a week and rest up, then she would go to some resort with me for two weeks.

Chubb Command was off somewhere on a friend's yacht. Forrest Malvern had gone to Bar Harbor, where he had a Summer place on a little island. He had shown me the picture of it and when the time came he had ever made a hint at the time that it would be wonderful if he and I could have a vacation there together.

I had answered, "Certainly—if we have a minister first."

He had laughed as if he considered this a joke.

While Viola and I were in the throes of planning the marvelous vacation that we would have no other person that Arline Parsons, Forrest Malvern.

ARLINE CALLS

She wanted to see me on an important matter and would I come to her or would she come to me? I was going to forget it, but my curiosity got the best of me. I sent her a cold little note to the effect that if any traveling was done she would do it. Then Arline visited me.

She was mighty swell in her imported clothes, but as that she had a distinctly vertical look.

"The fact that you didn't butt into the Lawlor case showed some nerve, I'll say, and I admire you for it," I said.

"I wasn't interested," I assured her.

"Thad is going to try to divorce me."

"It won't be much of an effort, from all I hear and know," I said.

"Then you refuse?"

"Not in a million years," I assured her.

KENYA SUFFERING FROM DEPRESSION

NAIROBI, Kenya, April 25.—(By the Canadian Press)—Confronted with the necessity of the reduction of expenditure of at least $980,000, the Government of Kenya is overhauling departmental expenditure with the object of reducing it by that amount, the first which was begun by the acting Governor, who has been acting since Sir Joseph Byrne, the new Governor, in consultation with the department heads. The railway rates have been and are also $2,180,000 below the revenue collected in 1929, and the economy campaign is proceeding in these services. The general manager announces a curtailment of the train and lake steamer services and staff, the retrenchment representing a reduction of $1,150,000 in current expenditure.

Douglas' Egyptian Liniment is recommended for sore necks, galls, distemper, sallosses and spavin. Removes proud flesh and Hoof Rot. Stops bleeding instantly.

Custom Built Richness at Volume Prices

The new Willys-Knight is an exceptionally powerful car, very fast, remarkably active. And those beauties so conspicuous, even among the most beautifully designed cars . . . whose appointments and fitments and trimmings rank in richness, in luxury, in comfort, with that which the world's finest cars afford.

This distinctive car gives you the same type of powerplant used in the leading cars of Europe—the Belgian Minerva, the French Panhard and Voisin, the British Daimler-Knight—cars owned and driven by the King of England, the Prince of Wales, the Kings of Belgium and Spain and half the notables of Continental Europe.

The new 58½ inch tread gives plenty of room for three full-sized ones on the wider rear seat. Plenty of room for six-footers to stretch out their legs. The front seat is adjustable, and the back of the seat may be inclined at the angle that suits you best. At the center of steering wheel, Finger-Tip Control—one button which operates starter, lights and horn. Extra silent, and has pedal pressure, with new duo-servo internal expanding four-wheel brakes. Four hydraulic shock eliminators and longer, more flexible springs. Top speed of 80 miles an hour; second gear speed as high as 50.

And due to increased production and decreased cost of manufacture, you enjoy impressive savings—as much as $800 compared to last year's similar types.

MAGISTRATE IS AN INCORRIGIBLE TRAMP

LONDON, April 24.—(By The Canadian Press)— T. A. Edwards, by his own avowal an incorrigible tramp though a magistrate and county councillor, told the Manchester Geographical Society that walking in the sense of setting out at summer sunset and continuing to right fall was not becoming a lost art. His own longest continuous trek was one of 94 miles, but that was undertaken through the night, which was the time he usually put in walking. His shortest walk was one of about four yards across a bank over a yawning mine shaft in South Africa. It was the one he would not repeat. Once he covered 11 miles along the Equator in three hours

WIFE OF NEW ARCHBISHOP A REAL PARTNER

Wife of Archbishop of Yukon Went North 35 Years Ago

TORONTO, Ont. April 24—(By the Canadian Press)— Women in many parts of Canada rejoiced with Mrs. T. O. Stringer when announcement was made last week that her husband, Bishop of the Yukon, had been elected Archbishop of Rupert's Land. For Mrs. Stringer occupies a place of her own in the life of her country and is loved and admired by women of many creeds.

When Isaac Stringer resolved to go as a missionary to Herschel Island, the young girl to whom he was engaged to be married, proved then that she possessed courage, and wisdom. While he made his first perilous journey into that remote country where remote 40 years ago that island was—she prepared herself to be a real helpmate by studying nursing at Grace Hospital in Toronto, then taking some deaconess training. They were married on March 10, 1896, and two months later started on the three months' trip north.

On reaching Herschel Island they made a home for a one-roomed log house. They had taken a writing desk, stored in Victoria, to transport it more easily, some pictures and personal belongings, and there their magnificent work of preaching and teaching started. Mr. Stringer held services day by day, and when they opened a night school for the Eskimo Mrs. Stringer taught two of them shorthand.

In 1901 Mr. and Mrs. Stringer and the two children born in the Arctic came down to Dawson City. There in a whaler around Alaska, through the Behring Straits, and down to San Francisco in 1902 they went back to White Horse, in the Yukon, which seemed to them like a metropolis. Later they were ordered to Car cross, where in 1920 Mr. Stringer was made Bishop of Yukon.

Mrs. Stringer has had many thrilling adventures. She is the only white woman who has walked across the Chilkoot Pass from the Yukon side to the McKenzie side, at the head of the Dawson Trail. She has established this fact in 1924, she accompanied her husband in 1927 on a 1,000-mile cruise on a Hudson Bay steamer without a proper account of the Arctic coast, when they established a mission at Coppermine Bay. She carried on that with her husband was away at the war.

The oldest convocation of which any contemporary note survives, was the coronation of the Ethiopian King Angabit, about 600 B.C.

RADIO FANS CORNER

Reception was certainly very good last night, a slight fading that's all but we won't go into that. Absolutely no trouble at all unless it was on the programs we wanted and it will likely be the last time we'll be able to say that for awhile, at least until we get used to this Daylight Saving time on the networks.

Same station at 6.30 and at 7.15 the Jesters, Pep, Vim and Vigour, Raymond Knight announces for the Cuticco program at 10 o'clock from WJZ and the Sisters of the Skillet do their own announcing at 11.30. Phil Spitalny is heard at midnight.

The German Madrigal Choir that is touring the States at the present time will be on the air from WEAF tomorrow morning, 10 our time, eastern standard. Moonshine and Honeysuckle, that Kentucky radio serial that has such a large following will be on WEAF at 2 o'clock EST tomorrow afternoon.

Maurice Chevalier will be heard an hour earlier too which means 7 o'clock. Seth Parker will be heard earlier at 9.45 WEAF. The Colliers' radio hour is on the air at 7.15 from WJZ now and a real Tango orchestra at 10.30. Think you can get through the day all right without missing one of your favorites?

Earl Musselman, the 22 year old Allentown, Pa., youth who has just recovered his eyesight after having been blind since birth tells us his impressions of this wonderful world of ours. His impressions and adventures as amazing as the operation performed by Dr. G. H. Moore who gave Earl back his sight by creating a false pupil for his left eye. A WJZ network will handle the broadcast at 7.15 EST and it will continue until 8.15 EST.

Tonight will be our last chance to tune in on the programs without going through a lot of mental gymnastics first to figure out the proper time the program is on the air so you'll know not it my friends. If you want to hear a good saxophone quartet and piano duo tune in on WJZ tonight promptly at 8.15 and I'll guarantee you'll be satisfied.

Uncle Abe and David are scheduled for 6.45 WEAF tonight and at 7.30 Ted Lewis and his Musical Clowns which means peppy entertainment for us all. Weber and Fields at 8 and the Varieties at 8.15, on Sammy Herman though, too bad.

Silver Flute at 8.30 and Walter Damrosch and Floyd Gibbons take turns in the Mike at 9. B. A. Rolfe at ten o'clock and Lanny Ross at 11. At 11.45 We'll be all ears for Little Jack Little to catch the first notes of the "Glow Worm" and at midnight Rudy Vallee is heard with orchestra (?).

Covering a ground area of 570 by 360 feet, a windowless factory will be erected in Massachusetts City, elaborate lighting and ventilating systems being provided.

FRED W. SMYTHE NEW PRESIDENT LOCAL V. O. N.

Over Two Thousand Visits Made by Local Nurses

At the Y.M.C.A. last evening the annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses Committee, was held with the retiring President, E. S. Fahey, in the chair. Reports for the year showed increased activities in all branches of Victorian Order work.

Miss Grover gave the nurse's report for the year which follows:

Nurse's Report

"I have much pleasure in presenting the sixth annual report of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Belleville.

"During the year 1930, 440 patients were nursed, requiring 2,080 visits. Of these visits, 329 were free. In 1929 there were only 172 free visits—the increased number for 1930 being due of course to the lack of employment this past year. It was encouraging to note that in spite of the hard times the patients made an effort to pay what they could for the service of the nurses.

"There were 1,173 welfare visits made in 1930; 287 were to children under six for instruction in regarding diet, fresh air, rest, etc.

"There were 32 Well Baby Conferences held during the year, with a total attendance of 1,504 infants and pre-school age children. The interest the mothers take in the conference and their good attendance even in bad weather shows that the clinic work is appreciated by them and we feel that they have received much benefit from it during the years it has held its weekly meeting.

"There were 300 pre-natal visits made to 130 and 83 maternity cases received 629 visits.

"There were 42 visits made to Canniffon School, 47 defects corrected, and 64 visits were made to the homes of school children. It is encouraging to note the interest the teachers and pupils take in the Health work and carried on by the nurses, and we feel that the nurse should really do help to improve the health of the pupils. The teachers conduct Junior Red Cross classes which are very interesting.

"A baby clinic is held every second week at the school, where the mothers of the community may bring their babies to be weighed and can consult the nurses regarding their care.

"In April the girls in the senior class of the school are putting on a play showing the work of the Home Nursing class, and the senior boys are giving a bandaging demonstration.

"Total collections for the year were $1,585.75 including $807.50 in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Fees.

"The car has given splendid service and has been of untold value in energy and time saving.

"I would like to express my thanks to Miss Sinclair and our Ottawa office for the unfailing advice and encouragement; to the supervisor, Miss Percy for her helpful visits; to Dr. Crotit, Medical Officer of Health, and to the other doctors of Belleville for their co-operation and courtesy at all times; to the Hospital for sterilizing our surgical supplies; to Mr. Holmes and his staff for their efficient attention to our telephone calls; and also to all those of the communities who have helped us to carry on the Victorian Order work in Belleville; to the Kiwanis club of Belleville due to whose constant help and support we are able to continue our work—the car, as I have said, being invaluable to us in accomplishing our many visits, and it is one of the evidences of the practical help of the Kiwanis Club.

"We often wish that members of the Kiwanis and of our committee could be with us on our rounds so that they could really know how much the work of the visiting nurse means to the community in restoring and teaching Health.

"We feel sure that they would consider their time and energy well spent in providing this service for Belleville.

"All of which is respectfully submitted,

"(Signed) Louise Grover."

The splendid work of the nurses, Miss Louise Grover, nurse-in-charge, and Miss Germaine Dumais, assistant, was highly commended and Miss Grover's report was received with great praise.

Miss Ethel Horton read the financial report which showed that the committee closed the year with a balance on hand.

The following report of the nominating committee read by J. W. Inlah was unanimously adopted:

Past President—E. S. Fahey.

President—F. W. Smythe.

1st Vice President—Miss Ethel Horton.

2nd Vice President—Miss Pearl Campbell.

Secretary—Miss Agnes Gallagher.

Treasurer—Miss Phoebe Donaldson

Committee—Mrs. Anna Hurley, Mrs. Thos. Holland, Dr. J. W. Kinnear, Miss F. McIndoe, W. I. Cole, J. W. Inlah, W. MacLaurin, O. F. Cole, G. H. Griffin.

LAWN BOWLERS LAY PLANS FOR THE SEASON

George Woodley is Chosen as New President

Last evening the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club held their annual meeting. It was the most successful that has ever been held by the club, as nearly all members were present. After the reading of the minutes the following officers were elected: Hon. Pres. Chas. Sulman, Pres., Geo. T. Woodley, Vice-Pres., John Houston, Sec. Treas., W. Walsh. The club expect a banner season, as this ever popular game is growing more popular each season with the younger set in Belleville. It is expected that the bowling greens will be ready for service about the middle of May, as the grounds-keeper is busy getting them in first class trim at present. The annual tournament will be held as usual about the middle of June, unless tournament will not be held until the middle of August. The Belleville Lawn Bowling Club extend an invitation to any who wish to become members.

CHANCELLOR SNOWDEN BRINGS DOWN BUDGET

BRITAIN MEETS DEFICIT BY NON-RECURRENT REVENUE AND BY TEMPORARY EXPEDIENTS

Revenue Tariff Rejected by Chancellor Snowden

LIQUOR SALES DROP

Appropriation of Hundred Million Made From Exchange Account

London, April 27 (AP)—Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of Great Britain, brought down this afternoon in the House of Commons the 1931-32 budget which shows just how the nation's finances stand.

Mrs. Snowden kept an eye on him from the ladies' gallery high above the Speaker's chair and near her was a doctor and nurse, for the "Iron Chancellor" is a sick man. Only a few days ago he underwent a serious operation.

Looks Well

Prolonged applause from the Government benches and sympathetic cheers from the opposition greeted him as he began to speak.

The Chancellor who was looking remarkably well for a man just through a siege of sickness, began in good voice. He foreshadowed one undesirable development, however, during the coming year. Provisions during the year, he said, on the present basis, for last year's deficiency, the total of £23,278,000 (approximately $116,390,000) in ordinary sources.

Stock Exchange Recovery

Mr. Snowden told the House that he looked for some recovery in stock exchange values during the year.

The Chancellor estimates the yield of revenue for the year on Philip Snowden's rejected tax-taxation, at £778,000,000 (about $3,890,000,000).

The estimated expenditure for the coming year is £803,000,000 (approximately $4,015,000,000), leaving a gap of £37,000,000 ($186,830,000) to be filled.

This estimated deficit on the existing law, Mr. Snowden included £14,000,000 for debt redemption and £10,000,000 for transitional unemployment benefits.

The Chancellor said he intended to introduce a small tax on motors. He added that it would be necessary for the Government to prove to the assistance of the road funds to meet the cost of schemes for unemployment. Provision would be made to enable loans to be raised for this purpose.

Rejects Tariff Proposal

Mr. Snowden said he rejected the revenue tariff proposal as a means of obtaining additional revenue need at.

This, he declared, was a method of relieving the rich at the expense of the poor. It amounted to an indirect attack on wages if shall never be a party to any such thing as that," he said.

He indicated that he would meet the deficit by means of non-recurrent revenue and temporary expedients. The increase made in standard rate of income tax.

Duty on oil increased by two pence bringing petrol duty to six pence.

Further economies of £60,000,000 will be made from the £165,000,000 foreign exchange account kept in the Bank of England.

A further drop in consumption of alcoholic liquors is looked for.

Recovery in stock exchange securities is looked for during the coming year

CHURCH, STRATFORD-UPON-AVON

Locked in these walls the golden Shakespeare lies,
Who must have dreamed here in the dying days
Even as I do now; and thought on death
As something cold, remote, and far away,
So hedged about was he with glorious light,
His soul so filled with immortality,
That he still held them as his God-like right,
Nor thought on death, nor taught himself to die.
He breathed a different air; he walked on clouds,
But death!—Death claimed him in the end, her own.

What peace this hour must bring his gentle spirit,
That all day long in fitful rest has wist
Of footsteps up and down the echoing aisles,
Of those come to keep a universal tryst,
Poor weary one, how wakeful you must be
To whispering voices all the long day through,
And curious faces peering o'er your tomb,
Who know your name, but little reck of you.
Then will the ages bring no rest?
Who knows?
Pass on, rude feet, and give his dust repose.

VETERAN AUTO RACER VISITOR IN BELLEVILLE

Barney Oldfield Famous Pilot Takes Scribe for "A Ride"

AN OFFICIAL NOW

Says He Was in the Game Not for Love But Financial Returns

Barney Oldfield, goodwill ambassador of Hudson Essex cars in Canada and master race car driver of the world, is guest of J. B. Boyce, distributor of Hudson Essex cars in this district today. The Ontario intelligencer reporter had the privilege of meeting this famous driver of past years and found him as brilliant a conversationalist as he was a pilot. His disposition was most congenial and was willing to answer every and all questions that were fired at him.

Oldfield has not driven a racing car for the past ten years, having quit when he was financially independent enough to live comfortably and enjoy life, leaving the field open for the younger men in the game. "It was not a question of fear with me," said the noted driver, "but when I felt fate after it had been kind to me for over 17 years?"

"What was your idea of taking up the game of car racing?" asked the reporter.

The answer came back quickly, "for money. It was a means to an end and I enjoyed thinking and being successful at that time. Auto racing was coming into its own and I grabbed the opportunity. It was a hard life, make no mistake about that, but I am living to tell the experience many years after the racing conditions and in different parts of the country."

"What was your toughest race?" queried the reporter. Without hesitation came the cold of a race in 1917 of 750 miles from Los Angeles to Phoenix, Arizona. When the face which Oldfield was over fifty minutes was finished, the gumbo mud was baked on his face and his lips were cracked three times their natural size while it was impossible for him to see for two weeks. Other tough races and many spills that go to make the life of a race driver were recounted.

"Did you enjoy driving at high speed?" Mr. Oldfield answered in the negative. "I only went fast enough to break the record that I went after, leaving it at that until I made my next trip to the town or city in which it was located. That would always give me a chance to make a return visit. I never drove the car at its extreme speed since —once the record was put at low level. It was very hard to break it. Truthfully speaking, I was in the game for the dividends, but always with the idea of giving the people the value for their money."

Speaking of testing tracks before a race day, Mr. Oldfield asked then he never visited a track until the day of the race or the day of attempting to break the record. "The tracks were all built on the same principle, a straight-away and a left-hand turn. The conditions were practically the same and a driver was only taking a chance of injury on a trial-spin while he would probably lose his guarantee because of that accident".

Mr. Oldfield talked of other interesting events in his life, referring to the day on which he made the world's record as 132 miles an hour, which he held for one year. He spoke also of his race with Jack Johnson, the former heavyweight boxing champion of the world. Mr. Oldfield reminisced on the race he had in this city back in 1911 and said he was only pleased to come back to meet so many acquaintances made at that time.

The next race driver will officially start the Indianapolis speed events of 200 miles on Decoration Day, having been chosen in consideration of his great experience in this field. Oldfield drove the race twice, when it was at 300 miles, the last time finished fifth. He explained how the cars qualified for that race and how the start was made. All the cars travel a lap of 2 1-2 miles before the starting line is reached and when the last flag was taken from the first car to pass the flag, and the first car to finish.

Naturally Mr. Oldfield was driving a Hudson car and with the reporter went to a stretch of road not far from the city. No traffic patrol men being in the vicinity, the driver stepped on the gas and how fast the speedometer would be telling, but the reporter was ready to call quits when the foot was lifted from the accelerator. Many pictures have been sent across country of this famous driver and in each, the stub of a cigar was firmly clenched between his teeth. Asked by the reporter if this was a pet superstition, the driver remarked it was more for showmanship and was part of the game. So recognizant was the cigar stub to the picture, that a camera man was held up for sometime by Anna Q. Nilsson and Elen Lyons, who were to be snapped with Barney Oldfield. The two famous screen stars hastened away to a nearby drug store for a bundle of cigars, fearing Mr. Oldfield did not have one at the place where the picture was being taken as his accustomed stogie was missing when they arrived.

The reporter was loath to enter this natural encounter of interesting events, but other business called, a cheery good-day and a pleasant smile were the final features of this famous world character.

The term "energy" in the modern sense of "capacity for doing work" was introduced as recently as 1807.

KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

Two accidents were reported to the police over the week end, one in which Mrs. Morris R.R. 1 Somerville, was knocked down but not seriously injured. She was walking across Bridge street when Raymond Sadsworth, driving a sliding delivery sleigh on Front Street turning west on Bridge struck her. Mrs. Morris received a slight bruise on the arm and was badly shaken up but did not require the attendance of a physician. Constable Isaard investigated and found that Sadsworth was not in possession of his driver's permit. The accident happened late on Saturday afternoon.

Also on Saturday afternoon a car owned and driven by Henry H. Lash, 25 Otter Street, on Pinnacle Street, had one of the wheels caught in the railway track on that street causing it to jump sideways, running into a cement wall near the city yard. The car was badly damaged in front but the driver was not injured.

GAR WOOD FAILS TO BEAT RECORD

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 27.— Gar Wood made three runs over Biscayne mile course in Indian creek here this morning in an attempt to break Kaye Don's speedboat record of 103.49 miles per hour, but fell short of the world mark on each trial His time for the southward run was 102.361 miles per hour and the second run was made at a speed of 101.034 miles per hour.

On his third run, Southward over the measured mile, his time was 101.-266 miles an hour.

After his third run, Wood pulled his Miss America IX into the dock. His engine appeared to be smoking and missing during the three runs.

After making adjustments to his engines, Wood made his fourth run at a speed of 100.361 miles an hour.

Wood's fifth run was clocked at 100.035 miles an hour. This was the slowest run on the morning so far.

After his run Wood began to hose up his boat again.

HOUSE TILTED

Brockville, April 27.—CP— Mrs. Mary Conquith, aged about 80, was snatching a snooze in her home here yesterday afternoon when suddenly the house began to tilt sideways ending in a subsidence of approximately 45 degrees. The house had been jacked into a position and heavy rains caused the sill under one of the jacks to subside.

The Grand National, Canada's only steeplechase, was run first in 1839.

FELLOWSHIP IS OBJECT OF CHRISTIANITY

Anniversary of I.O.O.F. Is Observed at Church Service

REV. CLARK SPEAKS

"Let us never think of ourselves alone," said the Rev. O. E. Clark preaching Sunday morning on the subject of "Fellowship" in the annual address to the members of the Independent Order of Oddfellows and the Rebekah organization. "Let us think of the great fellowship for which Christ came."

One aspect of Christianity has been overemphasized, the individual aspect, which has led to isolation and to an idea that religion is a perpendicular thing. "You cannot isolate anything in the world," said the minister. "The pillars of this church are related to the roof and the basement, their very form is due to the function they play. And so Christ's religion must take in all the relationships of man."

Fraternity

Now people have to live and fit in with others. Christ's religion is a fraternal religion, it is a fellowship. People may find it difficult to live with one another but with love they will overlook many things. Early Christianity was a real fellowship. The early Christians prayed for one another, shared one another's happiness and pain. It was a social fellowship for it removed caste and class.

Christianity must look out with a broader outlook. In the early Christian church there was no slave and there was no master, though in the world about there were masters and slaves, for Christianity, turned every thing upside down.

Christian Communism

It was not only social but it was communistic. Communism is no new thing. The early Christians held things in common. But if it is communism, it is not Russian communism which is compulsory or based on some economic theory. Because men came into the early Christian church they lost position and the members decided to give up their possessions to help others. That was Christian communism. But the church later lost its sense of fellowship and the world today is pulling over that sign when fellowship was forgotten. There are traces of that age today. Such days were those of rented pews when the best seats in the church were held by certain members. "If I had time I could tell you how the church became too respectable," commented Rev. Mr. Clarke. "When a church is too respectable that a man with old clothes feels out of place the church fails."

For the last several centuries Christianity could not agree in English speaking countries. There are villages where there are five churches not working effectively, it is time something different were discovered.

It was because of the failure of the church to observe fellowship that fraternal organizations came into being to unite the best and most thoughtful people into a fellowship which would take care of the unfortunate and express Christian ideals in some concrete way.

Mr. Clarke referred to the growth of the order in its century and a third of existence with a membership of two and a half million, and six or eight million dollars' expenditure yearly in relief.

"Christianity must continue to be on guard lest we miss the ideals in concrete action and fail to bring the very spirit of Jesus into the world today."

BESSBOROUGH UNVEILS COMMEMORATION STONE BY THRONE

This photograph was taken during the ceremony at Government House, Ottawa, on April 22nd, when the Earl of Bessborough made a speech over the trans-Atlantic telephone in connection with the unveiling of a stone of commemoration to honor the discovery of magneto-electric induction by Michael Faraday at the Royal Institution 100 years ago. The Governor-General was present position, a director of the Institution, when the stone was unveiled by Miss Faraday, a direct descendant of the famous scientist. The stone, a duplicate of one unveiling the stone at the Royal Institution, London, England, by him, was arranged before he came to Canada.

FARMERS WELCOME RAIN WHICH FELL ON WEEK END

Steady Downpour Will Be Aid to the Agrarian

CROPS PLANTED

Mercury Dropped Nearly to Freezing Point Last Night

A million dollar rain visited this district over the week end and the agrarian is wearing a smile that won't come off. The rain was accompanied by cold weather, which has up to now, not effected the crop already planted and if frost does not come, the cold spell will have little effect. It is better that it keep cloudy for a couple of days in order that the rain which fell, will soak into the ground instead of evaporating in the air. The land was much in need of moisture as practically little rain has fallen since Easter. A number of the farmers have their oats and other early crops planted and were waiting for such a rain that fell. The rainfall was given at a little over a half inch in the 24 hours. It turned cool enough and some snow fell early this morning but the flurry only last for ten minutes. The weather was cold over, the week end with the lowest dip in the thermometer registered last night, the mercury going down to 34, which is perilously close to the frost mark. The highest recorded for the day was 42 degrees.

On Saturday the readings were 47 degrees for high and 45 degrees for low, while Sunday it was 50 for high and 40 for low.

'TOC H' REGAINS ITS FIRST HOME; FIRST WAR BUILDING IS GIFT OF LORD WAKEFIELD

Poperinghe—Members of Toc H, assembled at Poperinghe recently when Lord Wakefield of Hythe presented to that great organization the famous building known as Talbot house. This edifice has been restored through Lord Wakefield's generosity to its wear-time appearance and will serve as a centre of pilgrimage to the Flanders battlefields. Delegates from many parts of Britain, including original members, were present to view the impressive ceremony.

The famous organization of Toc H', dedicated to Christian social service and founded as a memorial to British Youth who perished in the war, takes its name from Talbot House. At Hooge, in the first German liquid fire attack in July 1915, there fell a lad named Gilbert Talbot, lieutenant in the rifle brigade and son of the Bishop of Winchester. In the following year, in the Flemish towns of Poperinghe, a soldier's club named "Talbot House" was opened in his memory. This came to be called 'Toc H' due to the army signallers method of pronouncing its initials. Here was founded, in a centre of rest and recreation unique in its kind. The thoughts of tens of thousands of veterans go back to what 'Toc H' meant to them during a few days respite from the bloodshed and mud of the Ypres salient.

Since the war the movement has been extended throughout the English-speaking world and beyond the confines of the British Empire. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales as its patron.

Following the ceremony at Poperinghe, Lord Wakefield, donor of Talbot House, visited Lone Tree Crater, on the Messines Road, which he has given to "Toc H" as a pool of peace. The crater, left by one of the mines, is now a beautiful lake and one of the most unusual war memorials in Flanders.

Lord Wakefield, it will be remembered, is the head of the world-wide organization of C. C. Wakefield & Co., Ltd., lubrication specialists, producers of Castrol Motor Oil.

Nearly 40,000,000 will be spent in two weeks this year by buyers at the spring cocoon crop in Kiangsu, Chekiang and Anhwei Provinces of China.

STUDENTS TOOK PART IN THEATRE YO-YO CONTEST

Kiddies at Children's Shelter were Guests at the Capitol

The Yo-Yo contest that took place at the Capitol theatre on Saturday afternoon caused quite a surprise to the management when a parade of students from the Albert College marched into the theatre headed by five "freshies" undergoing the tortures of initiation. These unfortunate students were under orders to enter the Yo-Yo contest.

The contest was found entertaining by both the adults and the children alike, the contest being won by James Seymour, Harold Cruthers, Tom Cruthers, who received three prizes five dollars and one dollar respectively, as first, second and third prizes. Consolation prizes of passes to "City Lights" were given to the unfortunate candidates. The contest closed with the "Freshies" trying to spin the Yo-Yo rope, but they were so unsuccessful that the management gave them all a toy balloon for their efforts. Each "freshie" was forced to give a speech to the audience.

The charges from the Children's Shelter were the guests of the management for the matinee performance also enjoyed a wonderful afternoon's entertainment.

PRINCE OF WALES REACHES BORDEAUX

Will Fly Home Tomorrow Weary of Long Travels

BORDEAUX, France, April 27. — (AP)—The Prince of Wales and his brother, George, one day out from England after a four months' trip to South America, landed today at Pointe De Grave, at the mouth of the Gironde, and prepared to fly home tomorrow.

H.M.S. Kent brought them here from Lisbon, where they left their liner the Arlanza, to confer the Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire upon President General Carmona. It was their original intention to use the Kent all the way home, but weary of travelling they decided to save a day's boarding by landing here and flying the rest of the way.

SAYS HEPBURN SUITS PARTY

Former Premier King Praises Work of Conservative Leader

OTTAWA, Ont., April 27.—(CP)—Selection of Mitchell F. Hepburn, as leader of the Ontario Liberal Party at the Liberal Convention last autumn, met with the approval of all who had the interests of Liberalism at heart, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal Party in the House of Commons, declared here Saturday, when he and Mr. Hepburn addressed a luncheon meeting of the Twentieth Century Liberal Club.

Mr. Hepburn directed a series of assaults at the fiscal policy of the Conservative Government, singling out the embargo of Russian trade for particular attack. He provoked laughter by describing Hon. G. Howard Ferguson as "Our High Comedian in London". The luncheon was arranged to formally inaugurate the newly formed Twentieth Century Liberal Association of Western Ontario, Mr. Hepburn was the chief speaker.

"Let me say to Mr. Hepburn how delighted we all were with his appointment as leader of the Liberal party in Ontario," said Mr. King. "We all felt when the convention was held in Toronto that Liberalism in Ontario was a new beginning.

DEFENDED DR. JAMESON IN AFRICAN RAID TRIAL

Staines, England, April 27.—Sir Edward Clarke, one of the picturesque figures of the last century, died at his home here yesterday at the age of 90.

Sir Edward, known as the Grand Old Man of the British Bar, had retired from active practice in 1914, but in his fifty years a lawyer figured in some of the most sensational cases of the reigns of Victoria and Edward.

These included the famous Bechuanaland chrating case in which Edward, then Prince of Wales, gave evidence.

He also defended Dr. Jameson of the "Jameson's Raid" Boer War fame when he was tried in 1906.

Sir Edward was knighted in 1900, when he became solicitor general. He served as a member of parliament for a number of years and was noted for his writings, which included works on legal, biographical and religious subjects.

He was married twice.

MEDICAL SURVEY

"Reporting on costs of medical care in the United States, a committee has completed a nation-wide survey and has presented a report which makes interesting reading," says the Hamilton Spectator. "For instance, it was brought out that Philadelphia spends $100,000,000 a year in direct or indirect medical expenses, or approximately $50 for each inhabitant. Twenty-six per cent. went to physicians, 13 per cent. to dentists, 27 per cent. to hospitals and 20 per cent. for drugs and medicines. Inquiries in Detroit revealed that the typical physician has spent 7.4 years preparing to practise medicine, works 57 1-2 hours a week, gives free care to seven per cent. of his patients, reduces his regular fees for 19 per cent. of them, has $3,227 invested in equipment and pays out 45c for professional expenses from every dollar he receives. His net income is placed at $5,596. This reason why medical students have a yearning to specialize and why that benign character, the family physician will soon be as extinct as the late lamented dodo if the trend toward specialization persists, was also discovered. Specialists, it seems, not only have better incomes, but work fewer hours than general practitioners. Where the latter in Detroit averaged annual net incomes of $4,746, the average for specialists was shown to be $7,805. The questioning of dentists yielded information equally as interesting. Eighty-seven per cent. of the members of the profession in Detroit, for instance, said they gave treatment at reduced fees to patients unable to pay the full charge, and 60 per cent. said they sometimes gave free treatment. It was learned, too, that the dentists of that city spent one-third of their time in work for which there was no direct remuneration or in simply waiting for patients. Dentists, by the way, reported higher average net incomes than physicians, the figure being placed at $6,075. Something else brought out by the survey was that there is one dollar to every 300 persons in the United States, more in proportion than any other representative country. In England, for instance, there is one to every 1,490 persons; in France one to every 1,690, and in Sweden one to 2,680."

MERE BEAUTY IS NO HONOUR

Mere beauty is no honour, is the finding of the village of Tarrytown, N.Y., and hence beauty contests have been ruled out by the mayor of that place. Opposed to this view was that of Charles J. Stevenson who is in charge of the Hudson Blossom Festival of Germantown. Mayor Lehman had submitted the question of entry into the contest by the girls of the Highland Manor School and Junior College of which he is president and they had taken kindly to the offer. In his letter of refusal he noted that beauty contests teach girls to believe there is some sort of "honour" merely in being beautiful and that it would be a disgrace for the village of Tarrytown to enter such a contest of "physical beauty, but moral ugliness."

A small community has fond out what great evidence failed to see. Village girls have discovered the beauty hidden in those who live in larger cities. It remained for Tarrytown to drive a spike into the beauty show business, which seems likely to evolve about as effectively as any means ever invented.

ACROSS-OCEAN ROCKETS

We are living in an age of wonders, but there is real reason for doubt when we hear the predictions of German scientists that within two years rockets will carry mail across the Atlantic in fifty pound packages. The rocket that is to make the trip to some one to the moon or Mars has not yet been fired, nor has any rocket carried a mail package one-tenth of the way across the ocean. If rockets should ever be so developed as to be apt to such a use, how are we to know that they will reach the sender or sender wanted them to stop or five hundred miles too short or too long of the destination?

I. O. O. F. ANNIVERSARY

Oddfellows, who celebrated the anniversary of the founding of the order over a century ago, proved their mettle on Sunday when rain failed to dampen their interest in the event. At Christ Church a large number of the members of the order and members of the Rebekah organization attended service at Christ Church where they listened to a sermon on the subject of Christian Fellowship. The order, founded in the needs of humanity, has proven its worth, otherwise it would not be living after one hundred years. Belleville Oddfellows have been keeping alive the spirit of the order.

Visitors to the Belleville game sanctuary see one of the wonders of today, birds known as wild, very tame indeed. It is not strange that an occasional gift finds its way to the president to help in the feeding of these bird guests of the Hastings Jack Miner Club.

There is nothing new under the sun, but the principle of something new. So thought people who witnessed the demonstration of fire pumping from the bay and a hydrant on Tuesday. Whether it was new then there is nothing that is not new under the sun.

BETTER NOT TO KNOW

Life is so kind never to let us know
The last time we go down the long steep hill,
Never to know when falls the last soft snow,
Nor what bright bird will be the last to trill;
Never to know what joy will be the last,
Nor when fleet youth will turn and wing away,
Nor to have presage that the height is past
Of that brief passion which no love can stay.

Life is so kind—far kinder than we dream—
When bitter pain and overwhelming grief
Darken the hours, nor give us then a gleam
Of silver spray across death-blackened reef.
It I had known that day you were to die,
I never, never could have said good-bye.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT—

Truth is stranger than fiction, or "Believe It or Not Ripley" would be out of a job; also others who work along the same line. Readers of the Belleville Ontario Intelligencer are greatly interested in a new series of near-Ripleys created by Canada's youngest daily feature cartoonist, George Gundreson, who is doing a single column feature entitled, DO YOU KNOW THAT—

Each feature contains an illustration of humorous character pertinent to the text. For instance, "DO YOU KNOW THAT—Pointers are used extensively in the manufacture of Buttons?" Readers are asked to send in an interesting fact, and for every one used a package of 20 Buckingham Cigarettes will be sent.

Talking about potatoes, why not talk of Peas? Last year Prince Edward County and Hastings just naturally bubbled over with peas and the farmers made a mint of money on small acreage, some farmers cashing in as much as two thousand dollars on the season on peas alone. So large was the growth and the pack that many thousand cases were stored to prevent destroying the market. National advertising put peas prominently before the people in the green ery advs., and green peas have been rolling off the knives of the world ever since with such regularity that the pea pressure has been lifted and the canning firms are making contracts again for all this season's peas to be offered.

And the farmers are reading the Green Pea advertisements, and buying canned peas because they are so cheap and wholesome, as well as the low people. Have you noticed how Green Peas have been featured all winter in hotels, restaurants, and dining cars?

—and some people profess to doubt that advertising is the greatest factor in the present prosperity of the world. Without advertising demand would cease, factories would close, people would be out of work, and the late depression would seem to be a golconda of free gold for everybody in comparison.

Great is newspaper advertising which has made possible the high standard of living, and madly living more worth while.

Compare present day life with that of one hundred years ago, and you must give newspaper advertising credit for a great share in the development and progress along all worthy lines.

Coming back to Peas Prince Edward and Hastings County, in the heart of the Bay of Quinte district, raised other things for profit, all kinds of vegetables and fruit, for sides Belleville cheese, which is known all over the world for its high quality and delicious flavor. If there is any other district in Canada where so much money flows in each year, it hasn't been heard from yet, and Belleville is the shopping centre of all this rich district.

POTATO MATINEE at Belle Theatre, Saturday morning, brought out a truck load of tubers and about five hundred more boys and girls who would hold. Admission was by potatoes which were sent to the Old Folks' Home.

MORE INTEREST NEEDED

There is usually a fairly healthy interest in the election of aldermen, but an appalling apathy in connection with the returning of trustees. Ratepayers are today realizing that boards of education have power to spend money, so they should arouse themselves from their apathy, and get down to real serious business in the selecting of trustees, show some interest in education issues at election time, and thereby interpret their will for the guidance of the candidates placed in office.

This supports the argument of The News that public nomination meetings should be held in the evening, to which ratepayers should be invited to discuss their municipal problems. In fact several public meetings should be held during the municipal campaigns to give the candidates an opportunity to air their views, and also inform the voters of what they may expect from the men who are elected to municipal boards. We need more public interest in public affairs and it is not too early to start some arrangement for more publicity in the next municipal election in Chatham. —Chatham News.

SITUATION IN WEST

Depression and all considered, our western life remains untainted at its source. The farmer is busy this season as in others. Wheat may be at a very low price, but hope springs eternal in the farmer's breast and he is in the job again. The west does not see him busy in the fields. Even in the dust-laden atmosphere of recent days, the seeder may be seen mounting the crest of a hill and the farmer and horses, covered with flying particles, still busy. Such persistence should meet with its reward. There is genuine merit in the pluck that goes on keeping on in the face of what no person can tell what the return the farmer will obtain for the harvest of his labor.—Regina Leader-Post.

RESPONSIBILITY OF MOTORISTS

Magistrate Browne has called attention to the fact that the increasing meanness of some motorists, who will not give children a chance to cross the road, has necessitated the placing of policemen at certain street intersections to convey school children across in safety. This comment was drawn from the magistrate by a case in which a motorist was highly incensed because he was stopped by a policeman engaged in this duty.

The appearance of a child near the roadway, or a parked car or other obstruction from behind which a child might dart out, ought to be a warning to motorists to drive carefully and be on the alert. The fact that seven children have been killed already this year in motor accidents on Toronto streets indicates that the warning is not always taken. —Toronto Telegram.

TRADE WITH CHINA HOLDS

When this dominion is facing a shrinkage of its export volume to certain countries, it is encouraging to read the statement of the Canadian trade commissioner to Shanghai, recently returned to his native land, that the situation in Shanghai is well, and that exports of all Canadian products sent to China are main taining a fairly steady volume.

Those who have studied the Chinese situation have repeatedly urged that Canada pay more attention to the possibilities of expanding her trade in great nation. There is a great market for wheat, for, despite the population in existence, the country is only certain sections of the country and the people of the rest of the land are regularly turning to wheat for their daily bread. Manufactured products from Canadian plants are also found to be in good demand.—Oshawa Times.

NOW IS THE TIME TO CLEAN UP

The spring of the year is admitted by the time for the residents to clean up their front yards, their back yards, their alleyways, and put their pieces in order for the summer. The great majority of them make it a point to carry out this idea, and the result has been satisfactory to everyone. There are, however, a certain percentage of the people who see little or nothing for appearances and they decline to enhance the neighborhood in which they live by making a helpful move in that direction.—Owen Sound Sun Times.

Sailors Prefer Fiction of the Sea

New York—More than 381,000 books and 160,000 magazines were distributed last year by the American Merchant Marine Library Association among the crews and guards of 1,463 ships, 225 isolated life-saving stations and ice patrol boats and 94 lighthouses and lightships, according to the annual report of Miss Caroline Howard, president, which was read yesterday at the annual meeting at 27 Wall Street.

The volumes were shipped in boxes the number varying according to the size of the crews and were exchanged for new supplies at the various ports at which ships touch and by the twelve branches of the association scattered about the country. That the men appreciated the work by contributions to the funds of the association and that Frederick Lawrence Wells had contributed $5,000. She also read a letter from President Hoover congratulating her on "the encouraging growth in this most useful service to the men whose lonely lives on ship and shore are enriched by reading." The association elected as directors A. H. Wiggins, G. A. Tomlinson, Clark H. Hebner, Captain John F. Milliken, Captain Felix Riesenberg and Mrs. George Medlar. A committee of two young women representing the association stopped at City Hall after the meeting and left a book with an aide of Mayor Walker.

Hope for a Vaccine Too Prevent Colds

A vaccine "which may prove useful in the prevention of common colds" long a goal of science, may be prepared as the result of research work now being carried on at the Presbyterian Hospital, Columbia University Medical Centre. Three physicians and a bacteriologist, who for seven years have been attacking the common cold in experiments with chimpanzees and humans, are the authors of a paper which is to appear in the April issue of The Journal, which has financed the research.

The authors of the paper, Dr. A. R. Dochez and Dr. Yale Kneeland Jr., with the hospital; Dr. C. H. Shibley, formerly with the hospital and now with the Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, and Miss M. H. Mills, their associate, tell also of how they have discovered at the cause of common colds. Contagious colds, they declare, are due to an invisible agent, which "in all likelihood belongs to the group of so-called submicroscopic viruses" and "passes readily through filters which hold back all ordinary bacteria."

Prove Colds Transmitted

Pointing out that the enormous economic losses caused by colds, the authors tell of their experiments to determine the agent carrying the cold and conclude that "colds can be transmitted from man to Chimpanzee from Chimpanzee to chimpanzee and from man to man by bacteria-filtrates of nasal washings obtained from individuals suffering from spontaneous colds."

"These experimented colds resemble in all respects those spontaneously contracted in the natural environment," the paper continues, "and upon one of the significant effects of infection with the 'filtrable' virus of the common cold is the stimulation into greatly increased activity of any dormant organism that may be present on the upper respiratory passages at the time of developing the cold.

"Bacterial invasion is of great importance, since it seems to explain the marked secondary activity in the respiratory tract of pathogenic organisms as pneumococci, streptococcus hemolyticus and influenza bacillus, which lead to the severe complications which sometimes follow the common cold and influenza.

"The next step in the investigation is to try to grow the virus of the common cold in the test tube outside the human body. Should this be successful, and there is every reason to think that it may be, the way will be opened for the preparation of a vaccine which may prove useful in the prevention of common colds."

Leads to More Serious Ills

Declaring that the common cold is the most widespread and frequent infectious disease in the world, the paper says that usually the major outbreaks occur in late October and mid-January, with more severe symp toms in the latter period.

"Until recent years," it continues, "the common cold has been regarded as a simple minor infection of the upper respiratory tract which, because of its mild symptomology, could be conveniently disregarded. . . . That prevails today of this to be the keystone of this complex disease begins to indicate that the true structure of ills, the causative agents of which gain entrance to the body by way of the upper respiratory tract."

Colds are spread directly from person to person, the paper affirms, and a preventive vaccination, like that for smallpox . . . seems to hold the greatest promise of success in controlling them. The paper concedes that chilling, exposure and fatigue "are indirectly important in the causation of colds," but points out that in the extreme North, in spite of frequent exposure to chilling and fatigue, colds are contracted only from person to person.

LAST PHASE

Mr. Allard Smith, of the Union Trust company, Cleveland, and one of the most astute economists of the United States, has taken his pen in hand again and released some interesting statistics. For the first time in a year, he points out, the Bradstreet index of commodity prices for April showed an increase over the preceding month. This increase, amounting to six-tenths of one per cent., was small, but its significance rests on the fact that it was an increase instead of a continuation of the extended decline which had carried the index down 30 per cent. since 1929. Comparative figures for Canada are not to hand, but we have no doubt that they would prove equally as encouraging.

Mr. Smith says it is to be hoped that the slight upturn in prices indicates that the bottom of the price curve for the present recession has been reached in his country and that stable or slightly firmer prices may be expected in the coming months. Signs are manifesting. firms are so convinced of this, it is reported, they are placing orders for their requirements of certain commodities months ahead. A fact which sometimes falls of consideration in the price situation is that retail prices cannot be expected to decline to as great an extent as wholesale commodity prices. — Hamilton Spectator.

Mrs. J. W. Sutcliffe, Reston, Man., Mrs. W. H. Noyes and daughter, Thelma and Mr. Edgar Morrow of Toronto were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Clarke, 254 Coleman Street.

Mrs. W. G. Crerar, 59 Hillcrest Ave., is leaving this week for Montreal where she will sail on the "Ausonia" on Thursday for England. She has been called to her home in London owing to the illness of her mother, Mrs. E. M. Rowntree.

The ladies' bowling team of Peterborough which visited the city on Saturday evening was entertained at a banquet following the games by members of the ladies' evening bowling league of the Y.M.C.A. The banquet was served in Wong's cafe. The long tables were beautifully decorated in black and yellow the effective colour scheme being carried out in pansy-mixes and daffodils. Each place was marked with a dainty place card in the same colours. The visitors were welcomed by Miss Phoebe Donaldson reply being made on behalf of the guests by Miss Erma Rosborough. Community singing was held, and at the conclusion of the very enjoyable event, Mr. Dufris of Peterborough thanked the hostesses for their hospitality and spoke of the fine time they had enjoyed in Belleville.

Glasses Water, Not Too Cold, Help Constipation

One glass water is not enough — take 2 glasses a half hour before breakfast. Get your quicker and better results by adding a little simple glycerin, saline, etc., (known as Adlerika) to one glass.

Unlike other remedies, Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes old poisons you never thought were in your system. Adlerika stops GAS and sour stomach in 15 minutes! Relieves constipation in 2 hours. J. S. McKeown's Drug Store.

Good Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

The Servantless Service

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I wish to ask some questions about serving a dinner in a home in which there are no servants. I never entertain in a formal manner, and I have always served foods in the same way, trusting my instinct to guide me, but now my children have all reached High School age and naturally I am more concerned. There are many points about which I am very uncertain. I shall outline my plan and will you please criticize it?

I put salads, relishes and jam on the table before I announce dinner. I put the bread and butter on their plates also. Just before I announce dinner I put the first course (usually soup or a fruit cup) at each cover.

The dinner plates sit at my husband's left. He serves the meat and passes the plates to me for the vegetables, and I pass the plates to the children.

Will you kindly answer these questions:

1. When serving cranberries and celery, is it good form to lay a stalk of celery on the dish containing the cranberries?

2. How should celery be eaten?

3. What is the correct way to serving coffee, sugar and cream at the table?

4. Where should silver for the dessert course be placed?

5. How should slices of cake be taken from the cake plate and how eaten?

6. What is the nicest way of serving hot rolls? Should a large one be placed on the tray under the rolls?

7. What is the correct way to serve olives? How should they be eaten?

8. Please suggest some gracious signal to give for rising at the close of the meal?

MRS. L.

Your plans for convenient service are all according to the best good form, dear hostess, and I congratulate you on the ease with which you have made them. It is not an easy thing to plan good serving with no service at one's call, and I am always tremendously interested when I see a woman do this.

You have planned well too for the carving of the meat by your husband, and the serving of the vegetables by you. This is by far the best plan for this too, I think.

1. No, this plan would not be good. Why not have the small pieces of celery on a serving-plate, and have this passed by the family and guests while you and your husband are serving the meat and vegetables? You might have, near your place, the serving dish with the cranberries, and, when you serve each plate with the vegetables, also place on the plate the service of cranberries.

2. The piece of celery should be placed on the bread and butter plate, and, if one wishes, also on the bread and butter plate, should be put some salt. The end of the celery should be dipped in the salt, and one mouth ful of the celery should be eaten at a time.

3. Why not plan to serve the coffee after the meal? Then you could place at your place the tray with the coffee pot, the cream pitcher and the sugar bowl on it. Then you could graciously ask each guest her or his preferences as to "the way" in which the coffee is preferred. This makes a charming rite of the serving of coffee.

Then, on gala occasions, and when you and the family have more leisure, try serving the coffee in the living-room. It isn't a bit more trouble—the tray is placed on a coffee table or any other small table, preferably low, and on the tray are the accompaniments of the coffee-serving. Your children will love to pass the cups to the guests, as you pour the coffee, and everyone would have an enjoyable and leisurely time of it.

4. On the buffet or sideboard in your dining-room, have the dessert service all ready—the dessert plate and on it, the finger-bowl. On the right of the finger bowl, have the dessert spoon, and on the left, the dessert fork. The silver pieces, however, vary, naturally, with the kind of dessert that you are to serve. But the service I have suggested is the one usually used, and the compact way of serving it is convenient.

5. On the cake tray, with the cake, have a serving fork or, if the cake is especially elaborate, use the long, flat server. The cake is taken to the dessert plate, and eaten, preferably, with a fork.

6. This is considered the best form. But this kind of accessory means a decidedly increased amount of work, and it really isn't an especially necessary feature of the serving of hot rolls.

7. Serve olives on a small, compact dish, accompanying by an olive spoon or, if you haven't one, the ever-convenient tea spoon. The olive should be nibbled—the whole olive should not be put in the mouth and sucked, as we, alas, too often see people do.

8. The members of your family and your guests watch you, to see when you are getting ready to rise from the table. This is the signal.

Could Only Walk with Cane

Now light on feet as 40 years ago. Almost impossible relief. Thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (Tonic).

"Some years ago, when residing in Birmingham, England," writes Arthur B. Neal, "I was suffering from a severe attack of sciatica; could only walk by the aid of a cane and every movement caused agonizing pain. A friend asked me 'Why not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?' I purchased a box and, strictly adhering to the printed instruction, I was greatly benefited. Before long I was able to discard my stick. I became entirely well. Every symptom of sciatica disappeared—and today I am as light on my feet as 40 years ago."

"Every symptom of Sciatica disappeared"

Mr. Fenn's testimony is just one from hundreds we might give.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills help to build up the blood—to correct the conditions which cause sciatica and rheumatism. The iron and other elements form a tonic which increases the amount of haemoglobin (life-giving element) in the blood. Another way of explaining it is that they "increase the blood counts" or multiply the number of red corpuscles in the blood stream.

Measurement of the amount of haemoglobin (life-giving element) in the blood before and after one is two months' use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, shows how greatly this tonic helps in improving a condition of poor blood.

If you suffer from sciatica, rheumatism or anaemia, go today to your drug store for a trial box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Or write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ontario. 50 cents a box. Don't wait another day. The tonic has helped thousands of others, and you owe it to yourself to give it a trial. 14

Fashionably Speaking

By Lucille

Dear Readers:

Today the appropriate clothes, the right equipment for whatever you are doing, are the basic requirements for smartness. Take the question of long skirts. You will agree that long skirted frocks are not appropriate. They are not even smart, for nothing can be smart that is out of place—and a long sports skirt is as out of place as an evening frock by the daytime. Three inches below the knee is a comfortable length, for sports clothes and it is the accepted rule for this season.

Where strenuous activity is concerned, clothes must be adaptable. —and that is the idea behind all sports apparel of today. The waistline is normal because it must stay in place while the body is permitted greatest freedom. The matter of sleeves is simple. For tennis where just the arms must be free, sleeves are omitted entirely. When they do appear, they are loose and free of trim fitting so they can be turned up like a man's for real action.

All sports wear is loosely fitted. The smart jumper coat looks even a bit too big for its wearer, while in spring, every smart woman asks for a size or two larger than her measure calls for.

Most important of all is the right material. Fashion has certainly supplied us lavishly this year with true sports fabrics—the linens, the shantungs, the mesh cottons, the knitted fabrics and rough tweeds.

We note that stylists are registering alarm at the prospect of color turned loose so riotously, lest women of not-too-sure discrimination in the matter of effects, will indulge in it to their sorrow.

But we greet it with cheers in the sports field, for brilliant shades are to belong to the out-doors girl. Autumn's vivid summer colors demand all the gayety and fashion that can be achieved in the apparel that embellishes the landscape.

The return of tailored things to Saturday in sports fashions is indicated by the new summer models. The feminine type of dress or suit has given way to plain, wall-fitted costumes for spectator as well as active sports. Suits with quite short jackets, and made of flannel, tweed or knit fabrics are specially favored. Stress is placed on pleats and pleated effects.

Jackets of short bolero effect treated in various ways are given more the effect of the top of a one-piece dress or overblouse are made of plain material when the dress is printed or of plaid or striped effect when the dress is of plain fabric.

Fashionably yours,
LUCILLE.

New Von Sternberg Picture Lifts Dietrich to Stardom

Co-Starred with McLaglen in 'Dishonored'; Honor Reflects 'Morocco' Acclaim

Director Also Author

Co-starred with the popular Victor McLaglen, famous for his rollicking portrayals in two of the decade's great moving pictures, "What Price Glory?" and "The Cock-Eyed World," Marlene Dietrich comes to the Belle Theatre today and Tuesday matinee daily, in "Dishonored," an intriguing story of a woman spy in wartime.

The magnificent Dietrich, who captivated the millions of two continents in two motion picture appearances, in "Morocco" and "The Blue Angel," has arrived at the peak of film fame in "Dishonored," film has been starred by Paramount in response to the overwhelming acclaim accorded her performances in "Morocco," she portrays a character of never-ending characterization; she has acquired the support of one of screendom's outstanding male stars, Victor McLaglen, and a supporting cast of almost unequalled strength. Dietrich has arrived.

"Dishonored," the story, is based primarily on facts, the life of one of wartime's most intriguing women secret service agents, whose tragic fate aroused the world. The romantic facets of her life, the glittering background against which she moved, the suspense and conflict of her dramas are portrayed with startling fidelity by Marlene Dietrich, from a story written by Josef von Sternberg, the director who "found" and developed the captivating star.

Miss Dietrich, an impoverished Austrian waitress, through a chance meeting, becomes the trusted secret agent of the Austrian government and is ordered to Vienna. Her job is to catch enemy spies. Cold to any personal interest, she carries out her instruction to the letter. An important Austrian general betrays himself to her; for side, a young lieutenant escapes her net. The story, from that point on, deals with the game of hide and seek between the woman and the lieutenant, really the secret agent of the Russian government, and the rocking young officer intrigues the woman, and she fascinates him, until finally, through a brilliant and exciting series of events, from gay Vienna, to the menacing headquarters of Russia's general staff, from the imposing headquarters of the Austrian intelligence service, to the war front.

DOROTHY DIX, famous writer on women's problems

"EVER since Eve discovered fig leaves, the best tonic for a woman's self-confidence has been—pre-CLOTHES!

"A beautiful new frock—my, how it sets a girl up! But—and here is what some girls forget—it takes more than a new frock to give you real poise.

"Others may not know whether your LINGERIE is pretty and colourful and fresh, but YOU do. When it is—when you know that underneath, as well as on the surface, you're exquisite — you FEEL charming . . . Confident . . . Ready to conquer the world!

"Why not try these 2 simple rules:

1. Buy the loveliest lingerie you can.
2. Never let it get faded and drab looking.

"If, with 2 simple rules you feel how important this is! It's one of the secrets of every truly fascinating woman.

"Yet it's easy to manage even on small salaries. You know about LUX I'm sure—I find that delicate pastel lingerie wears so long washed in Lux that it's not a bit extravagant. By 'long' I mean literally for YEARS. Lux—unlike the ordinary 'good' soap—is made to preserve COLOUR and CHARM.

"YOUR SURROUNDINGS, too, can help give you poise! When everything in your home—from pretty curtains to the colourful linens on your dinner table—is dainty and new looking, you feel confident, at ease. Here, too, Lux is your invaluable aid."

BONE-HEAD PLAY

Three New York Outfielders Are Rendered Hors-de-Combat

(By Hugh Fullerton, Associated Press Writer)

As it it wasn't bad enough to lose three of his best outfielders, including Babe Ruth, within a week's time, something even worse has arisen to make Joe McCarthy prematurely grey. His New York Yankees have taken to lapsing mentally in the pinches, and to say that McCarthy is perturbed is putting it lightly.

As the outright result of two rarely unintelligent gestures over the week-end, the Yankees lost the same number of ball games and dropped out of first place in the American League, a position they had held without a break since opening day. The Cleveland Indians, rained out both days, took over the top without a struggle.

McCarthy's boys pulled the first one Saturday, when Chapman became confused on where to toss the ball at a vital point in the tenth inning and didn't make up his mind until after the Red Sox had scored the winning run.

But was scarcely anything compared to the rare stint given by Lou Gehrig and Lyn Lary yesterday at Washington. Trying to beat Myril Hoag's smote one far into the centre pavilion Lary, rounding third, looked back in time to see the ball bounce back into a fielder's hands, thought it had been caught for the third out and headed for the dugout. Before they could stop him he was on the base path. Gehrig passed by with a fine burst of speed and touched the plate. There went two runs, the exact margin by which the Senators eventually won, 9 to 7.

Carl Fisher relieved Marberry in the third to credit for the victory, striking out ten batters during his tenure. Two runs were also scored in tettle including George Pipgras, who made his first appearance of the year.

Dusty Cooke joined the New York hospital squad when he fell going after Schaefer's homer in the third inning. He will be out at least two weeks, physicians said, the result of a displaced collar bone. Myril Hoag is the third Yankee outfielder on the shelf.

In the day's only other American League engagement, Detroit scored the fourth straight victory at the expense of Chicago, 8 to 4. Sorrell and Sullivan allowed the White Sox only three hits, while the Tigers collected three Chicago errors for 11, including Simon's fifth home run of the year.

Two sparkling mound performances flecked a curtailed card in the National League. Heine Meine gave only four hits in pitching Pittsburgh to a 1 to 0 triumph over St. Louis. It was the season's second defeat for the champion Cardinals and their first shut-out. Two walks, a stolen base, gave the Pirates their only run off Bill Hallahan.

Charley Root, veteran Chicago right hander, started, finished and won his third straight game in downing Cincinnati, 3 to 1. Root has permitted only four runs in 27 innings. Rogers Hornsby again lead his team's offense with three hits in five trips.

Rain marred the day's activities at Brooklyn, New York, Boston and Cleveland.

That talented and entertaining breed is not extinct. If you think so, just give heed to Jerome H. "Dizzy" Dean of the St. Louis Cardinals and Clyde V. "Pea Ridge" Day of Brooklyn's Robins. Both are pitchers; neither is a southpaw. "Dizzy" only by his shells a comparatively green. He's been up in the big show for short spells twice and, after a good 1930 season at Kansas City, he again was invited to the big top. In a pre season appearance against the New York Yankees, "Pea Ridge," fresh with an eighth inning relief job, tried to baffle "Babe" Ruth and met a not uncommon fate. Echoes of the Yankee bomb" could not dull Day's hogcalatory at all though. He whooped and whooped but, in the first inning, he walked a run. Then his shouts came back from the crowded stands in the form of a Brooklyn rendition of Gotham's celebrated "Bronx cheer." But that one only the start.

TORONTO LEAFS LOST TO BIRDS

Weaver Hurled Baltimore to 9-4 Victory on Sunday

(By The Associated Press)

If Monte Weaver's pitching arm holds out, the Baltimore Orioles promise to hold their own very much in the current International chase. The veteran back at the head of the parade today, and Weaver so far evinces no sign of weakening.

The Orioles' star mounduman turned in his third victory of the season yesterday when he trimmed the Toronto Maple Leafs, 9 to 4, in the league's only engagement. He has been credited with half of his team's six wins.

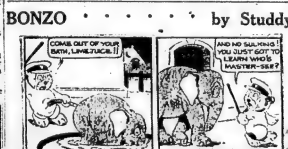
The defeat shoved Toronto back into second place, a half game ahead of Rochester and Buffalo, who are tied for third and fourth.

Although the Leafs pounded him for ten hits, including [illegible] runs, Weaver stuck the route to get his decision over two rival mounders men. Baltimore also included three circuit blows among its fifteen hits off Cantrell and Bulsberger. Joe Mukel, first baseman obtained from Washington by the Birds, slacked with a homer and two singles. Weaver struck out eight.

Double headers were piled up for future months as rain washed away the Sunday contests at Newark, Jersey City and Reading.

Yesterday's Stars

Carl Fischer, Senators, fanned ten Yankees in Washington's 9 to 7 triumph over Yankees.



Joathan Stone, Tigers, hit fifth home run of season in seventh inning to break tie as Detroit defeated White Sox 8-4.

Rogers Hornsby, Cubs, made three hits in five times up to help Cubs beat Cincinnati 3 to 1.

Henry Meine, Pirates, shut out the Cardinals with four hits to win 1 to 0.

LACK OF FINANCES

Petes Will Open Season Here on Quene's Birthday

"In again, out again, off again, Finnigan," was nearly the result of the Central League meeting held on Saturday at the Y.M.C.A., but after the smoke had cleared away the result was most satisfying to all followers of the grand old game, of baseball, as they decided to operate again this year. For the first two hours, after the minutes were read the treasurer's report adopted, all that was heard was the cry of lack of finances each club seemed to be in the same rut, as to ways and methods, to start the season.

President "Bob" Elliott of Deloro, who was in the chair, stated that he had notified Oshawa and Cananoque of the meeting, but the latter were of the opinion that the calibre of ball in this league was a little too fast for them, but nothing was heard of Osna wa at all.

The president issued a note of warning to all young players not to turn professional with these small leagues, as the city, from the A.A.U. of Canada now stated that, "once a professional always a professional", and the unanimous opinion of the meeting told them that the Union were going to stick by their guns in this matter.

"BAWLS and STRIKES"

Everybody is smiling again in the Central League area; Kingston has saved the day as the League was pretty shaky.

Altho' the League meeting lasted well over three hours, the wait was well worth it. You should have seen the smile on "Shiner" Johnson's face.

Frank Smith, the new manager of the Ponies, is a real fan, and states that he has a swell bunch of ball chasers.

Walt. Gerow, the congenial manager of the Nationals, was quite busy all afternoon trying to arrange the opening game here.

We are sorry to hear that "Bob" Elliott, Kingston's star shor-stop, has bet town. The same Bob is about the smartest ballplayer in the Province.

A three-team league, with a quadruple schedule, gives each team eight home games. No doubt the locals will play some exhibition games to fill in the season.

Oshawa may find themselves out in the cold very soon, as the O. B.A.A. are not through with them yet, but the Central League is.

On account of rain, the Juniors did not get on to practise on Saturday. They will try it some night this week, it is expected.

The Victorias of the Intermediate League, will hold their first practice tonight at Pine & School grounds. All welcome.

Ray L. Doan, a sports promoter, writes to say the yarn about Grover Cleveland Alexander hopping freight trains and giving the appearance of a tramp was all wet—probably Alex's shadow..... Doan says Alex, a sporting fan expensive diamonds, wearing "good clothes" and has been drinking only the finest water of Mineral Wells, Tex.

The difference between the old time ball players and the moderns, after their days of work on the diamond, is marked most strikingly in the present diversity of employment. When these younger players who have been able to pay something by for another day, quit baseball, they go into business on their own account. They are engaged in everything from hotel selling, to merchandising life and the conduct of garages and filling stations, to restaurantship, and so on. That is an advance in economic social life of importance to the general body of workers.

Ring Lardner, former sports writer and now better known as a humorist, in one of his syndicated articles recently, sprung the following quip: "Bookies would have won the pennant last year only their manager, Wilbam Robinson, was so big that the players had to stand up between innings and wire all worn out by the middle of September."

An artist is credited with making a discovery in flying over a night game that has proved beneficial in lighting ashlie fields for sports participation ruler dark. He found that the earth served as a powerful reflector, throwing the light far into the sky. Since then, the Giant Manufacturing Company, in lighting ball diamonds, have constructed their equipment so that it throws all rays down upon the ground, the upward reflection being high enough to allow fly balls to be easily followed by players and fans.

Chester Fowler, the Fort Worth infielder, has plenty of reason to "feel" this summer. Last fall Fowler bought a herd of baby calves and chaperoned them all winter, nursing them considerably on an early market. When the time came to dispose of them he had to let them go at less than he paid for them. "Some unsuspecting fan," says Jackie Tavener, a teammate, "is going to get a good punch in the nose this summer, the first time he refers to our darling third sacker as 'Cowboy Fowler.' So a word to the wise should be sufficient.

HAMILTON TEAM SCORED WELL

Central Collegiate Ran Away With Two Mile Relay

Franklyn Field, Philadelphia, April 27.—Central Institute Collegiate Athletes scored impressively in the two-day track and field carnival of the University of Pennsylvania, which ended Saturday.

Two firsts went to the fleet team from Central— one on Friday, when the Hamiltonians captured the interscholastic medley relay, and yesterday, when they ran away with the interscholastic two-mile relay. Their second effort Saturday—in the one-mile high school relay — brought them a third place.

A heavy downpour of rain failed to halt central's quartette of Moore, Guillymary, Winfield and Shaver in the two-mile affair. Leading all the way, they turned back the challenge of such strong teams as La Salle of Province, R.I., and Schenectady, New York), high, which finished second and third respectively. Central's time was 8.28 6-10.

The one-mile relay was anybody's victory until the final trides of the anchor men. In a sensational blanket finish, with only a yard separating the three leading runners, Central was nosed out by New Utrecht of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Bordentown Manual Training Brooklyn team was clocked in 3.32 4-10.

Three carnival records, including one that had gone unbeaten for 27 years, were broken, and a fourth that has resisted attack for fifteen years was equalled, despite the cold and rainy weather.

For the benefit of a handy crowd of 25,000 spectators who stuck it out in the cold, Pennsylvania's runners registered a smashing victory in the one-mile relay and then withstood sensational bids by Cornel and Harvard to carry off the four-mile relay championship.

RUTH'S GAME LEG NOW ON MEND

Left Hospital Yesterday but Will be Out of Game Two Weeks

New York, N.Y., April 27—The "great man" of baseball, Babe Ruth, left home last Tuesday full of vigor, with three home runs to his credit, and hopes of producing a new record. He came home last night in a wheel chair.

The Babe was discharged from the hospital in Cleveland yesterday full of optimism about getting back into the game. "He wanted to get a crack at the Athletics this week," he said, but by the time he had completed the five days' ride to New York, the predictions of the physician who attended him, Dr. Francis X. Stewart, that the Babe would be out of action for six weeks more seemed fully justified.

Ruth was barely able to navigate under his own power, when he left the train on the usual battery of cameras and reporters and about 500 fans, who turned up to get a look at his wounded leg. It appeared tired from the journey and gauth of his usual jocularity was missing. He felt "fine" except for his injured jwe, he said, but he did not protest, when Mrs. Ruth answered "two weeks" to all questions about how long he would be out of the game.

Y ALLEYS

On Saturday night at the Y Alleys six Belleville Ladies' met a like number from Peterboro with the result the Peterboro ladies were successful in taking three out of four points. The games were close and interesting.

Following the games the Peterboro team in charge of Joe Duffus, ex-mayor of Peterboro, were entertained to a banquet at Wong's. Alley Meagher acted as chairman. In addition to the four repeat songs and speeches were the order. Mr. Duffus spoke on bowling and hoped that the friendly contests would enjoy their return visit next Saturday. Miss Edith Horton presided at the piano and also was in charge of the arrangements for the decorations of the table, which was very tasteful done.

It was announced that other teams would accompany the girls to Peterboro to start further intercity games next Saturday.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS.

If you are growing hard of hearing, and fear catarrhal deafness, or you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to your druggist and get a 1 oz. bottle of Parmint (extra strength) and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Catarrhal deafness should open, breathing become easy, and the mucous, stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to take. Anyone who is threatened with catarrhal deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

CITY OF BELLEVILLE
LOCAL IMPROVEMENT ACT

TAKE NOTICE THAT:

(1) The Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville intends to carry out as a local improvement the construction of permanent pavements together with the necessary concrete curb and gutter and sidewalks, and storm sewer and sewer connections and all necessary works to provide for surface drainage, on the following streets in the City of Belleville:—

Bridge Street 26' wide from Upper Bridge to C.N.R. R.W.

(b) West Moira Street 26' wide from North Front St. to Coleman Street.

(c) East Moira Street 24' wide from North Front Street to St. Charles St.

(2) The estimated cost of the said works, the Corporation's share, and the private frontage share are estimated and set out respectively as follows:

Est. Cost	City Share	Private Frontage Share	Est. Cost Per Ft. Frt.
(a) 40,249.80	16,564.80	23,685.00	8.55
(b) 19,271.00	7,337.86	9,438.14	9.41
(c) 27,468.00	5,462.36	21,805.64	8.52

(3) The estimated lifetime of the works is twenty-one years and the special assessment is to be paid in twenty equal annual installments.

(4) A petition to the said Council will not be necessary for the construction, but a petition against the work or the manner in which it has been undertaken may be made pursuant to Section 8 of the Local Improvement Act, to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, by a majority of the owners representing at least one-half of the value of the lots which are to be specially assessed therefor, said petition must be made not later than May 11th, 1931.

(5) A by-law for undertaking the work will be considered by the Council at a meeting thereof to be held on the 26th day of May, 1931, or at a regular or special meeting thereof to be held thereafter.

Dated at Belleville this 20th day of April, 1931.

The first and second teams will play off; the best two out of three games for the league title.

Kingston's games will be twilight.

Kingston sport writer had Kingston down for the count—while prospects for Oshawa's entry looked the best, however, Oshawa apparently would rather angle to get into Toronto grouping.

It is not likely they will be accepted—the old saying may hold good for Oshawa —and he who hesitates is lost, and they may be left out in the cold, for baseball with a possible bye at the best.

Oshawa should not be criticized too harshly for their actions. The financial end of the games bother all teams in the League on account of the long jump—teams certainly do require a lot of support to be able to carry on.

Ontario Lady Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mrs. Edward War-ip Has Used Dodd's Kidney Pills for Many Years.

Dyer's Bay, Ont., April 27.—(Special)—"They are a real friend to me," writes Mrs. Edward Wardrop, a well known resident of this place. "I have taken many boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills for my Rheumatism and they do help me so much. I would not be without them."

Dodd's natural way to treat Rheumatism and Lumbago is to treat the Kidneys and the natural way to treat the Kidneys is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Rheumatism is caused by the presence of uric acid in the blood. If the kidneys are functioning properly they remove this acid and all evil of the blood and there can be no more Rheumatism.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have been in use in Canada for nearly half a century. Their unquestionable merit worth in the most serious forms of kidney disease, such as Rheumatism, backache, lumbago and urinary troubles.

Just Playing Around

BY LEWIS ALLEN BROWNE

She smiled then.

"That's splendid of you, I know Thad will marry you if he can get rid of me——"

"You know something that is absolutely wrong. I'll never marry Thad," I declared.

"Didn't you want to marry you; didn't you know that?"

"I suspected it when he came to me and begged me to marry him as soon as he had divorced you," I confessed calmly.

She stared at me and her face turned red.

"What an amazing girl you are! Do you mean that you refused him?"

AIRLINE TRIES BRIBERY

"I did, and if you try to testify in court that I told you he proposed to me before he was divorced I will call you a liar—there are only two of us here——"

"I had no intention of doing that. But Thad can't get rid of me so easy. I have a new and mighty clever lawyer," she said tight-lipped and with your help he can't divorce me."

"With my help! As if I would," I cried.

"Oh, yes, you would, for, say, ten thousand dollars; what a trip to Europe and what clothes that would mean to you," she exclaimed, smiling at me again, confident that I would fall at her feet in ecstacy.

"I've got ten thousand," I lied.

"Then make it fifty—my lawyer will tell you what to do and it will be simple, I want to get the divorce and make Thad pay alimony. I could do it for fifty thousand?"

"You mean for me to pretend that I—that I went to bed with Thad?"

"Surely—what do you care, if you get that extra money—will you do it?"

I thought for a moment.

"Why yes; I will do anything for fifty thousand," I told her.

"I knew you were a good sport," Thad's lawyer will phone you today. I told her that I would do anything for fifty thousand."

"But I don't know that I will get it?" I asked.

"Ah, dear, surely you can trust me—and my lawyer," she exclaimed.

"Surely I cannot trust you—for any lawyer who would agree to a scheme for framing anyone.

Her face crimsoned and then she laughed.

"You are a wise child—I really don't blame you, but how shall we know you will keep your word?"

"How about half in advance and the rest after I give my testimony?" she agreed to that.

"I shall have you see my lawyer," I was going some more rapid thinking. I didn't want to face her lawyer.

"Wouldn't it be far better if you gave the instructions? Then I could swear that I had never seen or talked with your lawyer. Think how impossible that would be," I suggested.

MAKING SURE

"A swell idea. I will see my lawyer and come back tomorrow evening with a check for half of the amount."

"That's all right—if the check is certified."

"You ought to be rich by now, Trill me, how could a working girl like you get ten thousand—unless you wheedled it out of some sugar daddy?"

"I never had a sugar daddy—that isn't my kind of playing around. I saved my money and invested it, or speculated, on some tips," I lied, glibly.

When I told her the fib about ten thousand I did it solely to make her understand that I couldn't be bribed and didn't need the money. I had no idea that she would come back with the dazzling offer of five times that amount.

Thad Parson's wife left me, then, promising to come the next night with a check for twenty-five thousand and a written agreement to name another twenty-five thousand when I had testified according to instructions.

I listened at my door until I heard the elevator stop and take her down. Then I walked back into the room.

Viola stepped out from the kitchenette, her eyes wide with excitement. She grabbed me and danced me around.

"Fifty thousand dollars! Hot ch——" she cried.

"It's some money—half the people in the world work a lifetime for less than that," I said.

I thought sure I was going to sneeze just when she was telling you what she would pay. If I had—oh, lordy!"

"You didn't," I said; "and all's well."

"And you'll go through with it?"

"Watch me!"

Viola kept muttering to herself, "Fifty thousand dollars," as if dazed at the thought of it.

Airline Parsons kept her word.

THE CHECK PRODUCED

She called the next night. There was no question but what she meant business, for she had the checks.

"My lawyer wouldn't draw up any agreement about the other check, but that's all right between us, we understand each other," she said briskly.

"Your lawyer is right. He couldn't afford to do anything like that or he would be disbarred. But that doesn't prevent you from doing it. Just an agreement between us," I suggested.

"I wouldn't be happy with no witnesses," she protested.

"No need of that—better—because this is a private agreement between us."

She agreed to that, when I insisted that I would not sign anything on a folded sheet of letter paper which I tore in half for her.

"Are you trying to play me dope?"

She committed a little note book to the paper.

"That's just a week after we came to Paris. I'll get a witness to what you will swear that on this date he and I forced our way to his apartment and found you with Thad. After my detectives had broken in the door I rushed to the stand. All you have to do is to look frightened and admit that you thought the detective's name was you do that?"

"I'll certainly awfully easy," I said.

"You'll get your summons and I'll see to it that you are on hand. I'll have my lawyer there before court and see that you get to the right room at the right time for the hearing. That has a big pull and he's going to have this in camera."

"In camera?" I repeated, not understanding.

"That means in secret—no outsiders at all," she informed me.

EASY MONEY

"Splendid!" I agreed, and I surely meant it.

She began to laugh, in a harsh way.

"Won't Thad be boiling mad—at both of us! I'll get the decree and I'll gouge him good for alimony."

"And then marry Mr. Lawyer"? I asked, with pretended innocence.

"Marry him and lose my alimony? Don't be a sil!" she said, and again the harsh laugh.

One more, after she left, Viola came prancing out from the kitchenette.

"For Pete's sake, let me get a look—not at a twenty-five thousand dollar check!" she cried.

She looked at it.

"That's easy money," she whispered.

We grinned at each other without further comment.

Thad Parsey Dutton shortly after this, I was out with Chubb Osmund. He had returned from his trip and evidently lost no time in getting to see me.

To our surprise Forrest Malvern was with Fanny and I had thought him in Rio Janeiro or Timbuctoo.

Forrest greeted Chubb and myself with enthusiasm and put John him at his table. I saw him whisper something to Fanny as we were going to the table.

Fanny's greeting seemed rather coldly polite to me but I paid no attention to this at the time. At the first opportunity Chubb, who was Chubb left the table for a moment. Forrest gave Fanny an odd glance and she turned to me.

"Eagle," she said, "I must have been terribly jingled the other night. Forrest says I said a lot of silly things to you and of course, I wasn't responsible. I didn't mean them, so accept my apology."

"There is no need of an apology," I assured her.

Forrest seemed greatly pleased but when he was left alone with me and Chubb had Fanny, I noticed that she was constantly watching us and giving me black looks every time she thought Forrest couldn't catch her at it.

A CORRECT GUESS

All of this merely amused me. I felt that Forrest was sore because she tried to make me think he was her man, as she expressed it. She assured me that she had no hold on him and that it was only old-time friendship that made him keep up the acquaintance.

I was glad of that. I was getting rather fond of Forrest and had found him decidedly trustworthy.

My guess about Fanny Dutton was correct. Before the evening was over she followed me into the next room and as no one was there but a colored maid in the corner she turned on me. Her hatred of me was startling to be seen in her eyes and entire facial expression.

"I apologized to you just to please Forrest," she said, sharply, "but don't think I meant a word of it. If you don't want to get in real trouble you keep away from him."

I smiled at her and spoke deliberately.

"In the words of some great poet, Fanny," I said, "go cook a radish! Go jump up and bust! You are just as phoney as your apology. Forrest Malvern isn't any more your man than he is my man. Two can make trouble, so don't annoy me again or I'll have the man from the home for stray cats come and get you!"

I laughed at her and walked out before she could catch her breath and frame any comeback.

SHE SEES THAD

As I came out from the rest room I got quite a thrill, for Thad Parsons was at our table, chatting with Forrest. They were laughing and Thad was in the best of humor.

I had a daughter like Marjorie that's plenty. The only hope was in a compromise. You can see that she has a stable and conservative influence, who believes that, if a marriage is to be a success, a young housewife must know her trade. And it's true. I agree with her.

Thad Parsons argues that there is no use learning a trade unless you have the opportunity to practice it. Secure your opportunity first, she says. Capture your man!

And how is this to be done? Marjorie thinks, since Forrest has thought it all out. Plenty of money. Plenty of clothes. Plenty of attention to her pretty face and her wavy hair and her nice straight figure. Plenty of gaiety, so that she may seem the happy carefree creature that she believes men like.

Well, there's something in that. But it's a pretty unfair program, isn't it? And it's my notion that a girl ought to be able to make herself attractive thiunt during twenty-four hours a day.

Preparation for marriage should not omit pleasure and excitement. That's where I differ with Forrest. Of course I do.

But, on the other hand, that it should consist only of late hours, mornings spent drowsily in bed, endless concern with new clothes, and a sheer use of the lipstick.

I really think, old fashioned it may sound, that Marjorie could not put her unoccupied days to a better use than in learning how a family may be fed and a house may be kept comfortable and clean. She will find it humanly but dull. Cooking is one of the most fascinating of the arts. Running a household on a budget, is a highly exciting form of artifundle. And learning these important things may be combined so easily with a wholesome amount of social life that there need be no serious quarrel between Marjorie and her mother.

Preparation for marriage should entail the exercise of common sense always.

How It Happened

LIBRARY CORNER

A searching analysis of the rural situation in Canada, based on studies of typical communities in Ontario and the West, may be found in "The salt of the earth," by Rinaldo Williams Armstrong. The author's aim is to awaken an appreciation of conditions that exist and of the contributions that rural life is making to the general life or society. The book deal with such phases as Education and Rural Leadership; The Church; The Problem of leadership; The farmer and the church. This book is the first of its type to be written on the subject.

An interesting anthology of poetry has been added to literature group at the library. "European plagies" is a collection of one hundred poems chosen and translated from European literatures, by Watson Kirkconnell. Mr. Kirkconnell began his work of translation "as an expression of a great bereavement" and the chief significance of his anthology lies distinctly in the location of the type or poems which appealed to an individual in the outworking of a tragic experience. The book includes translations from fifty languags.

Two volumes contain reminiscences of Western life: "Cattle" by William MacLeod Raine and Will James, and "Sandhill Sundays" by Frank Harris. The story of cattle describes the great movement after the Civil War when the industry swept over the plains and aided the westward expansion of the United States. The period is described with all its characteristics; the cattle wars, rustlers, gambles and adventure, with the cowboy always an outstanding figure. It is hard to imagine Frank Harris in the role of cowboy, however, in "On the trail" he relates his experiences as partner on a Texas cattle king, at the age of seventeen, and as cattle driver and soldier against the Mexicans and Indians. Harris is known today as the friend and companion of Whistler Wilde and his great contemporaries, and as the author of some outstanding biographies and short stories but the gap of the seventy years on evidently vivid memories to the man, who at 75 basks in the Riviera sunshine.

The career of a great musician is described in Walter Damrosch's autobiography "My Musical life." Damrosch began his musical career from Breslau, Germany and worked his way to a leading place in musical circles. He began as conductor of an orchestra and his father's death replaced him as conductor of the German opera at the New York Metropolitan opera. In 1902 he became permanent conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Damrosch is also a composer of note, in his book he hopes to encourage younger colleagues to love and appreciate music. POOR MEMORY

Fully half of those who visit the nerve specialists complain of poor memory. Failing memory may be the only symptom that drives them to seek scientific aid or it may simply be one symptom among many others suffered from.

A mind that no longer retains ideas as formerly, and which cannot recall incidents of the past as well, always alarms its owners. Indeed, there are men and women who realize for years that their memory is not up to par, but who are so frightened that they won't consult a doctor to find out exactly what is wrong and what can be done about it.

Yet poor memory may not be a serious matter after all. Sometimes it is. Usually it is merely a functional disturbance which can be corrected.

On the physical side there are many causes why thoughts do not register clearly or why they seem to fade out completely. In general, these may be summarized in the phrase, a "run-down system."

Lack of exercise may be responsible and constipation, poor sleep or loss of sleep, too little recreation, dietary deficiencies may also, to be sure, depends for proper working upon the blood. If the blood or the muscles and organs are not as efficient as they should be, fatigue will be felt in the mind itself as poor memory.

Worry, to be sure, is another prevalent cause for an unreliable memory. The conditions that really underlies worry keeps the thought processes in a state of turmoil and hinders sorting and classification and storage of thoughts where they are readily available.

When we think of memory we naturally think of what we can recall—from our past. But memory depends upon attention to the processes by which ideas are registered in the unconscious before they are suspended down into the unconscious, there to be stored away and often called out when we want them. Memory depends upon the proper functioning of this unconscious.

Often we think of an individual is not paying strict attention to what we are saying. He may say sorrowfully hope to remember what we said. Many persons really try to do two or more things at the same time. Business executives who are rushed are apt to be absent minded. They may be thinking of a business deal about to be consummated while apparently attending to what one of the employees is saying about some person in ne way associated with the deal.

Another psychological point to be emphasized is that we remember things that are intensely interesting much more readily than things which are commonplace. The unexpected explosion in the street records itself more vividly than the sight of an automobile horn.

Then again, if an incident or idea presents itself on several occasions we remember it without effort while it presents itself only once it may pass into the limbo of complete forgetfulness. Unfortunately, events occuring recently are usually likely to be remembered than events which happened weeks or months ago.

Poor memory therefore can be cured because it is so modifiable. Old age and a few comparatively rare diseases show poor memory but in most cases the memory is not merely some adjustment of body or mind which will restore the memory as sdive as ever.

CITY COUNCIL HOLD WHIP HAND WITH RESPECT TO DAYLIGHT SAVING HERE

City Fathers Will Discuss Issue at Tonight's Meeting

TWO THIRDS VOTE

Canada Cement and Industrial Alcohol Adopt Measure

Whether Belleville will enjoy Daylight Saving time with many of the cities in Ontario this summer will be discussed at the meeting of the city council tonight. It is a question whether the by-law to be put to the people on May 18th will be on the Dominion or Municipal lists, and in some quarters it is believed the council still not suspend the rules to introduce the motion. To introduce the motion for the by-law, two thirds of the members of the council must vote in favor and it is a question whether that number can be mustered for the vote.

Some citizens are asking the council, if a vote is to be given the people, to vote on the municipal list instead of the Dominion list, the same as the vote was taken one year ago. By the vote they are willing to stand or fall, but under the Dominion list, which gives a number the privilege to vote, who otherwise would have no franchise in election for municipal office.

Today the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company of Corbyville and the Canada Cement Company at Point Anne have placed their plants on Daylight Saving time. This is done so that the heads of the respective firms can keep in touch with their head offices and all work will be properly and systematically done. The Canadian National Railway at this terminal have made no move to conform with the time used by vogue in Toronto, but the employees of the superintendent's office are quitting work at five o'clock each day. In Toronto all offices of the railway are on Daylight Saving time and that there will be no confusion in that city. It is believed that committee will be fully discussed at the meeting of the council and a decision will effect the status of Belleville with respect to Daylight time will be made.

Karrier From Point Anne Reaches Windsor

Windsor, April 27 (CP).—The motorship Canada's Karrier, owned by the Canada Cement Company, docked here Saturday afternoon, bringing a cargo of cement from Belleville. The trip up was made in 61 hours. It was the Karrier's first trip here and because of her unusual type the vessel attracted much attention as she tied up at the Windsor dock.

The Karrier, an 110-ton craft, is electrically operated, the power being generated by fuel oil engines. An unusual feature is the fact that she is controlled directly from the wheel-house. She carries a crew of 23 and has a normal speed of nine knots. The vessel was built at Middlesbrough, England, and made the trip across the Atlantic last August under its own power.

THREE BLIND MEN "SEE" NIAGARA FALLS

Niagara Falls, Ont., April 27—(CP)—Three blind men saw wonders of Niagara Falls and its power development through the eyes of their guides Sunday. The three were Captain Ian Fraser, chairman of St. Dunstan's, London; Captain Clutha Mackenzie, director of the Jubilee Institute for the Blind, Auckland, New Zealand, and Captain K. A. Baker, Secretary of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. The three had no difficulty in visualizing the great machines which turn Niagara's roar into power and light.

Fire Ignites Child's Clothing, Victim Receives Severe Burns

Bancroft, April 27.—Little Norris Fuller had a narrow escape from being seriously burned a few days ago. Playing with other children in a smouldering fire near the station, her clothing became ignited. Hearing her screams the accident foreman, Mr. M. J. McAlpine and the agent, Mr. J. M. Joynt rushed to her assistance and managed to extinguish her burning clothing in time to save her life. One leg and hip was badly burned, however the doctor in attendance is hopeful that no serious complications will develop. At last reports the child was resting easily.

SONS OF FREEDOM TOLD TO GET OUT

Nelson, B.C., April 27 (CP)—The Sons of Freedom sect of Doukhobors in the Nelson vicinity, which organization is suspected of being responsible for recent bombings and burning of schools, and who have been residing with community Doukhobors at various villages, must get out of the colonies and shift for themselves. Though they have not yet been forcibly evicted by officials of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, their goods and chattels have been seized and trucked to Porto Rico on the Nelson-Spokane highway near Ymir.

The Sons of Freedom are at present resting in their vacant houses refusing to take up their new abode.

BONES OF MASTODON FOUND IN SACKS

St. Thomas, April 27 (CP)—Sacks containing bones which are parts of a skeleton of a prehistoric mastodon were unearthed in the coal house room here recently, where relics intended to form the nucleus of a country museum are kept. A large map, done in colors, showing where the engaging forces took up their positions in the battle of Lundy's Lane, fought during the war of 1812 was also found.

GUNMEN SHOOT LEGS DIAMOND WITH GUNSHOT

Second Attempt on Life of Reputed Gangster Made Today

WAS AT ROAD HOUSE

Had Just Been Released on $25,000 Bail For Assault

Catskill, N. Y., April 27 — Jack (Legs) Diamond, reputed gangster, again was cut down and seriously injured by the gunfire of unknown assailants in the early hours of today.

Diamond, who six months ago was shot and almost fatally injured in a New York City hotel room, was shot down today under the pattering fire of buckshot, sent into his bare at a stepped from a Catskill mountain roadhouse near the village. The shooting occurred three days after Diamond had been released in $25,000 bail, pending trial for a charge of assault, second degree.

As in the New York instance, mystery clothed the shooting. Diamond himself could give no information and the companion who snatched him back into the shelter of the roadhouse as shot smashed glass and blew paint from the wall could only say that the gunfire came from the protection of deep shadows, twenty paces from the building.

The fallen "Legs", bleeding freely from wounds in his shoulder, trunk and arm, was hurried to Albany by two men who were not identified. At a hospital there he was placed in bed after examination, pending probe of the pellets. While seriously injured, his condition was not believed to be critical by those at the institution.

The State Troopers were assigned to watch Diamond immediately after police were notified of his arrival.

FIND FREE MILLING GOLD ASSAYING UP TO $300 TON

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 27—(CP)—Free-milling gold, declared to assay as high as $300 to the ton, is reported to have been discovered on the headwaters of big creek, 45 miles from Carnaghs, Yukon, according to Anton K. Honey down from the north on business.

The quartz ledge carrying the strike lies at an altitude of about 4,500 feet. The district is still covered with snow, however eight claims had been staked on what was thought to be the strike of the vein when Mr. Honey left Carmacks. A miniature stampede swept through the Yukon when news of the find spread.

Windsor, April 27 (CP).—Stickers which will enable habitual commuters by motor between here and Detroit to avoid technicalities of the law, will be issued by the United States Customs Services. A Musical Girl—A Musical Saw Miss Dietrich is a new sensation in Hollywood. It comes from the thin steel blade of a hand-saw and a carousing violin bow.

Marlene Dietrich is the virtuoso of this new means of making sweet music from this strange combination of instruments.

Miss Dietrich first studied music from young girlhood and her musical accomplishments are by no means limited to the saw and bow.

In the picture with her above is Victor McLaglen, who is her leading man in "Dishonored", her newest dramatic triumph at the Belle Theatre, Tuesday and Tuesday, matinee and night.

Maritime Province Wants to Sell Coal to Ontario

PREMIER'S VIEW

Sydney, N. S., April 27 (CJ) — "What we want Ontario to do is wake up and take an intelligent interest in our situation. We have no fear that once they understand it properly their natural patriotism will cause them to rally to our support."

That was the point of view expressed by L. J. Snell, Sydney bread manufacturer as Cape Breton Boards of Trade prepared to meet today to discuss the advisability of concerted action on Mr. Snell's suggestion that Maritime business men stop buying in Ontario until that Province increases its purchases in the Maritimes.

Reprisals

The announced intention of his firm, made public in newspaper advertisements to switch purchases of raw materials from Toronto to Montreal and the St. Lawrence Valley, where Nova Scotia coal is sold, and his suggestion that others follow suit, has met with a varied reception throughout the Maritimes opposition to "reprisals" in many cases has tempered comment on the idea.

What does Nova Scotia want? I can tell you very briefly," said Mr. Snell. "Want to Sell Coal

"We want 2,000,000 tons of additional coal orders. We want 500,000 tons of primary iron and steel orders. We want an immediate adjustment of the provincial subsidy and full implementation of the Duncan Report along this and other lines.

"What is the use," Mr. Snell asks, "of pious prating about national unity and national policies of production, while the miners of Nova Scotia are walking the streets, and Canada is importing hundreds of thousands of tons of bituminous coal a year? What is the use of talking about national policies while hundreds of Cape Breton steel workers are subsisting on community relief, and the rest of Canada is importing something like a million dollars' worth of steel a day?"

Ontario Views

Toronto, Ont., Apr. 27 (By The Canadian Press, Sydney) — Watchful waiting accurately describes attitude of Ontario industrialists today as they turn their eyes eastward to Sydney, N.S., where business men of that city gather to discuss an action which is approved almost entirely by most Ontario products.

While the majority of industrial leaders of this province have expressed the opinion the Maritime provinces are not likely to endorse the proposal of L. L. Snell, Sydney Bakery Head, for creation of an embargo on Ontario products in an effort to make the central provinces purchase Nova Scotia coal, there is, nevertheless keen interest shown in the outcome of the Sydney meeting.

Business One-Way

H. P. Duchemin, vice-president and managing director of the Nova Scotia Bar, commenting on the situation, said: "Our business with Ontario seems to be largely one-way. We buy your automobiles and manufactured articles and we buy heavily of your natural products. The argument that adequate protection on coal would increase the cost of fuel for Canadian manufacturers here is quite untenable, from a protectionist standpoint, as would be an objection in the Maritimes to a duty on automobiles."

Premier George S. Henry expressed surprise over stand taken by Mr. Snell Ontario had no objection to Maritime products or in giving them reasonable support to aid their industries, the Premier said. "As far as I have heard their trade commissioner here, Mr. W. E. Harmsby, has made considerable progress in promoting sales of Maritime goods in this province."

Premier Henry said considering the population in proportion he thought the interchange of goods between the Maritimes and Ontario was fairly reasonable. "As to not using Cape Breton coal, it should be remembered," he said, "this coal gets as far as Montreal for distribution, and it would be difficult to persuade Ontario consumers to buy Maritime fuel when they can buy fuel equally if not better adapted to their purposes which comes a shorter distance and costs less."

RADIO FANS CORNER

Well how many programs did you miss yesterday? Never mind fans you'll soon get in to the swing of this Daylight Saving time and have an extra hour at the close of the day's programs to enable you to retire an hour sooner that you otherwise would so you gain either way. If the reception continues in the same manner as it did last night all sets will be operating in the river such snapping and cracking made the evening rather unpleasant.

Say didn't it give you a shock when they announced Saturday night that our old friends Uncle Abe and David would be off the air at the conclusion of that broadcast? Here's hoping they come back to the networks shortly. We may as well start tonight from 6.15 EST. when we hear the Jesters and if WJZ refuses to come in try WHAM.

At 7.30 E.S.T. this same station Ohman and Arden the piano duo of unusual talent will be heard also a male trio and a novelty orchestra. Directly following this at 8 E.S.T. the Maytag orchestra and at 8.30 E.S.T. the Real Folks. Tonight Chesebrough residents deliver their program to St. George's Day, the British festival and a little bit of merry England, will be broadcast for the occasion. At 11 E.S.T. this station we can tune in on Cab Calloway.

WEAF offers at 7.15 E.S.T. tonight Andy Sanella and his novelty orchestra and at 8.30 E.S.T. Contessa Olga Albani will be heard as guest artist. The orchestra will be under the direction of Frank Black and that generally means good music.

The Annual Banquet of the Federal Bar Association of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut is on the WEAF network at 9.30 E.S.T. tonight and several speakers are listed. At 10 tonight E.S.T. of course, we can tune in on Florence Richardson and her orchestra and the station is WEAF. Phil Spitalny at 11.

Arthur Pryor's Military Band will be on the air earlier tonight from WABC at 7 E.S.T. and again from this station at 10.15 Leo Reisman's orchestra is heard over this station tonight at 8 E.S.T. and its mighty smart. Guy Lombardo at 9 E.S.T. and Ben Burnie at 11.30.

QUINTE BRANCH WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Quinte Branch of W.I. held their regular monthly meeting Wednesday evening, April 15th, at the home of Mrs. S. Ridley, Belleville, where they entertained their husbands and friends. The President, Mrs. James Bunnett, was in the chair and the meeting opened with the Institute Ode, followed by the Lord's prayer in unison. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. With Mrs. F. Parrot at the piano, community singing was indulged in during the evening, and many old familiar songs were sung. The annual district meeting of Women's Institute will be held June 2nd, at the Herchimer Avenue United Church. A 25 cent lunch will be served at noon by the Belleville branch. We hope to have our government speaker with us at this meeting. Mrs. Jas. Garbutt read two letters of appreciation from Mrs. Robert Garbutt and Mrs. Palmer, thanking the Institute for flowers sent them on their birthdays. A letter was also read from Mr. W. W. Reid thanking them for the flowers sent and sympathy during the illness and death of his sister Carrie, Mrs. John Donaldson gave a most helpful paper on "Our Kitchen and Labor Savers." This was very much enjoyed by all as some good suggestions were passed on to the housewives.

The Roll Call, "Verse of Poetry or Mother's Day" was well responded to, and the thought of "Mother" and "Home," brightened our ideas once again.

Mrs. W. C. Mitchell invited the Institute to her home for the May meeting. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which progressive euchre was played. The prize winners were ladies first, Mrs. A. Reid; second, Mrs. Jas. Garbutt; Gents, first, Mr. N. Brown; second Mr. R. Clarke.

A dainty lunch was served and all went to their many homes voicing Mr. and Mrs. Ridley ideal host and hostess.

POWER BILL PASSED BY NEW YORK LEGISLATURE

POUND RISES AS BRITISH VIEW SNOWDEN BUDGET WITH FAVOR HIGHEST SINCE SEPTEMBER LAST

No Unpleasant Surprises in Announcement

IS SATISFACTORY

Tobacco Shares Rise on London Market as Result

London, April 28 (AP).—The raid of Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in his budget message yesterday upon the dollar fund in New York, led to the highest price for the pound sterling on the exchange today since September, 1926.

On the theory that the appropriation of £50,000,000 from the dollar fund will reduce the demand for dollars in competition with debt payments and consequently favor the pound sterling, that until now is $4.86 in the New York cable transfer rate.

Land Tax Operation

The stock exchange viewed the budget message as satisfactory in the main, there being no unpleasant surprises and the operation of the land tax too distant to affect dealings immediately.

There was some criticism at absence of information regarding the war loan conversion or anything dealing with the huge outpourings for unemployment benefit. The effect of absence of an increased income tax was tempered with the expected demand for an increased advanced payment.

Tobacco shares were up today in the absence of an increased tobacco duty. The tobacco share market became the petrol duty was less than had been expected. Silk edge shares were supported in the absence of increased income tax and an improving exchange rate.

Sees Deficiency

London, April 28 (AP).—Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Conservative spokesman participating in the budget debate in the House of Commons today declared the budget brought down yesterday by Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, "with its sham optimism and unbalanced expenditure shows the total inadequacy of free trade to meet a modern problem."

Mr. Chamberlain reiterated his belief that a tariff is necessary for revenue purposes and as a stimulus to home industry.

Contrast With U. S.

A previous speaker Donald MacLean contrasted conditions in Great Britain with those in the United States, where the budget deficit reached $750,000,000." Arguing for free trade against protection Sir Donald declared: "There is no bread line in this country nor is there a garnished apple selling to help feed the children. This is after all but an emergency budget and I prefer an emergency budget to an emergency tariff."

SEES WAY FOR EIGHT YEARS

Premier Henry Speaks of Hydro Developments

Toronto, Ont., April 28.—(CP)—"We are prepared to take care of our needs for the next seven or eight years through the purchases we have made from Quebec during the last three or four years," said Premier George Henry, Premier of Ontario, addressing the Canadian Club of Toronto here yesterday on, Aspects of Provincial Development with Particular Reference to the Hydro Situation.

He pointed out that power was already being fed into the Niagara System of the Hydro Power Commission, relieving the strain on the generating plants in the western part of the Province, by using more power in Toronto from eastern sources and less from Niagara.

"We have been criticised for going into Quebec and the Premier," I am not going into anything of a critical nature. But I feel satisfied that we were acting as real true trustees of the people of the province when we made bargains with Quebec interests—private interests it is true—but at figures that the engineers and the commission felt to be reasonable."

N. S. WALES BANK MEASURE IS LOW

Hope Entertained This Will Solve Troubles

Sydney, NN.S.W., April 28 (CP).—The New South Wales Government Bank Amendment Bill today passed all stages in both houses and became a law immediately. This would place the bank's hopes on saving Australia from an interest payment default.

Premier Scullin said that he had been advised that he was incapable to renew or reissue $23,000,000 in treasury bills which are falling due in London June 30. The only way he would obtain funds to ship the money to London, which the bill authorizes.

SAYS ANSWER IS NOT NEEDED

Premier Bennett Likely Not to Reply to Queries

Ottawa, April 28 — Four of the questions asked by Hon. Dr. Manion, U.P.A. leader, with regard to the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company, "are such as should not be answered," Premier Bennett declared yesterday in the House of Commons.

The statement, which seems to preclude all reply to these particular queries, was made in reply to a series of six questions which Mr. Gardiner asked, in the guise of questioning the Beauharnois undertaking. Enumerating the different questions, Mr. Bennett said that the four were either of a legal nature or concerned with government policy, and, therefore, "such as should not be answered."

Mr. Gardiner, interviewed later, said: "I suppose I have to consider what he should do about the four queries. If the government hold them unfit for reply, however, all he can do is let them drop from the order paper.

PREPARES TO HOP OFF IN SEARCH

STOCKHOLM April 28.—(AP)—Captain Alexander Kreuth-Crantz, civilian flier, was prepared today for a search take-off from Malmoe, Southern Sweden to search for Augustine Courtauld, British scientist lost in Northern Greenland.

With him is Captain Ralph Rayner of the British Air Ministry. They have agreement to partake in our search for Prof. Courtauld, in spite of desperate effort to find the Scientist before he starves or freezes to death.

STORM SIGNALS ON GREAT LAKES

CLEVELAND, O., April 28—Southwesterly storm warnings for the Great Lakes were hoisted today by the United States weather bureau. Forecast strong westerly. Moderate gales for this afternoon and tonight. Diminishing tomorrow. Disturbances of considerable force centred over the northwestern part of the province of Ontario moving toward the Gulf of St. Lawrence today.

Bomb Delivered in Mail to Australian Chief Justice

Sydney, N.S.W., April 28 (CP). — Small dumsky made bombs were delivered through the mail today to Chief Justice Sir Adrian Knox, the division manager of the Bank of New South Wales, which closed last week, Warwick Fairfax owner of the Sydney Herald, and other prominent persons.

The explosion was averted, however, when a suspicious postal clerk was not revealed, warned police and they forestalled opening of the parcels.

The packets were found to contain ozes of gun powder and a ration roughly made ignition apparatus. Fortunately probably would have caused blindness or other injury but not death.

The police informant told a story corroborative by his knowledge of infernal machines, but police have not accepted it.

HOPES TO PILOT FAMOUS FATHER

The latest celebrity to join the ranks of the air students is Miss Isbbel MacDonald, daughter of the British Premier, who has chosen her father's constituency, Seaham, England, for her first lesson at Brooklands, England. Premier MacDonald's interest is evidenced by aeroplane and his daughter's ambition to pilot him on future occasions.

NEW CONSTITUTION UNDER WAY FOR SALVATION ARMY IN ENGLAND

Commissioner Lamb Gives Evidence Before Committee

London, April 28 (By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Commissioner Daniel C. Lamb, International Social Secretary of the Salvation Army, gave evidence today before the select committee of the House of Commons considering the bill which proposes to endow the Salvation Army with a new constitution. Commissioner Lamb who directed the emigration activities of the Army for 17 years, objects to the bill in certain particulars.

If the bill were rejected it would not disturb the Army seriously, Commissioner Lamb said, but it would be a disappointment to the Army. It consistently supported the election instead of the nomination of the Army Council and but the commission appointed by General C. J. Higgins to deal with the matter was thus satisfied that the High Council of the Salvation Army was the best electoral body.

CLAIMS OVERCHARGE

T.T.C. Alleges Overcharge For Electric Power

Toronto, Ont., April 28 (CP)—Two of Toronto's great enterprises have become at gen conflict, the Toronto Transportation Commission in its annual report issued yesterday, complains it is overcharged $1,000 per day for electric power, and the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission's power subsidiary denies the overcharge.

GUNMAN ESCAPES, USED HANDKERCHIEF

Toronto, Ont., April 28 (CP)—Masked with a white handkerchief, an armed man walked into a garage and attacked George Kelly, one of the night drivers before demanding the money in the place, Kerr, also employed in the garage, who was around a dozen cars, escaped from the garage and called the police, the gunman while the gunman had vanished without taking any money.

SHARE VALUES STILL SHRINK

But is Considerably Retarded in Today's Tradings

By Claude A. Jagger
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, N.Y., April 28—The shrinkage of share values was uninterrupted, but considerably retarded in today's stock market.

The recent stream of liquidation, which flooded most of the list, practically ran itself down to the industrial and specialty issues in the main. Electric power issues held fairly well and rails continued to decline only in spots.

U. S. Steel sold off a couple of points then recovered partially. The market action of the stock reflected the fairly general opinion that the regular dividend would be announced after the close of the market. In the rails, the reduction of Illinois Central quarterly dividend from $1.75 to $1 had been pretty discounted and the stock rallied as shorts covered. Pennsylvania, however, sagged to a new low since 1928. Allied Chemical, coupled with the retirement of the Nichols interests from the management, dropped 10 points to the lowest since 1928. Miscellaneous issues losing 3 to 5 points included Eastman, McKesport, Inland Steel, Case, American Tobacco B, Corn Products, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Carbon, Transamerica was a weak feature, declining 5 points on the new Federal & American and International Telephones has about 2, as did Standard of California, although New Jersey was steadier.

Trading Slackened

Toronto, Ont., April 28—Trading Slackened perceptibly on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning and the market went through an uneventful session. Prices showed small changes in both directions with the broad average about the same as tonight. The day's new contributed nothing of a nature that was not already known and price movements were largely the result of back and filling.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

New York, N.Y., April 28— Foreign Exchange firm, demand rates Great Britain in dollars, others in cents, Great Britain 4.86 9-16; France 3.92 15-16, Italy 5.23 1-4; Germany 23.81, Canadian dollars at 3-64 of one per cent discount.

NAVAL ACCORD SETTLEMENT OF 3 POWERS

France Looks to Settlement of Naval Problems with Others

EXPERTS ARE BUSY

French Will Participate in Tribute to Late Earl Haig

Paris, April 28 (CP)—Negotiations looking to a settlement between the Franco-British-Italian naval accord are still going on, Premier Laval said today after a long session of the council of ministers and French naval experts are still studying Great Britain's proposals.

No details of today's conference were disclosed beyond the fact that the Cabinet is hopeful of achieving an agreement and that two secondary decisions had been reached regarding relations with Italy and Great Britain.

The council approved a proposal to negotiate a navigation treaty with Italy and will also be participated officially in the dedication of a monument to the British Field Marshal Earl Haig at Montreuil-sur-Mer on June 30 and to make the occasion a demonstration of Franco-British amity.

In parliamentary circles it is thought that an important debate on the entire French position on the naval accord will be in the foreground, first in the Chamber of Deputies and then in the Senate and Chamber of Deputies next on May 5.

KING'S ILLNESS WAS VERY SERIOUS

London, April 28 (CP)—The Evening Standard said today in its column entitled "A Londoner's Diary" that the King's recent illness, from which he is now convalescing was more serious than the public general ly believed.

"Now that convalescence has been reached to the extent of dining out of his bedroom," the account said, "there can be no harm in revealing that his Majesty's illness was more severe than was generally supposed."

The announcement that the King will not return to London next Monday is no surprise to those in the Royal entourage, the newspaper said.

NO NEED FOR BAD BLOOD IN CANADA

Toronto, Apr. 28 (CP)—"Anything that makes for bad blood between the different parts of Canada is prejudicial to the best interests of the country," said Senator John Stewart McLennan, president and the late Publishing Co., Sydney, N.S., in an interview here on his return from a session of L. L. Sneid, Sydney bread manufacturer, who has secured a would purchase raw materials from Nova Scotia and lower St. Lawrence Valley rather than from Ontario.

BUTTER IMPORTS OFF 21,801,525 PDS.

Ottawa, April 28—Canada's imports of butter in the last seven months have decreased 21,801,525 pounds, it was revealed in figures tabled in the House of Commons yesterday by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

THREE CLAIMS ARE DISMISSED BY COURT

Judgment Given by Master of Supreme Court

Toronto, Ont., April 28 (CP)—Dismissal of three claims to shares in the $10,000,000 surplus funds of the Dominion Millers' Association was yesterday ordered by George A. Drew Master of the Supreme Court of Ontario, in the case of Dominion Mills, Ltd., of Delhi, Ont., V. H. Campbell of Chesley and M. M. Pincombe of Strathroy.

The $100,000 in question will now be shared by the Dominion Millers' Association, made in 1930, providing for the liquidation of surplus funds of which the organization found it did not require members in good standing at the time.

Ferguson Shows Danger of Foreign Investments in Canada

Leeds, Eng., April 28—Hon. G. How Ferguson, High Commissioner for Canada, occupied the luncheon table of Canadian doubts had been expressed whether Canada should or kept in the British Empire or not.

"More than three-fourths of the foreign investments of Canada came from America, Mr. Ferguson said, and less than one-fourth from Great Britain.

"You can imagine," he said, "the influence of a connection of that kind."

YOUTH CHILLED TO DEATH BY WIND AND RAIN

Port Perry Boy Had Tried to Climb Clay Embankment

LOST IN CHANNEL

Was one of Crew Employed on Dredge Clearing Channel

Port Perry, Ont., Apr. 28.—Numbed by exposure to the cold wind and rain, Ross Alexander, 21-year-old Scottish youth, perished in a vain attempt to climb over a clay embankment of a channel through the lake Scugog marsh where he had been trapped when he fell from a motor boat. The body of the young man was taken from the waters of the recently dredged channel yesterday and Alexander who had been employed on the dredge which cleared a channel left with his employer's motor boat on Sunday and not being acquainted with the operation of the craft he left without taking a paddle for emergency. It is believed he became lost in the channel and the motor failed. Without a paddle and lacking sufficient clothing, Alexander had attempted to get the boat somewhere near dry land had apparently fallen in. He managed to reach a bank of earth cast up in dredging the channel but was prevented by the slippery soil from getting a foothold to climb from the water. Finally, according to Dr. J. G. Kalbfleisch, who investigated, he had become numbed by exposure and slipped back into the water where he died.

HAVE TAKEN OFF COATS IN WEST

Doukhobors Have Notice no Violence Will be Allowed

Victoria, B. C., April 28.—The Provincial Government has sent an ultimatum to all the Doukhobors of British Columbia, warning them that from now on the law against violence will be enforced with a firm hand, and that they may expect no more consideration than other offenders if disturbances of any kind occur.

"We are taking our coats off now and going to it with a rough hand," said Hon. Colonel Cecil H. Ross, Attorney-General, in announcing the decision. Mr. H. Pooley, Attorney-General, will personally conduct the removal of all the effects of the radical Bonfire Brigade from the province. It is stated, had been under way since the proposal to deport the head of Peter Verigen, the elder, last week. An act charged to the Sons of Freedom.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY

Toronto, Ont., April 28 (CP)—Arraigned on an amended charge of theft of $15,000 from the Keystone Construction Corporation, Hesser Pike, former president, pleaded not guilty in Criminal Assizes court before Judge Costsworth today.

LAND OWNERS IN G. BRITAIN SEEK TO DETHRONE LABOR GOV'T

Fear They Will Bear Brunt of New Land Tax

POLITICAL OUTLOOK

London, April 28 (AP).—Among British land owners today there appeared an increasing determination to bring about the fall of the Labor Government and to replace it with a Conservative ministry. Upon this cleas, if the government is not displaced during the next two years, is expected to fall the brunt of a new tax of one pound in the pound valuation in land values, notice of which was given yesterday by Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden in an otherwise unspectacular budget.

Difficult Task

The task of upsetting the government on this issue alone will be doubly difficult, since a similar penalty was originally fathered by Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, and although later abandoned, is understood to have his sympathy and that of the Liberal Party, who hold the balance of power in the House of Commons.

Mr. Snowden's proposal went unexplained and several papers withheld their comment until the government's project was broadened upon. But the opinion prevailed that the proposal was inverder by Mr. Lloyd George when he was Chancellor of the Exchequer and was abandoned by the Liberals in the Coalition Government as on to dispatch Mr. Snowden's proposal as a supplementary form of taxation.

No Tax on Farming

The ministerialist Herald said that the tax was not to apply to agricultural land, but that in any case the tax would not fall exclusively upon land speculators, a great part of whose holdings consist of well-farmed agricultural lands, but would also hit the urban building speculator and people of moderate means who have bought homes for their own use.

The proposition to take $100,000,000 from the dollar exchange fund to pay for this, to balance his budget, elicited little criticism of any sort beyond being hailed in some quarters as a stop-gap measure.

LEGISLATIVE BATTLE OF 20 YEARS ENDED

Albany, Apr. 28. — The Conservation Bill committing the state of New York to state development of the water power resources of the St. Lawrence River became law today with the signature of Governor Roosevelt.

Passage of the measure by the legislature and the approval by the governor ended a legislative controversy of twenty years standing.

HAD 15 LUNGE OUT OF SEASON

Magistrate Said Unemployed Man Had no Right to Fish

PETERBORO, Ont., April 28.—"No man has any right to take fish out of season," said Magistrate Langley yesterday in police court when he fined a man named Guthrie $65 and costs for having 15 muskellunge in his possession. Guthrie was unemployed. Defence Counsel, A. O'Brien, argued that a man out of work "is morally justified in helping himself to the bounty of nature." Further offenses against the fish and game laws would be heavily dealt with, said the magistrate.

KIDNAPPING IS SUSPECTED

Border Police Watch For American Motor Car

WELLAND, Ont., Apr. 28.—City police are today investigating the reported kidnapping of a local young woman last night. WOULD AROUSE INTEREST OF BRITISH HERE

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson Makes Address at Leeds Club

CHANCES IN CANADA

LEEDS, England, April 28.—(By Thomas T. Champion, Press Staff Correspondent) — An appeal for increased British interest in the development of Canada was made by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain in addressing the Leeds Luncheon Club yesterday.

"I have been coming to England for a number of years," said Mr. Ferguson, "and I have come to the conclusion that while there might not be a diminution of interest toward Canadian interests there was a distinct lack of knowledge of Canada's importance in the world's markets as wheat and attitude on imperial questions."

It was worth serious thought from people in Britain that the Dominion was a country thirty times the size of the British Isles available for development and looking for co-operation, he said. What was happening in Canada was best illustrated by the $500,000,000 invested in Canada from our side account, $81,000,000 was American capital and barely $1,000,000 000 from this country. "Think of the tendous influence that has come Canada with its introduction of American experience.

"Here was a country bubbling over with opportunity and filled with people from the Great American Republic thinking about to take advantage of them."

"My mission is to endeavor to secure a better state of the people of Britain the importance of giving attention to the opportunities Canada offers," said Mr. Ferguson. "These opportunities are not a matter of a day of return but surely apart from that one owes a duty to the nation and the empire."

FLIER IS CUT ABOUT FACE

Plane Crashes Near Desboro in Snowstorm

Owen Sound, Ont., Apr. 28 (CP)—L. Voetel, Detroit aviator at the Warner Brothers airport here yesterday, was cut about the face and badly shaken up, when his plane crashed near Desboro, a small village south of this city. Voetel, bound for Belleville, had descended when his machine ran into a severe snowstorm and was compelled to fly "blind." He had followed the Lake Huron coast line, believing he was skirting Lake Erie. Reaching the north end of Bruce peninsula he changed his way and his course and turned about. At Desboro the flyer's gas supply gave out and it was then he made a safe landing field that his plane crashed out of control. The machine was wrecked.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS LESSENING

Hon. Gideon Robertson Says Most of Workers Over by Fall

Hamilton, Apr. 28 (CP)—"In Canada the unemployment is diminishing," declared Hon. Gideon Robertson, Federal Minister of Labour, addressing the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting held last night.

"I have experienced the most distressing winter in many years. But we emerge into the sunlight of hope at the beginning of another season. I am glad to be able to say that, before the snow falls again, our worries will have largely disappeared until his next winter."

RADIO FANS CORNER

The stronger stations were fairly steady last night but the weaker ones were wobbly, fading in and out quite a bit. However that didn't bother the majority of the fans one iota—they just tuned to another station.

The latest news radio authorities give us is that Amos 'n' Andy are going to New York. Don't worry, while there they will broadcast from one of the New York studios so we'll get our nightly program same as ever. From all reports they have signed the largest theatrical contract in history and will be seen in person beginning Friday, May the first at the New York Paramount theatre for a week and on Friday, May 8, at the Brooklyn Paramount theatre for a week. That they will not be with them on this trip but it is thought May will join them on the moving picture screen in the near future.

According to the radio schedules for tomorrow fans we're going to hear Uncle Abe and David as per usual so they need not have any worries. Also a series and tomorrow night will start broadcasting Graham Mc Namee's talk to WEAF or Chercio.

The strains of "the Ragged Vagrant" will usher in the broadcast at the hour from CKGW tonight beginning at 8 E.S.T. Selections from "The Three Musketeers" will follow with the orchestra and songs from "Maid am Sherry" will also be featured. Soprano, tenor and baritone solos will include "Beautiful Love," "Song of the Afgan Exile" and the number from Ziegfeld's "Show Boat", "Can't Help Lovin' that Man".

The Plantation program featuring Julia Sandkron and Frank Cinnuti will be heard at 7 E.S.T. tonight from WEAF and at 7.30 the Frolic bringing on Coon-Sanders Nighthawks. This program is always a treat for the fans. The happy "Rakers" threw a smart party tonight at 8:30 and at 9 B. A. Rolfe and his boys.

At 10 the dramatic sketch "The Haunted Violin" will be on. This will be presented and at 10.15 Cab Calloway and his orchestra. Jack Albin and his boys address the mike at 11. The Ramblers will be heard at 9 E.S.T. from WJZ tonight and are good for fifteen minutes of enjoyment and don't stir from this station at 7 because Paul Whiteman's Pains are scheduled. Also at 8 from WJZ White at 7:30 E.S.T. and the Southerners Quartet at 10:30.

At 11 E.S.T. from WJZ tonight a special program will be broadcast and David Belasco and Frank Gilmore will be guests of honour. Several popular and entertaining artists are also going to be heard.

Many Young Farmers' Clubs are being formed in Ireland.

OBITUARY

MRS. MELISSA HOLLEY

Mrs. Melissa Holley passed away at her home, 77 Cedar Street, early this morning after a long illness. The late Mrs. Holley was a native of Hastings County and lived in Belleville practically all her life, having been born in Carlaw 78 years ago. She was a daughter of the late Stephen and Melissa Bonisteel and the widow of the late Lawrence Holley. She leaves to mourn two daughters, Mrs. O. S. Letts of Oshawa and Mrs. Eva of Belleville and three sons, William Lawrence of Belleville, Harold S. and John W., both of Belleville. Mrs. Holley was a member of Bridge Street United Church and will be sadly missed by her many friends.

FRANCES WEST WILSON
(Contributed)

Frances West Wilson, a life long resident of Hastings County, has passed quietly away between the dark and the life beyond. Friends everywhere, both young and old, are mourning the loss of a noble soul, a Christian gentleman and a true friend.

Mr. Wilson was born in Rungrove Hastings County, on the 15th day of the year 1879 was married to Miss Rose Mallory of the same township. Coming to Sidney in 1890 he spent the best part of his life there, residing 5 years on the 3rd Con., the remainder at Bayside.

Mr. Wilson was a man who lived a full life. He gave of his best. He was a leader in the Sunday School. He played the game square.

He was a member of the Methodist Church, and throughout the years was a leader in the Methodist and the church activities at Bayside. He was superintendent of the Sunday school, and was a leader in the Epworth League and was also a member of the Belleville Conference. He was esteemed by shareholders and patrons alike, for his business ability, his keen interest in the dairy industry, his ever ready desire to place that branch of agriculture on a more efficient footing.

He was chairman of the board of trustees for S. S. No. 2 for nine years where he took a keen interest in matters educational. Early in life he associated himself with the Loyal Orange Order and had been an active member until his decease.

In politics he was a staunch Conservative.

There were six children born in the Wilson home. Three boys and three girls. They are Stanley of Trenton, Lewis Albert, of Trenton, Gloria at home, Mrs. Ernest Thompson, James Frederick on the homestead, Mrs. Harold Doherty treasurer of the Trenton Dairy Co., and Mildred, whose death occurred at Butte, Montana, fourteen years ago was the oldest son.

In this hour of bereavement, the sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mrs. Wilson and the immediate family and relatives.

Funeral from the late residence this was spent in the service of others, charities, sympathizing, rejoicing, has completed its work and he has handed the torch to other hands. Truly it can be said of him:

"Truly it can be said of this knight A good fight. He kept the faith. The funeral will be held in Bridge street church at 2.30 p.m. Interment in Belleville Cemetery. Friends and Trenton papers please copy.

MRS. F. ANN WRIGHTMAN

The death of Mrs. Frank Wrightman occurred Thursday, April 16th at her home in the 8th Concession of Thurlow, after a short illness. On Thursday, April 16th in the United Church, Marysville, the funeral service was made in Stockdale cemetery.

Rev. Mr. Ridgway of Standard Church officiated, assisted by Rev. Mr. Doggett of the United Church, and the Rev. Mr. Loft of the Free Methodist Church, all of Frankford.

The deceased was a member of the Tabernacle Ladies' Aid. She was born on March 8th, 1902, in Murray Sidney and resided in that district. Later she married and moved to Thurlow Township where she made many friends. The family returned two years ago and took up their home at the 9th Concession of Murray.

NANCY CARROLL and PHILLIPS HOLMES in "STOLEN HEAVEN"

Suspense-Filled Drama Comes to Belle Tomorrow

"Stolen Heaven" is the title of the new Nancy Carroll starring picture. It is a vivid, tense, exciting drama of a great love that overcomes the insurmountable barrier of an unconquering life. In many ways it is the finest picture that Nancy Carroll who, with finesse and skilful interpretation, has made a name that already is being acclaimed the best of her career. Playing opposite Miss Carroll and portraying another excellent role is Phillips Holmes, who scored his in "The Devil's Holiday" and more recently in "The Criminal Code."

The story of "Stolen Heaven," is unusual and highly dramatic. It reveals a boy and a girl who, meeting under circumstances romantic run away together to take one grand fling with the money the boy has stolen in order that he may have winter resorts partaking of pleasures they never dreamed existed. It discloses with sympathy and understanding the growth of their love for each other. And finally, with the money nearly gone, it reveals the girl in a desperate attempt to hold the man who doesn't want to live after the money is spent; her frantic efforts to devise a plan to save the man she loves from the law. From beginning to end, expertly wrought situations dovetail into expertly wrought situations, building suspense and interest, finally culminating in a climax that is exciting and convincing.

As the girl, Mary, Nancy Carroll creates one of the finest roles of her career. In "The Devil's Holiday" and "Laughter," Miss Carroll revealed an ardeness of charm and personality as a talented and comely young person who is leading one of the screen's best, which has greeted her more recent efforts.

The boy is played by Phillips Holmes, the young man of promising young actor who, with Miss Carroll, established himself with reputation in "The Devil's Holiday." More recently he was seen on the screen in the great Paramount play, "The Criminal Code." In "Stolen Heaven" Holmes again is cast to advantage in a fine, full dimensioned role. As the result of his performance in "Stolen Heaven" Paramount has awarded him the much coveted role of Clyde Griffiths in the screen adaptation of Theodore Dreiser's famous novel, "An American Tragedy," which Paramount will shortly put into production.

Members of the supporting cast of "Stolen Heaven" include Louis Calhern, Joan Carr, Dagmar Oakland and O. Aldon Pearce.

"Stolen Heaven," which was directed by Victor Schertzinger, will be shown at the Belle Theatre tomorrow and Thursday, matinee daily.

HEAVY LOSSES BY HIGH WIND

Tobacco and Tomato Growers Suffer Heaviest of Losses

WINDSOR, Ont., April 28.— Of—High winds of the past few days have done considerable damage in Essex County. Tobacco and tomato growers have sustained the heaviest loss, the extent of which has not been fully determined.

Winds took covers off hot beds in which tobacco and tomato plants were being started in preparation for field planting. Freezing weather cut the plants but as yet it is not possible to say just how badly they were damaged. The loss will run into thousands of dollars at least according to men closely in touch with the situations.

CAR FAILS TO MAKE CURVE

Hamilton, Ont., Apr. 28 (CP) — When their car failed to negotiate a "S" curve on the Guelph highway, one mile north of the village of Freelton last night, Hugh McKenna, prominent lawyer of this city, and Alex Johnston, insurance adjuster, were hurled to instant death.

The two men were returning from Guelph to Hamilton and the car is believed to have been travelling at its fairly rapid pace. When they reached the curve beyond Freelton, the automobile went out of control.

Marks on the road revealed it skidded two hundred feet, then left the pavement and crashed into a tree. Then it hurtled off and proceeded farther along the side of the road to end up with a second impact against a tree.

Both the two passengers were hurled through the roof of the vehicle and remained on the ground forty feet from the car. After the crash, the automobile burst into flames and was consumed.

BARNEY OLDFIELD DESCRIBES DEATH DEFYING CAREER TO BELLEVILLE ROTARIANS

Famous Driver Says He Was in it For The Money

HIS ACCIDENTS

Thrice Married, Says He Was Always Willing to Take a Chance

The one and only Barney Oldfield, perhaps the most famous death-defying automobile racer the world has ever known and yet with all one of the most careful, because he is still living while the majority of his confreres have passed on, was the special guest of the local Rotary Club at its regular weekly luncheon in the Hotel Quinte yesterday. Barney received a thunderous ovation when he climbed to his feet to speak. Although he is not a fluent speaker, he held the attention of all present for about half an hour while he told of his experiences on different race tracks on the North American continent since 1902.

"I have not entered the game for the thrill of it," he said modestly. "I was a poor boy and to speak frankly I went into the auto racing game for the money I made out of it. I have made a name for world records. I used to go from town to town, from city to city, making those records and yet I am willing to leave a record that I could break the next time I came around.

"I have taken many chances in my time, I must admit. I have been up in an aeroplane, and I have taken a boat ride. Also I have gone down into the sea in a submarine and I have been married three different times, those being the risking chances I have made my fortune by wrecks, filling the satisfactor here and there. I have been in only two really bad accidents during my career and one of them happened on a Sunday in St. Louis, at the time of the World's Fair in that city. My car crashed through a fence and killed two spectators. Of course the accident gave me wonderful publicity in Monday's papers. Those accidents are always worth a lot of publicity. When people ask me if I have had any really bad accidents I always say 'Well, I'm alive, aren't I?'"

His Bad Luck Career

Barney Oldfield has had a long and varied career. He first started in the automobile racing business in 1902 with Henry Ford, winning a famous race for Ford in that year. Previous to that he had in a racing bicycle and motor-cycles for seven or eight years. "I had several spills from motorcycles and bicycles," Barney said, "so I figured that I might just as well have them in a car as I had never been hurt. I guess I am kind of a fatalist."

In Barney's first race he travelled five miles in five minutes and forty-eight seconds, a remarkable speed for those days when cars were not built exactly for speed. In those times gasoline was not as good, but ration was poor and tires didn't last nearly so fast. Barney raced against such famous drivers as Winton, Harkness, White and many others in that first race. "That race started me on the road to fame," he said. Barney told of some of the famous cars that he had driven during his career, "Old Dragon" and the world-renowned "999". "999" thousand times did he make drive the "Green Dragon" at St. Louis", he said, "and since that date twenty-five thousand people have shaken hands with me and told me that they rode in the car with me at one time or another. Considering there were only one seat on the car, you don't exactly know low they could. The only person who ever did ride on the car was 'Kid' McCoy, a prizefighter."

In1910 Oldfield drove a car as fast as 156 m.p.h., quite a speed even for these days. The first time, he said, that he ever drove the mile under a minute was in 1901.

LADIES' AID AND W.M.S. CONVENED

The regular monthly meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. and Ladies' Aid of West Huntingdon was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Symington, Thursday afternoon, April 22nd.

The meeting was opened by the devotional exercises, conducted by several of the members.

The roll call "Hope" was responded to by all. Minutes, and correspondence were read with and adopted as the various committees were received.

The allocation for this year is to clothe a number of children of one of our western [illegible] schools.

Mrs. Richard Hagerty and Mrs. Marley Haggerty were in charge of the study Book, each [illegible] part, in the [illegible] chapter.

The meeting c[illegible]ith singing, "Shed Be Thine" and [illegible] by Rev. Mr. Reid closing prayer.

A liberal collection was received. Lunch was served [illegible] and a social [illegible] spent.

H. B. FETTERLY IS SPEAKER AT LEAGUE DINNER

Splendid Program Given by Young People of Tabernacle

At their annual banquet last evening, the Young People's League of the Tabernacle Church had as their guest speaker, Mr. H. B. Fetterly, superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf. The affair which was attended by about fifty was held in the League room of the church. Small tables were most attractive in their appointments of yellow and white carnations and daffodils adding to the charming arrangement.

Mr. K. Bird, president of the League, was chairman for the evening. Community singing started the programme and was followed by the toast to the King, which response was made by the singing of the National Anthem. After a delicious menu had been served an interesting program was given as follows: Mixed duet, Dorothea Newson and Jessie Smith sang a duet, "Whispering Hope." Miss Rachel Perry proposed the toast to "The Church" to which Rev. A. McCollum replied. Vocal selection, Ida Barlow and Kathleen Tuck delighted the guests with a vocal duet. The toast to the league was then proposed by Miss Phoebe Alexander and the president, Mr. Bird responded.

The speaker of the evening, Mr. Fetterly, was introduced by Miss Ethel Horton. Mr. Fetterly, speaking on the work of teaching the deaf, gave a very interesting and stimulating address, giving his hearers a new idea of what is being accomplished along these lines. Mr. Fetterly told of the fine work and contentment for the purpose of teaching the deaf, of the growth of the institution and of the work of the modern developments in this study. The value of Radio for that in teaching was stressed, and some of the recent installations were mentioned. A vote of thanks, moved by Miss Dora Osborne and seconded by Ralph Donaldson, was tendered the speaker.

A vocal duet by Mrs. Harry Symington accompanied by Mr. Ken Parks and replies were made by Miss Irene Fetterly and Miss Clire Dale. Mr. Gerry Wright and Mr. Hendershott, which brought to a very enjoyable evening to a close.

ROTARY SHOW HERE NEXT WEEK

Those of an older generation will still remember the days when "Tabasco" to a minstrel show, the marvellous rhythm of a real old time darkey and the musical talent of this city, has been marshalled for this event, and the best the citizens can offer will be worth your admission fee. You have seen Tabasco minstrels before and you know and you will readily admit that the Rotary Minstrel Show will be something that will be remembered long after it is over.

It is funny. It is musical. It is refined. The children will enjoy it as well as the grown-ups. Come one and all and live again in the atmosphere of Minstrelsy.

WANT NO ROAD OIL

Twenty-two Albert street residents living between Victoria avenue and Pine street, have petitioned the city council to refrain from oiling that portion of the street this year. The petition has been referred to the public works committee.

No Grist Mill Is Wanted By Residents on Everett Street

As a result of their inspection and investigation, the special committee composed of Aldermen MacMillan and Woodley and City Engineer Mott have submitted a report to permit in the restricted area of Everett street a grist mill on a lot owned by E. T. Harry. The report signed petition from residents and property owners on this street and on adjacent streets to oppose the granting of a permit to erect a grist mill, saw mill or any other kind of factory. It was then taken into consideration in the decision of the committee.

The committee also decided to ask the owner of the lot to remove some deposited material from the westerly twenty feet and also to clear up the

MAY SETTLE D. S. PROBLEM WITHOUT VOTE

Matter Laid Over for Two Weeks by City Council

PARLEYS BEGIN

V.O.N. Committee is Voted $800.00 For Two Years Work

Daylight saving which was expected to be a matter of debate was discussed in committee but not in council yesterday and the question was laid over until May 11th meeting of the council. Deputations had waited upon the council in regard to this question.

Ald. Woodley said in council: "Although considering the daylight saving by-law, we find that there are one or two little things which have arisen, therefore we are leaving the question over for two weeks from tonight, that will be May 11th."

Mr. F. B. Smith, speaking for the Retail Merchants' Association said "that explanation is quite satisfactory."

Ald. Reegy: "I might say that we are going to try to get together so that we may not need to have a vote. There is no opposition leaving the council chamber to meet another organization to see if we cannot do without the expense of a vote. The by-law will go through at the next meeting of council, with the exception of the daylight saving or authorizing a vote."

West Bleecker Parking

Parking will be prohibited on the east side of Coleman street. A recommendation was made that it be prohibited on the west side, but it was an error in writing the recommendation. So parking remains allowed on the west side between Front and Moira streets.

A sidewalk be constructed on Hillside street (east side) from Holloway street to the north side of lot 9 under the Local Improvement Act.

A grant was made of $800.00 to the V. O. N. committee for the year's work.

The request of T. W. Day for the transfer of a permit to operate a pool room on the west side of Front street to the west side of Front street was granted.

The V. O. N. was granted the privilege of holding a matinee in the city hall on the 6th of May 20th.

It was decided to purchase a Ford truck chassis, model 17 with special roamble somie for the use of the Water Works Department, the La France Co., Ltd.

Mayor Ellis and Ald. Woodley were were reappointed to the Mothers' Allowance Board.

The Frontenac Paper Box Co. complained in a letter about the assessment of $2250 on their factory.

Communications of the Mayor, Aldermen Woodley, Hill and Maclean, Aldermen Meagher, Sprackett and Keller with regard to a lot on South George street.

Members present were Mayor Reid, Aldermen MacMillan, Marshall, Armstrong, Wallace, Dunker, Woodley, Hill, Kinnear, Griffin, Sprackett and Wetten.

PROPOSE TO BUILD CEMENT ROAD IN CITY

Delegation From Council Went to Cornwall Today

A delegation of the city council including Aldermen William A. Wood, Jr., George G. Thos. J. D. McMillan, City Engineer Charles A. Mott, Ald. George Sprackett and Harold Armstrong left early today for Cornwall, where they will be guests of officials of the Canada Cement Company. The members of the city council went to the eastern city to view a piece of cement road that is being built in that town by the construction company, with the idea of using the same material in the building of the proposed road on North Front street and on Moira street from Coleman street to St. Charles street on East Moira. Although nothing definite has been done, it is understood the council intend to construct the road by local labor instead of having it contracted for by an outside company, which will give employment to many men throughout the summer.

It is hoped the council they have sufficient ability to complete the road without soliciting outside help. The advertisement for the work was posted on the newspaper yesterday and if the delegation bring back a satisfactory report of the road being built in Cornwall, it is likely that cement will be used for the building of this piece of pavement contemplated.

FIRE BENEATH EUROPE'S BUBBLING CAULDRON MUST BE EXTINGUISHED AT ONCE

Ed. Otter, National Council of Y.M.C.A. Speaker at Y's Men's Club

A stronger international relationship, was the solution advanced by Ed. Otter of the Canadian National Council of the Canadian Y. M. C. A. in speaking to the Belleville Y's Men's Club last night as a means of ending the turmoil which is existing particularly among the countries of Central Europe. Mr. Otter recently returned from a conference at Geneva, Switzerland, where he had an opportunity to study the problems which are facing the world at the present time. He painted a very gloomy picture and the only possible warfare it the Communist and "red" elements are not suppressed.

Twenty countries were represented at the Geneva conference and every month was spent in a study of the problems briefly concerning Y. M. C. A. workers. He visualized five basic causes for the present situation, the first, the alarming points of friction which have developed between France and Italy.

"Soviet Russia is the cause of great concern for the whole European population, to make the whole world safe for democracy and the psychological effect of Russia on the remainder of Europe is really breeding alarm."

Germans Resentful

Mr. Otter stated that among the German people, a reaction has set in in which they feel that a great injustice has been done them by the Versailles Treaty. "There is an uncertainty in the Republic and the system of reparations payments is resented. The Communist group is gaining in power and if the dissatisfaction continues to grow, she may become "red" and repudiate her debts. The whole question is one of understanding."

The speaker made reference to the disarmament conference as a focal point. "We must become intelligent on this question. Millions are being spent on this feature and Britain is the one country which has appreciably reduced her armaments. Despite her the world's great economic needs fabulous sums are devoted to materials of destruction rather than to constructive.

The minority question is another one which is causing anxiety. "Czecho-Slovakia is a part of Hungary, yet the latter country can get nowhere without the smaller branch and there is ill feeling between the two."

Home of Democracy

He took his listeners through a tour of the ancient city of Geneva, which is known as the original home of democracy in Europe. "That tradition has been carried down through the centuries," he said.

He predicted a gradual and sure development of the Y's Men's movement throughout the world. It is their growth on deep foundations. The Y's Men's Club was organized in 1920 and has been a great factor in Y.M.C.A. work.

Mr. Otter prefaced his address with a few remarks on the local club, stating that the early years, he thought that the branch bids fair to prosper and become greater. He gave a hearty looking and worthy president here in Ald. Woodley and said the success of your club is sure to succeed."

Mr. Otter was introduced to the club by International President Norton Thompson while Joe Shortt entertained with a few humorous stories as the speaker.

It was announced that the club will hold a rummage sale on Saturday, May 9th, and each member is to donate not more than his share. Two matters which were brought to the attention of the club were the proposed formation of a knot-hole club among the younger boys of the city who need the senior baseball games, and the proposed increase in membership dues. Earl Boyd, a new member of the club, was introduced by Ald. Harold Wallers. Mel Blanchard was song leader with "Sparky" Adams at the organ. George Turnbull, silver medalist in the correct competition at the Canadian Exhibition, gave two man-

FRANKFORD YOUTH ALLEGED TO HAVE SHATTERED WINDOW AND ROBBED DRUG STORE

Charles McCartney, 18, Held For Break-in at Village

HELD AT TRENTON

Police Found Gun in Possession of Accused

Charles McCartney, 18, a South Immigrant living near Frankford was arrested by Sergeant White and Constable Miller of the Trenton police on Monday morning after he had allegedly broken into a drug store owned by Dr. Ketcheson in Frankford. He appeared before Magistrate Ponton's court and was remanded for one week in custody at request of Chief Bain and then brought to Belleville County Jail, where he was incarcerated.

The young man was a regular bold bandit being well equipped for the job. He had a sack-of about the size of a flour sack in his possession and when apprehended by the police, threw it away but it was recovered by the police and will be used in evidence against him at his trial. It is alleged that McCartney played a lone hand in the affair. He is said to have thrown a stone through the window and took a number of articles from the store. Articles he made his way to Trenton. It is reasoned though the way streets attracted the attention of the police. They have no identification of the man nor did they know that a robbery had been committed in Frankford at the time. They apprehended the man and questioned him regarding the matter. He had a shotgun away and upon taking him to the police station for searching, it is alleged they found the articles stolen from the drug store in his possession. Soon after the police were informed that the Madill store had been broken into and that the man was held for the robbery and so charged, when he appeared in the police court on Monday.

CONCLUDING ORANGE EUCHRE WAS HELD

The concluding euchre and dance of the season under the auspices of the Orange Benevolent Association and the Loyal Orange Lodge was held last night. A splendid crowd was in attendance, refreshments were served and a delightful time was had by the dancing which followed. The winners of the euchre were: Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Dr. Mrs. Gordon Ellis, Mrs. Wm. Ellis, gentlemen, Mr. W. Anderson, Mr. Tom Anderson and Mr. Gerry Connors. The rummy prizes were won by Mr. Ellis and Mr. Goodchild.

CAPTAIN PAYNE TO LEAVE FOR TORONTO

Captain Payne of the Anglican Church Army who has been station ed at Bethesda Mission for the past months, will leave next week for Toronto where he will be engaged in mission work. He will be succeeded by Rev. Mr. Lowe of Toronto. Captain Payne has done fine work here and none more effective than his Sunday afternoon services. Capt. Cannifton where every Sunday evening he has addressed and delivered also in connection with St. Thomas church. His many friends will regret here during his stay in Belleville.

OPEN NIGHT AT Y

Tonight is "Open Night" at the Y.M.C.A. This feature is held at the conclusion of each year's activities to demonstrate to the public what the Y.M.C.A. has been trying to accomplish. There will be exhibitions of gymnastic work, swimming pool, recreation room and bowling alley. A short programme will be presented to the public. There will also be moving pictures. The Y.M.C.A. has been doing fine work among the young and adults, and a good night's entertainment is expected.

CHIEF IS P.C. CLERK

Chief Constable Alex. Kidd was last evening appointed by the city council by bylaw, police court clerk for the city of Belleville without salary.

OPERATION OF FILTER PLANT

Consulting Engineers Praise Qualifications of Mr. Davison

Operation of the new filter plant and the choice of operator to carry on the work formed the contents of a communication from the firm of Gore, Nasmith and Storrie of consulting engineers on the water purification plant. The letter addressed to the mayor and members of the city council reads:

Re Operation of Filter Plant.

"Under date of March 7th, we advised in a letter to Mr. Austin that Mr. Davison should be appointed chief operator on the new filter plant. We understand that your council has acted on that recommendation which is approved by Mr. Austin.

"We learn that there is some doubt in the minds of some members of the council regarding this appointment and we will offer considering the matter that we ought to write you in reference to same.

"As stated in our communication to you of March 7th, it is not an easy thing to secure a filter operator unless one had to be brought from another municipality with actual experience in the operation of filters. This could not be done in our judgment unless a considerably higher salary was offered than is to be paid to Mr. Davison.

"During the course of the construction work we had an opportunity of becoming acquainted with Mr. Davison, who was assistant engineer Mr. Argo, together with your Mr. Austin, had ample opportunity of studying the man and his capabilities. We unanimously felt that the right thing to do was to advise that Mr. Davison be appointed to that position and since writing the above referred to letter we are more than ever convinced that our recommendation was a sound one. As far as we can judge in the meantime we feel that the city had made no mistake when they appointed him and we feel satisfied that Mr. Davison will turn out a first class operator under the guidance and instruction that he will receive from consulting engineers during all of the plant in operation.

"Should however, anything develop that is to the contrary to our recommendation is not justified then you have a free hand and we will then be in a position to advise you accordingly.

"Our experience indicates that it is a very difficult thing to get hold of a first class operator and if our judgment is right we feel that Mr. Davison should be given a trial for a type that will prove satisfactory on permanent appointment. The type of individual required for this work is not one that a great deal of publicity has to be placed on his shoulders and not one subject to the whims of the public or water supply used by the citizens is at stake.

"If you should have further difficulty regarding this matter we shall be glad to visit Belleville and discuss same with you at any time that can be arranged to suit you.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) Gore, Nasmith and Storrie.

William Storrie.

FARADAY

Michael Faraday, whose anniversary was commemorated the other day by the unveiling of a stone by means of a trans-Atlantic telephone, was the discoverer of the induction of electric currents on which modern electrical development is largely based. Writers have been appraising his work and among the tributes to his genius is that paid by the editor of the Hamilton Spectator, who says:

"Faraday's life is an inspiring instance of the triumph of genius over all obstacles. He was born poor, the son of a blacksmith who had migrated from Yorkshire to London. He himself was apprenticed to a bookbinder and it was only by chance that his career was determined. Being of a studious disposition he was taken by a customer of his master to hear a lecture given by Sir Humphry Davy. According to the Encylopoedia Britannica, it was as a result of the notes which he took at this lecture (and which he submitted to Sir Humphrey) that he received his appointment as director of the laboratory of the Royal Institution of Great Britain. He later accompanied Davy on a European tour and from this time for the next fifty-four years he was associated with the work of the institution.

"In spite of the great eminence he attained in the world of science, Faraday remained very modest, content and happy in the exercise of those kindly feelings and warm affections which he had cultivated no less carefully than his scientific powers.' He was deeply religious, affording an example of the humility of the greatness of intellect in the fact of spiritual truths. 'Just as man is placed above the creatures around him,' he wrote, 'there is a higher and far more exalted position within his view; and the ways are infinite in which he occupies his thoughts about the fears, or hopes, or expectations of a future life. I believe that the truth of that future cannot be brought to his knowledge by any exertion of his mental powers beyond that they may by that it is known to him by other teaching than his own, and is received through simple belief of the testimony given. Let no one suppose for an instant that the self-education I am about to commend, in respect of the things of this life, extends to any considerations of the hope set before us, as if man by reasoning could find out God.....I have never seen anything incompatible between those things of man which can be known by the spirit of man which is within him and those higher things concerning his future, which he cannot know by that spirit."

TOMATO COCKTAIL

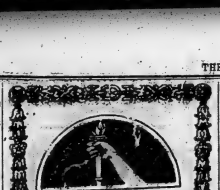
The tomato cocktail has ousted the California orange concoction in the taste of many people in this province. The rage has struck Belleville.

Credit for the movement, which is stressing the use of our own tomatoes, goes to the Rev. Mr. Kennedy, whose support of the agitation is showing such a large public following as a result.

REV. JOHN LYONS

The appointment of the Rev. John Lyons, vicar of St. Thomas Church, to the rectorship of the parish of St. John's at Prescott, came as surprise to his parishioners and to other friends of Belleville to whom he is so well known. In his four years in this city, Mr. Lyons has not only filled the duty of rector over the parish of St. Thomas but has found time to manifest an interest in many public movements. His departure for Prescott several months hence, will lose to Belleville a clergyman whose influence has been felt for good since he entered this city.

ACQUAINTANCE WITH WILD LIFE



A plea for squirrels in small numbers is made by a writer in the New York Times, who says that, "squirrels are sometimes a nuisance and bird-lovers accuse them of stealing eggs and driving desirable birds from their nests. But when they are not too numerous in a neighborhood, they are a cheerful attraction and they offer city children a needed acquaintance with innocent wild life."

Boys of the villages and smaller cities are more fortunate than the lads who live in the great cities, for the former can, with a few minutes of walking, find their way into the native haunts of the squirrels, with the growth of interest in animals and birds through scouts and other organizations, the squirrel and other forms of wild life are safer than ever from destruction. To find these little animals in their native woods is a treasury of experience to the boys.

A minister visiting the house of an Irishman in Cork, was shocked to see a pig walking about the kitchen, and remarked sternly:

"What's worse, Pat, than to have a pig living in the house with you?"

"Shure," said Pat, "to go an' live in the sty with the baste!"

MY PORTION
By Aline Michaelis

No share of worldly riches
Have I in life possessed;
But good my portion, which is
To me worth all the rest.

For with an April hour
Upon a wind-swept hill,
With any nobly flower,
Primrose or daffodil,
Care from life's page is stricken,
No happening seems amiss,
As though my pulses quicken
The sudden tides of bliss.

For me, a white star swimming
Upon the deeps of night
Can fill my soul to brimming
With wordless, strange delight.
What more could fortune bring me
With any worldly good?
The meadow-lark can sing me
Into life's gladdest mood!

CHICAGO METHODS IN LONDON

The stories of gang warfare which come out of Chicago have been regarded in England with something of the attitude of a small boy toward a penny thriller — a combination of horror and entertainment in commenting on the defeat of "Big Bill," The London Morning Post congratulates Chicago on this gesture condemning the old lawless regime, but warns Londoners against pointing the finger of reproach at Chicago.

Various raids in the Chicago manner have recently occurred in this city. One took place in the early morning in Kingsway, a main thoroughfare in the heart of London. A road-sweeper was held up at the point of a pistol, while two men smashed a shop window, snatched a number of watches and escaped in a waiting car. This was the fourth in a series of raids at the same place within the past six months, an d there have been similar hold-ups in other districts of the city.

The most alarming feature of this outbreak is the fact that the robbers have drawn guns and threatened to use them. In London, policemen do not carry firearms, the truncheon being their only weapon. So far they have proved extraordinary efficient in maintaining order. The flourishing of pistols in the law-abiding streets of London seems almost incredible.

The speed of the automobile getaway is a factor of such hold-ups to encourage bandits and baffle the police. But in her pursuit of criminals England has two aids which Chicago lacks—Scotland Yard and Edgar Wallace.

WALTER WIGGINS, of Bancroft, ex-Warden of the County of Hastings, visited Belleville during the week-end, says, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, there is no snow at Bancroft. Walter says he has tulips up in his garden and growth is farther advanced there than here. Walter always was a good booster for the north country, and is one of the most progressive citizens of that progressive town of Bancroft which has nothing else but progressive citizens, is famed for its gravel pits and just recently put in an electric lighting system. MAN IS DIFFERENT

A hen is not supposed to have much common sense or reasoning power.

Yet, every time she lays an egg, she cackles forth the fact.

A rooster hasn't got a lot of intellect to show; But none the less most roosters have enough good sense to crow.

The peacock spreads his tail and squawks, the pigs squeal and robins sing;

And even serpents know enough to hiss before they sting.

But MAN—the greatest masterpiece that nature could devise,

Will often STOP AND HESITATE—before he'll advertise.

THOSE WHO CANNOT SPEAK

"There are many things that those with humanitarian feelings long to do, but not the least of these worthy tasks is carbs for man's animal friends. The dog and the horse, described as man's best friends, and the other animals that are pets or servants, would sometimes lead a sorry life if it were not for the band of men and women that interests itself in their welfare.—Chatham Times.

HELPING AUTHORS

A critic of the Canadian Authors' Foundation objects to financial help for writers, on the ground that genius flourishes best on poverty and adversity. A land that provides millions for old-age pensions and other help or workmen who are unemployed is not the kind to leave men and women of genius in dejected distress just because they have had no means of making their wants known.—Toronto Globe.

REPUDIATED BY RUSSIANS

The Russian Soviet will never reach the rank of modern civilized countries if it repudiates pure science, and yet that is what it proposes to do. In an address before the conference for planned organization of scientific investigations, Work of Moscow, Nikolai Bulkarin is reported to have said: "So-called pure science, that is, science devoid of contact with practical life, is a figment. The whole fabric of science investigational work in capitalist countries is a weapon in the hands of capitalist magnates and governments and their industrial and military organizations."—The problems before us require a decisive and categorical answer. With bourgeois traditions of old academism and their conservatism, the task of solving immediate, practical difficulties."—Toronto Mail & Empire.

THE MESSENGER OF YOUTH

A youth not old enough to vote passed long enough in a tour of the continent to permit Toronto and others to sit at his feet while he solved the riddle of the Universe and kept aside the problems of the world. From Rome and Berlin and Paris and in America, he roamed over a wide field distributing a choice collection of contemptuous adjectives as he went.

The Sunnybrae speakers, fired to the pitch of by his exuberant qualities. The ability of his English shock combines with the assurance of his American progenitors to produce this typical scion of the Churchill line. Winston Churchill has not, like Baldwin, to regret that his son has gone over to another camp. He is a chip off the old block, and follows in the path his father blazed in his own youth.

That audience which gathered to hear the unripe utterances of the boy in his teens is perhaps not altogether surprising. For though hereditary titles may have been pitchforked out of Canada along with false bank notes and other tokens of distinction, the glamor of a distinguished name still has its attraction for many among the native born.—Toronto Telegram.

COST OF SNOW REMOVAL

Comparatively speaking, last winter was a mild one, with little or no fall of snow, yet the cost of removal was greater than in other years, the total expenditure being about $2.-000,000. The facts, as given out at the City Hall, will occasion no surprise to the citizen who observed the excellent manner in which the streets were maintained in the condition of wheeled traffic. It may be stated that never before was so much attention paid to snow removal, there being no hold-ups of traffic following the heaviest storms. The improvement in the automobile's mechanism has made it possible to use it throughout the year round even in such northerly cities as Montreal, and the public demand for suitable winter roads has met with increasing efficiency by the civic authorities. — Montreal Gazette.

HOW A WOMAN LOST 17 LBS. FAT IN 4 WEEKS

Feels Better and Looks Better

She Gives Good Advice to All Fat Folk

Here's a letter that should be read by every overweight woman.

When stout women can lose fat at the same time gain in energy and vigor.

Gain in charm and vivaciousness. Gain a healthy complexion and have eyes that sparkle with buoyant health. And at insignificant cost—isn't it time to use common sense?

Please read this letter carefully—Gentlemen:

"I first saw your advertisement in a local paper, and decided to try Kruschen Salts.

"I started taking them every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

"I had tried going on a diet, but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 226 lbs., and at present, which has just been four weeks, I weigh 209 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better.

"I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many of my friends; in fact, have a number of them taking Kruschen Salts.

Pastors Urge Church Ban Upon Warfare

A total of 12,078, or 62 per cent of 19,237 who responded to a questionnaire sent to 35000 ministers expressed the opinion that the churches of America should go on record as refusing to sanction or support any future war and 10,477 or 54 per cent stated that their present purpose was not to sanction any future war or participate as an armed combatant, according to the May issue of The World Tomorrow out today.

The results of the questionnaire will be discussed at a semi-annual dinner of the publication to be held tonight at Mecca Temple with Carrie Chapman Catt, Harry Emerson Fosdick and John Haynes Holmes among the speakers. Ethel Page, editor of The World Toomorrow will preside.

Of the eight questions directed to the clergymen were concerned with their attitude on war, on entrance into the League of Nations and an armed intervention.

Members of the following denominations were circularized: Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian, Congregation al, Protestant Episcopal, Baptist, Disciples of Christ, Reformed, United Brethren, Evangelical Synod, Unitarian and Universalist and a scattering of miscellaneous sects.

Summaries of Replies

The summaries published are those of replies from 19,272 clergymen. While most of them made either affirmative or negative answers some were in doubt and a small number failed to answer one or more of the eight questions of the document.

A summary of the replies to the questions follow:

Do you favor the immediate entrance of the United States into the League of Nations? Yes, 12,760. No, 4,300.

Do you favor military training in our public schools and civilian camps or universities? Yes, 2,574. No, 16,-449.

Do you favor substantial reductions in armaments even if the United States is compelled to take the initiative and make a proportionately greater reduction than other nations are willing to do? Yes, 15,-449. No, 3,000.

Do you believe that the policy of armed intervention by other nations of our governments to protect citizens and property of Americans abroad should be abandoned and protective efforts confined to pacific means? Yes, 12,017. No, 3,809.

Do you believe that the churches of America should go on record as refusing to sanction or support any future war? Yes, 12,078. No, 4,732.

Are you personally prepared to state that it is your present purpose not to sanction any future war or participate as an armed combatant? Yes, 10,477. No, 5,801.

Could you conscientiously serve as an army chaplain in the event duty in wartime. Yes, 8,700. No, 6,626.

Do you regard the distinction between "defensive" and "aggressive" war as sufficiently valid to justify your sanctioning or participating in a future war or defense? Yes, 8,216. No, 7,130.

Group Backing Questionnaire.

The Questionnaire was sent out by the following: S. Parkes Cadman, Harry Emerson Fosdick, Daniel A. Poling, W. Russell Bowie, John Keirs Sayre, Ralph W. Sockman, Reinhold Niebuhr, Kirby Page, Sherwood Eddy and William Pierson Merrill.

Among those who held that the churches should not go on record as refusing to sanction or support any future war were Bishop Stires, S. Parkes Cadman, J. H. Haldemann, New York; Bishop Weller, Fond du Lac.

Those who said they would not sanction any future war or participate, Harry Emerson Fosdick, Ralph W. Sockman, W. Russell Bowie and Reinhold Niebuhr of New York; William L. Stidger, Boston; Bernard Iddings Bell, Annandale; Bishop Paul Jones, Yellow Springs, and A. Ray Petty, Kansas City.

The Commonweal, Catholic layman's weekly, commenting on the questionnaire, states that among the important religious bodies not represented in the war questionnaire are the Jews, the Lutherans, the Southern Baptists and the Catholics.

As to how far individuals or groups may be justified in condemning all wars as immoral. The Commonweal states that "it would seem to us that this is a position impossible for the Catholic Church to assume; for that Church serves with the utmost care of mankind in holding that war is not always evil, and that a just war, such as one of defense against aggression, may be supported as a strict duty of citizenship."

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS CONVENED HERE

At a special meeting of the executive of the Belleville Holstein Breeders' Club held at the Belvidere Hotel, Belleville, on Tuesday, 14th, Mr. H. B. Faith, director of the Extension work in agriculture, and a number of interesting subjects were discussed. Among these were: (1) The importance of breeders testing their herds for R.O.P. (2) Entering and having their herds classified. The inspector will be here in June only once in 6 months so breeders are advised to send in their names at once. (3) Zone men will be appointed to help the field man and the sales agent. (4) Field men will be appointed sales agent. Sales agent is to collect 5 per cent on sales and pay the club back 4 per cent to be his commission—to be paid after sale is made.

(5) To have inspectors in the district to select cattle for local fairs.

The following were appointed zone men:

Hastings—Jas. Carter.
Brighton—E. O. Butler.
Carrying Place—E. E. Bonter.
Consecon—Fred E. Nelson.

The word "agnostic" was coined by Huxley so recently as 1869.

Gyproc Says

"KEEP OUT"

to

Fire, Draughts, Rodents

GYPROC Wallboard that does not burn is the way of least expense when you desire to make alterations in your home, store, factory or on the farm. Use it for all walls, ceilings and partitions.

Gyproc is made from gypsum rock into sheets 4 to 10 feet long, 4 feet wide and ¾ of an inch thick. It nails and cuts as easily as lumber with a minimum of waste or muss.

Gyproc is fire-resistant, easily and quickly erected, structurally strong and has insulation value. It is draught and vermin-proof as well as fire-safe.

Because it is ivory-coloured, it does not require decoration (when panelled) yet it is also a suitable base for Alabastine, Kyptex or wallpaper.

Consult your nearest dealer-to-day. He will gladly supply you with a direction sheet on Gyproc. Or write for the interesting, free booklet, "Building and Remodelling with GYPROC".

TODAY'S VERSE

A GYPSY HEART

She'd a gypsy heart, and home-staying feet;
She loved camp fires—and an ingle seat.
When summer rain shook its tambourine,
She snapped her fingers—and locked the screen.
She caught up her hair with a high, jewried comb—
Then whisked off whites to angel foam.
If stars invigled her into the night,
She returned, like a moth, to the candle light.
For the Romany call in the south wind's throat,
A kettle's hum was antidote.
She'd a gypsy heart, but it couldn't pull.
Her home-staying feet from their chimney stool.

Ethel Romig Fuller.

Fashion Fancies

By Alice Alden

It's smart to be smart and wear the newest tailored designed for spring use. One of the loveliest models yet to hand is of white organdie with a beaige jacket of flowered taffeta with wide frills at neck and cuffs of white organdie.

Get a good rest and wear one of the delightful nighties that abound in the shortest shops. Restful indeed is a nightgown of rose crepe de chine with bands of finely tucked rose georgette at neckline, waistline and short puffed sleeves.

FREED FROM COURT RESTRAINT VICTORIA MAY FIND BLISS IN HOMELAND

"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown." This fact has again been brought home to Queen Victoria of Spain, as she bade farewell to the land over which she had ruled with Alfonso XIII. From the simple life of a British Princess, she had a quarter of a century ago become a part of the court of Spain, puzzled by its restrictions and formality. The road from carefree Kensington Palace to Madrid was not a path of roses. A mother of sitling children, her first-born suffering from an obscure blood disease, her second son a deaf-mute, it would appear that her cup of sorrow had been filled—without being forced to exile from the land over which she had ruled. Perhaps fate will deal more kindly with the dethroned Queen who may return to the land of her youth, far from the strife that was here as Queen of Spain.

The Beauty Box

By Helen Follett

Recommend exercise to the lazy dollies and they offer a swell-elegant alibi. They say they don't want muscles. The word muscles brings on shakes, shivers and goose flesh. Foolish ones. Exercise is as necessary for the health of a woman as it is to the health of a man. She needn't get biceps, knots in her legs or welts on her ribs. But exercise will fill out her chest so her clothes will look right, grow curves where curves should be, insure against flabby tissues, such as a fiddle string neck. Upper arms that bulge and abdominal fibers that have gone saggy will reform.

Spiral ringlets are new tricks. Make you think of poke bonnets and pantalettes. The bob is neither short nor long,nor long, but short enough and long enough to form curls at the rear, with which one can design ravishing and beautiful coiffure arrangements. Tres chic, if you ask us, especially for evening with the bouffant frock and new hair ornaments that are guaranteed to put the other woman's eye out.

Pursing the lips, shrugging the shoulders, rolling the eyes! You see 'em done every day—one or the other, or all the third. Mannerisms they are, and not to be countenanced, considering that they are silly affectations. The grand girl of this day is real. She is as she is. No fake element in the composition of complexion, hair or figure. Aye, nor affectations in her manner. Counterfeit make shift has gone into the discard, along with fuzzy hair, corsets, cherry red lips and fainting spells.

Dry hair should be brushed vigorously every night. 'Tis perfidee for lack of oil. The hair brush will extract the natural lubricating element the enthusiast sought at the hair shop. After the shampoon, a small quantity of white vaseline should be rubbed into the scalp.

Do you know that a mixture of powder and cold cream—much more powder than cream, naturally — makes a good application. Rub it into the skin with the finger ends. In ten minutes apply more powder. Elegant. Try it.

To one side please. It is the new rule for the smartest evening frocks. One of the advance models is of black and white, extremely rich and distinctive. There is a series of three one-sided flounces, each with a scalloped edge to give the new silhouette. There is a square neckline, one fabric almost, or strap, the other of tiny white violets and a straas belt.

A PRACTICAL POLISH FOR EVERY NECESSITY

By Hannah Wing

The cool last winter left its mark on more than the laundry bill, walls, woodwork, curtains and draperies and rugs. It has also made necessary an unusual amount of silver polishing. Silver services of every form have suffered from the affinity between the sulphur in the soft coal fumes and silver. The result is the familiar yellow brown discoloration which always appears when silver comes in contact with the sulphur in the yolk of eggs, etc.

There are many fine silver polishes but those who prefer the easiest method resort to the "electrolytic" in which aluminum with the help of salt and soda draws the tarnish from silver. This method, it has been found, removes no more silver than polishing and is much easier. However, it gives the dull satiny finish, not the bright burnish of polish, because of course, he used on oxidized or gun metal effects in silver.

The method is this:

Add one tablespoon each of washing soda and salt to each quart of boiling water to be used, and put the liquid either in an earthen bowl with a piece of aluminum, or in an old aluminum kettle or one of the pans designed for the purpose. Put in your silver so that each piece touches the aluminum, and if it is but slightly tarnished you will be able to see the results at once. If it is badly tarnished, or has been unused for a long time, it may be left in for five minutes.

For the copper or brass, now much used for their decorative qualities, there are many excellent polishes which accomplish the result easily and effectively if the directions given by the manufacturers are followed.

A soft brush, small and narrow, is particularly desirable for the use of silver polish in order to accomplish results—and also to remove polish around etched designs, initials, and handles. A soft cloth, of course, must be used for both cleaning and polishing, and all polish should be washed off and the metal dipped in scalding water before it is given the final rubbing, no matter what method or material is used for polishing.

So much for cleaning. But how to keep the polish from tarnishing is another question. Clean and copper rubbed with oil so that a thin film coats the metal will remain bright much longer than those untreated. A thin coat of clean shellac may also be applied if one doesn't mind the somewhat artificial appearance this has on close examination. In desperation some housekeepers have even used shellac on silver — other than flat pieces, of course. The shellac must be removed with alcohol before the silver is again polished. Even shellac does not insure against tarnish but it does hold it at bay for several months.

Fashionably Speaking
By Lucille

Dear Readers:

Our views as to the appropriate way of housing books have considerably changed of late years, if for no other reason than that we desire to be bound by tradition. The first step toward freedom came when people saw that it was no longer necessary to pack shelf upon shelf until they reached the ceiling and step the ladder was required to reach the topmost books. In place of this wall covering of leather-backed bindings came the low, built-in bookcase, also the delightful piecemeal case that expands shelf by shelf as the owner's library grows.

But the modern fur-titure designer saw the decorative possibilities of a bookcase placed not necessarily back to the wall but projecting at some handy angle into the room. Formed of square, or oblong, boxlike partitions of diminishing lengths, instead of a flat top there is a series of steps at different heights. On these may be placed vases of flowers or objects of art which show to better advantage than when seen in a row on the ordinary low flat-topped bookcase.

One suchdesign made an attractive fitment in the corner of a room near a window in a small flat. Under the window was placed a wide shelf which formed a study or writing table, with reference books conveniently close at hand.

A delightful variation of the small bookcase in boot form has three sections. The side ones have double recesses and the centre one three. The latter, being higher than the side sections, forms a pedestal for a lamp or bowl of flowers. The three partitions are hinged together which allows of their being arranged in a variety of ways. When placed in a room conveniently near a chair they look as pleasing as they are useful. Made of laminated wood, this case is lacquered in a delightful Chinese blue or in some other color to match the room.

The book table is an up-to-date model that is very popular at present. One of the latest designs is made round instead of the usual square shape, the triangular recesses between for holding folded newspapers.

Newspapers are less easily disposed of than books. To make good this deficiency, a little oblong table is provided with a couple of undershelves for papers and magazines. Another idea is a comfortable easy chair into which newspapers can be popped.

Fashionably yours,
LUCILLE.

"THESE HARD TIMES"

These hard times and scarcity of money makes it more important than ever to economize. One way I save on clothes is by renewing the color of faded or out-of-style dresses, coats, stockings, and underwear. Dyeing, or dyeing! I always use Diamond Dyes. They are the most economical ones by far because the never fail to produce results that make you proud. Why, colors look better than new when redyed with Diamond Dyes. They never spot, streak, or run. They go on smoothly and evenly, when in the hands of even a ten year old child. Another thing, Diamond Dyes never take the life out of cloth or leave it limp as some dyes do. They deserve to be called 'the world's finest dyes!'

CARNERA SIGNS WITH SHARKEY FOR BIG BOUT

Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, Will be Scene of Heavyweight Scrap

New York, N.Y., April 28— The United States very shortly is to outdo itself in the growing of two "recognized" world heavyweight boxing champions.

The country has boasted at least one heavy title amount since it was a country, but only the most optimistic ever dreamed of possessing a pair. There visions and dreamings at last is to be rewarded.

Jimmy Johnston, Capper Brooklyn promotor, yesterday gathered all the boys in the same room and signed-sealed, very formally, that Jack Sharkey and Primo Carnera had signed for a 15-round championship engagement the night of June 10 at Ebbets Field.

That makes it a pair, as Max Schmeling and Young Stribling already were under contract to meet at Cleveland, July 3 for the very same purpose. There is, technically speaking, only one available heavyweight title, but to boldly the question. Four of them are going to fight for it, just the same.

Both Sharkey and Carnera attended yesterday's gathering here. Where es was absent was the photographers took pictures of all concerned and the whole thing was announced the big time. The two gladiators sat across the board and glared at each other between forkfuls.

The elevation of Sharkey to receive the sanction of the New York Athletic Commission, which automatically recognizes Schmeling as the heavyweight champion, but prospects were that little would be done in the matter to at the regular weekly gathering. The commissioners have indicated they will give the match their blessings, however, and it is thought they have a big card over Carnera, supposedly paving the way for yesterday's announcement.

Carnera originally signed an agreement to meet the winner of the Schmeling-Stribling bout at Cleveland, but he since has repudiated that contract with the Illinois Madison Square Corporation that backed him, threatened to take the thing to court. William A. Brady, Carnera's President, declined to comment on the situation.

LONDOS MUST SIGN ARTICLES

Leading Contender for Title Refuses to Grapple

Chicago, Ill., April 28—Unless Jimmy London, one of the leading contenders for the heavyweight wrestling championship signs within ten days to meet Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former champion, wrestling matches will have to be billed as "exhibitions" instead of "contests."

Lewis and his manager, Billy Sandow, yesterday gave a certified check for $5,000 with the Illinois State Athletic Commission, as a forfeit for a match with Londos to clear up the championship muddle. Walter Miller, manager of Londos, indicated he would not consent to such a match, claiming General John V. Clinnin, chairman of the Illinois Commission, and President of the National Boxing Association, to state that wrestling would suffer a loss of status unless the match is held somewhere.

General Clinnin also said members of the N.B.A. would be asked to take the same action concerning the grappling game.

FIGHTS

PHILADELPHIA, April 28. — Lou Massey, Philadelphia, beat Harry Billman, New York, 130 pounds, decision ; Pete Latzo, 176, Scranton, beat Matt Algic, Philadelphia, 173, 10 rounds.

Masters of Oarsmanship —By HARDIN BURNLEY—

Cornell has so much confidence in Jim Wray, old master of oarsmanship, that come what may, he will be renewed for five years. He's now in the midst of mounting another Poughkeepsie varsity winner or powerful contender in that Hudson River classic which will be rowed next June. Wray has been head coach at Cornell for three years. He has failed to produce a varsity victor until 1930, but he did make to improve the quality of the Ithacan sweeps. Many think the water giant was lost to Cornell's in "Pop" Courtney's years until he restored Wray's regime.

While Old Master Wray is working with the stalwart remnants of last year's Poughkeepsie championship crew, Chuck Logg—a young Kerr in the same craft—is starting to shape a winner at Princeton which has yet to win notable laurels in 8-oared events.

This year, Old Nassau is optimistic, chiefly because its 1931 varsity will be made up largely of last year's unbeaten freshmen. A line on Logg's hopefuls can be secured at Lake Carnegie today when the Tigers compete on the Charles River with Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Princeton's varsity will enter only two other regattas—the annual Carnegie Cup event with Yale and Cornell on the Housatonic River, May 16; and that for the Childs Cup with Pennsylvania and Columbia on the home waters Princeton has.

An interesting detail of Princeton's crew activities is the experiment Logg is making with a so-called "Cornell Dutchman' type of shell, which the Ithacans used so successfully last Spring. This broad, squat racebost is ten feet shorter and six inches wider than the standard 8-oared craft. Logg likes the new boat principally because of its comparative small displacement of the shell when planted.

The Tigers, incidentally, seem to have a powerful junior varsity crew Some critics rate it on a par with the No. 1 eight. But few, if any, consider Princeton in the same class with Cornell just yet. However, a big surprise may be in store when Logg's "Flying Dutchman" rowers meet Cornell and Yale here Saturday. They'll be tested then by their look-alikes from the two best varsities in the East.

"BAWLS and STRIKES"

The weather did not permit the Intermediates to practise last evening, although a few players were on hand to give it a try.

No doubt they will be out in force as soon as the weather permits. Manager McLean has a host of players who are battling for a place on the club.

The Juniors were cheated on Saturday by the weatherman, but are now waiting for "Old Sol" to brighten up the situation.

There is a great chance for Junior players in this town this season, as there are no less than three teams in that series, namely, Moose, Point Anne, and B.A.A.A. Juniors.

The Belleville Baseball Club met last night and after a lengthy meeting decided that they needed finances, so that it now lays in the hands of Ex- fans whether or not we have baseball in this town.

It is too bad that "Hoot" Gibson has decided not to play ball with the Seniors this season, as it is the chance of a lifetime to get to the Olympic Games via baseball.

We are glad to see the Xi-Y League get away to such a good start last night. All they need now is the support of the fans.

There will be no radio broadcast of the first four hours of the 500 mile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway, but the last hour on the Memorial Day program will be on the air from coast-to-coast network.

Glenn Wright, the great shortstop of the Brooklyn Dodgers is modest in his greatness. When the discussion of the National League's best shortstop came up, Glenn said: "Travis Jackson, I reckon, is the better fielder, hits better, and has the stronger throwing arm. He is the best shortstop in the National League."

Bob Shawkey, assistant manager of the Jersey City club, has spent all of his time to date developing pitchers for the club.

Walter Johnson, Washington manager, par-took in the same training exercises as his men this spring and reduced from 215 pounds to 195 pounds.

Detroit has held membership in many leagues. It was a member of the National League last year, won the championship in 1887. Later it was in the International, Northwestern and Western.

This happened in a big league game: The first baseman made a fine stop of a grounder, but when he came up with the ball the pitcher had failed to cover first base. Next, he'd try to hit standing at the mound.

"Hey, what's the matter with you?" said the first baseman.

"I dunno," said the pitcher. "I was in a trance."

ONLY ONE JUNIOR "PAT" NEXT YEAR

REGINA—Crafty Kenny Campbell, smoothest junior netman in Canadian hockey, will be the only member of the 1930 Canadian championship Regina Pats playing junior next season. All the rest will be over age, but Kenny has another year to go. Of this year's crew, which lost in the western final, six will pass out of the junior picture by stress of years.

But the Regina defence will be intact. Both of Campbell's "shoot-" Stinson and "Curly" Kerr will be eligible — they are even younger than the net-minder, in fact.

It is the attacking division that will be hit by graduation, as Lloyd Dexter, Lorne Stephen and Ralph Redding, all veterans of the Memorial Cup roster and who formed the first-string attack this season, will pass out of junior next season. Two of the "kid" crew will be in the same boat, namely Percy Moore and Al Lockhart. A sixth "ineligible" will be "Red" Curtis, who was reserve defence man during the past season. All the rest will be over age, but Kenny has another year to go. Of this year's crew, which lost in the western final, six will pass out of the junior picture by stress of years.

But the Regina defence will be intact. Both of Campbell's "shoot-" Stinson and "Curly" Kerr will be eligible — they are even younger than the net-minder, in fact.

BAMBINO STILL ON THE SHELF

Expects to Return to Post in Boston Series

New York, N.Y., April 28—Babe Ruth, the battered Yankee boss gives up all hope of being able to play against the Philadelphia Athletics in the three-game series starting here Thursday, but is confident his injured leg will have improved sufficiently for him to suit up against the Boston Red Sox on Sunday.

It was in a game with the Red Sox just a week ago that the Yankee closer received the jolt that sent him to the hospital.

Artie McGovern, Ruth's trainer, started working on the big fellow's bruised thigh yesterday and reported the opinion he would have him back in the game by Sunday.

"Probably he will have to take it easy for a time," said McGovern, "it might be several weeks before he is fully recovered."

GIRLS' SOFT-BALL MEETING AT Y.M.C.A.

A meeting of the Belleville Girl's Softball League has been called for Friday evening, at the Y.M.C.A. at eight o'clock. President H. G. Woodley has issued an invitation to all managers, players and fans to be present as he intends to have an open meeting, so that all may express their views. It is the opinion as to whether or not this league will operate this season, but all are interested should be in attendance.

The Sport Eye Column

Conducted by FAIR PLAY
Boosts and Fair Criticism

Old Man Weather surely has put a crimp in the ambitious ones who had good intentions about practising their favorite games, and while the cold days are being manicured for further food, sport is marking time.

Maybe the "Pors" troops will take to the one spitlled, "What a Golfer Can't Buy." It may be old, but it's good.

My spade are a wonderful neglected set.

But no better I find are the drives that I get.

My irons, like Jack, are the best that are made,

Every one I am told, is a handfashioned blade.

I have bought everything boast and prow, can suggest,

But still in the blinkers my best comes to rest.

With all that is needful my bag is equipped,

With the finest of leather my shafts are all gripped.

And whatever else may be tangled Jupiter I see.

I buy in the hope it will sink puts for me.

But every contrivance of steel and of wood—

The fact still remains that my golf ain't no good.

There are caddies who shoot in the seventies, they say,

With the odd one abandoned and given away.

There is nothing that's made for the game I lack—

I have all a golfer requires, but the knack.

And I sigh as I tackle each new fangled device,

What I need is a pro. who can sell me a niblick.

Big league stories about "rookies" at ball training camps are always good reading, but a little incident happened just recently—too good to let go by.

Of course Walter Gerow, manager of the Cubs, knows that he is anxious to secure new timber, and when a youngster, a local baseball players always listens well.

A short time ago the report came out that a new short stop from the Maritimes was in town. This young man called on Mr. Gerow who during the interview learned:

He played short stop—but would rather start in the outfield and work in.

Where he played ball (in the Maritimes, of course) the short stop only covered the first and second, and the second baseman sometimes strayed between second and third. The third baseman was wild.

In the early season, always toothings easy, did not do any batting or tripping—claimed he had a chance to play in hockey—did not know what an amateur card was.

Regretted very much he had none of his many pictures with him. He had taken the trip just to keep the girl's from taking them away from him.

One of his real good pictures was taken on a game of soft-ball bats in front of him.

Wanted a pair of shoes or, date fo' interview so he could start at once.

Can you beat it? How many bet that Mister Gerow signed this prospect from the Maritimes? It may be a short stop of class, but if he had ever already made a greener fields, I will wait till I see him in the Cubs' line-up before I gate myself to advise a going him

Probably Stew. Pender, Harold Legate or Bill Rankin, of the B. A. A. A. Juniors, Belleville, will be also an interview as to his hockey ability.

NEURITIS—LUMBAGO SCIATICA

You can expect and get instant relief when you rub in Joint-Ease

One man wrote a letter and in it he stated: "Joint-Ease knocked me out last evening—this morning I was well." Joint-Ease is like that. It has helped out thousands of lumbagers over night — it has brought speedy relief to tens of thousands of folks people who have suffered with Sciatica and Neuritis.

Joint-Ease is something splendid to always have on hand. It gets instantly to the seat of trouble—Joint-Ease is made in Canada and sold by all stores that sell good medicines — generous tube 60 cents.

BOSTON BRAVES FORTIFY HOLD IN NATIONAL

Yankees 3rd Straight to Senators in Twelve Innings

GIANTS WON

Seibold Turns in Second Shut-out for McKecknie's Team

(By Gayle Talbot, Jr., Associated Press Sports Editor).

Those might prove that the Boston Braves are playing over their heads as the saying goes, but there is no denying the fact that Wm McKechnie's disciples are producing the finest brand of ball in either league at the present writing.

The Braves have sailed by since opening day, and there are the Braves set in front in the National League. Generally speaking they have thrown down in the second division. They are getting consistently great pitching. Are fielding most perfectly and hitting in the pinches. No matter what befalls them later on, they have had a fortnight of great fun.

By shutting out the Pirates 2 to 0 in the first of their series yesterday, the Braves put the same and a half between themselves and the second place Chicago Cardinals, who dropped another to Pittsburg 5 to 3.

Old "Socks" Seibold, who could do no better than break even in 32 games last season, was master of the third straight victory and his second shut out of the season. He allowed but scattered hits. Not only that, but he singled in the third and scored and proved the winning run on Rabbit Maranville's single. Seibold has been scored on just twice in the two innings against the Robins, Giants and Pirates.

Four runs off Flint Rheem in the first inning chased the former idol of the pirates their second straight over to the champions' dressing room. French went all the way and success only choked off a two-run St. Louis rally in the ninth. The Cubs are in a rut and the Cardinals, who are 8 to 1 favorites to win the pennant, are showing. Vergez cracked his second homerun of the year, a double and a single. The game was over to all intents and purposes after the first inning, when the Giants scored six runs off Joe Shaute and "Pea Ridge" Day.

Washington and New York, playing the day's only American League game, struggled through twelve innings before Goslin's single finally nosed out 9 to 8. It marred the Yankees' fine work. Jimmy Reese, Welnert, third Yankee moundsman, pitched his first game and won when he cracked Sam Rice in the ribs with a pitched ball. Harold Byrd, New York outfielder, hit the only home run of the contest.

Two games scheduled for junior circuit were stopped by the cold wave, that were the Cubs and Reds in the National.

Ralph Shinners Played Major Role With Three Homers

(International League by the Associated Press).

Ralph Shinners big left fielder of the Buffalo Bisons, has set a batting mark that other international league sluggers may shoot at the rest of the season.

Against the Jersey City Skeeters yesterday, Shinners helped himself to three home runs and a double in five official trips to the plate, sufficient to win the contest, 7 to 5, and to boost the Bisons into a tie with Montreal for second place the League standing.

Shinners was the shining light of a 10-hit attack on three Skeeter pitchers. All three of his circuit drives came with the bases empty. Jersey City obtained the same number of hits off Fussell and Gould. But there were no homers in their collection.

In the only other game that excepted the cold spell, the Baltimore Orioles belted an 11 to 6 victory off three Toronto pitchers to strengthen their hold on first place. By dropping two out of three to the Orioles, Toronto skidded into fourth place. Dewy Southren and Don Heffner led the Oriole attack with three hits apiece.

It was too wintry for play either at Reading or Newark.

LEO MCINTOSH PRESIDENT OF KI-Y-BASEBALL

Entries Must Be in Hands of Secretary by May 16th

At a fairly well attended meeting held at the Y.M.C.A. last night, the Ki-Y Baseball League was organized for the coming season. In the absence of Mr. Walter Gerow, President of the Xi-Y League, during the past year, the chair was occupied by Mr. C. E. Shorti, Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. Representatives of the Wannis Club the Y.M.C.A. and the boys extension were present.

After dealing with the business pertaining to last year's league, the chairman called for nominations for officers for the coming year and the following slate of officers were appointed by acclamation:

President—Mr. Leo McIntosh of the Stephens Adamson Co.

Vice-President—Mr. Green of the King George School Staff.

Secretary-Treasurer, Y.M.C.A.

Executive to be composed of the above officers along with Messrs C. H. Desmond, Ed. Logan and Harold Cross of the Kiwanis Club; Mr. M. P. Hall Chairman of the Baseball Committee of the B.A.A.A., Mr. J. E. Shorti of the Y.M.C.A. and a representative chosen by each team entered in the league.

Mr. Walter Gerow was appointed Chairman of the Hardball section and Mr. Edward Logan Chairman of the Softball Section.

A grounds committee composed of Messrs. Olmstead, Cross and Morden was appointed to look into the matter of grounds available for both hard and softball.

The Chairman announced that an Umpires Instruction class for hardball umpires will be opened at the Y.M.C.A. on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. All prospective umpires and managers of teams are invited to attend this meeting.

As in the case of former years, teams were not represented in any great force at the opening meeting of the league, but one team was represented for the hardball section while six appeared for the entry forms for the softball section.

Rosters must be signed and presented by several additional teams to be formed in the membership of the Y.M.C.A. and likely by some Church organizations. Any boys interested who may also anticipate entering the league for either hard or softball may advise the Y.M.C.A. representative, right away in order that the league may get away to an early start. Entries will be received and players' certificates may be signed at secretary of the league upon application at the Y.M.C.A. All entries must be handed into the secretary before the 16th of May and teams will not be allowed to sign additional players after May 31st.

OLD TIMER IS SCORING STAR

Jack Walker Plays Out on Pacific Coast

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Youngsters take in the Pacific Coast Hockey League but they don't corral all the thrills. Old Jack Walker, 39 years of age, is playing his first season in the Green Lakes a quarter century ago and has been in pro ranks for the greater part of the time since. He is scoring his scoring list, just two points back of the leader.
Portsie, of Portland Buckaroos, headed the line, with 17 points, followed by Arras, Vancouver, and Bayaze, Seattle, with one point less. Connie Carr, former Calgary junior who jumped to Seattle pros, notched but eight points, but equalled St. Patrick's record of 20 years ago by playing out the season without a penalty. He is reported to be due to join New York Rangers next season.
Following Walker on the scoring list are Conn, Portland, and Anderson, Seattle, 14 points. Middleton and Evans, Portland, and Stuart, Seattle, have one point less. Stuart is not a game new to Edmundson, Vancouver, Coupes, Portland, and Belleisle, Seattle.
Going down the table, others are: Hughes, Vancouver; Smith, Seattle; Vancouver, and Connors, Seattle, 10; Brennan, Vancouver, and Arnott, Vancouver, 9; Carr, Vancouver, and Armstrong, Portland, 8; Shiller, Vancouver, 7; Brennan, Vancouver and Mahar, Portland, 6; and Teel, Portland, 5; Hughes, Vancouver, Arnott, Vancouver and Houlton, Portland, 3; Smith, Vancouver, and Dyck, Seattle, 2; Houbregs, Seattle, and Runge, Portland, 1.
Anderson, Seattle, led the league in penalties, with 101 minutes, and Hughes, Vancouver, was second, with four minutes less.

SCHNEIDER CUP PLANES GUARDED

Southampton, Eng.—Guarded and mysterious, a small workshop just outside of town here is housing Great Britain's sombre Schneider Cup racing planes through which the nation hope to secure the third leg and permanent possession of the trophy.
Because of changes in the regulations governing the contest, a machine which is necessary for a competing plane to pass certain navigation tests, designed and built especially for the contest, is now a necessity.
The secret hints of "50 miles an hour greater speed" have appeared from time to time in the British papers, but no concerning these hush-hush seaplanes, but such information is carefully guarded.
R. J. Mitchell, who for years has been Britain's leading designer and builder of high speed air and seaplanes, is supervising the work of seven aircraft engineers working in the workshop but refuses to talk about the progress being made on the ship.
Under Mitchell's direction the British won the contest two years ago for Great Britain are being planned to make a "clean sweep" and signed to reduce wind resistance to the minimum, vertical and horizontal, but beyond that, little information is forthcoming concerning the other details of the changes.

ARDEN MOTORISTS KILLED BY TRAIN

Kingston, April 28.—Three residents of Arden—Preeman Newton, Newton Reynolds and Alexander Scott—were instantly killed near Arden station, when struck by a Frontenac County, Monday afternoon, when the motor truck in which they were riding was struck by a westbound C. P. R. train, less than half a mile from the Arden station, which is three miles from Arden.
Coroner Dr. Herbert Sharbot of Lake, has ordered an inquest on the bodies, to be held at the home of Mr. Rigney.
Freeman Newton, owner of a garage in Arden, was the employer of the other two men, and they were driven to Kingston, where, on the railway tracks in the village, to run a stove, intending to take it home to a house which Newton was building, but everybody thoroughly enjoyed the dancing after it.
Mrs. Priscilla Blanchard returned home on Saturday after spending a couple of weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall.
Mr. and Mrs. Percy Green have moved in Mr. Albert Marsh's house in Shannonville and will work for him this summer.
Mr. Jas. Hall came to reside with Mr. and Mrs. George Toppings.
Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Brant spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Reid.

LEADS LEAGUE SCORING GOALS

Gordie Brydson Scores 47 Goals in 47 Games

KANSAS CITY — Gordie Brydson, veteran son of Saskatchewan, has found a happy home at last. The ex-Hamilton, ex-Toronto, ex-Leafs forward, playing his first season in the American League, has piled the loop in scoring this season. 47 goals in 47 games. The mark is a new league record.
Biggest offensive threat of the Chicago Shamrocks, who finished fifth in the seven-team league, Brydson set up his goal-a-game record by 94 goals and 13 assists. The best previous scoring total had been set up last season by Larry Goyer, with 38 points.
Brydson's total placed him eight points ahead of Laurie Scott, ex-Saskatoon midget forward now with Duluth Hornets. Scott, with 38 goals and 31 assists, was two points ahead of his team-mate, Jack Leswick, who had 36 goals and 13 assists. Two points farther down in fourth place finished Lew Hutchins, Jerry Hunsperger, with 21 goals and 13 assists.
Three Tulsa players, Leo La France and Frank Sheppard, another former Leaf, and Ralph Bowman, piled up with 34 points with another Tulsa player, Burr Winkler, trailing them by one point. Williams' 33-point total was the best among the Tulsa men. Eddie Bouchard, of Buffalo, and Donie MacDuffee, of Kansas City, were the leaders with 32 points, while Gus Forslund, Duluth, and Ken Doraty, Tulsa, had 29 points.
Several new records were made in the league this season, including a 15-goal-scoring spree by the Oklahoma Tulsa club. The Oilers tallied 152 goals to break the mark of 96 made last year by St. Louis.
Aided by the stellar net-minding of Freddy "Flash" Brooks, Kansas City Pla-Mors bettered their last year's league record for safety, only allowing only 62 goals in 48 games. Byrne, who holds the world record of seven consecutive shut-outs, held opposing teams scoreless on seventeen occasions.
Altered rules relative to overtime periods and penalties affect success figures show. During the season on hand a total of eight games which failed to reach decisions. Only one game ending in a tie during the American League played 44 tie games. Under the league's rules, games overtime 20 minutes if necessary.
One of the seven clubs in the league, Omaha, was without a tie game, while Duluth had but one deadlock to its credit. Tulsa, Kansas City and Buffalo each had four ties; Tulsa and Chicago three each and Minneapolis two. There were only 1,000 penalties assessed during the season, and Kansas City competed in all four.
Minneapolis Millers achieved the longest consecutive winning streak recorded in the league, thirteen defeats. The Millers scored seven consecutive victories, the second dropped seventeen consecutive games.

Just Playing Around

BY LEWIS ALLEN BROWNE

I thought Thad was going to reach out and hold me—make me let him finish his reproaches, but he evidently changed his mind, for as I reached my chair at the table he bowed to us and departed.

"I wonder what Thad was doing here," Forrest said. "I wonder if he has some girl with him? He ought to lay low until after his divorce hearing."

"He didn't say. I suppose he has to get about a little. He can't make a hermit of himself," I answered.

Evidently Forrest didn't see enough of the way Thad got on and off to think of his bitterly accusing words, to be curious, for we forgot chatting about something else.

Fanny Dutton evidently decided that she could catch more flies with sugar than with vinegar, for she was all smiles to me by this time. Perhaps what I said to her in the rest room gave her a jolt, or perhaps she was dissembling and plotting some way to get square with me.

FRIENDLY ENEMIES

I had to leave before Forrest and Fanny went, as I had to be at work when the party ended. As I was leaving, Forrest shook hands and patted my shoulder rather affectedly.

"So long," he said, "you and Fanny will be great friends after this."

"Great is no word for it," I said, rather sarcastically.

"I am sure we shall, Katie dear," Fanny cooed.

I flashed her a little sneering glance and left the party.

It was two days later when I got a telephone call from Thad.

"Katie," he said, "I want——"

I cut him off at once.

"Not a word, Thad. I positively won't discuss it!" I cried.

"But look here," he said, excitedly, "I want——"

"Your female Judas is not talking!" I interrupted, sharply, and hung up.

Viola again he called up and Viola told him she was sorry but I would not come to the telephone.

"That," I said, "is that."

Viola chuckled.

The line passed rapidly and Thad's secret divorce hearing was due in a few days.

He had written me a letter but I didn't answer it, thinking that should as his club, as he requested.

Arline Francis' private detective came to see me as she said he would.

"Mrs. Francis," he said, "will you do as I asken' to what I say. Then you get on th' stand an' swear I told th' truthen an' nothen but th' truth, so help me God."

"I'll do it," I said, "if——"

BULL MARKET IN GOLD SEEN

Gold Mining Industry is Looking Up

NEW YORK—By virtue of economics and legislative flat, the gold mining industry is looking up. A slide show to the recent bad bull impulses in the big tent in Wall Street has been a baby bull market in gold mining stocks.

The highly speculative nature of gold mining, and the numerous fraudulent mining promotions by which "gold brick" securities were sold to gullible buyers in past decades, had caused Wall Street to regard these stocks as somewhat beneath its dignity.

Not since the vigorous development of Rand mines in South Africa around the turn of the century had Wall Street seen much of a bull market in the yellow metal issues, and then the bull market here was primarily in sympathy with the rise of the Rand issues in London.

There has been a distinct upward trend in the half dozen or so Canadian and United States gold issues traded on the New York stock and curb exchanges in the past two months, and Alaska Juneau, long a low-priced stock, showed in Wall Street jargon with "the eats and dogs" has more than doubled in value since January.

The 1931 high and 1930 low prices for some of these issues follow:

	1931 High	1931 Low
Alaska Juneau	$15.25	$ 4.50
Dome	13.50	6.75
Hollinger	8.75	5.00
Lake Shore	38.87	20.62
Homestake	72.00	104.00
McIntyre	39.50	14.75
Teck Hughes	9.50	4.75

"The economics of the matter is that during a depression of this kind, the decline and gold is no exception. The price of gold, in the United States at least, never fluctuates. The value is established by statute at $20.67 per 871,834.82, a fine troy ounce of 480 grains. The more depressed the economic cons of commerce contains 437 1-3 grains.

Expressed another way every ounce of gold during a depression will buy more in other commodities than when boom conditions such as prevailed before the stock market crash of 1929 exist. This explains the generalization that is heard that gold mining companies are more likely to earn profits than in prosperous era. Of course all this reasoning is based on the assumption that a particular mine produces one of sufficient gold content in sufficient quantities to permit a profit. Outside of South Africa there are few known deposits of rich gold ore.

The fixed price of gold adds another detail to the romantic treatment of gold laundry of the fabulous tales of success and equally significant, if less well known, stories of failure. During a general depression the prices of other metals shrink, because the economic remedy in curtailed production. But present conditions tend to stimulate gold production. Reserves of lower grade deposits which can be worked profitably in normal times may yield a good return in a depression. It is likely that many properties which have exhausted their richer reserves, partially or completely, will develop their poorer ones. Another factor favoring such production is the use of improved methods of recovery which were not known some decades ago.

The leading gold mining enterprise is Rand Mines, Ltd., a British concern, which controls subsidiaries producing about half the world's output of yellow metal from the Witwatersrand Reef in South Africa. The Witwatersrand, the world's largest known gold deposit, is about 1,000 miles north of Capetown. The principal market for Rand shares is London, although there is an issue of United States shares which trade occasionally in New York. They recently sold at $34.75, against last year's low of $27.75.

Morando, a Canadian issue, usually regarded as a copper rather than a gold stock, has recently had a brisk rise reflecting its gold mining development. The shares have more than doubled last year's minimum.

Homestake, the highest priced issue in the group, is a domestic issue. Since touching $104, the stock has recently fallen back below $100. The company operates in the Black Hills in South Dakota.

Calling His Bluff

By H. Louis Raybold

Lanky Peters leaned against the pellet counter of Jim Warner's store.

"Don't seem possible this long calkilated event has come and gone, Jim. Had to hit the trail across three counties to reach this here Trappers' Ball and now it's all over."

"Have a good time, Lank?"

"You know darn well I didn't."

"What's the trouble?"

"You know that, too. Everybody in the whole of Buffalo county know it. My girl—"

"Your girl?"

"Sure, my girl! She's fell for that saved-off, flower-doll dude from the east. I come out of the hills packing five hundred dollars with at least just to spend last night and I didn't get a chance."

"Well, you've a lot richer, Lank."

"What's this lad's business here, anyhow?" demanded Lanky.

"He's making advance arrangements for the road gangs coming out this spring to put the new pike through. I don't like this none myself," said Jim thoughtfully, "although I don't know of nothing we could do about it. Furthermore, he ain't serious about Lou."

"If he's playing with my girl —" began Lanky hotly.

"What d'ye mean, your girl?" again asked Jim curiously.

"She's been my girl to me," explain ed Lanky, "ever since I lost that Jane in Cody to the Rar X Ranch outfit. What is during on asking her to marry me in the spring."

"That's a chance for a time. The store was strangely empty while the customers slept the effects of the Trappers' Ball.

"Well, I'll be moseying drift in to Lou to be happy and, if he's his own love, you'll clear out. Wait a second, Lank, before you rear up. I'm telling you he don't want to marry her. Call his bluff and you'll see. And don't act too. While you're sore about it, tell him the boys decided he's to marry her right away."

"All right," said Lanky slowly. "I will. I couldn't lose her any more than I am anyhow, if she was married to him twice," he added scurly.

"Shut up, Lank! Here he comes!" warned Jim, not thinking it necessary to mention the fact that his pen covered its inception to a sudden glimpse of the gentleman in question coming from the direction of the Mountain Gulch Cafe and breeding towards the store.

It was a man of medium height, in a gray overcoat and soft gray felt hat, that entered and walked over to that section of the counter given over to tobacco and cigars. "Give me—" he began, but at that insaint Lanky swaggered over to him.

"Guess you don't know who I am!" said Lanky.

The other looked him up and down. "Afraid I don't," he said.

"Well, I'm the fellow whose girl you're stealing!"

For a moment the man looked startled. Then he laughed. "You've got me wrong. I'm not stealing anybody's girl, especially yours!"

"She's stole all right," insisted Lanky, "but we boys ain't aiming to let you make game of her. You've been paying her such marked attention that you've got to marry her!"

"Oh, I think I'm beginning to understand. Must do the right thing by my best stuff!"

"Not Neil, stranger. Name is Lou."

"Lou! You mean to tell me this is one this is no place to be discussing a woman. Come on outside."

"Oh, don't mind Jim. He's in on this, too, aren't you, Jim?"

"I'll say I am," declared Jim with almost hidden meaning.

So both of you gentlemen want me to marry Miss Eloise?"

"I'll say I don't only want it. We're insisting on it!" Here Lanky managed a wink for Jim's benefit. "All the boys will back us up."

"Very well! Suppose one of you gentlemen get Miss Eloise and the minister on the telephone and ask them to step over here!"

No further words were passed among the three after the telephoning. Lanky, watching Jim, was puzzled by his expression. For a moment, thought Lanky, seemed in no way disturbed by this forced ceremony about to be enacted. And Jim, who was watching the Easterner, was wondering if he hadn't made a mistake after all.

Eloise arrived almost at once, a dump, wholesome looking girl, with flashing black eyes.

"We're to be married, Miss Eloise!" said the Easterner, solemnly. "These —er—gentlemen seem to wish it."

"Married! You and I?"

"Certainly. I have no objection. Have you?"

Eloise tossed her head. "I don't know what the joke is, but it's my private opinion none of you have recovered from last night's party. Lanky and Jim aren't interested in my marriage. As for you, after what I told you, you have I wouldn't marry you!" "I see, gentlemen! She refuses me!"

Eloise stamped her foot. "You must all be lunatics! You all know I couldn't get married without a license. And I wouldn't marry Lank if he were the last man on earth!"

"Say about me?" asked Jim, suddenly turning on his heel.

"You? I—I hate you, Jim Warner! But with a little cry Lank was in her arms, who ran straight over to him.

"There you are, my friend!" said the Easterner. "She knew and I knew that she was using me to make your friend Jim here jealous! And it looks as if her little plan had succeeded. What do you think, Mr. Lanky?"

I think," said Lanky acidly, "I've been used to pull somebody's chestnuts out of the fire. The blurt that was called was mine."

FIND SUBSTITUTE FOR VITAMIN "A"

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—A synthetic substitute for vitamin A, the growth factor, has been found at the University of West Virginia. The substance is a combination of iodine, fats and iron. There is nothing unusual about it. Thus far it has been tried only on rats and two species of fish obtained quite simply by giving them along with meals ferrous oxide which contains the iodine and iron, and linoleic acid, which has the fats. In reporting the discovery of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Dr. F. E. Chidester says: "Without forcibly feeding the animal, we have demonstrated that the fish will consume the linoleic acid and ferrous oxide combination there is apparently ability to synthesize vitamin A."

Apparently the chemicals contain about the same substance as Vitamin A, for the abnormalities demand a vitamin in rich in unsaturated fats, iodine, iron and a number of other minerals. He kept rats which otherwise would have died for lack of vitamin A alive for 12 months merely by feeding them ferrous oxide. But they failed to grow. When the fats were added the response was almost magic. Some of the rats lost weight again, but they showed improvement in three days.

This ability of a living body to supply its own vitamin by natural chemical synthesis opens closely related to certain fats in diet. Dr. Chidester's report refers particularly to the discovery recently by another scientist, Dr. H. M. Evans, of the University of California, that fatty acids from cottonseed oil are beneficial in the deficiency of vitamin B. This is the nerve vitamin.

"It is quite evident," the report states, "that we must conclude the substitution of unsaturated fats and iodine in the animal body is worthy of consideration in connection with various diseases chased as vitamin deficiencies."

The West Virginia work is promise of the second "artificial" field for vitamin supplies. The first is ultraviolet light which numerous scientific institutions have found produces certain vitamin. Dr. Chidester was assisted by A. O. Fazio and N. K. Spelcher of the West Virginia staff.

Marlene Dietrich Delights Large Audience at Belle in "Dishonored"

Marlene Dietrich, sphinx-like German actress who created something of a sensation in her first American made picture, "Morocco", is the star of a new and powerful Paramount drama, "Dishonored," which Josef Von Sternberg, her discoverer, wrote and directed and which was exhibited before a large audience at the Belle Theatre last night. Cast opposite Miss Dietrich in a carefully chosen, impressive role is the famous star of "The Cock-Eyed World," Victor McLaglen.

"Dishonored" reveals Miss Dietrich in the dominant role of a woman knowing the turbulent ecstasy of love, sacrifices love on the uncompromising altar of duty and patriotism. It is a role which Miss Dietrich imbues with guile, magnetic passion, a creation of subdued emotional quality that is effectively and convincingly human.

With dramatic precision Von Sternberg has developed his theme in terms of colorful, suspense-filled detail and then skillfully arranging each situation so that the picture's acute dramatic values are given full and complete power. The story itself is concerned with a spy, a woman spy (Marlene Dietrich), who having forsaken love for duty, regrets, and then repudiates the loyalty that forces her to jeopardise the life of the man she has come to love. In doing this, however, the heroine of the fascinating story is forced to face the dire consequences of her rash actions, consequences that are all the more serious in that she herself was fully cognizant of the price her defiance would bring.

In interpreting her character Miss Dietrich is not confined to conventional actions, nor is she hampered by a story that restricts logical treatment. The manner in which the plot is worked out is far removed from the usual treatment accorded a story of this type, creating dramatic suspense unequalled in most recent pictures. Those who have seen "Dishonored" in preview claim it gives Miss Dietrich her finest role and that at the same time, voice the opinion that Josef Von Sternberg is one of the most gifted directors now engaged in the making of talking pictures.

Victor McLaglen is excellent as the man Miss Dietrich traps, loves, betrays and then redeems. It is a role which allows McLaglen to display his well known and likeable boisterousness and at the same time reveals him as a sincere and convincing dramatic actor. The supporting cast is of high standard and includes Gustav Von Seyffertitz, Warner Oland and Barry Norton.

CHICKEN-POX

Chicken-pox, which is also called varicella, must not be confused with small-pox,known as variola. Both are characterized by skin eruptions which are rare now in this country, but treated but the two diseases are really distinct. In fact, small-pox may be prevented by means of vaccination with cow-pox vaccine but chicken-pox cannot be inoculated in any such way. The latter is a very contagious disease and can occur without its dangers. These may be the development of pneumonia as a complication or not and even kidney disease. Usually, however, chicken-pox does not become a serious affair.

Children of all ages may be attacked and it is transmitted usually directly from one person to another or through the medium of a third person.

Often the rash is the first sign indicating that the child is sick. Sometimes the patient feels somewhat indisposed for a day before that. The eruption in its early stages, consist of tiny, red, raised pimples or papules which are grouped together, but which are not close apart from another. They are noticeable first on the face and on the trunk. These papules gradually become larger and as they develop, as it were and become more immature, smaller ones appear elsewhere on the body.

Sometimes the papules becomes transformed into larger pimple-like elevations containing either pus or a cloudy fluid in a few hours. Often a so-called scrub, or horny crust forms one-fourth to one-half an inch in width. Often the eruption is flat. Later, as they cure up, there is a depression in the center and still later no crust forms.

These crusts fall off in five to twenty-five days and usually leave no scar unless the papule has been very deep and involved the underneath tissues. The process referred to as the "true skin". The greatest care must be taken that children do not scratch the crust because by so doing a scar may form in the skin and scars are left which cannot be effaced. If the pus forms in the vesicles the scar may be disfiguring and quite serious. This does not happen ordinarily and when it does it usually in poorly-nourished children.

The rash rocks, the name given to the rash, spread from the face and trunk over the shoulders and on the back. Even the scalp may be involved and there are cases where they have appeared also on the mouth and throat.

The severity of the disease is in direct proportion to the amount of the rash. Usually the case are at the worst on the second and third day. As the rash gets more severe the temperature rises to 101, 102, even to 104 or 105 in severe cases. As the fever sub sides the rash also gradually disappears.

No special treatment is required in chicken-pox except to make the patient as comfortable as possible and to treat complications, if any, as they arise. It is best always to apply a soothing lotion on the face and to the face papules so as to prevent irritation and the irresistible desire on the part of the patient to scratch.

Although one attack of chicken-pox usually protects against other attacks a few cases have occurred. All children should be isolated when suffering from this disease for, as mentioned previously, it is contagious.

ARGENTINE WILL SHOW GRAIN AT CANADIAN SHOW

REGINA—Sixteenth country to officially accept the invitation of the Canadian Government, Argentina will be a participant in the Royal Winter Fair Exhibition to be held here in 1932. This makes 16 countries officially participating follows:

Italy, Finland, Slovakia, Guatemala, India, Portugal, Switzerland, Holland, The Philippine Islands and Argentina.

One of the most attractive displays in the exhibition will be that of the Province of Quebec. The centre feature of the exhibit will be a model farm, complete with buildings, livestock, crops, etc., and supported by exhibits of natural resources of the province, including mineral, timber, power development, handicraft and manufacturing products.

MANY CAUSES OF TIMBER DESTRUCTION

WINNIPEG—Insects, fungi, windfall and other destructive agencies destroyed a wide, growing thousand feet of merchantable timber in Canada every year, according to data that destroyed by fire — R. J. Gourley, chairman of the Province's Industrial Development Board, declared.

Wood products industries of Canada, source of pulp and paper, produce more than $138,000,000 worth of products annually, and more than 500 articles, a committee report recently.

A campaign to promote conservation of forests and wise use of timber rich resources in timber and to promote tree planting in various parts of the province will be undertaken in the near future.

TRAIN CHANGES STIR UP ACTION

Brockville Railwaymen Urge Merchants to Act

BROCKVILLE, April 28.—Stirred to action by recent cancellation of trains considered attributed to increased patronage granted highway competitors, the railwaymen of this centre have formed a committee with the object of interviewing business men of the community with a view endeavoring to regain freight traffic that has been lost by the slower systems to highway trucking concerns.

The first ocean vessel has come and gone. Each dock in the big harbor of the Metropolis shelters its quota of ships from the far corners of the world.

Now that the way to the sea is open the inland shipping has steam up as the picture shows and awaits only the opening of the canals to be on its way to up-river and lake points.

Almost the first tie-up when the ships dock is the telephone cable which links the vessels through the local Bell Exchange to the whole world by wire and wireless telephone.

Doubtless it will be only a short time now until both lake and ocean vessels enroute will have continuous telephone service with the inland system just as the larger liners are using ship-to-shore telephone with such convenience to travellers.

DR. FRICKER'S PRAISES SUNG

High Tribute to Conductor of Mendelssohn Choir

TORONTO—High tribute was paid to Dr. H. A. Fricker, conductor of the Mendelssohn Choir, Toronto, also organist and choir leader of the Metropolitan United church, Toronto, in the Yorkshire Post, Leeds, England, on April 4 by a writer signing himself by the initials H. T. Dr. Fricker was born in Canterbury, Kent, England, is a graduate of Leeds University and was prominent in musical circles in Leeds before coming to Toronto. He was founder and conductor of the Leeds Symphony Orchestry (1902 - 1917) and prior to that was choirmaster and conductor of the Leeds Philharmonic Society. He has musical degrees from English universities as well as that of Doctor of Music from the University of Toronto.

Following is the article in The Yorkshire Post, headed, "Dr. Fricker's Work In Canada."

"Since Dr. Fricker left Leeds, in 1917 —to take up the conductorship of the Mendelssohn Choir of Toronto, one of the foremost choirs on North American Continent—his career has been followed with interest by the many friends he made in the West Riding, not only as conductor of several important choral societies, but as founder of the Leeds Symphony Orchestra, which has become such a great influence on musical culture in the district.

"It is the custom of the Mendelssohn Choir to give annually what amounts to a miniature festival of four concerts, for which the services of a first-rate orchestra from the United States are secured. In the case of the concerts which were given last February, the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, under Fritz Reiner, took part, and among smaller things, played Elgar's 'Enigma Variations, and the 'Symphonia Domestica' of Strauss — which latter work would, therefore, seem to be not finally shelved, as one had grown to imagine was the case.

"The choral nucleus of the program contained some works well chosen for the sake of contrast of periods and styles. There were several alla Cappella works, with Bach's motet, 'Sing ye' at the head. Hubert Parry's 'Blest Pair of Sirens,' with which the festival came to an impressive conclusion, served as a link between the old and the newer types of choral music, the Hellen Parry represented by the Grail scene from 'Parsifal, and the prologue and scene from Conrad Prack's 'Beatitudes,' a work more acceptable in sample than in bulk for the inevitable repetition of a set formula which the text involves results in a certain monotony but the work is far too full of characteristic beauties to deserve neglect.

"The local press was loud in its praises of the performances, but a practical proof of the esteem in which the choir is held was afforded by the fact that it went on tour after the Toronto concerts, and gave three concerts in the United States, at Buffalo, Cleveland and Detroit. Dr. Fricker's task was no light one, but it was made nearly impossible by a sudden attack which left him on the sick list during of the first Toronto concert, and made it doubtful whether he could conduct. However, by a strong exercise of will power he was able to get through the whole of the concerts, and now that it is over and he is free from the strain of such a heavy undertaking, he will no doubt slacken the reigns and make a complete recovery.

Dr. Fricker has reason to congratulate himself on having made good in Toronto."

DANCE AWAY ONES' MOODS

NEW YORE—Miss Portia Mansfield, "Creator of correctives in dance form," came to stage with an idea of making family life happier and averting divorces and such things. Dance, she says, and presto, everything's O. K.

Her scheme is to dance away one's ugly moods; sort of two-steps out of trouble, waltz out of the blues, fox-trot of folly and rhumba out of ruts. "It's perfectly simple," she said recently. "There would be fewer divorces, fewer family squabbles if women would adopt the dance as a corrective. I have seen women who are no way out of their emotional troubles. Then they did a corrective dance, and life seemed entirely simple again."

The reason it works, she explained, is through the increased circulation of sluggish blood and freedom of movement, which tends to overcome exhilaration with resultant change of mood.

Elopement Foiled By Fast Motor Cars

London—Using a fast motor car instead of the postchaise of the story books, the father of a girl who had just gone through the form of marriage over the famous blacksmith's anvil at Gretna Green stopped the runaway couple on the highroad as they were returning to London, and separated them.

The fervent, heroic efforts have been entertaining the public through the newspapers for several days, were Elizabeth, daughter of Vice Admiral Edward Wemyss, retired, and Charles, son of the author, Archibald Feeley.

Both parents were opposed to the marriage, principally because Charles is only 20 years old and they wished to postpone the union until he was 21, but the lovers were impatient and rushed hurriedly to Gretna. Elizabeth, who is 24, telephoned her father after the ceremony, and the admiral, surmising the route by which they would return, set out to meet them.

The parents on both sides were overjoyed, smiling their car, he hailed it. After a fatherly lecture he persuaded his daughter to enter his car while the young man continued the journey to London alone.

The Big Collection

By Jack Woodford

It was the little home of Melba's dreams. Always a poor girl, she had saved for it for five years; ever since she had come to Detroit from a small town in Northern Michigan, to get a job after her father's death. Her mother had died when she was very young. She was twenty-two; when she arrived in Detroit she had been seventeen, and it hadn't been easy to get a job. Everything had been easy.

At twenty-two she was still very youthful looking, with lovely, fresh blue eyes; delicate skin, and a face whose prettiness backed up by a slim figure that was perfection itself. And then a huge chain shouted the words business in which she had been employed, and the chain had not wished her to continue at the generous salary of sixteen dollars per week, by which she had been raised through hard work and devotion to her employer's interests. And only a few months before Melba had taken the cozy unfurnished apartment and furnished it, on the installment plan, with all the lovely things her beauty starved soul had craved all of the time she had lived in furnished apartments.

It had been, she admitted, a foolish thing to put down the several hundreds of dollars she had saved as a first payment on the furniture; but she had felt that, with her salary, it would be easy to pay off the installments — and now it looked like the end. For several months Melba had been looking for another position; but none materialized. She could see by guess who it was knocking at the door. She opened the door to face a handsome young man, not much older than herself; with deep, sympathetic brown eyes and dark curly hair. "I called," he said, "to collect for the furniture."

Melba knew that installment furniture men were hard boiled. It probably wouldn't do a bit of good to ask for more time. Nevertheless, she said falsely:

"I'm dreadfully sorry; but, you see, I lost my position, and I haven't been able to find another one as yet. I've had to fall behind; but as soon as I get another job I'll do so. It was a cold day, so what she did do was to invite him to have a cup of coffee with her. For a long time they chatted. He, too, had come from a small town. His wife, she was sorry with her went. Somehow he had made everything seem different, and she was happy again — not happy as she had been before, but happy with a new, thrilly sort of happiness she had never felt before.

A few days later he called up and told her of a position he had heard about. Melba hurried right down town and got the job. It was only forty-five dollars a week; but, when he came around the next day to see if she had landed the job and took her to luncheon he said:

"You may have some trouble, since your salary is smaller than your old one, in keeping up the furniture payments. Don't worry about it as all. Take your time." That night they went to a movie. And then, for several weeks, Melba didn't see him. Finally one day there was a knock at her door. She opened it to find a fat, puffy old man who glared at her angrily.

"Are you the lady who bought furniture payments!" he growled; "I've got to pull the stuff unless you come across."

"But—" she said, dismayed, "he told me that—" "She fat man clucked with disgust.

"Yeh, I know," he told her; "he paid the installment last month and said he'd get it again this month, but you couldn't — but he ain't in and he hasn't been."

"Who are you talking about!' Melba gasped.

"Why, the bird down tite hall, of course," he said. "I knocked at the door by mistake, and started bopping all over him because he was back in his furniture business; and then when I found out my mistake he said he'd get it again for you people to do, and told me that if you gave it to him he'd keep you supplied by paying it, but to give back to him whatever you got and he'd said he'd keep the payments up if you didn't. But he's not there now."

When the furniture collector had gone, after 'a last threat to return and take the furniture, Melba went to the door the collector had indicated. She read the name on the door; went down to the building office. The name was:

"Mr. McKee? Why! Didn't you hear about it? Appendicitis. Hospital. Lasting along all night, I guess." All choky and trembly Melba hurried to the hospital. He learned all over when she was permitted to see him.

"Why did you do it?" she asked, when at last that he was able to talk.

"Because," he grinned, "I had seen you around the building several times, but you hadn't seen me. I was crazy about you, and I thought that by I'd pay your installment payments for you I'd get to meet you that if you say no I shall have a prompt relapse and die, even, and you'll be rid of me over now and all the danger is past and that I'll be out of here in a day or so."

Melba could only say what her thrilling heart dictated, and that was:

"Yes."

TEN YEARS OF M. P. EXPERIENCE

Agnes MacPhail Encourages Women to Think Politically

REGINA—"When a woman says, 'We're going to take off the storm windows today,' that's the sign the storm windows get taken off. When women make up their minds to have equality with men on nomination day, on that date they get it."

With these words, Miss Agnes MacPhail, Canada's first woman parliamentarian, in an address here before the Women Canadian Club, encouraged women to be more active in trying to secure'a fairer share of representation in the Dominion Parliament.

"I'm for equality between men and women all the way," declared Miss MacPhail, "equal pay, equal honor, equal opportunity to accomplish what one wants to accomplish. A woman's place is any place she is qualified to fill. Women can do a great deal through legislation to prevent future wars. By intelligence women can help to remove from the face of generation and the causes of war. Why aren't women coming to the house"

In a descriptive address, Miss MacPhail spoke of the experiences she had known in the ten years since she had entered the House of Commons. She spoke of her lack of assistance when she entered and of the discomfort she endured for a time in being always watched —not out of love and consideration. But the more uncomfortable it became, the more grim by she had determined to overcome the resentment felt against women legislators. She recognized, Miss MacPhail said, that parliament had been from time immemorial man's sanctuary. Yet there was no reason it should remain so. Throughout the ten years she had been a member, she had tried not to make it difficult for other women who should enter parliament.

Many flashes of humor brightened Miss MacPhail's account. Once she had evolved into one of the old - timers in the House from the force she felt herself to be ten years ago. She had not lost her interest in the seriousness of the questions to be decided, but rather had learned how to accomplish things with a greater ease than when she was one of the new members.

The fellowship of those in parliament, working for the common good, is the greatest delight she had known as an M.P., Miss MacPhail said.

FIND RELICS OF TREASURE SHIP

PERTH, Australia—Quantities of ancient coins, ingots of gold and silver and bronze, and a gun found on the ill-fated Dutch treasure ship Der Vergulde Draeck (The Golden Drake) which was wrecked some years in the middle of the seventeenth century have been found.

Hundreds of persons have been sifting the sands in search of the sunken treasure at the mouth of the Moore River on the west coast of Western Australia. The ship's cargo of treasure was lost and most of the crew perished or were captured by Arabs. A small party of survivors reached Batavia.

PATRIOTIC BIRD SINGS NOTED SONG

CALGARY—"Johnny get your gun" fanned battle song of Civil War days, probably has been sung, possibly also whistled by many types of individuals and under greatly diverse circumstances at one time or another during it has remained for citizens of this city to hear it sung all night in a canary in a photographic studio. The bird, "Goldie" by name, by the way, has been taken literally by A. L. Hess, photographer, who has taught him better by providing a super canary to invite the gaze of his subjects.

It was during a recent sitting, following up 8 hint, who discovered the unique performance. The new song in the song had been whistled as a canary in the studio. Mr. Hess tried to get the bird to sing it, but could not. Then he began on its throat and things began to happen. "Goldie" as the bird's name was has been literally by A. L. Hess, Johnny get your gun" and "Johnnie Get Your Gun", sure enough, but not in the usual scale of the song.

It seemed for all the world as if the canary had caught a spring in an old-fashioned music box, except that the music emitted was not such a faded the objectionable metallic sound. It was all clear and true, and the Mr. Canary's regular song but it was sweeter by far.

The bird is a cross between the ordinary roller canary and the English song sparrow. The color of his plumage is dark green.

"KING TUT" WHEAT JUST A SWINDLE

CALGARY—There is much talking as "King Tut" wheat from the famed tomb of Tut-Ankhamen, at Luxor, Egypt, a discovery made by the University of Alberta reveals. There is also the excellent chance of much ancient wheat germinating today, University heads declare.

"King Tut" wheat is nothing more than a revival of the old-world game of selling undesirable wheat together with more misinformation to unsuspecting farmers. The wheat is usually known as Egyptian and belongs to the class Triticum turgidum.

"If Egyptian wheats, or any other wheats of the same type were grown to any extent in the west it would have a devastating effect on both local and foreign markets. Our export grain, containing mixtures of such varieties, would have lower milling and baking qualities as well as commercial grade."

EVEN if you did not see the name "Goodyear" on the side wall of the Pathfinder, you would know by its look of quality. Notice in the cross-section shown here the deep, rugged tread, the husky sidewalls, the full size—the equal in every way of many well-known tires selling at 20% higher prices. When you add the assurance of quality given by the Goodyear name and subtract the surprisingly low price possible only with Goodyear's great resources, you have left a heaping measure of extra value.

GANDHI MUST CLOTHE HIMSELF

If He Visits Boston, Rules Police Superintendent

BOSTON — Assurance of a warm welcome if Mahatma Gandhi, idol of the Indian Nationalists, comes to Boston in the course of his proposed visit to the United States, has been given by Mayor Curley, who decided to send for Mahatma an invitation to stop here.

Such a welcome may be warm in more than one sense of the words, however. The revered leader must wear some clothes if he expects to make a public appearance here, state Michael H. Crowley, Superintendent of Police and incidentally an admirer of Gandhi.

"We can't let any man appear on the streets here in very much less than a one-piece bathing-suit," said the Superintendent. "We shall insist that he be suitably clothed."

Mayor Curley paid tribute to the great Hindu leader of the India movement for independence.

"We will give him a royal reception here," declared His Worship. "He is one of the world's great figures and Boston will be proud to entertain him."

Gandhi first stated he would appear in London and the United States in a simple loin cloth, his only costume when in India. Later he intimated he might wear trousers in London.

Superintendent Crowley expressed the intention, of meeting Gandhi at the station in London and that he point on some clothes before appearing in public. The superintendent was a bit hazy as to what form of clothing would be allowed to camp in some public place here and cook his own meals.

SCHOOL ATHLETICS COME UNDER FIRE

TORONTO — Athletics from the viewpoints of teachers, coaches, parents and players were discussed before the Modern Collegiate Home and School Club. Miss Helen B. McAlpine, the school's physical instructress and coach of the girls' team, strongly favored inter-form games as against inter-school sport. She declared that there was too much mental strain attached to competition athletics. Miss McAlpine took occasion to deplore "commercialized sport" for girls, referring particularly to the Bunnyside softball situation. Ted Reeve, well known athlete and coach of the Malvern rugby teams thought that Canada's team players were powerful training for boys and girls. "They develop the mind as much as the body," he said.

Speaking from the parents' point of view, Mrs. E. G. Lowry deplored the fact that the "sports boy" gets much homage while the academic "plug" is passed over with little notice. She said that too much stress was laid on sport, and that students cannot concentrate on their school work when their heads are full of championship thoughts.

WOMEN GET CHANCE FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Toronto, Ont.—Women in the University of Toronto have achieved a high standard in athletics during the past few years, and the four arts colleges women have shown themselves to be superior to the men in academic and college activities, is that a "re-ed" from one of these institutions has been chosen to represent her college for the Hart H. Moss Memorial Scholarship.

The scholarship has been established since 1921, and is awarded in the first time that all the candidates have been women. The value, which is $200 given annually, is open only to the graduating year in the four arts colleges of the University. The under graduates in the fourth year in each college nominate a man or woman for the award, and the ultimate decision is made by the Moss Scholarship committee.

The candidates this year are: Miss Marybel Quinn, of St. Joseph's Hospice now affiliated to St. Michael's College; Miss Marjorie Beer, of Victoria College; Miss Naomi Slater, of Trinity College, and Miss Jessie Gray, of University College.

Five falls at the open ditch in the Royal Artillery Subalterns Steeplechase at Sandown Park, England, and four of them shown in the above photograph, would seem to convince one that all military horses are not "rocking horses." If the Prince of Wales had seen those tumbles he would no doubt have worn a contented smile.

THE WEEK'S HAPPENINGS AS TOLD BY THE CORRESPONDENTS

PICTON COLLEGIATE REORGANIZE THE COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Fair Board Will Hold Two Day Exhibition

Picton, April 26.—The Picton Collegiate Institute Board has decided to reorganize the commercial department on a three-year plan and raise the standard of entrance. New equipment with a view to having that department taken over under the Vocational Education Act. Only pupils over 15 years of age, who have passed the necessary examinations, will be admitted. The employment of ten teachers less expensive next year than is that of a staff of nine in the present year. Pupils will be prepared for general commercial, accountancy, and secretarial positions, and the courses offered will compare favorably with those now being given in neighbouring institutions in Belleville, Napanee and Kingston.

Two boys come up to the entrance examination: one is an adept in gaining knowledge from books and by means of examples, and in written examination scores high. The other boy is schemer in his think-up to attain knowledge, and scores low. The one will teach about an engine or a boat by reading about it: the other must see and handle the parts. The one is book-minded: the other, practical-minded.

The book-minded boy finds himself by extending through all time the past, the present, and the future pay homage to him. We have provided for him all the vast technical machinery of education for centuries. And it takes as long as any other boy to make "run of the mills" into the professional finished engineer, physician, minister, lawyer, engineer—in fact, it takes longer. The boy will fare well and travel far. We may leave him here.

The practical-minded boy is a member of a vast contemporary family whose first task is to provide all kinds of practical service—to their fellows and to the world. The world is in concrete terms. In our educational programme this boy has been ignored. He has been given a final compulsory course leading nowhere, a course which has been attended with an ever increasing discontent, and at a tender age has been pushed out into occupations already hopelessly overcrowded, to find himself frustrated and robbed of the privileges—or is it not the right?—of doing an honest day's work and earning a decent living.

The Department of Education of Ontario has organized such practical training under six departments. Of these we can only consider those provided with a commercial department, hence we begin with the commercial course and plan to raise it to the vocational level. The course has generally a greater appeal for girls than for boys, but under the new arrangement boys will ultimately be able to secure matriculation into the faculties of Commerce and Finance in the universities.

Along with the other classes, evening classes will be held in 1931-32, from October till the end of March. The subjects that may be taken up in such kindred courses will be taken up in subsequent articles.

The Board of 1931 is organized as follows:

Chairman—Mr. Howard Lawrens.
Vice-Chairman— Mr. Charlton Metcalfe.

Messrs. J. H. Carter, C. P. Hepburn, Dr. C. H. Ponton, Dr. J. E. Purtelle, W. A. Wright, B. R. Leavens.

Secretary-Treasurer — Mr. J. L. Graydon.

The Advisory Vocational Committee is made up of the following eight members: Messrs. Howard Lawrens, A. Wright, B. R. Leavens, R. J. Purtelle, J. E. Purtelle, C. H. Ponton, Fraser, H. Vincent, C. McGibbon.

PICTON, April 26.—Picton Fair Board will be two days this year instead of the usual three.

The change it is believed, will contribute to cut down expenses, especially as far as entertainment is concerned. It is also believed that a two-day event will prove as attractive and equal to that of three days and that it will result in an increased gate and number of exhibitors.

It is planned to make the two-days unusually attractive. A good midway has been secured and the usual races are to be held.

The Agricultural Society is considering the suggestion of the Veterans that a military tatoo be staged on the second night of the Fair if this is carried through the R.W.O.R. Band, Kingston, Colonel Lake Band, Tyrone Brassard and Hastings Regimental Band and the Eagle Band of Hamilton would take part.

Mr. F. H. Meaker, secretary is helping to get the society out of debt by giving his services free of charge. Mr. A. K. Gibson is president.

MISS GERTRUDE FAHEY

On Thursday afternoon at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Blanche Smith, Paul street, Mrs. P. J. Woolton, passed away. The funeral service, conducted the funeral service of the late Mrs. Gertrude Fahey, widow of the late Bernard Fahey, whose demise took place in Glenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Fahey, who was in her 83rd year, had always resided in Prince Edward County, being born at South Bay of which district her grandfather, was one of the earliest settlers.

Mrs. Fahey was one of a family of eight, and now only two survive, namely Mrs. Mary Hubbs, and Miss Ella Wellington both of Picton.

Mrs. Blanche Smith was the only child.

MORE ROADS OR MORE DEATHS

What motor car accidents in the United States are on the increase is known by the recently published report that during the year 1930 32,500 people were killed by motor vehicles, 900,000 injured and a billion dollars was done in damage to property. Last year there were too many vehicles or too few roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bird have had fatal and otherwise and the damage to property is not known, but that it is great is that of the United States, and it is plenty large enough, in fact large enough to be subject to the worthy of the closest consideration of the proper authorities. Another provision of the death toll is possible through the unfitness of the driver or uniform vehicle code, including a drivers' license with standard tests examination of new drivers, as suggested by the United States National Conference Street and Highway Safety. It has been found that the accident hazard in cities with no such examination levels is 36 per cent less than in those cities without such laws.—Owen Sound Sun-Times.

Women as a class are inclined to be obstinate. They do not want to get out of the beaten paths.—Thomas A. Edison.

"HELL'S ANGELS" HOLDS AUDIENCE SPELL-BOUND AS THRILL TOPS THRILL IN SMASHING AIR DRAMA

One of the most glorious picture entertainments it has ever been this reviewer's privilege to see was flashed on the screen at the Capitol theatre. It is called "Hell's Angels" and it's the film that Producer-Director Roy and Hughes took three years to make at a cost of $4,000,000. But the magnitude, the spectacle the grandeur of this breath-taking air drama, with its countless droning planes, mighty Zeppelins and stirring sky conflicts more than justifies everything that has been put into it. It had last night's audience gasping for breath when it was all over. As an achievement it is doubtful whether it will ever have an equal; as a dramatic account of the aviators' part in the war it tells the story of such a grandiose scale that all future pictures of this sort can be but feeble anti-climaxes.

Never have there been such thrills as those provided, by the sensational stunts of the flying circus. There is no question but that the aviators were risking life continually as were the cameramen who, besides assembling remarkable long shots and close-ups of the amazing air encounters have contributed a magnificent piece of photography as well. The Zeppelin raid; the daring dog-fights, the crack-ups, the head-on collisions and the 10,000-foot plunges to earth are reproduced so vividly as to make you forget it is a picture. There were no miniature or fake shots used in these sequences. Everything is genuine. Many of the best known aces were piloted the different planes. Three men were killed and a cameraman expired as a result of the terrific nerve tension under which he was working.

There will not be another picture like "Hell's Angels" for a long time, if ever. No matter what you've seen before, you'll be electrified by its three terrific high-lights—the raid on London, the bombing of the German munitions factory and the free-for-all dog-fight high in the clouds.

Flight has fallen over Europe. Suddenly a Zeppelin noses its way out of the clouds. The crew is tense in the observation apparatus, cryptic orders are barked out. The British sound-detectors pick up the sounds of the monster's motors. And defending planes zoom off to disperse the enemy. A terrific battle is waged in which all planes but one is forced down. The machine gun of the last one has jammed. A steady stream of lead belches forth from the nose mouth of the sky whale. In desperation, the helpless pilot points his plane toward the big ship and rams line her at top speed. Thunderous noises, sizzling, leaping flames and down go the entangled masses of steel and matter with the crew caught like rats in a trap. What a thrilling climax!

The blowing up of the munitions plant and the Corinth dog-fight between 50 planes or more zooming, plunging, diving and somersaulting in close destruction provide the most astounding thrills that have ever cap tured the screen.

There is a colorful story running through the film about two friends of totally different natures one fine and noble, the other born rotter who loves himself and his good times. They join the Royal Air Corps and their adventures that make "Hell's Angels" the astonishing air spectacle it is. Ben Lyon, James Hall and Jean Harlow, a striking blonde beauty who makes her first screen appearance in this picture lend a splendid array of well-known actors and aviators.

"Hell's Angels" is comparable to nothing you've ever seen before. It has surpassed in its quality to entertain and amaze, it is one picture you will want to see at least once, if not two and three times.

"Hell's Angels" will be shown today and to-morrow daily at 2.30, 7.15 and 9.15.

To-morrow night commencing at 11.30 p.m. there will be a midnight preview of Charlie Chaplin's "City Lights", the picture which has been on the world by storm. "City Lights" will also be shown for the rest of the week.

BATTLE WITH GUNS FOUGHT IN LOBBY OF BANK

STEEL WAISTCOAT SAVES LIFE OF MONTREAL DETECTIVE, 3 BANDITS CAPTURED, 1 WOUNDED

Montreal Detectives Wait For Bandits Before Bank

WERE SUSPICIOUS

'Aftermath of 'Hold-up in Another Bank Few Days Ago

Montreal, April 29 (CP).—A squad of city detectives shot and seriously wounded a would-be bank bandit in a gun battle in the lobby of an east end branch of the Bank of Montreal during the bank hour today, and captured the wounded man's two companions.

The wounded man gave his name as Joe Mazzei, but the names of the other prisoners were not available. Malcolm Reid of Detective Lt. Roche, had the bullet glanced off the officer's chest, rebounding from the steel vest he wore under his outer his coat. The shock caused Lt. Roche's gun to discharge, wounding Malcolm in the shoulder.

Looking for the other bank holdup suspects in connection with the robbing of the Canadian Bank of Commerce Nationale on Monday, the detectives were posted outside the Bank of Montreal branch. Their suspicions aroused by the action of three men entering the entrance to the bank, they followed them inside.

The two walked into the bank lobby and produced guns. The detectives unlimbered their own pistols and called upon the bandits to surrender. Mahood was wounded and shot at LaRoche, and a moment later, as they began to fire, succeeded by a bullet from the detective's gun, the other two were disarmed and captured by the five detectives.

DOG TRAMPED WEARY WAY HOME

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 29 (Cp) the Canadian Press)—Not only the sun came back, Tom, thoroughbred collie but a year old, today is home with his master, Sydney Brodie, in Algoma mining country believed to have taken him twice across the international boundary line from Goderich, Ont., to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

On April 21, Tom was known to have been on the farm at Goderich to which Mr. Brodie had taken him early in the month. Yesterday, he turned up at the residence of his master at the Sault. It is presumed he retraced the route of his journey to Goderich, on which he was traced, reported in a car on the route between Michigan boundary ferry-crossing at the Sault, Mackinac and Port Huron.

The collie was dust-grimed and weary when he arrived, showed a raw and sore and his toe-nails worn to the flesh. Today he is resting and on Friday will return to the Goderich farm with his master.

SIAMESE ROYALTY TO VISIT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Ont., April 29.—(By the Canadian Press)—The King and Queen of Siam will probably visit Ottawa about August 10. The royal couple now in Washington, will likely visit the shores of Lake Erie, at which they will spend a few days. After a trip up the Saguenay, the King and Queen will proceed to Montreal and come on the capital. Tentative plans now being drafted for the Canadian visit.

CORNWALL ROADS ARE INSPECTED

A delegation consisting of Mayor George A. Reid, Alderman W. A. Woodley, W. Mullin, Glendon George Tice and City Engineer Charles A. Mott returned from Montreal tonight after being the guests of officials of the Canada Cement Company, inspecting some cement pavements in that city. The delegation was much impressed with the work done and the type of finished product and will probably advocate that type of pavement when the work commences on Second Street, Water Street and Moira St. This work could be done by the end of June and the cost of construction of a cement pavement is somewhat less than that of asphalt but guaranteed for as long a life. The delegation was met in Cornwall by the mayor and councillors of that city and conducted through every courtesy and the same is said of the Canada Cement Company. At the present time Cornwall has over twelve miles of cement pavement and are anticipating putting more down this coming summer.

GOVERNMENT INSURANCE

OTTAWA, Ont., April 29 (CP)—Government provision of insurance for merchant seamen will be effective July 1. From November 1 to the end of navigation, is advocated in a resolution appearing in the order paper of the House of Commons in the name of General A. E. Ross (Cook-Kingston).

LAKE ERIE PROVES WET

MONROE, Mich., April 29. — The local liquor supply seems to depend upon how the wind blows.

Monday there was a strong west wind which blew the waters of Lake Erie several hundred yards off shore.

When the natives awoke yesterday morning they found a great quantity of beer, whiskey, and wine scattered along the beach.

Rum runners from Ontario, fearing capture, are believed to have dumped the contraband liquor overboard.

CANON H. J. CODY SUCCEEDS SIR R. FALCONER?

Toronto, Ont., April 29 (CP)—Rev. Canon H. J. Cody, will succeed Sir Robert Falconer as president of the University of Toronto when the latter's term of office ends next year, The Toronto Telegram says it was authoritatively informed today.

At present Canon Cody is chairman of the Board of Governors of the University and Bursar of St. Paul's Anglican Church.

In order to remain in the Queen City, Canon Cody has declined three Ecclesiastical preferments first in 1904 when he was elected Bishop of Niagara, then in 1911 when he was elected Archbishop of Melbourne, Australia, and thirdly this year when he declined the call issued from the Archbishopric of Rupert's Land.

He also declined the presidency of King's College, Windsor, N.S., and the Principalship of Wycliffe College Toronto.

QUEEN PROVES POOR INVESTOR

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Cal, April 29.—O. J. Starker, attorney, figures Queen Isabella of Spain made a poor investment when she financed Christopher Columbus in his discovery of America valuing her jewels at $6,000 000. She had loaned this money at 5 per cent interest to be compounded semi-annually. It today would have reached a total of more than $4,000,000,000,000 (eleven cipher). This is 11-2 times the value of the United States and all its possessions.

"She ought to have consulted her banker."

PORTER USES AXE ON CREW

UTICA, April 29.—A porter attack ed passengers and trainmen on a New York Central train near here to day, wounding them with an axe in a club and axe before being subdued.

The fight began in a sleeping car as the train was speeding eastward through two pullman coaches and ended in the private car of C. D. Broadhead, superintendent of the Mohawk division of the New York Central. The train belonged to this division.

At the end of Broadhead's car, the Porter J. E. Smith of New York City was overpowered by the crew and locked in a stateroom.

Broadhead's car was then cut from the train with rear gas guns. When Smith saw the troopers he seemed to tend to arrest without further fight.

SESSION ENDED ON BOARD SHIP

New York, April 29 (CP).—Members of the Canadian Royal Grain Inquiry Commission all day today putting finishing touches to their report to be forwarded tonight to the government in Ottawa.

The Commission's labors will be formally concluded this afternoon on board the liner Mauretania. Sir Thomas Stacey, Chairman of the commission, sails for England on the ship and members of the commission will convene on board to sign the report.

The largest single country in the world is Canada, with 3,684,723 square miles.

Scientist on Ice Sends Message "Without Food"

Copenhagen, April 29—(CP—A radio message purporting to be from Augustine Courtauld, British scientist who is lost in Northern Greenland was received here today.

An aeroplane bearing Iceland flags with the Iceland inspection ship Odin will fly from the edge of the ice barrier to Tiedosk and to Angmagssalik, searching for Courtauld en route. If the plane can find him it will drop provisions on the ice for his use. He is believed to be somewhere in the vicinity of the station at which he was left to spend the winter and obtain meteorological data for use of British Arctic air route expedition. The site of this station has not been located thus far by rescue missions which have gone to Courtauld's aid.

78,000 LESS IDLE IN GREAT BRITAIN

London, Apr. 29 (CP Cable)—Compared with the peak figure registered in the first week of March, the number of unemployed in Great Britain, according to the last figures' return, shows a reduction of 78,000. The total now is rather over 2,000,000, three-quarters of whom are wholly unemployed. The remainder are temporarily or normally in casual employment.

7 MEN DEAD SPRAYED WITH LIQUID FIRE

Taming of Wild Gusher at Gladewater Was Almost Complete

FRICTION IN VALVE

Explosion Blows Fireman Out of Way of Burning Oil

Gladewater, Tex., April 29.—Flaring heavenward in fiery defiance after being tamed almost to submission, the death in liquid fire and injured three men, Sheriff Sinclair No. 1 Cole well, two miles southwest of Gladewater, was unquenched today.

Flame of the wild gusher was extinguished at 2 o'clock yesterday within a few minutes of accomplishment when friction in the valve of the lowering of a valve ignited millions of feet of gas rushing from the casing. Fire shot skyward and a terrific explosion followed, igniting the gusher and oil filled slush pits.

Men Are Afire.

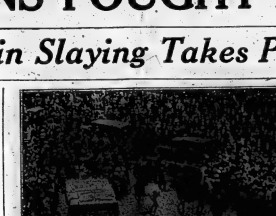
The crew of ten terrified workmen cast screaming from the scene, the clothing of nine afire. Sinclair Oil Company officials and workers were checking names that 14 or 15 persons, including spectators, were killed, but the known dead are: Ed Hamilton, Seminole, Okla.; George Albright, Oklahoma City; Virgil Welch, Oklahoma City; Bill Harroun, Oklahoma City; Jim Mayfield, Oklahoma City; W. H. McClanin, Jr., Wichona, Okla., W. H. McClanin, Sr., 53, Wichona, Okla.

The injured were Tom Cole, part owner of the well; John Keys, 36, Oklahoma City and Frank Felock, 35, Longview, Kyle and Felock were in Longview, Tex., hospitals tonight. Both injured yesterday and they probably would die. The younger McClanin died after being rescued from the flames.

"Ed" Brumley, foreman of the drill ing crew for the Sheriffs Texas Company of Tulsa, Okla., said he did not know whether he left them at Bay.

Escape by Freak

Brumley said he escaped death by a freak of the blast which hurled him into the flames from the derrick and out of the path of the boiling, flaming oil. Cole was burned about the hands when he slipped on the crew who ran from the scene, his clothing afire. Keys, driller, and workman and tore the flaming cloth from his body.



The roar of the flames could be heard for miles and the smoke and the column of smoke was visible in Longview, Tyler, Kilgore and other East Texas cities. A general warning to seekers after "liquid gold." Eleven hundred persons fled in the path of a series of sudden fires in the East Texas fields within the past three weeks.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 29 — A blurry up call for members of a Oklahoma City oil well fire fighting field is speed to Texas and attempt to tame the Wild gusher at Gladewater, Texas.

FOUND HANGING TO BARN RAFTER

Kincardine, April 29.—Apparently depressed because of ill health and lack of work, Robert Clark, aged 61, of Kincardine township, his life ended by his body was discovered hanging by a rope from the barn rafters. He had not been well for some time and for the past week or two it would seem is survived by his widow and two sons. No inquest will be held.

One of the demonstrations that marked the beginning of the end of the monarchial rule in Spain. The photo was taken on election day in Madrid and shows some of the wild by enthusiastic voters who cast the overwhelming republican vote that forced the abdication of King Alfonso. Many gatherings were dispersed by police and civic guards on that day but today the Republicans rule.

No Tax on Poodles, Cats Lipsticks or Face Powder

London, April 29 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—Having presented the budget to the House of Commons, Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, gave the country at large a second presentation over the radio last night. With a touch of that acid humor which has made him famous in the Commons, he remarked that perhaps most of his hearers had read the press comments on the budget. "Though if you are like me you read press criticisms, not so much for instruction as for amusement," he said. A moment later, though, the Chancellor was telling his unseen audience that the budget had had a very good press comment.

Doubtless, he said, his hearers consoled themselves with the reflection that it might have been worse. He had turned a deaf ear at any rate to those who would have had him inflict a five-pound tax on old maid's poodles, five shillings tax on cats, and duties on lipsticks and face powder.

Mr. Snowden frankly described the budget as a makeshift.

PRINCE AT CONTROLS ON WAY HOME, LANDS AT WINDSOR

Heir to Throne Makes Quiet Return From Tour

TERRIER'S WELCOME

Windsor, Eng., Apr. 29 (CP)—The Prince of Wales and his brother Prince George, arrived here at one o'clock this afternoon from Le Bourget Air Airport, ending his 18,000-mile tour of South America.

Their plane, City of Glasgow, dropped down in Windsor Park near the historic castle where the King and Queen were awaiting them. They had come home in the same manner as they left, by air. The big plane emerged from the mist, circled once and rolled down the fields to pawn to a stop only a few yards from a special indication mark, which the pilot must there several days ago.

The Duke of York was the first to greet them when they climbed out of the cabin to set foot on English soil after three and a half months' absence.

Arrival Informal

Their arrival was informal and unostentatious, with scarcely a cheer from the waiting crowd. It was as though the Duke had just returned from one of those week-end hops to the continent instead of one of the choc- important missions he has performed.

An informal welcome was what the Prince had asked for, and he got it.

"Hullo, how do you do?" said the Duke of York as he shook hands.

"Fine," the Prince answered and the royal greetings were over.

The heir took off his derby hat, stretched a bit and lighted a cigarette. Then he caught sight of Cora, his little Cairn Terrier, waiting for him in an automobile.

Terrier Greets Him

The dog barked, leaped from the car, and jumped into the Prince's arms. Then the three brothers climbed in and drove to the castle where the King and Queen were waiting.

Though the Prince had had a good crossing from Le Bourget and that the Prince of Wales was in the cockpit most of the time. It was understood that he handled the controls some- once or twice during the flight.

Newmarket, Eng., April 29 (AP).—The Cameronian today won the classic two thousand guineas with Goyescas second and Chris Thiday Cameronian owned by J. A. Dewar, won by 2 lengths, with three separating the second and third horses. The horse was an outsider in the betting at 33 to 1 with Goyescas at eight to one, and Orsen 18 to one.

The race is at one mile. The stakes 2000 guineas —about $10,000) with extras.

CONSERVATIVES HONORING HENRY

TORONTO Ont., April 29—(By the Canadian Press)—All members of the Conservative Party in the Ontario Legislature from all parts of the Province have been called to the Parliament Buildings here tomorrow to attend a luncheon at the Speaker's apartment.

The invitation to all members has been issued by W. H. Ireland M.L.A. Conservative Whip, who declared the luncheon is called to greet Premier Henry on his return from Atlantic City, where he has been on a two weeks' vacation. There is no official message, it is understood the luncheon will be followed by a caucus.

Importance is attached to the caucus today because of impending Conservative Convention, at which endorsation is to be given to the Premier Minister of whoever the Convention selects.

5 NEGROES BURNED

Clarksville, Tenn., April 29— Five negroes, described as "mentally deficient," were burned to death today in a fire that destroyed a wing of a dormitory at the Montgomery County poor farm, 30 miles from here.

BOARDER TOOK FRENCH LEAVE

William Wilson was found guilty of "leaving a board bill of $70, owed to Mrs. Hazel Lloyd of this city," in police court today. The man having a certain sum coming to him in Toronto on May 17th next, settled the bill for $50.00 by an order to Mrs. Lloyd. His worship suspended sentence for six months and attached no costs to the action.

Mrs. Lloyd in giving evidence stated the man had boarded with her for four years contributing five dollars per week and that he had paid his board since January 5th last. On Wednesday of last week, Mrs. Lloyd stated that the man removed most of his clothing and effects and also took property that did not belong to him, including a pair of boots and a shirt. Wilson is a Barnardo Home boy and has been in this country for some years.

YOUNG VAGRANT WAS RELEASED

Ivan Belanger, for a period of twelve hours, was held as a vagrant by the Belleville police today, out was allowed his freedom when Provincial authorities when that no charge was pending against the boy. Belanger was implicated in a case in Quebec on the 22nd of March, when Constable Wilson of the Montreal Police patrol, chased a car occupied by five men, including Belanger, the officer having reason to believe that they were stolen from Montreal. At the time some of the men were arrested when it was the car, including Belanger, but he was allowed his freedom as it was proven that he did not join the gang until after the car had been stolen. Belanger was kept in the police station on March 27th last under the name of Paul Belanger, and when he registered last night, Desk Sergeant Harman remembered the race and when he gave his name as Ivan Belanger the officer grew suspicious. Which the examiner was about to leave this morning, he was held as a vagrant. A wire was sent to Montreal and an answer received as noted above, allowed the man his freedom.

WOMAN SUFFERS SERIOUS HURT

Mrs. Harold Harvey, 21 Everett street, is confined to the Belleville Hospital suffering from a fracture in a grave condition as the result of an accident in her home yesterday afternoon about two o'clock. It appears that Mrs. Harvey, employed at the works at the American Optical Company was standing on the rungs of a washing woodwork and fell, falling on the chair. Mrs. Harvey was severely injured about the head and was rushed to the hospital. Dr. G. S. Cronk is in charge of the case.

"Mrs. Harvey's condition is as satisfactory as can be expected," Dr. Cronk stated to The Ontario Intelligencer today. The doctor said that blood transfusions were being kept in readiness in case that they were necessary, but that so far none had been given.

GOSSIP SAYS CHURCHILL LEADER OF NEW PARTY

London, April 29 (CP)—Political gossip are talking about a possible new political party, even newer than Sir Oswald Mosley's New Party and including Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill in their rumors. The stories increased today with the announcement that the 1900 Club will entertain Mr. Churchill at luncheon on May 13 in recognition of his services to the Conservative party.

JANITOR DIED OF FRACTURE

Friends in Mistake Thought He Was Intoxicated

Toronto, Ont., April 29 (By The Canadian Press)—Police are investigating the death of Harry Mockbridge, 60, janitor for a local apartment company, who succumbed to a fracture of the skull, at Western Hospital, early today. It is believed Mockbridge lost his life because friends in the building where he was working sought to save him his job. He was found last night lying at the foot of the stairs on the second floor of the building and, being thought drunk, was placed in a small locker room where he lay, badly injured for many hours before being taken to St. Michael's Hospital. Examination there disclosed Mockbridge's injuries. Instead of being drunk, was dying of a fractured skull, a fractured leg and serious internal injuries.

Police at first failed to find how Mockbridge had been injured, now believe he fell down stairs.

After the man's death this morning, Chief Coroner Crawford had the body removed to the morgue.

LIFE TERM FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Toronto, April 29 (CP)—William Cameron Miller, charged with the murder of his wife at their home here last March, was found guilty of manslaughter by an astute court jury and Justice Kelly Kenny today. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Miller is alleged to have fatally killed his wife when he arrived at their home on March 15th. He fled her under the influence of liquor. During the course of the trial, counsel started yesterday evidence to the effect that Mrs. Miller had been drinking steadily from Christmas until the day of her death, and that she had no neighbors at the Miller family.

YOUNG VAGRANT WAS RELEASED

Ivan Belanger, for a period of twelve hours, was held as a vagrant by the Belleville police today, out was allowed his freedom when Provincial authorities when that no charge was pending against the boy. Belanger was implicated in a case in Quebec on the 22nd of March, when Constable Wilson of the Montreal Police patrol, chased a car occupied by five men, including Belanger, the officer having reason to believe that they were stolen from Montreal. At the time some of the men were arrested when it was the car, including Belanger, but he was allowed his freedom as it was proven that he did not join the gang until after the car had been stolen. Belanger was kept in the police station on March 27th last under the name of Paul Belanger, and when he registered last night, Desk Sergeant Harman remembered the race and when he gave his name as Ivan Belanger the officer grew suspicious. Which the examiner was about to leave this morning, he was held as a vagrant. A wire was sent to Montreal and an answer received as noted above, allowed the man his freedom.

WOMAN SUFFERS SERIOUS HURT

Mrs. Harold Harvey, 21 Everett street, is confined to the Belleville Hospital suffering from a fracture in a grave condition as the result of an accident in her home yesterday afternoon about two o'clock. It appears that Mrs. Harvey, employed at the works at the American Optical Company was standing on the rungs of a washing woodwork and fell, falling on the chair. Mrs. Harvey was severely injured about the head and was rushed to the hospital. Dr. G. S. Cronk is in charge of the case.

"Mrs. Harvey's condition is as satisfactory as can be expected," Dr. Cronk stated to The Ontario Intelligencer today. The doctor said that blood transfusions were being kept in readiness in case that they were necessary, but that so far none had been given.

Searches for Evidence Universe is Exploding

Lady Jeans made themselves comfortable in a hotel. Dr. Harold D. Walter S. Adams, director of the Mount Wilson Observatory, and Dr. Edwin Hubble, explorer of the Island Universes.

The work of these two astronomers has furnished much evidence to support Jeans' theory of the explosively-expanding universe.

William Wetmore Related by Marriage to Dead Woman

NOTES ARE LEFT

Police Refuse to Divulge Contents of Two Notes

New London, Conn., April 29—William Wetmore, a farm hand, related by marriage to Miss Emily Kirk, who was slain in Flanders on Saturday night, a suspect in the case, today killed himself by shooting after he had taken acid.

The note in which he declared that he did not kill the young woman, Lalen Kirk, Flanders postmaster's daughter, told the police that her son told her last night that he had had a "love pact" with Emily with the understanding that if one died the other would commit suicide. The other notes were turned over to the Wetmore family which they also refused to make public until Coroner J. J. Corrigan gave permission.

Coroner Corrigan and State and Hamden Officers who went to the Wetmore home in a remote section of the town, declined to give an opinion as to Wetmore's relation to the crime.

BASKET-BALL, BOWLING AND LIFE SAVING DEMONSTRATED BY THE Y. M. C. A. CLASSES

Winter activities at the local Young Men's Christian Association concluded last night with the annual "open night" when the members of the basket-ball classes invited to the general public the program which has been carried out throughout the season. The building section with experienced host from 8 o'clock when the evening's entertainment began.

Music from a fine large radio, supplied by Doyles filled the air, while the gymnasium took on the appearance of a veritable fun house for frolic and fun.

At 7.45 p.m. the sports opened in the gymnasium with a basketball game between the Senior and the B.C.I. junior girls. These girls staged a great battle and after the game had ended with the X-rites had passed out a win by the score of 6 to 4. The girls displayed little high class basketcraft and as they are juniors, too much could not be expected of them. This was followed by the exhibition of the graduates of the volley ball game between the married men and the single men of the Y.M. After three hard fought games the married men emerged victorious having won games out of three. The participants were given a round of applause by the public as single men had as their alibi the fact that they showed their married brothers how to win so that their wives would let them out for the next game.

Then came the big basket ball game between Bridge Street church champions, and the all-star team picked from the league, this proved a fast game the team from Bridge St. Church pulling away in the last quarter to win by the score of 36 to 22. It was keenly fought throughout, no quarter being given or asked.

Life Saving

While all this was going on, Ralph Mordon had a life-saving crew, who were giving a demonstration in the pool. Mr. Mordon's crew of Misses Miss Lorna Ridley and Miss E. Thomson both winners of the bronze medal for life saving, put on some fine acts in the art of saving the drowning. They demonstrated the different breaks and methods used to rescue a drowning person. After this lesson the group was augmented by four other girls and they entertained the audience at fancy diving and swimming. They were followed by the boys who demonstrat ed life-saving fancy swimming on the board. These feats elicited round of applause from the audience. Both methods were used, the National Swimming and life-saving stroke and then the Royal life saving way idea.

Moving Pictures

There were continuous moving pictures in the auditorium, the films being supplied by the Government and they proved highly educational and were mostly scenic views. One reel would interest, another as it depicted a battle with game fish. The scenes were pictured in Northern Ontario.

The bowling alleys were in full swing and everyone who had played the game was on hand trying to knock those pins over. Both the old and the young enjoyed this recreation.

In the recreation rooms the ladies were busy serving ice cream, pies, and ball games and various other games.

The visitors were then shown upstairs into the dormatories. These rooms are a credit to the institution, no less than 37 young men living in the building. During the winter at times the second floor was thrown open to accommodate transients who were well taken care of.

Much credit is to be given to President H. F. Jennings and Managing Secretary J. Shortt for their untiring work among the young of this city. The directors Messrs. H. Hobson, G. Dalrom, J. Imlah, C. Hanna, G. Cole, H. Clarke, A. Duff, R. Brown, P. C. MacLaurin, F. Smith, H. Ackerman and J. B. Fielding worked hard to make the institution pay.

Before closing the night's entertainment, a buffet luncheon was served in the reception room by the wives of the directors. The following ladies assisted, Mrs. M. G. Burt, Mrs. H. Ackerman, Mrs. J. B. Fielding, Mrs. H. Clarke, Mrs. R. Brown, Mrs. F. Smith, Mrs. J. Shortt, Mrs. Geo. Cole, Mrs. J. Imlah and Mrs. P. C. MacLaurin.

The entertainment was well received by the audience which was attended and much credit was given to Jack Shortt and Mr. Mordon and the officers and the ladies who all helped to make the affair one to be remembered.

POLICE CALLS A MECCA FOR 53 TRANSIENTS

A record number of transients secured food and lodging at the police station last night, Fifty-three transients were booked by the desk sergeant and there were many who came later would not stay, when they found that there was no room. Each was given a hot supper of soup and bread while cells were warm enough to last of the chill of the early April morning and rainy day. Many of them left early in the day for other cities and work. After a report had been received of the theft of Thomas Hutchinson's car, the police are of the opinion that some of the transients who did not accept accommodation due to the overcrowding, are responsible for the theft of the machine. It is understood from the police that a number left the police station short before the theft was reported.

POLICE COURT

Two cases were heard in the domestic relations court today before Magistrate Mikel, Clarence Prentice of Hungerford Township was charged with non-support and without means. Evidence taken, the young man was remanded for sentence for one week after he had pleaded guilty to charge. In the meantime the parties effected will try to arrange an amicable settlement.

Sarah Ann Smith was charged with assault and battery laid by Wilfrid Holmes, City Clerk, when she applied for a marriage license. It being alleged that she gave her name as Sarah Ann Moorehead, after, while it is charged that her name is Sarah Ann Moorehead, she having been married in the Old Country some years ago. The woman was released on bail to appear in one week for trial.

ROTARY MINSTRELS SHOW BIG TREAT

The Belleville Rotaly Minstrels were rehearsing the 1931 show last night when in wandered a man who had been attracted by the music he had heard from outside the room.

His remarks as he entered were these "Well, I've heard a lot of singing in my day in New York, London, Toronto and Montreal, but I certainly have heard nothing better than I am hearing now, you say this is the Belleville talent? Wonderful, wonderful, I can hardly believe it."

And it is wonderful too, this chorus of fifty male voices blended together in one glorious rhythm. The biggest side of the Minstrel Show is well taken care of by the six end men, who are as good as any of the old time minstrels, and fairly revel in the job of causing laughter. The solo parts are gems and there are songs that will live in your memory for days. You will leave the show humming them. You can be assured that the Belleville Rotary Minstrels 1931, will be the musical treat of the season.

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES CELEBRATE THEIR THIRD BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Continued Growth of Business by Company

MAIL ORDER TRADE

Wide Range of Stock is Carried by Company

Steady development of business has been marked by the Canadian Department Stores, celebrating the third anniversary as the present time. Improvements have been made in the local store which is known far and wide throughout the extent of Central Ontario and the increase in business enjoyed by this branch is a true indicator of the prestige which the company has built up.

You will be amazed to know of the endless thought and care taken to assure the standards and the quality and value offered in the Eaton branded lines of merchandise. The research bureau makes tests of materials and products. Merchandise absolutely has to measure up to Eaton's standard in value, before it may take the brand name.

The Eatonia brand is the broadest in its scope—because it is cheap and priced for the average purse. It includes practically everything to outfit men, women and children, and almost everything to furnish the average home.

A man can carry an Eatonia watch and knife, pencil, fountain pen and an Eatonia fountain pen in another. Then there is his motor on Eatonia batteries—and Eatonia tires.

Madam can be well dressed in Eatonia stationery. She can curl her hair with Eatonia irons, be powdered clothed in Eatonia garments, she can slip on her gloves, tuck her bandie in her Eatonia purse, put a necklace on her arm, and go off to pay a call—but—don't forget the Eatonia. Her debutante daughter can be becomingly gowned in any of the many Eatonia frock, can play badminton with Eatonia racquets, and golf on the quiet. She can go smartly travelling with the Eatonia luggage, handbag, and wardrobe trunk.

A professional nurse off to her cases has Eatonia Medicine Boxes, bag, with a snowy Eatonia uniform and cap. Sheets and pillow slips for the patient may be an Eatonia. The Eatonia dentist has Eatonia tools so the patient's bed—the very bed itself can be an Eatonia.

In Sportsire Mood

Young people who glide rhythmically over the ice while a whoozy band plays the blues. Some of them will have they got Eatonia skates. When spring comes, Eatonia golf balls can don the links—and hide as successfully in the long grass as their opponents.

Father, Mother, Sister and Son be his Eatonia bicycle—or his express motorcycle. The family will thankfully rocks the darling Eatonia doll to sleep. And Brother plays ball with a fisherman's satisfaction to Eatonia sports rod.

Savings Assured

We're not told half the Eatonia story. When you realize that every one of those items represents a definite outstanding value, you can visualize the savings involved for families and individuals. It saves time, too, and uncertainty! There is no room for doubt about the standard of quality in day by day items and service. After a report had been received of the theft of Thomas Hutchinson's car, the police are of the opinion that some of the transients who did not accept accommodation due to the overcrowding, are responsible for the theft of the machine. It is understood from the police that a number left the police station short before the theft was reported.

R. Y. Eaton, President of The T. Eaton Company of Canada, owning and op erating the Canadian Department Stores.

packages of goods of all descriptions, in their Birkdale furnishings and The T. Eaton mail order is a separate entity with its own stock of goods.

HOW IT STARTED

The Eaton mail order has grown from small beginnings. In 1864 the first Eaton store was built—a little pink booklet containing thirty-two pages, prices printed for distribution to out-of-town visitors to the Toronto exhibition. The visitors picked the booklets home with them, and the first orders by mail were received, keeping a woman busy filling them with the aid of a boy to do the packing.

The year following, the catalogue was twenty-four pages and the mail order staff of two was increased to four and afterwards to eight. In 1903 the department moved into a separate building. From then on the growth was continuous. In 1907 came the first offer of its kind made by any mail order house in Canada—the prepayment of all charges on purchases. In 1909 the department acquired its own stock of merchandise. "Those in the country" became a unity for vastly increased floor space.

Speed Essential

In the mail order building the stocks are assorted in counties, size and colors, for speed is an essential factor. The noise of rustling papers, of clicking typewriters, of spoken orders, of the electric gongs, of parcel labels, of rumbling trucks, whirring elevators, of parcel-chute despatching fills the building. Outside streams of wagons pass back and forth between the building and the post office; and an encircling pile of factories (it slowly but surely encroaches the unfailing and economic source of supply for the mail order stocks) The T. Eaton Co., have their own printing establishment, and the biggest job of the huge presses is the running off of the enormous catalogue as it is today.

EATONIA BRAND SIGN OF VALUES

Looming prominently about the Eaton store is the sign "EATONIA." Regarding which, currently circulates the following information:

"The 'EATONIA' idea was conceived some years ago and was the result of a desire to produce certain articles which would be standard in quality, price and style unlike other words, the best and most for the money.

It was tried out in a small way at first, but was so, immediately successful that its scope was enlarged and has kept on widening ever since. It now includes hosiery, underwear, quantities, either from their own factories or from makers under long down certain rigid specifications as to quality and the prices are reasonable, it was possible to keep the quality up and the prices down. People began to get the habit of buying EATONIAS. They found that the EATONIA article they bought was as good, or even better, than the EATONIA article they would have had been satisfied before. They bought other Eatonia articles and thus prompted and encouraged the firm to introduce other Eatonia lines. Now, the EATONIA trademark covers most of the necessities of life. There are Eatonia coats and dresses for women and misses, Eatonia suits and overcoats for men and boys, Eatonia hats and footwear, Eatonia underwear, hosiery, gloves and umbrellas—even Eatonia boilers and Eatonia sewing-machines.

MEN RECOGNIZE DEFINITE STANDARD

Giving men a definite standard on which to estimate value in men's furnishings and accessories the name Birkdale is a familiar one to those who look for things smartly correct, made of quality materials and yet, withal, sold at a reasonable price.

Birkdale is possibly better known when qualified with "specified," for Birkdale Specified is a particularly widely acknowledged standard in men's coats and suits. The same points of excellence that have made this clothing one of Eaton's most popular lines, however, are obtained in the new Birkdale Specified suit at $18.50. Specified means that every Birkdale Specified suit is built to well-defined specifications laid down by the T. Eaton Co., and rigidly inspected to see that it measures up to this standard.

BULLETIN BOARD

TRENTON STORE ROBBED.

A grocery store on Front street, William J. Kirk, Dundas street east, Trenton, was broken into some time during the night, according to police in that city. Trenton and some tobacco, bananas, bread and other articles were stolen. Entrance was made by forcing the back door, but the store was not ransacked to any extent. Chief Bain stated that this was the first robbery in some time and that every effort would be made to apprehend those responsible for the theft.

ARM MANGLED.

Mrs. Geo. W. James, wife of the editor of the Bowmanville Canadian Statesman, suffered a painful injury when her arm was mangled in the wringer of a washing machine. In some unaccountable manner Mrs. James caught her hand in the machine and before she was able to shut off the power, had her arm up to the elbow, went through the wringer. Her cries brought her husband quickly on the scene and the engine was stopped.

PHOTOS' APPEARED.

Pictures of Belleville boys, in charge of departments of the C. D. S. Store in Picton, appeared in the Picton Gazette this morning in connection with the third anniversary of the Store. Mr. Hunter who is in charge of the Eaton Grocetoria, and Mr. John Mason of the Advertising and Dept.are. The Assistant Manager is Mr. Ennis Grynes, who is now in charge of the C. D. S. Store and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Grynes, of Picton.

TRAFFIC COURT.

Three commercial travellers contributed $3.50 each to the exchequer for parking their cars on the highway for an unreasonable time, while another motorist paid $1.00 and $3.00 costs for driving on the front street with four passengers in the front seat. The police are determined to stamp out this type of driver as many warnings have been given.

RADIO LICENSES.

Radio licenses are not being securities as readily as they should be, although there are more licenses sold than ever before. Officials of the department have issued warnings to the old license holders to renew them immediately, under the penalty of a heavy fine.

LUCHINI PARTY HELD.

The Lady Trainers last night held a most successful progressive euchre at the home of Mrs. Carl Green, Lingham street. There were about fifteen tables. The following were the fortunate enough to win prizes at euchre — Ladies first, Mrs. R. Morsted the program which consisted of vocal, instrumental and cornet solos. Mr. H. B. Petterly, superintendent of the Institution for the deaf was the speaker, Arthur Ellis, president of the Belleville club occupied the chair while Harry Sager, president of the Grace Club welcomed the visitors and expressed delight at the large attendance. Alex Gordon was in charge of the music and he was assisted by Frank Hitchon, Jack Andrews and Jack Green.

INDIA SUFFERING FROM LACK OF ACCOMMODATIONS FOR SICK SAYS MISSIONARY

Dr. Pearl Chute is Heard at Baptist Church

When Dr. Pearl Chute, medical missionary from India, first went to that country, there were no hospitals in the land whatsoever, she stated in one of the most interesting lectures to be heard in this city in some time at the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, last night. "Now", she said "we have seven major hospitals and a number of minor ones." Nevertheless the need of medical attention in India is great and these hospitals, great as is the work that they do, are not nearly adequate enough to take care of the teeming millions of that country. Dr. Chute made the astounding statement that in Madras there were only fourteen beds for every one hundred thousand people.

"Anyone can see that there is not nearly enough medical accommodation". Dr. Chute herself was sent to India by the board of the Baptist Church and has spent years in medical work there. The work is in this country a little less than a year ago and in at present staying with her sister, Miss Chute, on Victors Edward County. Her own home is in St. Catharines.

Queried by a reporter last night as to the truth of Katherine Mayo's sensational book, "Mother India", Dr. Chute said that she was in the main part true. "Of course there are exaggerations in it," she said, "but it have seen with my own eyes what my own eyes that are described therein. The child marriages, Dr. Chute claims, are indeed no myth. Girls are married at as early as twelve years of age, and even younger, are given away in marriage by their parents in order that the father's girls in the country may just eclering high enough to write a written moother book which will be prohibited from entry into the British Canadian population of the country.

The doctor stated that she has been interested in India. Dr. Pearl Chute's daughter left last fall for that country where she will spend them both and soul." said Dr. Chute. "Why, there are 1,000 more people in the city of Chicago alone has more medical and hospital accommodation than the whole of India." Chicago has a population of approximately four million while India has a population three hundred and fifty million souls.

HEPBURN HITS AT INCREASE OF INDEMNITY

Attacks Conservative Govt. in Ontario for Debt

PRODUCTION VIEW

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 29.—(CP)—Charges that the Ontario Government was continued by outside influences, and that the Hydro Electric Commission, among other departments, was being exploited for the good of the party, Rather than in the interests of citizens as a whole were made last night here by Mitchell Hepburn, M.P., for Elgin West, and Ontario Liberal leader, at the annual banquet of the Ontario Women's Liberal Association.

The Provincial service, he asserted, was honeycombed with Tory workers drawing salaries for doing nothing at all.

Mr. Hepburn also criticized the Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, claiming that he had raised the salaries of himself and other cabinet ministers.

He described the trade embargo on Russia as "like putting an ice pack on Mount Vesuvius."

Hydro Situation

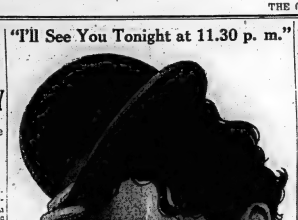
The Hydro Electric Power Commission, since the death of Sir Adam Beck had become "an adjunct of the Tory machine," he said. "We have developed in Ontario only 36 per cent. of our potential power, and yet the Henry Administration finds it good policy to buy from private interests in Quebec rather than further develop our own water powers.

A new administration was needed to conduct a "general house cleaning in Queen's Park and all over Ontario.

The new Provincial Corporation Tax was decried by Mr. Hepburn as a vicious thing, taking capital and not profit. He predicted a six per cent. Federal Sales Tax and another Corporation Tax in the near future.

Ontario's Debt

In Ontario the debt under the Conservative regime had increased $185,000,00, he claimed. Comparing conditions in the Province with those in Quebec, "the lowest taxed province in Canada," he said, "The difference is that a Liberal Government is a government of the people, which legislates in the interests of the people as a whole without fear of favor."



Over-production was the result of tariff walls, and greed of Tory-ism which has disregarded the law of supply and demand," he said.

Who can express the feeling of joy that comes when its soft and gentle influence relieves the tightened, choking air tubes! It has made asthmatic affliction a thing of the past for thousands. It never fails. Good druggists everywhere have sold it for years.

"STOLEN HEAVEN" BRIMFUL POWERFUL GRIPPINGSITUATIONS

New Nancy Carroll-Phillips Holmes Co-Starring Vehicle Begins at Belle Today

Nancy Carroll, whose career as a dramatic actress on the talking screen began so auspiciously with her portrayal of Mallie Hobart in "The Devil's Holiday," and whose career was given an added impetus forward by her splendid performance with Frederic March in "Laughter," is again cast in a first rate dramatic role, this time the heroine of Dana Burnet's story, "Stolen Heaven," which is the feature offering at the Belle today and Thursday, matinee daily.

"Stolen Heaven," is a tense, well told story of a young girl (Nancy Carroll) and a friendless boy (Phillips Holmes) who meet for the first time under strange and unusual circumstances. The boy has just stolen twenty thousand dollars. A police-man's bullet has grazed his scalp. The girl takes him to her cheap room and hides him.

Each discovers that the other has never had a chance. They decide impetuously, to take their fling together, have a grand and glorious time while the money lasts. They make plans. Buy expensive clothes. And when the money is gone, they agree, life won't be worth living. They'll just end things. No one will know the difference.

This is the basis of a story which, with dramatic force, is worked out convincingly and satisfactorily in "Stolen Heaven."

As the girl who finds happiness through an unusual set of circumstances and then is forced to fight desperately to win this happiness forever, Nancy Carroll, as in "The Devil's Holiday" and "Laughter," gives a performance that again establishes her as one of the talking screen's outstanding players.

The boy is splendidly portrayed by Phillips Holmes, Miss Carroll's leading man in "The Devil's Holiday."

Others in the cast include Louis Calhern, of the New York stage; Dagmar Oakland, C. Albert Smith and Joan Carr.

INDIAN MARKET FOR THIS COUNTRY

Sir Arthur Currie Returns From Extended Trip Abroad

Montreal, April 29 (CP).—India, China, and Japan, the great powers of the Orient, were in no way hostile to Canada, but rather friendly in trade and commerce, Sir Arthur Currie, Principal of McGill University, declared upon his return from a four-months' visit to the east. Sir Arthur, in an interview, confined himself to comment upon economic trade conditions.

In India, Sir Arthur said, the effect of the boycott and the non-cooperation movement had been notice able. Indian merchants and business men had realized the possibilities for home industries in this movement, and their assistance had rendered the results more effective than they would otherwise have been. Gandhi's efforts to stimulate home hand handicrafts in the home ind also met with notable response, with a consequent cutting of imports.

There existed, however, a market in India for Canadian goods. Sir Arthur said that he saw no Canadian fruit and vegetables in India. It all seemed to come from California.

RADIO FANS CORNER

Reception last night was little short of perfect and tuning in was certainly a pleasure. Too many stations tried to get in on the same wave length of course but that was the only hole we can pick in the whole proceedings.

Lester Allen, star of various Broadway productions, will be guest artist during the revue program to-night heard over CFRB at 7:30 E. S. T. The orchestra plays selections from "The Three Musketeers," a symphonic arrangement of "Rose Atmentieres" and a novelty number entitled "A Musical Menu". The singing duo present "There's Something About an Old Fashioned Girl" and Lee Holmes, violinist, plays Kreisler's "Preludium".

Selections from Irving Berlin's Music Box Revue form the ensemble presentation tonight at 8:30 from WEAF and the medley includes "Everybody Step", "Lady of the Evening" and "Say It With Music". The orchestra gives us something just a little different when they present "The Stairway to Paradise" and Lisitz's "Liebestraum."

Bebe Daniels is to be the guest of the Pleasure Hour tonight heard over WJZ at 8:30 E.S.T. and this program should be called with red pencil as one of the specials of the evening. Can't seem to make up their minds as to whether Bebe or Ben Lyon will be on the air 4-night or not. Hate to disappoint you at this late hour but really think they will be there, the missing tonight. Saturday they were scheduled for today and her name are off the schedules, they do funny things in the radio world.

Tune in on the Varieties at 7:45 E.S.T. WEAF and to the program of Vincent Lopez and Jack Benny fame station. Florence Richardson and her orchestra at 11 WEAF. Monday night brings us the Musical Cocktail program from WABC an owl hour it at 7:30 E.S.T. Wonder who the guest star will be tonight. Guy Lombardo at 10.30 E.S.T. from the last named station.

MIDNIGHT PREVIEW AT THE CAPITOL OPENS "CITY LIGHTS"

SPECIAL PERFORMANCES ON SATURDAY

Acclaimed his greatest contribution to the screen, Charlie Chaplin's "City Lights" will open an engagement at the Capitol Theatre, bringing to this city a non-dialogue motion picture production, which, it is believed, will be the forerunner of many more screen offerings introducing action, synchronized with music and sound effects.

More than two years in time have been devoted by Chaplin to the writing of "City Lights" and it represents an investment of $1,500,000 of the comedian's own money. All of this is Chaplin's answer to the talking picture and his firm stand on non-talkie motion pictures.

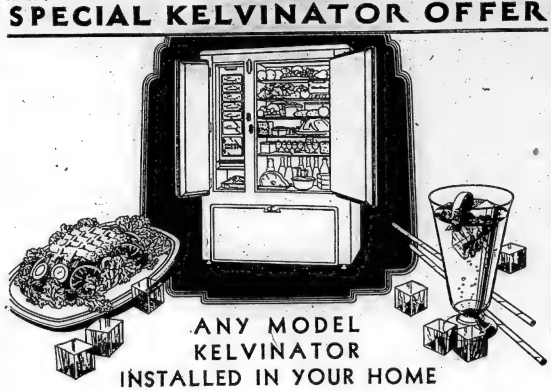
"City Lights" will occupy the screen for about one hour and twenty minutes.

The action takes place in any large city. There is a millionaire's estate about the story and it is his sympathy that will undoubtedly gain for it a permanent place in the theatre. The characters are natural, such as rub elbows with each other throughout the daily walks of life.

There are only three players that go to the story. There is only the eccentric millionaire, who has his eccentricities. Incidental to these there are three others. The girl's grandmother, the millionaire's butler and a prizefighter who, the others maze up the city, just like any city with its milling throngs. A new face comes to the screen in "City Lights," Virginia Cherrill, as the girl. This Miss Cherrill's initial bow in motion pictures and advance reports indicate that she is to win favor.

Harry Meyers, who by no means is new to the screen, plays the part of the eccentric millionaire.

Chaplin plays the tramp. He has slightly altered his characterization in "City Lights" although he is attired in his world famous baggy trousers, abbreviated tail coat and battered derby and a foundation of the gamin's shoes.



Ten thousand or more women, men and children make up the background of the city. The city in which the story unfolds was entire ly built within the enclosures of the Universal Studios plant in Hollywood and hundreds of technicians made up of all the crafts employed for the filming of a production.

With the presentation of "City Lights" Chaplin makes his debut as a musician. The entire musical synchronization of the production, with only few exceptions, is from music composed by the comedian. Many months were devoted to this phase by the producer, who is, although not generally known, an accomplished pianist, organist, violinist, cellist and harpist.

Due to the care with which the music was arranged for "City Lights" despite the fact that there is not once the use of a human voice, instrumental effects are used with considerable deception. In the arrangement of the musical accompaniment Arthur Johnston, of the Irving Berlin Company, was associated with Chaplin.

"City Lights" will open at the Capitol with a midnight preview tonight at 11.30 p.m., followed by a three-day run, Thursday and Friday daily at 2.30, 7.15 and 9.15, and Saturday at 10.30 a.m. matinee, 2.30, 6, 8 and

THE PACE

Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, of Riverside Baptist Church, New York, made, on Sunday, a plea for a reduction of the pace that maddens in the world today, taking a toll of sanity among those who could not stand its pressure. "In our day," said the minister, "the virtues most emphasized are not those associated with steadiness, but with energy and progress. The modern man believes in the future, expects change, stands on tiptoe, wondering what is going to happen tomorrow, lives with the idea of progress and values the qualities of inventiveness, aggressiveness, and strenuous effort. We are all caught up into this spirit. It is the psychological climate in which we live."

One of the results of this attitude is expressed by Dr. Fosdick, "Because faith in God grows so vague and insecure in many people that they have nothing outside of popular judgment to appeal to, nothing deeper than transient situations to stand on, we already are getting the moral consequence."

He touches on the pathetic side of this tragedy, the inward tragedies of human being today are largely due to an inability to stand the strain of life."

—a cure for this pace disease of modern life Dr. Fosdick offers a vital faith in God, which does not put him far off, but near at hand and available for daily life. The deep difficulty with irreligion today is that it so terribly increases the insecurity of life. We are already enough ill-ready—economically, domestically, internationally insecure—the victims of vicissitude, the children of restless change, and now add gods to this a profound spiritual insecurity. No God, no good purpose, undergirding life, man coming from nowhere, meaning nothing and going nowhither—that is the last straw for many souls today. I see them going to pieces. Their basic securities, outward and inward, they cannot stand. Nor is there any way out of this except building the basis meanings of religion into people's lives from childhood up."

MOTORING HERE AND THERE

With the tax on gasoline raised from eight to twelve cents per gallon, motoring in the British Isles will undoubtedly be more curbed than it has been. Roads ought to last longer with lessened traffic.

What would people in Ontario think if twelve cents a gallon were put on gasoline and licences on motor cars raised to the British level?

TOURIST EXPENDITURE

Woodstock Sentinel-Review believes that estimates of expenditure by tourists while in the province of Ontario, are largely guesswork. While the Sentinel Review admits that there are some good purchasers among the tourists, there are many, especially the 24-hour trippers, who do not stop at many places along the highway except at lunch rooms and at service stations. One newspaper called it the foremost industry, but the Sentinel-Review does not put it in that position.

THE SHOPPER

Who is the best shopper? asks the Hamilton Spectator, and proceeds to answer:

"The penuriousness of married men, as depicted in fiction and caricature, is a libel of the sex that has no basis in fact, a recent survey reveals. Instead of doling out pittances and scowling disapprovingly as they do it, the average man is lucky to get carfare and tobacco money out of his weekly wage, the investigation declares. The little woman is, in this day and generation, the family purchasing agent and she seems to be making a pretty good fist of the job. True inquiry disclosed, for instance, that 80 per cent. of all clothing and dyrgoods purchases are made by women. The survey committee secured this information from 376 retail drygoods establishments, and of this 80 per cent., 55 per cent. of all sales represented clothing purchases by women for their own use. Children's clothing accounted for only 7 per cent; linens, draperies and other house hold furnishings for 18 per cent.; clothing purchases for men, 17 per cent., and miscellaneous, 3 per cent. These figures are based on the United States, but they probably hold true for Canada, too, which has tastes and domestic policies in common with those countries. Women, in spending 80 cents of every dollar which passes over the counters of retail establishments undoubtedly glean cheap bargains than would their bread-winners. The average man is a total loss as a shopper, in the opinion of the women folk. A man with a purpose to make is not given to the practice of making the rounds of the stores and comparing values. If it's a shirt he wants he enters the first haberdashery he comes to, unless he is a regular customer of a particular store, selects what strikes his fancy and quite often doesn't inquire what the price is until the purchased article is being wrapped for him. A woman shopper, knowing approximately what she wants to pay, gets price information first and then knuckles down to the task of getting the best value in the price range she has decided on."

APRIL RAIN
By Aline Michaelis

I love to watch the rain-drops fall
From April's tender skies
When, blossoms blown from fields unknown,
Drift cloudland's argosies.

The slanting silver rain descends
Upon the fields' fresh green,
Like slender fingers that caress
The quickening meadow's sheen.

The thrusting grasses day by day
Climb upward to the light
As raindrops touch each leaf and bud
To springtime's sweet delight.

They work such fragrant miracles,
Paint such green harmonies
On dreamless dust, I think they must
Be tears from angels' eyes.

BITERS AND BITTEN

Science will be able to find a bird, insect or parasite to devour the black flies which are a pest in the South and which are appearing in unprecedented numbers in rural districts of the North. Connecticut farmers whose cattle are tormented by dark swarms of Simulium molestum are hoping for the arrival of some creature which will bite the flies even more severely than the flies bite them and their animals.

The beneficial insect may not be a native of the American woods, but it is possible to import a friendly enemy. Similar measures have been taken elsewhere. The Fiji Islanders were desperate some five years ago because their cocoanut palms were ravaged by the beetle called Oryctes. As these feasted on the leaves, the trees either died or failed to bear the fruit which is not only the chief food supply of the natives but also their source of wealth through exportation of copra.

Poisons and sprays were given a thorough trial, but none could be found to destroy either the moth or the caterpillar. No local parasite had any appreciable effect on the plague, and finally a prize of $25,000 was offered for relief. In Malaya a parasite was found living on a moth very much like the Fiji blight. It was successfully transplanted, and the cocoanuts and natives were saved. Science may here be waiting for a like simulation before it finds a remedy for the black flies.

Q.—Of what refreshments does an afternoon tea consist?

A.—Tea, with thin slices of bread and butter, thin biscuits and cake.

Q.—Where should a woman receive men who call at a hotel to see her?

A.—Downstairs, if she has no sitting room upstairs.

Other Papers' Opinions

REGARD FOR ANIMALS

There is ample justification for the plea made to motorists to exercise more care while driving, in regard to animals on the road. Nobody who has any experience of motoring will deny that there are times when, no matter how much care is exercised, a driver cannot avoid running over an animal while on the rural roads, or even in the city. Owners of dogs in Montreal ought to know by now that the law requires them to have their dogs on a leash, and that they have only themselves to blame if they allow a pet to run loose and it gets hurt on the road.

But in the country it is different. No leashes are required, and often dogs run along by the side of automobiles, while hens are always crossing the road at inconvenient moments. It is, however, equally undesirable that while the most careful driver cannot at times avoid accidents, there are many who do not make any effort to avoid hitting a dog or a squirrel or a hen. Apart entirely from the humanitarian aspect of the case, such people reveal themselves as careless drivers. If they are so regardless of animals, life, they are not likely to be as careful as they ought to be at any time.

Dumb animals may constitute a problem, but the careful driver will recognize this and try to do his best to avoid any unfortunate result. The careless driver—and there are not a few of this type—who deliberately runs over a dumb animal is outside the pale and should be reported by anybody who sees him, not only in the interests of the animals, but in the interest of the general public who are likely to suffer from his recklessness and carelessness.—Montreal Star.

NUMBERING THE PEOPLE

In a few weeks' time Canadians will be confronted by the enumerator. The result of the census beginning here in June next is due course will reveal the expansion that has taken place in the Dominion in population, industry and in other directions in the past ten years. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which endeavors to keep the record up to date, has published certain revised figures at long intervals and although the official calculations are necessarily approximate and complete data, they are sufficiently reliable to at least indicate that the last census is now far from being an accurate guide. According to the final results, the total population of the Dominion on June 1, 1921, was 8,788,483, as compared with 7,206,643 on June 1, 1911, an increase of 1,581,840 or 21.95 per cent. in the decade, as compared with 34.17 per cent. during the decade from 1901 to 1911.—Montreal Gazette.

Letters to the Editor

PURE WATER

To Editor Ontario Intelligencer:

Dear Sir: In the Mail and Empire of April 27th I read an article as follows:

Less Chlorine in Water

"Brantford, April 26.—Should Brantford's new half-million dollar filtration and pumping plant in action, the chlorine content of the civic water supply has been reduced from two to four parts per million gallons."

Does this mean that we shall have to continue to use that abominable chlorine in our water?

(Sgd.) Robert Bogle.

ST. LAWRENCE IS LOWER THIS YEAR

BROCKVILLE, April 20.— Because the level of the St. Lawrence is now lower than it has been for many seasons at this period of the year, owners of summer properties along the Thousand Island region are finding it necessary to lower their docks, in some cases by as much as three feet. In marked contrast with conditions of a year ago when many wharves were washed away or damaged by high water and when the remaining wharves had to be raised or reinforced owners now find their wharves standing above the water line and scores of boat house slips lack sufficient water to float small craft. Lower water is expected before the season comes to an end.

First Employment Gain Seen in Seventeen Months

Chicago, April 20. — For the first time in seventeen months, the general level of employment in the Middle West rose definitely last month. The monthly review of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank shows that employment in ten industrial lines rose nine-tenths of 1 per cent and earnings gained 4 per cent between Feb. 15 and March 15.

Employment in four non-manufacturing groups receded one-tenth of 1 per cent and wages declined 1 1-2 per cent. But for the fourteen groups as a whole, employment improved seven-tenths of 1 per cent and earnings 2.8 per cent.

"The gain in the total for ten groups," says the review, "was about the same as that shown by industry and sufficient to offset slight declines in the non-manufacturing total, giving rise to the first gain in aggregate employment of all groups since September 1929. Seven manufacturing groups and construction work contributed to the aggregate gain.

"Construction work, which has contributed heavily to the falling-off in non-manufacturing aggregates, recovered moderately after having declined seasonally in the seven months in both number of men and payrolls Improvement in the farm labor situation was registered in April in comparison with Jan. 1. Reduction in the ratio of applications to jobs available at free employment offices in all States except Iowa provided is indicative of the Spring migration of rural labor from the industrial towns."

Stone Age Dispute of 1888 Revives; May Day of Village

WESTFIELD, N.J., April 20.—A scientific controversy which raged forty years ago whether or not human bones uncovered on the east bank of the Delaware River, south of Tropton, belonged to a paleolithic man may be settled if the plans of the Archaeological society of the United States to undertake excavation work succeed.

The society would delve into naturel records 10,000 or more years old, but time now is short. The Pennsylvania Railroad has announced construction program which includes building a new freight line through the area to be searched. Unless the hunt for bones and implements of the older Stone Age is commenced soon it will become impossible.

Charles A. Philbower, American Indian authority and superintendent of the Westfield public schools, said that the bones were found by the Indian archaeological advisory committee to the Trenton State Museum of which he is chairman had thrived and developed such signs of potential growth that its members had decided to form a New Jersey archaeological society.

A constitution is being drafted and organization plans perfected at a meeting here last week in the American Indian studio of Colonel Leigh M. Pearsall. Mr. Philbower said that indications of financial support to undertake the excavation work have come from the University of Pennsylvania, Phillips Academy in the New Jersey State Department of Conservation and Development.

The area to be dug over is about two miles below Tropton, and is known as the Lafor Farm. It is now the property of the Pennsylvania Railroad and construction there is expected to start within a year. Prehistoric man in the region was the Abbott Farm, and it was there that the Delaware, emitting from the West, are believed to have established the first Indian village in the Delaware Jersey. They called their habitation Chichoboki, which translated means Tumbling Bank. Relics of their settlement are still to be found.

It was in 1888 and 1889 that the controversy began over whether parts of a human skull and of an arm bone dug up on the Abbott Farm by Dr. Charles C. Abbott from what is known as the "Trenton gravel" were Paleolithic remains. Dr. Abbott contended that they were. Dr. Henry Mercer who was curator of the University of Pennsylvania Museum, said they were not. There were heated words on both sides. Mr. Philbower said, and the two men, who were friends, became bitter enemies.

Subsequent to Dr. Abbott's discovery, other scientists uncovered what appeared to be implements belonging to the older Stone Age, particularly a hammer, Mr. Philbower said. He was unable to say positively where the Abbott relics now are, but they are believed to be stored at the Peabody Museum, Harvard, to which Dr. Abbott presented much of his scientific collection upon his death.

Well then you have more imagination than facks, ma sed. Its reely quite exceptional for such a young child to tawk so plainly. For instants when he's thersty he says Dibby gilk, or Dibby awky, as the case may be, which of corse means Give me milk or Give me water.

Of corse, pop sed. Thats as plain as the bottom of an inkwell, he sed.

And for instants when he wunts to go to bed he says Iggy Keepy, which couldent very well mean anything else but Willum sleepy, could it? ma sed, and pop sed. No, unless perhaps it mite mean Button me up the back.

Thats perposterous and you know it, ma sed. Willum, listen to me while; I bet you dont know what that means?

I bet you dont either, ma sed, and pop sed, Then you lose your bet, it means Boys will be boys but a bernt child dreds the fire. Up pippy fliffle, what do you sippose that means? he said.

I refuse to sippose anything about it, ma sed, and pop sed, Well then Ill save you the trubble, it means Would you mind passing the fry pan before the fire, I think you imagine hiat Sippy dippy igloo means? he sed.

Now Willyum if this is going to keep up all nite youll find yourself tawking to yourself, because Ill go rite out to the movies, that means more Ill make you go with me, ma sed.

Movies being what pop hates the most, and he sed, You win, and as a matter of fack Sippy dippy igloo means This will be about all for the present.

Wich it was.

April, May, June—Good Months for Egg Dishes

By Hannah Wing

Your Spring and early Summer meals will be simplified greatly if you appreciate the culinary possibilities of eggs. You can do so many things with and do eggs that they can be served daily for weeks with never a duplication of recipe, for eggs are good not only served plain after a skilled poaching or frying or scrambling, but they combine beautifully with other foods, such as cheese, tomatoes, shrimps, mushrooms, and so on, to make elaborate and complex dishes.

To be at their best, eggs must be fresh and they must be cooked carefully. Eggs do not respond well to high temperatures.

"Boiled" eggs should never be boiled. They should be steam-cooked in an electric egg cooker or in a double boiler over a low heat. Scrambled eggs are best when scrambled in the double boiler or the table in an electric chafing dish. (Incidentally, eggs scrambled in the chafing dish are very festive and particularly excellent as the base for a late supper party.) Poached eggs should be cooked in water which is held but below the boiling point and to which a little vinegar has been added. The vinegar should be white to hold the pale prettily about the yolk. Keep the pan in which eggs are poaching lightly covered.

Do not cook for eggs to be served alone. Now for a few of our pet recipes for eggs in combination with other foods.

Eggs With Asparagus Tips
4 eggs.
1 large can asparagus or
1 bunch fresh asparagus.
1 cup medium thick white sauce
1 slice hot buttered toast
4 slices of bacon (if desired).
Method
1-4 cup grated cheese

Place the toast on a serving platter and on each side place a poached egg. Arrange the hot cooked asparagus around the outside of the platter and pour over the eggs the white sauce in which the cheese has been melted. Garnish with the bacon, cooked crisp. This is a fine dish to prepare on an electric table grill, poaching the eggs on the top unit, heating the bacon over the element and making the toast in the centre compartment.

Eggs in Tomatoes

For each person to be served, scoop out the centre of a perfect tomato and drop in a raw egg. Sprinkle the egg with salt and pepper and place on top a lump of butter. Bake at moderate heat until egg is set. This will take about 15 minutes to serve, place each tomato on a slice of toast and accompany with a green vegetable such as spinach or string beans.

Corn and Cheese Scramble
1 cup grated cheese
1 cup canned whole kernel corn
Hot buttered toast
1-4 teaspoon paprika
1-4 cup thick sifted tomato pulp
1 tablespoon melted butter
1-2 green pepper, chopped fine
2 eggs
1-2 teaspoon salt

Melt butter in pan over low heat. Add chopped pepper and cook, covered, five minutes. Then add corn, pepper, tomato and seasonings. Mix well and add the eggs, well beaten. Stir all together until the eggs are cooked and then add the cheese. Give the cheese a minute or two to melt and then pour over slices of hot buttered toast.

The Beauty Box

By Helen Follett

Watch out for the hair-trigger face, you spoiled little gals who do tantrums now and then during family misunderstandings. As the years go on, unpleasant emotions stamp themselves upon the countenance. Faces are ever in the making. The mouth takes on a firm belligerent look, sort of a bear-trap appearance, when thoughts inside the head go bolshevik. To have nice manners to preserve the happy aura of youth, one's mind must be trained to behave prettily, not to fly off the handle. Facial expression, even more than regularity of features, makes for beauty.

Shoulder length hair has unnumbered possibilities in the way of chic arrangement. There is the middle parting that continues down to the nape of the neck, with soft ringlets inverted behind each ear. Or the ends are arranged in two narrow pig tails and bunned over the ears. Curly ends are turned upward in a sausage roll extending along the rear hair line.

The complexion of the French-woman would not look natural if it were not artificial. Make-up has been her inheritance since before the time of Marie Antoinette. Rouge puts on war paint because coquetry is her special forte and her capturing of a husband is an important business. Italian women are almost as make up. They are wonderfully beautiful, with tall, straight, well-developed figures of the old Roman matrons.

If on feels that one must use a dry shampoo, ordinary cornmeal will be found more satisfactory than orris root. It brushes out more easily, absorbs the oil as quickly. It is less likely to cling to the scalp. Place cotton over the bristles of the brush for the final grooming.

Use an atomiser when applying perfume. The scent will be more subtle and the precious flower oils will go further. Talcum powder applied to the body surface will give out a perceptible fragrance because of the heat of the flesh. Sachet powders are good investments. Less expensive than ext'ees, and their perfumes are of the same general character.

The Poor Man's Friend—Put up in small bottles that are easily portable and look like a very large pill. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil possesses power in concentrated form. Its cheapness and the varied uses to which it can be put make it the poor man's friend. No dealer's stock is complete without it.

Fashionably Speaking

By Lucille

Dear Readers:

Science will no longer have it that there is any such thing as a cultured taste of colors—the man with that subtle attribute known as "taste" in my mind is first-class health, and the man with a weakness for bizarre combinations of colors is a man urgently in need of a doctor.

It is not too much to say that the well-being of every individual is inseparably bound up with the influence of colors (writes a specialist in this article in London Tit-Bits.)

Those, for example, suffering from depressing influences, such as chronic self-poisoning, always seek relief in bright surroundings or in personal adornment, and they always give themselves away to the astute doctor by their predilection for such colors as orange, red, and yellow, for these colors stimulate the nerves.

During the war advantage was taken of the effect on the mind of colors, in a hospital set apart for shell-shock cases, where excessively and slitting-rooms were fitted with windows of different colored glass, so that the light in one room was orange, in another green, in another of blue, and in yet another violet. The men were free to move about as they pleased, and the result was that all the excitable cases congregated in the blue or violet light rooms, while the depressed cases were unconsciously drawn to the room lit with the orange windows. Convalescents, or those only slightly affected, were all to be found in the room with the green glass windows.

It proved that the brain is sensitive to the stimulus of light, so that the excitable patients were glad of the sedative, even depressing effects of the blue or violet, while those in a state of mental apathy found a pleasing stimulation in the other colors.

The doctor, then, who finds his patient favor a flamboyant tie and bright socks knows that that man is inclined to get down in the dumps, while the patient with a "Puritan" taste for a sitting-room is grateful for the calming effect of that color, and is of the excitable, highly-strung type.

Normal people, especially in big cities with the attendant drab conditions, are content with the cheerful brightness provided by the high yellows, greens, or faint blues.

The medical and healing properties of colored light are even more interesting. It has been found that the yellow, or green, or red portions of the spectrum will liberate more oxygen from certain antiseptics than white or any other colored light.

Fashionably yours,
LUCILLE.

WEDDINGS

McLAUCHLIN—LANNON—

On Tuesday, April 7th, a pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Milligan, Tamworth, when their adopted daughter Vera Lannon, one of Tamworth's most popular young ladies, was united in marriage to Donald M. McLaughlin, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodk. McLaughlin.

The ceremony was performed by their pastor, Rev. A. D. Waite, at high noon, under an arch of evergreens, decorated with white wedding bells, streamers and pink and white roses.

To the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. D. Rogers, the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of Mr. Mil ligan, who gave her in marriage. She looked beautiful in a gown of pale blue chiffon, with lace trim.

Miss Helena Balcanquel, cousin of the groom, looked very pretty in a frock of flowered georgette. Mr. Ross McLaughlin, brother of the Normal, assisted the groom.

During the signing of the register, the pianist played selections from "A Mid Summer's Night Dream."

After the congratulations, the bridal party and guests repaired to the dining room, where a sumptuous dinner was served by two girl friends of the bride, Miss Jean Milligan and Miss Elsie Martin.

The dinner table looked very pretty with pink and white decorations. The wedding cake occupied the centre of the table with pink and white candles in silver candlesticks on either side. The pink and white place cards added the finishing touch to their place.

The groom's gift to the bride was a Kolinsky choker, to the bridesmaid a chalelaine handbag, the best man a white gold ring, to the pianist an English leather purse.

The bride and groom left on the afternoon train for Toronto and other western points, the bride carrying in a suit of light tweed with white satin blouse, white gloves, purse and shoes to match.

On their return they will reside at Ingle.

The out-of-town guests were, Miss Helena Balcanquel and Mr. Franklyn Sherman, of Belleville.

On Thursday, April 16th, a variety shower was given for Mr. and Mrs. D. McLaughlin, at the home of the beautiful and coily presents given them showed the esteem in which they were held.

On Tuesday, April 21st, the Y. P. U. of Tamworth, tendered them a surprise party at their home in Ingle and presented them with a lovely wicker-trimmed centre table.

Criminal Robs Church Poor Box

Finger Print Told Who He Was, Arrest Followed

On a winter night a man stood in the doorway of a Church in Toronto. He looked furtively about, then hurried into the shadows where the Poor Box stood. He coveted the few coins the Church had collected for the poor. He broke open the box, took the money and left in haste.

The police found him. They took his finger prints. Then they let him go on suspended sentence. Careful police officers took time, however, to compare his finger prints with those on file of known criminals. They found his were indentical with those of a man who had escaped from Westchester Penitentiary, in New York State.

Weld came that he was loitering near the same church. He was soon re-arrested by detectives and put behind bars. He could not escape his finger prints. They held danger for him.

Afternoons AND Afternoons

Your Prints are Dangerous

You say "I am not a criminal—how can my finger prints hurt me?" Of course you are not a criminal but your prints are dangerous in another way. Your fingers touch articles in a store, in an office, in your home. They pick up germs left there by other hands. Hands which may have checked a cough or a sneeze and become infected with "Flu" germs.

27 Germ Diseases

You leave those germs on everything you touch—on food, for instance — on fruit, a chocolate or a cookie. Your hands convey them to your mouth and so they get into your system. If you are in a weakened condition you may fall ill. Life Extension Institute states there are 27 germ diseases which may be conveyed in this way. Children may be the victims.

But we can kill these germs before they reach our food. Lifebuoy Soap is made specially to do that. It contains a germicide.

Keep your hands germ-free with Lifebuoy Soap — before a meal or when you go out. Scientists have proved that the lather from Lifebuoy either kills all germs or makes them inactive.

Luxury and Safety

Revel in the glorious, creamy lather of Lifebuoy. It is a luxury soap—made from two palm oils. No soap was ever created that has a more fine white skin and complexion. Yet it offers real protection against germ infection. No perfume, but a refreshing, extra-clean scent of safety that disappears at once.

Body odours are banished. Before you go out in the evening or before you start the day, bathe with Lifebuoy. It makes you safe from body odours for many hours.

Millions are now enjoying Lifebuoy's protection every day.

Keep a cake of Lifebuoy Soap on the wash basin, always. Then it will be easy for the children, the whole family, to benefit by its protection. Your dealer has Lifebuoy ready for you. Order a good supply today.

CLEVELAND DOMINATING AMERICAN LEAGUE

SENATORS AND YANKS FOUGHT 14 FRAME TIE

Indian Continue Winning Ways and Remain at Top

(By Associated Press)

Cleveland Indians are fortifying their position in the American League daily. Yesterday they defeated 6S. Louis 10-9. The Cleveland team have simply blasted their way to the top, averaging slightly better than 13 hits to the game. Their own pitching has been nothing to get excited about, but they haven't needed it. In only three bouts has the Tribe been held under double figures in the hit columns. Yesterday Roger Peckinpaugh's warriors propelled 16 safe ones off two St. Louis Brown pitchers to win their fifth victory in six starts.

By winning the Indians gained ground on their closest rivals, the Yankees and Senators, who battled to a 14-inning draw at Washington, 7 to 7. It was a fateful second extra-inning tilt is as many days. The Senators scored three runs in the ninth to prolong the duel. Pincher did not allow the Yankees hit the last five innings, but his mates could get no more on Grover Vernon Gowen.

Detroit's four-game winning streak was snapped by Lefty Grove of the White Sox, 6 to 5. Bill Clasell provided the winning margin with a homer, the first hit, by a Chicago player this season.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

The Brooklyn Robins encountered another southpaw, with the same result. They collected 11 hits off crafty Clarence Mitchell of the Giants, but he tightened in the pinches to beat them 3 to 2. Nine of the Robbie's ten clouts have been credited to leftHanders. The Giants bunched their four hits off Fred Watson, Clark.

After taking two on the chin, the St. Louis Cardinals came back to stop the Reds, 5 to 2. Burleigh Grimes registering his third straight win. Bottomley's homer was one of the five Cardinals hits off Lee Spencer.

Bill McKechnie gave his veteran pitchers a rest and the Boston Braves dropped a 6 to 5 decision to the Phillies. The defeat knocked the Braves back into a tie with the Cubs and Cardinals for the National League lead. The Phillies scored once in the seventh to tie it up and then put across the winning run in the ninth. Virgil Davis led the winners' attack with a triple and a double, and Jimmy Dykes punched out three hits.

The game between Cincinnati and Chicago at Cincinnati was postponed for the funeral of Garry Herrmann, former president of the Reds. Cold weather again blocked the Athletics and Red Sox.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Bill Cissell, White Sox—Hit his club's first homer of season to beat Detroit 6 to 5.

Harry Rice, Senators—Tripled and scored in 9th inning to tie Yankees at 7 to 7.

Hughie Critz, Giants—Made two out four hits granted by Watson Clark and scored winning run as Giants beat Brooklyn 3 to 2.

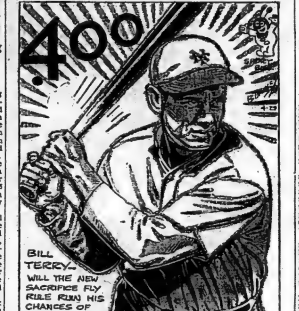
Burleigh Grimes, Cardinals—Pitched Cards in to tie for first place by scattering Pittsburgh hits for 8 to 2 triumph.

Johnny Hudapp, Indians—Made 4 hits in six times up to help beat St. Louis 10 to 9.

Rabbit Maranville, Braves—Hit 3 doubles against Phillies.

WRESTLING

(By The Associated Press)



Chicago—Ed "Strangler" Lewis defeated Jean De Glair, France, two falls (8.36 and 9.41); Gus Sonnenberg, Hank Bruder, Chicago, threw Geo. Schwab, Germany, 11.22 (one fall).

Baltimore—Dick Daviscourt, 224, threw Jim Smith, Dec., Bryer 220, Chicago, (two out of three falls).

Taxing the Long Hitters

—By HARDIN BURNLEY—

The ambition of practically all the baseball sluggers, an elite delight of most fans is the rare .400 hitter who plays in more than a hundred games during a season. Since 1900, only seven—Lajoie, Jackson, Cobb three, Sisler twice, Hornsby twice, Heilman and Terry—have attained that resulting accolade.

Now that class seems doomed for, during the past winter, the rulemakers decided that hereafter a sacrifice fly will be counted as a time at bat. That should cut the batting average of a player from fifteen to twenty-five points in 1931. The boys who hit so-called long balls—those high, lofty swats that advance runners even after such flies have been caught—will be especially hard hit.

"Bill" Terry, N. Y. Giant first baseman, hit .401 during 154 games in 1930—the first time that record was reached in five years. After a brief but stirring holdout period, he rejoined the McGrawmen this spring in excellent form. But his hopes of breaking .400 had vanished as soon as he learned of that new sacrifice fly rule.

Terry agrees with "Babe" Ruth who naturally, thinks the long hitter should get a break. The Sultan of Swat and all the satraps of sock believe that a batter — who can drive a ball so far that it cannot be returned to the infield in time to prevent a base runner from advancing — should receive substantial recognition. The old not-a-time-at-bat scoring of a sacrifice fly seemed just to them, and many neutral critics besides.

The Babe and Giant Bill are far from enraged over the new rule but they do insist that sacrifice flies which score runs should not count as times-at-bat.

As Ruth puts it, "those long h'ists are really homers that fall a bit short because they go too high. It takes batting to boost out these long hits, I know."

Wise mothers who know the virtues of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator always have it at hand, because it proves its value.

Isn't there just as great drama in making your income do as in robbing somebody else's safe?—Channing Pollock.

STRONG'S PEG WON GAME FOR LEAFS

Baltimore Continued to Win and Retain Leadership

(Undated International by The Associated Press)

Toronto's Maple Leafs seem to have made a real find in Ken Strong, one time all-American fullback and former outfielder in the New York-Penn. League. Strong's clouting features the International League fight, for he not only has hit the ball hard and often, but has hit it when the blows drove in runs.

Now Strong is blossoming out as a star fielder as well. His one hit yesterday drove in two runs to help Toronto beat the Baltimore Orioles 6 to 5 and he followed it up by saving the game with a perfect throw to the plate in the ninth inning, the peg caught Gand sliding home with what would have been the tying run.

Despite the victory, Toronto could not move above fifth place in the league standing, for its three leading rivals, Montreal, Buffalo and Rochester, also turned in victories, while the defeated Orioles joined a three-way tie for the lead.

With Ivy Griffin pitted against Don Brennan and Leo Mangum, Montreal trounced the Newark Bears 7 to 1 to capture the series by a 3-1 margin.

Buffalo hung it to 7 to defeat on the Jersey City Giants in a slugging match which brought a total of 22 hits. Rochester got one hit homers for the Bisons, who took the series, 3-1.

Rochester and Reading engaged in a similar slugging affair as the hard-hitting Keystones again proved tought but not tought enough. The champions trailed until the ninth inning when George Fisher connected with one of Johnny Welch's shants for a double and Paul Florence found the range for a home run that gave the Red Wings a 10 to 9 triumph. Each team made 17 hits in the fray.

FIGHTS

(By The Associated Press)

Results of boxing bouts last night were as follows:

Toronto—Charley Belanger, Winnipeg, knocked out Art Weigold of Buffalo in seventh round.

Kansas City—Jack Sharkey, Akron, O., outpointed Hans Jocos, Denver, 10 rounds, in lightweight decision.

Indianapolis—Bruno Comingore, Detroit, outpointed Walter Pickard, Indianapolis, in ten rounds.

Fargo, N.D.—Red Haggerty, Bemidji, Minn., outpointed Kid Rippaloe, Sioux City, Ia., six rounds.

"BAWLS and STRIKES"

If the weather-man don't soon smile on the ball-tossers, they will have to start the season with very little practise.

It is hoped that there will be more entries in the Ki-Y League in the hard-ball section, as this is where the players are developed.

Dame Rumor has another Indian twirler in town. What we wouldn't give for another "Jack Williams". There were no happy days.

Williams coached the Odeum team last year, and it is undergood that he will be back at their helm again this season. Best of luck, Johnny!

The question of short-stop is bothering Manager Gerow at present. He would safully like to land Harry Bakkely back in his old position. With Harry on the job, the locals would have the best team that they have ever had.

The girls' soft ball meeting on Friday night will no doubt tell us the fate of that league, as there are only one or two teams ready to start at present.

Bill Evans of the Cleveland Indians is said to be earning around $40,000 a year with a $20,000 salary and a share in the profits of the club. He refused to consider the American League presidency.

The Dodgers have four hard-hitting left-handed batsmen in Herman 393, O'Doul 383, Bissonette 356, and Frederick 354.

The Senators, Indians and A's got but two runs in 17 innings off Harry Gumbert, Baltimore's youthful pitching recruit.

Connie Mack and Wilbert Robinson are older big league managers than John McGraw of the Giants.

In its 55 years of existence the National League has played ball in 22 American cities. At one time the National League covered a territory of twelve cities but that was back in another century. The present eight cities have been members for a long time, with the exception of Detroit and Washington, who were once in the National League. Four American Association cities, Louisville, Indianapolis, Milwaukee and Kansas City, were once in the circuit.

Tripp Sigman, who batted over .300 for the Phillies in the late stretch of the 1928 season, is now with Albany, having failed at Philadelphia and Baltimore.

There may be a time for all things, but the wise man tackles only one thing at a time.

SOFT-BALL TEAMS READY FOR BARRIER

Trenton, Apr. 29—On Wednesday evening a meeting of the softball league was held to receive entries for the 1931 season and to elect a president

Mr. Val. Carswell, who was elected wrote resigning the position, because of pressure of other duties. When the resignation was regretfully accepted Mr. Bob McKinley resigned from the position of vice-president to stand for the presidency. Mr. Harry Smith was also nominated and won out on the ballot. Mr. Wm. Whyte was elected first vice-president, Mr. C. Hartwell remains as second vice and Mr. O. R. Farrar as secretary but the position of treasurer was awarded to Mr. Al Combes on the resignation of Mr. A. Combes.

The following teams, C. P. R., Trent Cottons, C. O. L., Senators and Continentals entered the league.

All games will start at 6.15 p.m. and 15 minutes grace will be allowed in which to field a team before default. Certificates will have to be in by May 2nd.

The season's play will start on Wednesday, May 6th. The teams will be C. P. R. and Senators; Thursday, May 7th, the Continentals will meet the C. O. L.; Friday, May 8th Cottons vs. C. P. R.; Monday, May 11th, Senators vs. L. O. L.; Tuesday, May 12th, Continentals vs. Cottons, C. Purdy and R. Burtt will umpire these games.

The executive of the league plan to erect a three-tier bleacher along the west side of the playing field at Bayshore Park and a small charge will be made for the use of these seats.

The diamond has never been in better condition at this time of year. All it requires to put it in first class shape is a few hours with a rake.

The size of the field is yearly becoming larger and the nuisance of ball going into the Bay is eliminated now. The bumpy outfield of former years has been leveled up and there is no better playing ground in Ontario.

Already teams are working out on various practice grounds and the expensive look for a bumper season.

T. D. RUSTON IS GIVEN HIGH OFFICE

COMMUNITY WELFARE COUNCIL OF ONTARIO

At the annual meeting of the Community Welfare Council of Ontario, Mr. T. Troe, S. Ruston, Superintendent Children's Aid Society, of Belleville, Ontario, was elected president. A member of the General Board of Management, Community Welfare, is a member of the Children's Societies of the Province of Ontario.

Mr. Ruston with his wide experience in child welfare work will no doubt be able to give from his rich experience valuable assistance. He has specialized in the care of children in public work, over sixteen years, during which time he has been active in this community, and the fruits of his generous time and gift of his choice is evident on every side. Homes have been established, children have been removed from deplorable surroundings and placed in excellent homes... Based upon this children have happiness and useful citizenship and instead of being a burden to the community have become an asset.

One of the strangest wills on record is that of M. Auguste Pacquier, who died and engraved on a leaf of one of his chairs.

Two Detroit Residents Were Brought to Hospital Here

Mrs. T. Lelland and Mrs. M. Gay of Detroit, Michigan, were admitted to Belleville General Hospital late yesterday afternoon, the former having severe lacerations about the head, arms and face, the result of a motor accident just west of Brighton village shortly after 4 o'clock. Mr. Lelland, S. Cook, Foster Avenue, Belleville, driving the other car involved, accompanied by his wife, his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jas. Cook, Jr., and grandson, Jimmie, escaped injury but are badly shaken up.

The two admitted to the hospital were attended by Dr. Crook and were able to leave the institution under attention. They remained at the Quinte Hotel all night and proceeded to Brighton early today to take charge of their car, both motors having been towed to the Brighton garage for repairs.

At the time of the accident the pavement was slippery although the cause of the accident has not been fully determined, as Provincial Constable McIntyre, of Brighton and Town Constable Frank Atkinson, who went to the scene, have not completed their investigations.

Both cars were travelling east and in passing on account of the rain, they apparently became locked. The Michigan car went into the south ditch, turned completely over, and then righted itself on the south side of the car pointing north while the Cook car went across the road into the north ditch and turned on its side. Both cars travelled a considerable distance after the point of impact and probably the only thing that saved the occupants from serious injury, was the fact that there was water in the ditch and the soft ground was soft due to the heavy rain of the week end.

Passing motorists assisted the occupants of the cars from their perilous position, one of these being Mrs. Lelland and Mrs. Gay to the hospital, while Mr. Lelland and his party were taken into a house near the scene and later brought home. Both cars were badly damaged.

Legal Difficulties May Spike the Sharkey-Carnera Affair

New York, N.Y., April 29—Apparently warned by last year's bombardments are currently completing the lot on East Bridge Street, at the corner of Bleecker Ave., next to the East Belleville playground, leaving the Alemite grounds out of the question.

This is the sensible location and can be made a permanent place, adding to the Bay Ward playground facilities. This field can also be used for rugby and possibly foot ball, the game with a kick in it.

During the day when young men and boys are not using the ball-diamonds smaller boys and girls can enjoy themselves there under playground supervision.

So much for East Belleville — it would say that Queen Mary School grounds adequate to the West Belleville playgrounds be fixed up along the same lines. This could be used for the same purpose as the East Belleville lot.

I understand the School Board controls one or both of these locations. There should be no difficulty arranging everything satisfactorily with them.

While the subject of playgrounds —Alderman Harold Armstrong is the authority for some statistics that people who live on streets with paved roadways in this occasion to use them in motor cars are complaining about children playing in the road.

To overcome this in the holiday months at least, mtn Supervisor's should be engaged—one at the play ground. I am not advocating dismissal of the lady attendants as they do good work with the younger children, however I think the majority of citizens would be in favor of organized games and proper supervision at these grounds so girls and boys would find attractions there.

I'll bet my working shirt against your white collared one, there would be fewer accidents, and the boys and girls will enjoy healthful amusement and better citizens will be the result.

I am probably going back for former suggestions a little bit but opinion seems to favor these—and I am for them. If East Belleville and West Belleville people will demand mentioned were put in shape along with the splendid diamonds at the Bay grounds, I figure all teams could be taken care of—provided schedules were arranged to avoid confliction of dates.

So Mr. Woodley's Bay of Quinte Ladies Softball loop meet Friday night.

It is rumoured that Reg. Montcrief's Frenetenea will not be in the Ladies Softball loop this year. Mr. Moncrief is not back in the city from his southern trip.

Allan Meagher states he is not certain if he will handle the National Maids—as he has another team to Leo Barrett, who is not connected with the Class A club this year season. The popular lad will not take the team but has promised to help—so it is likely that the National Maids will carry on the name.

Harold Lloyd will possibly be out again with his Maple Leafs. Although a veteran age as Softball is not as tabulate as other years regarding his team.

Messrs. Moncrief, Lloyd and Meagher have done much to keep the game going locally. Credit is due them for same. The popular ball is well controlled here. It would be a big loss to the city if any of these decide to quit this season.

These men have helped make the players themselves, popular by giving them their chance to play.

Corbyville Clacos are in charge of Wilfred Smith and Ralph Ibey. It is claimed they have a strong team lined up.

After Friday night the Softball situation here may be cleared up. May be and may be not—would like the game apparently—especially Rugby—to be given more attainment—for many the cost being that tendency to look the other way—when the hat is passed.

It was said that one or two new teams were being formed—but no doubt the Softball loop would like to equip a team stops a few who would like to break in the game.

If the league operates at all this year many young players may get in their stride some as to the star players who have developed a little extra—perhaps—that the team may be left out unless they show a change of heart, and appreciate the efforts of those who have worked for them.

Many meetings are being held this week to organize the two Rotolas games in the City. Players are appreciate the time being spent by those sponsoring the games for them, I believe they will

SINGLE LIGHT ON TRUCK LED TO DISCOVERY

INSPECTOR GOES

Officer's Suspicions Were Aroused by Man's Answer

OSHAWA, Ont., April 29—(By the Canadian Press).—Stopping a three-ton truck driven by H. Robert of Montreal, on the highway near Newcastle last night, with the truck had only one light, Traffic Officer Hawkshaw accidently discovered 1,200 bottles of whisky in boxes and contraband liquor. In the truck with Robert were his brother, Maurice Robert, and the two were placed under arrest. Later they could only state that he picked up the liquor in Montreal, and being told to go to Toronto, where it was to be transferred to another truck just outside the city limits.

Inspector Lougheed of the Provincial Police Staff at Toronto arrived in Bowmanville today to make further investigations.

So much for East Belleville — it would say that Queen Mary School grounds adequate to the West Belleville playgrounds be fixed up along the same lines. This could be used for the same purpose as the East Belleville lot.

I understand the School Board controls one or both of these locations. There should be no difficulty arranging everything satisfactorily with them.

While the subject of playgrounds —Alderman Harold Armstrong is the authority for some statistics that people who live on streets with paved roadways in this occasion to use them in motor cars are complaining about children playing in the road.

To overcome this in the holiday months at least, mtn Supervisor's should be engaged—one at the play ground. I am not advocating dismissal of the lady attendants as they do good work with the younger children, however I think the majority of citizens would be in favor of organized games and proper supervision at these grounds so girls and boys would find attractions there.

I'll bet my working shirt against your white collared one, there would be fewer accidents, and the boys and girls will enjoy healthful amusement and better citizens will be the result.

I am probably going back for former suggestions a little bit but opinion seems to favor these—and I am for them. If East Belleville and West Belleville people will demand mentioned were put in shape along with the splendid diamonds at the Bay grounds, I figure all teams could be taken care of—provided schedules were arranged to avoid confliction of dates.

So Mr. Woodley's Bay of Quinte Ladies Softball loop meet Friday night.

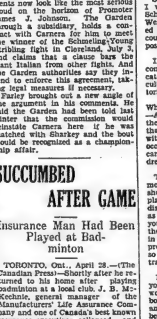
It is rumoured that Reg. Montcrief's Frenetenea will not be in the Ladies Softball loop this year. Mr. Moncrief is not back in the city from his southern trip.

Allan Meagher states he is not certain if he will handle the National Maids—as he has another team to Leo Barrett, who is not connected with the Class A club this year season. The popular lad will not take the team but has promised to help—so it is likely that the National Maids will carry on the name.

Harold Lloyd will possibly be out again with his Maple Leafs. Although a veteran age as Softball is not as tabulate as other years regarding his team.

Messrs. Moncrief, Lloyd and Meagher have done much to keep the game going locally. Credit is due them for same. The popular ball is well controlled here. It would be a big loss to the city if any of these decide to quit this season.

These men have helped make the players themselves, popular by giving them their chance to play.



Corbyville Clacos are in charge of Wilfred Smith and Ralph Ibey. It is claimed they have a strong team lined up.

After Friday night the Softball situation here may be cleared up. May be and may be not—would like the game apparently—especially Rugby—to be given more attainment—for many the cost being that tendency to look the other way—when the hat is passed.

It was said that one or two new teams were being formed—but no doubt the Softball loop would like to equip a team stops a few who would like to break in the game.

If the league operates at all this year many young players may get in their stride some as to the star players who have developed a little extra—perhaps—that the team may be left out unless they show a change of heart, and appreciate the efforts of those who have worked for them.

Many meetings are being held this week to organize the two Rotolas games in the City. Players are appreciate the time being spent by those sponsoring the games for them, I believe they will

MAY ERECT NEW RINK AT COBOURG

Plans are going ahead for the construction of a $40,000 artificial ice arena to be constructed in Cobourg in the near future. Sketches and plans have been prepared for a structure to be 150 feet in length and 85 feet 6 in wide. A meeting was held in the Town Hall to discuss the matter and to consider the sketches and to select a proposed site.

The rink will be used primarily for hockey and skating, but after the Christmas season, specified nights will be set aside for the Curling Club which will run on double schedule, using six sheets of ice and thereby accommodate a proposed membership of 150.

Just Playing Around

BY LEWIS ALLEN BROWNE

"The girl has gone crazy with fright," bellowed Haben, the lawyer for Arline, when I ro calmly announced that Li was all a lie.

The judge looked at me keenly.

"We have many proof, Your Honor," Haben insisted.

Thad's lawyer arose and asked counsel for the defendant was finished with the witness.

"She is an incompetent witness. Your Honor, she has suddenly lost her mind".

Haben was red in the face as he shouted this, but Arline was as pale as a ghost. The detective sat there staring at me with his mouth open, too dazed to pull himself together.

Thad's lawyer went over to the judge and Haben promptly joined them. I heard Haben expostulate, "I swear I never saw her or spoke to her," he said.

Finally, the judge said something about either questioning me or turning me over to Mr. Sanders.

Haben made a gesture of washing his hands of the whole affair.

PRODUCES PROOF

Sanders asked me to tell what I knew about it. I sure did. I produced the letter Arline had written asking to come and see her or let her come and see me. I told "her just what happened. I produced the $25,000. Naturally I had never credited it, for never for a single moment had I entertained the idea of framing Thad or really permitting it to be believed that there had been any affair between us.

Haben made objection after objection until the judge finally suggested that he object to the testimony I was giving to him." That was a new one I learned.

Then I produced the agreement. I even produced the other half of the letter paper I had torn off. It matched, and the blank half had my monogram on it. I told of the detective's visit, of how I suggested that I never see the lawyer.

Haben protested. He cried out that it was all a trick, and then he declared that there were no witnesses and my testimony was worthless.

Sanders asked how about the exhibits, the letter, the check and the agreement.

"Faked" snapped Haben.

Then Sanders turned to the mysterious girl in black with the black veil.

"Miss Carson, come forward and be sworn," he said.

She threw off the veil.

It was my old pal and roommate, Viola. Of course I knew it all the time. That was why I had her listening in from kitchenette both times I talked with Arline, and she could see through the crack in the door.

Viola's story certainly clinched it. She had enlisted and I was the bluff.

Haben, fixy little rat, retired from the case. He insisted that he was led to believe everything was straight and above board.

They took Arline out to another room to restore her.

THAD GETS HIS DECREE

Thad was informed right then and there that he would get his decree without trouble. I gave Viola a wink and we started to edge out. The judge called me over for a brief talk. I told him that if I had reported Arline's first visit to me she might have got wind of it, but when I had fixed everything up I went and saw Mr. Sanders, Thad's lawyer. He said some mighty nice things to me.

Viola had also slipped out of the room and I followed her.

"Wait a moment, Miss Mason," he said, "Mr. Parsons wants to see you."

"I don't want to see him ever," I said.

Thad had followed him to the door and heard this. I ran down the hall. Viola and I celebrated that evening right at home with a delicatessen broiled chicken and fixings, lounging around in kimonos and chattering about the excitement of the day.

When Thad had accused me of being a female Judas that night he saw me out with Chubb, he didn't know the truth. I hadn't gone to the lawyer, then, with my story and evidence, but his lawyer had learned in some way that a Miss Katherine Mason was to be the star witness for Arline. Naturally Thad was bitter.

His letter to me and his attempts to telephone, were solely to thank me for what I was doing, and I didn't want his thanks. I wished I could have thrown a scare into him up to the last minute.

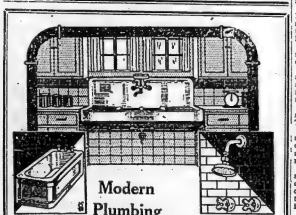
Of course I did see Thad, for he came that very night when Viola and myself, still in slippers and kimonos, were clearing up after our feast.

THAT REAL REASON

Right in front of Viola Thad said, "Katie, you did it because you love me."

"Thad," I said, "you are all wrong. I did it because if I had refused she would have hired someone else to frame you and I wanted to see her get soaked."

"Miss Carson," he said, "make this girl marry me—as soon as my decree comes through."



"I couldn't do it if I had the army and navy to help me, Mr. Parson, and I wouldn't try to change her mind, but she's one swell kid just the same," was Viola's answer.

"We are still friends, anyway, and some day I'll convince you, Katie," Thad declared.

He sat there an hour and talked about the hearing, laughing with us over the confusion when I calmly announced that the detective's testimony was all a lie.

"They let the detective off," Thad said, "because they didn't intend to do anything to Arline and they couldn't let her off without letting the other chap off, as she was the instigator."

"I guess she'll be snooty to me some more," I remarked.

BELLEVILLE — ONTARIO

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

After he had gone Viola got serious. She thought I ought to relent.

"I'm having too much fun playing around to get married and settling down," I told her.

We got our vacation, three full weeks. And I really had more rest and fun on the farm with Viola's people, than I did on the beach. Most of the men were rags or else young chaps who were silly. We went around with them and danced and enjoyed the bathing but outside of the rest, the salt air and the change of environment we would have had more fun in town, only it's duller in town in the middle of the Summer.

TIRING OF CHUBB

Forrest Malvern didn't get back to the city until late. I was getting awfully tired of Chubb Osmund. He was jolly and nice but the way he would look at me, like a calf, and every week or so remind me that I had half promised to marry him, got on my nerves.

When Forrest did get back he wasn't there more than a month before he went to Europe on business.

He suggested that I go with him.

I suggested that I would if he made it a party and we took along some real chaperones.

That ended that.

On visiting my sister, Cora, who was perfectly happy with her second husband, and had presented her first boy and girl with a brand new half brother, who should drop in but Peter Thompson.

I knew instead well that Cora had tipped him that I was coming out.

Peter looked pretty good. He drove up to Cora's place in a really nice car. He didn't talk about himself or his business except to say that he was satisfied.

"I'm building a house," he said, suddenly.

I thought I saw another proposal coming and decided to joke with him.

"What are you using for money.

Peter? I asked.

"Oh, a few dimes and nickels I scraped together."

"I'll save cigarette coupons for you. With ten thousand you can get a corn opener for the kitchen," I said.

"The wife will be done in the spring, and furnished. How would you like to pick out the furniture, Katie?"

"I'd send you into bankruptcy with my expensive tastes, Peter. You find the right girl for your house and let her do the picking."

THE ONLY GIRL

"You are the right girl, Kitty."

I smiled and shook my head.

"When are you going to marry me?" he asked.

"Never—you know that, Peter, we'd never be happy. Forget all that please."

"By next spring you'll be tired of playing around, then we'll select the furniture and get married," he insisted.

"I'll never be tired of playing around, so long as I can be lifted into a wheel chair, Peter."

"I'll wait for you forever, Katie," he declared, seriously.

"It will be twice as long as that," I insisted.

"No, it won't. I have a bunch it won't be long."

"You and your bunches, Peter." I laughed, "can't you see I'd simply die now, to settle down in a little cottage and do nothing but get meals and wind the clock and go to bed and get meals again, over and over and over—I'd go absolutely crazy."

"No, dear, you would get sane again. You are somewhat crazy now, but you'll get sane again," he persisted, with such assurance that he frightened me.

THE happy, unconscious health of a child—the play-filled days, the long nights of restful sleep—these are the outward signs of inward health. You too can be "well outside" and look it—if you learn the safe and easy way to keep "clean inside."

Doctors pretty well agree that (barring germ diseases) most drowsiness, lack of pep and ambition, are due to failure to keep "clean inside."

In blaming this condition for much of our sickness, so they also agree that the Nujol type of treatment is the safest way to relieve it. Nujol can't possibly hurt you. It isn't a medicine at all. It has no drugs in it. It is colorless—tasteless—and children love it.

Remember two things if you want to enjoy "Nujol health."

One: Don't expect results overnight. This is nature's own method, and nature is never violent.

Two: Don't accept any substitute. Your druggist has Nujol—always in a sealed package—always trade-marked "Nujol" so you will be sure to get it.

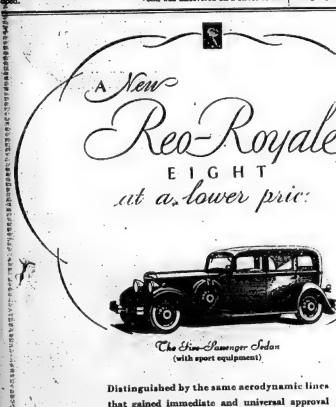
Girl Appears in Brantford Court on Theft Charge

Brantford, Ont., April 29 (CP).—When Frances Allebury, alias Lewis, walked into the court room to face Magistrate Jones today, The legal staff and spectators were very much surprised to see just a young girl, well groomed but certainly not at all nourished, face the charges of theft of money and purses from dental and beauty parlors.

The girl pleaded guilty to four charges. She was represented by her counsel, K. G. McIntosh, Kitchener, who made a plea for leniency telling a dramatic story of the girl's misfortunes, her husband was suffering from tuberculosis, there was one child and the family was without funds. The Crown took a merciful view of the case and the girl was sentenced to six days in jail. The sentence to start from the time of arrest.

Five up also wanted in Hamilton and Paris on similar charges.



COUNCILLOR HELD FOR NEGLIGENCE

Toronto, Apr. 28 (CP)—David Lipson, Councillor of Newmarket, Ont., arrested last night following the coroner's inquest into the death of John Newton of Willowdale, whose body was found in the ditch near his home several weeks ago, was committed for trial on a charge of criminal negligence when he appeared in county police court today, after entering a plea of not guilty. His counsel asked for trial by jury. Bail was renewed at $2,000.

CANADIAN VIEW OF POWER LEGISLATION

Ottawa, Apr. 28 (CP)—From a Canadian point of view the development of power in the international section of the St. Lawrence river is tied up with the deep waterways scheme. The power developed would go to Ontario on this side and New York State across the line. In Canada there has been never any doubt but that the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, a publicly owned body, would have the Canadian share of the power developed.

Meaning of Soul and Spirit Sought

(By Howard W. Blakeslee, Associated Press Science Editor)

Philadelphia, Pa., April 29.—Scientists cast technical terms aside and discussed the meaning of "soul" and "spirit" at the first round-table meeting of the American Philosophical Society here.

"In your scientific papers you use the words soul and spirit," said Dr. Cyrus Adler, of Dropsie College, Philadelphia. "Can you explain what you mean by them? If not, you shouldn't use them."

Some persons," commented Dr. Robert A. Millikan, head of California Institute of Technology, "speak glibly about soul and spirit as things which cannot be defined precisely. They assume with equal glibness that when they talk of atoms they are speaking of something that can be so defined.

"But we haven't a thing more precise about atoms than about souls and spirits. When we attempt to analyze atoms we find that their exact nature escapes us. The best present definition is that an atom is a unit of chemical action.

"We speak of mechanisms, but we cannot fully define that term without first defining matter, and we cannot do that precisely at present."

Dr. Chester Conklin, of Princeton University, presiding at the round-table, said:

"Frequently I have questioned psychologists as to the meaning of soul, but I have not been able to get anything definite. Machines give us the possibility of extending our personalities farther in time and space, but I suspect that the human being remains much as he was in the old Adam stage."

Judge Coatsworth Hears Preliminary Charges Against Heber Pike

OTHER CHARGES

TORONTO, Ont, April 29—(CP)—Judge Coatsworth, presiding over special police court, reserved judgment yesterday on a charge of issuing a false prospectus in connection with the Abbs Mines, Ltd, against Heber T. Pike, president.

The preliminary hearing continued on another charge against Pike of stealing $4,500 from the Dominion Securities Corporation. Pike also faces a charge of theft of $75,000 from Abbs Mines, Ltd, and private individuals, and several other theft accusations involving smaller sums.

"I would like to hear the evidence on these other charges and to read the documents that have been entered as evidence in this case before giving my decision," said Judge Coatsworth.

20 MILLION FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

Belief Expressed Ottawa To Extend Relief Next Winter

Montreal, April 28 — A conversation he had with Senator Gideon Robertson, Dominion Minister of Labor, led him to believe the Dominion authorities would repeat their last winter their unemployment relief, Alderman W. H. Birks, leader of the Montreal City Council, stated yesterday.

By this meant that the Dominion Government again would vote $20,000,000 for relief work. The Province pays $20,000,000 and the municipalities $40,000,000. The remark was made when a civic delegation waited upon Premier L. A. Taschereau, asking for an additional period of sixty days to complete work undertaken by virtue of the Dominion unemployment relief act and the Provincial relief act.

Canada Steamship Lines Show Improvements First Quarter

MONTREAL, Que, April 28.—Operations of Canada Steamship Lines Limited during the first quarter of the current year were substantially improved in comparison to the corresponding period of last year, H. Coverdale, president and managing director, told the annual meeting of shareholders. Here the board of directors were re-elected and the London Advisory Committee re-appointed.

The President explained that the first quarter operations in every year indicated a loss, Navigation not open in that period. Operations were carried out in that period of a saving of $141,000 as against 1930's first quarter. The loss in 1930 was $720,000 while the loss in the first quarter of the current year was $581,000. Mr. Coverdale explained that this difference was accounted for by more economical operations.

Ontario Lady Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mrs. Edward Warwick Has Used Dodd's Kidney Pills for Many Years. Dyer's Bay, Ont., April 27.—(Special)—"They are a real friend to me," writes Mrs. Edward Warwick, a well known resident of this place. "I have taken many boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills for my Rheumatism and they do help me so much. I would not be without them."

The natural way to treat Rheumatism and Lumbago is to treat the Kidneys and the natural way to treat the Kidneys is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Rheumatism is caused by the presence of uric acid in the blood. If the kidneys are functioning properly they will strain all the uric acid out of the blood and there can be no more Rheumatism.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have been in use in Canada for nearly half a century. They demonstrate their worth in the most serious forms of kidney disease, such as rheumatism, backache, lumbago and urinary troubles.

NO PROMISE IS MADE TO WEST OVER PENSIONS

Premier Bennett's Reply to Question in House

GIVES HIS VIEW

Ottawa, Ont., April 29 (CP)—The recent despatch from Winnipeg in which the intimation was attributed to Hon. P. J. McLeod, Municipal Commissioner for Manitoba that the Dominion might not undertake this year to pay 95 per cent of Old Age Pensions claimed to be "an election promise" of Premier R. B. Bennett, was brought up in the House of Commons yesterday. According to the despatch Mr. McLeod's information was based on a wire he had received from the Prime Minister. This wire according to the report advised the Provincial Government to make provision for paying Old Age Pensions this year on the same basis as it had in the past in case there was no change in the Dominion Legislation this session. The question was raised today by A. L. Beaudien (Lib. Prov. Provencher).

Mr. Beaudien: "The question I wish to ask is this: in view of the fact that the Province of Manitoba in its budget, has made no provisions to pay Old Age Pensions this year, will the Prime Minister tell us whether he intends to introduce Old Age Pensions Legislation and pay 50 per cent as I understand it was promised the three Prairie Provinces during the Conference last fall."

Right Hon. R. B. Bennett (Prime Minister), "(1) No such promise was made. (2) This Government is not responsible for the conduct of the business of the Government of Manitoba."

Mr. Beaubien: "Was this wire sent to you?"

Mr. Bennett: "That is all I propose to say."

Mr. Beaubien: "Thank you."

Mr. Lapointe: "Do I understand my Rt. Hon. friend to say that no promises were made?"

Mr. Bennett: "I said, no such promise."

Mr. Lapointe: "No such promise was made."

Mr. Bennett: "No; no such promise was made."

COURT MAKES $20,000 AWARD

Port Hope Widow and Family Win Action

Buffalo, April 29 (CP).—A supreme court jury yesterday returned a verdict of $20,000 against the International Railway Company, in favor of Mrs. Edith Reaves, of Port Hope, Ont., and her two children.

The woman's husband, Charles R. Reaves, was killed in 1930 by falling through a railing of Falls View Bridge, controlled by the International Railway Company, at Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Reaves based her suit on the contention that the company was negligent in not keeping the bridge flooring to become dangerously slip pery and in not providing a barrier between roadway and sidewalk.

The jury awarded $12,50 to Mrs. Reaves and $8,000 to the children.

CLUBBED HARDWARE MERCHANT WITH GUN

Four Twelve Year Old Boys Figure in Raid on Store

Hespeler, Ont., April 29 (CP). — Firing a random shot which inflicted no damage, and then fleeing with out obtaining any loot, four juveniles about 12 years of age, kicked in the back door of Louis Grell's hardware store after asking him to open it, when he did not comply. One fired a shot which lodged in the wall. The youngsters clubbed him on the head with butts of the revolvers they were carrying and then fled. One is in custody and police are searching for the other three.

"TRUSTY JIM" BY CHRIST CHURCH DRAMATIC CLUB APPEALING TO CROWD

Portrayal of Characters Particularly Well Done

Marking its return after several seasons, the Dramatic Club of Christ Church, well known for the success of its productions in the past, lived up to the high standard it has attained in the presentation on the opening of the play "Trusty Jim." The whole drama was a little better than most amateur productions, the plot being dramatic with touches of humour to relieve the tense moments. This type of play requires careful training and a convincing manner for its success, and the way in which it was put over last night's audience showed that its actors lacked nothing in their portrayal of the characters of the play.

The story of "Trusty Jim" concerns Gailya Barry, the adopted daughter of Judge Barry, who, it transpires is the child of a convict "Trusty Jim". On the appearance of Jim, who has escaped prison and is attracted to the home of the Judge, complications arise with Gailya befriending the unknown man who is loved by everyone who meets him. How Gailya's happiness is threatened when an unsuccessful suitor tries to revenge him self by hinting that he will expose the convict to the authorities and her joy when the Judge interceded for Jim's pardon makes an absorbing plot to which many incidental features furnished varied interests.

The part of the carefree Gailya was taken by Miss Edith Bone who possesses outstanding talent as an actress. Her handling of the comedy parts and the more serious moments of the play was skilful and artistic. In the final scene Miss Bone made a charming picture as the bride. Mr. R. Fair was Trusty Jim, the real father of Gailya who was serving a prison term, undeservedly, and who escaped to find his daughter. When he sees how happy she is with her adopted home he resolves to keep secret their relationship. He works for a time as Judge's gardener and is loved by all members of the household, His final reprieve brings the play to a happy ending. Mr. Fair portrayed the character with realism in the play, and as the convict and the impulsive Italian he was splendid.

Mr. Jack Dowell was the hero of the play, the accepted suitor of Gailya's and although their path was not exactly strewn with roses at first, every thing came out happily. Mr. Jim Cook was a decided success as the suave Basil Wade who went to great lengths to win Gailya but whose better feelings finally brought him to cease interfering in her happiness. Mr. Cook possesses an easy stage manner that added greatly to his part.

Miss Helen Aselstine was Reeta Wade, Sutt's brother, a guest in the home of Judge and Mrs. Barry. Miss Aselstine did very good work as the authoratic elder and her scenes with her brother were most amusing. Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Leggot were both members of the cast, last evening, taking the roles of Judge and Mrs. Barry. They were seen to advantage as the devoted foster father and mother of Gailya and their acting left nothing to be desired as these characters.

One of the most popular characters in last evening's play was Lora "a lively housemaid", with Miss Lola Morton in that part. As the pert little maid, with a saucy answer and a bright smile, Miss Morton was ideal-and kept the audience chuckling throughout the play. The part of Clara, the busy butler" who turns out to be a detective taken by Mr. Tom Wells, was very well done and his scenes with Lora provided great amusement. Miss Gillard appeared in the role of Carolina, a negro servant, and was very appealing as the kind old mammy.

The players were very well trained for their parts, the direction being done by Mrs. R. Backus, Miss Minnie Diamond and Mr. Everett Smith. Between acts last evening, Mr. E. Smith entertained the audience in his own inimitable way. Altogether the evening's programme was one of keen enjoyment.

A pair of shoes he bought thirty-eight years ago still are worn by James Arterburn, of Cameron, Mo.

REMEMBRANCE DAY SET FOR NOV. 11th

Ottawa, April 29.—Armistice Day, the 11th of November, henceforth will be a legal holiday, and officially referred to as Remembrance Day while Thanksgiving Day no longer will fall in the same week, if final effect is given a bill passed last night in the House of Commons.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate, wipes out the present regulation between Thanksgiving Day and Armistice or Remembrance Day. Thanksgiving Day which by statute heretofore fell on the Monday of the week in time it was the practice to hold Thanksgiving Day early in October, and Armistice Day to be a legal holiday, that usage will probably be revived

BRIDE IS ROBBED DURING WEDDING

Toronto, April 29 (CP). — While Mrs. Alice Mackay was being married in a local church last evening, a thief entered the vestry of the church and stole her handbag containing $720 in cash, the bride's and bridegroom's tickets to Montreal and a receipt for passage to England booked to bank book. After the wedding ceremony, the bridal couple went to get their belongings, but found them gone.

"CHICAGO SHOULD BE DESTROYED"

Cambridge, Eng., April 29 (CP)—The Cambridge Union, famous debating society, last night passed a motion "Delenda Est Chicago" (That Chicago should be destroyed). The vote was 171 to 143.

The principal speaker against the motion was Edgar Wallace, who said he attributed most of the evils of local government in Chicago to political jobbery—a fact which he declared is now being realized by the mass of the people.

Quoting reports that Jack (Legs) Diamond was not shot by gangsters but by farmers, Wallace said: "The lynch law will eventually wipe out those deplorable men who sit in the seat of the Government."

Nancy Carroll Vamps Her Boss!

Yes, screen stars have bosses. They are called directors.

George Abbott acted in that capacity for Nancy Carroll, Paramount red headed dramatic star, during the filming of her latest picture, "Stolen Heaven," in which she co-stars with Phillips Holmes at the Belle, Today and Saturday, matinee daily.

But, being boss of Nancy Carroll's vivacious talents is not an easy job, Abbott discovered, when the irrepressible young woman wheedled this shyest of directors before the camera, and gave him a taste of his own "medicine.". Abbott avoids getting in front of the cameras as much as possible.

This time he couldn't escape. Abbott, since he deserted the stage for the screen, has shunned great talent. His pictures include "Manslaughter" and "The Son God." For "Stolen Heaven," he collaborated with Dana Burnet, well known fiction author, in writing the story, screen play and dialogue.

FUTURE PROSPERITY LIES IN DEVELOPMENT FOREIGN BOND MARKET IS CLAIM

Tariff Barriers Must be Levelled to End Depression

TRADE BALANCE

Professor Knox was Speaker at Belleville Kiwanis Club.

That there are to many barriers against international trade, was the contention of Professor F. A. Knox, Professor in Economics at Queen's University, speaking to the Kiwanis Club at its regular luncheon yesterday afternoon. Furthermore before world can gain economic prosperity again these barriers must be levelled, said the Professor. "This is not a time to talk of a slight change upward or downward in tariff revision," he said, "One condition of living depends upon the equal dividing of labour. We cannot build up a completely self-sufficient country and expect other countries to buy our goods. We have got to sell our wheat and we cannot sell wheat if we refuse to buy other things."

The more international trade there is, the better off we will all be. The return of prosperity is greatly hindered by us trying our hardest to prevent this international trade. Every government in the world since the last Great War (with the exception of three—Great Britain, Switzerland and Holland) has been trying to prevent import."

Professor Knox was one of the most interesting speakers who has given a lecture to Belleville in some time, and he dealt with a subject that is vitally affecting every Canadian to-day. The subject of his address was the "Influence on business prosperity arising out of capital movements" and for thirty minutes he held his audience without a break.

"These depressions," the speaker said, "occur in cycles and are likely to keep on occurring as long as we have adhere to capitalistic society. I do not say that Socialistic Russia has found the solution to the problem, but the present depression is a part of the price that we must pay for economic freedom."

Advocates Unemployment Insurance

"We must do as much as we can to do permanent good for the unemployed. If the capitalistic organizations are going to stand up against Russia and its socialism we will need to have adequate provisions for unemployment insurance of one kind or another.

"The present depression, is one of the most severe that the nations of the world have experienced since 1873. Why was this depression so severe? I can at least give you a partial answer. It partly arises from capital movement, the lending and borrowing of money from one country to and from another. England was the first country to invest in foreign securities. The ultimate effect of this is to stimulate the export industries of that country. England primarily was interested in railroads; railways open up the interiors of a continent. This had an immediate effect upon her economic prosperity.

"A great deal of that money loaned to a foreign country will be used by the country to whom loaned to buy goods. When that money is spent in Canada, say, or the United States, it will increase the buying power of that country. It will tend to increase the ease with which Great Britain, or the country which is lending the money, can sell her goods."

Whether the country is lending or borrowing, the speaker maintained, prosperity is bound to come. If borrowing, he pointed out, the money will be spent in the country and if tariff barriers are not outrageously high the country will spend the money in other lands and will import goods, keeping a favorable balance of trade.

"An excess of imports over exports inevitably comes," he said. At an early stage of her career the country feels; later she buys. The situation is reversed and an import balance greater than an export balance is experienced. I say that economic prosperity can be great under either system."

FOR QUEBEC RIDING?

Conservatives of the Three Rivers-St. Maurice constituency are elaborating to obtain the consent of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen to permit his nomination as party candidate in the coming by-election.

The U.S. to Blame

The United States, the speaker inferred, is in no small part to blame for the present depression, although other countries in the world must shoulder part of the blame. After the Great War had ended the States started investing heavily in foreign securities. The United States, in fact, practically begged other countries to borrow from her. Gold poured into her coffers, to be stored away, of not much use, to her or any other country. She had high tariff barriers and foreign goods were not able to enter. Suddenly, a domestic stock market of her own was created and the buying of foreign bonds and securities ceased. The result? Chaos. And a chaos from which the world has not yet recovered and according to Professor Knox, is not likely to until these barriers have been levelled.

"The sudden stoppage of loans to European nations has made the present depression so severe," said Professor Knox. "When American investors begin to buy foreign bonds again, business prosperity will come back.

BUTTER FLOOD A POSSIBILITY

Fear Russia Considering Exporting 600,000 Boxes to Britain

London, April 29 (Canadian Press Cable)—The possibility of huge imports of butter from Russia to Great Britain was raised in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Sir William Wayland, Conservative member for Canterbury. He asked Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions, to "keep an eye" on the situation.

"I have got both eyes on it," Mr. Thomas retorted.

Sir William asked if 600,000 boxes were estimated as the imports to Britain from Russia in the coming season; whether increased imports were expected from continental sources and whether the work to encourage retailers to stock home and Empire butter previously carried out in the north of England, would be extended.

Mr. Thomas replied he had been informed by the President of the Board of Trade that the official information was available regarding future imports of butter from either Russia or the continent. The canvass of retailers in the north of England, he said, aimed at encouraging sales of home and Empire butter was being continued, he added, and the Empire Marketing Board was now considering how long the improvement would be maintained. So far it had proved very successful, he concluded.

BALDWIN TO ACCEPT OFFER OF BENNETT

Promises Action on Wheat Quota for Benefit of Dominions

CAMPAIGN BEGUN

Liverpool, April 29—Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader opened a country-wide campaign here last night with a national policy of protection. He wanted a free hand. If returned to power, he said, his first action would be to impose emergency tariff on all manufactured goods, although from this category he excepted raw wool and raw cotton, as emergency measures for agriculture, he asked for the three "potent weapons of the wheat quota, prohibition, and duties."

"This is an emergency," he exclaimed, "and I am skipper of the breakdown gang. When the down-and-out gang is sent for it gets every instrument and tool it thinks may be required."

The wheat quota would be worked out after a conference between the millers and farmers, who would be asked to thresh it out, he declared. "We believe that by a quota and a guaranteed price for grain we will increase the wheat-producing area of Great Britain to a point where we may be using the good wheat land—not land unfit for wheat—and bring up our present 15 per cent production immediately to 20 per cent or some figure like that. By the use of a quota we can increase gradually the area of wheat. Meanwhile, from the Dominions so that Dominion wheat will not turn out our wheat. It would take the place of foreign wheat, and for that we hope to make arrangements by which we can secure for our manufactured goods equal consideration in the Dominions."

Thirty-six per cent of the wheat now supplied by foreign countries would undoubtedly be reduced, he said, but the foreign quota would still be sufficient to make foreign countries anxious to see what they could give Britain in return for admission to the British market.

Accepts Bennett's Offer

Mr. Baldwin repeated his acceptance of the bargaining offer of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Premier of Canada, at the Imperial Conference in London. "I said," he proceeded, "whatever anybody else was prepared to do, if our party comes into office we will be prepared to do business. And it is to do business. It is necessary to put a duty on foreign agricultural products to enable the dominions to bring more of their goods into this country, and enable us to make arrangements with them by which we shall get first preference for our manufactured goods, I am all for that business."

FASCISTS MUST OBEY THE POPE!

Vatican City, April 29 (CP)—Pope Pius XI said in a letter disclosed yesterday that if Fascism wishes to be Catholic it must obey the church and its head.

The letter was written to Cardinal Schuster, Archbishop of Milan, and was a direct reply to a speech made by Giovanni Giuriati, Secretary of the Fascist party, in Milan on the anniversary of the founding of Rome last Tuesday.

$600,000 GIFT FOR HYGIENE

Toronto University Receives Grant From Rockefeller Fund

Toronto, April 29 (CP).—A grant of $600,000 by the Rockefeller Foundation to the School of Hygiene of the University of Toronto, is announced. The bequest is made in view of the need for enlarged facilities for teaching and research brought about by the rapid growth of public health work throughout Canada, the announcement indicates.

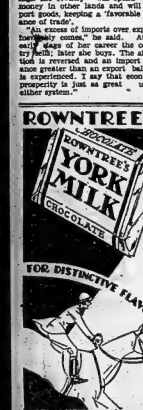
The establishment of the school was made possible by the gift six years ago of $650,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation. Of this sum $400,000 was allocated for the erection of the Hygiene Building, and the rest set aside as an endowment fund. With the present grant the endowment fund reaches the sum of $950,000.

The Board of Governors of the University have also been informed of the provision of an annual grant of $8,000 by the Provincial Legislature. This will be devoted to expansion of teaching facilities.

In a recent month, more than 3,000,000 pounds of coffee were shipped from La Guaira, Venezuela.

JOHN STOW'S MEMORY BEING KEPT GREEN

London, April 29—That the city of London is ever eager to keep green the memory of its worthiest citizen was evidenced when the Lord Mayor and Aldermen in full state regalia attended the service to the memory of John Stow, the Chronicler of the James I, who left the present generation much of their knowledge of London as it was before the great fire.



The service was at St. Andrews-under-the-shaft, so-called because for the centuries it was the church of the citizens to erect a Maypole in the shadow of the church.

200 CASUALTIES AS LABORATORY BLOWS UP

TORPEDO-LOADING ROOM WITHIN LABORATORY AT RIO DE JANIERO WRECKED WITH LOSS OF LIVES

Nichteroy Opposite Rio Rocked by Blast Today

HOSPITAL FILLED

Two Buildings Wrecked, Injured Taken in Launches

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, April 30 (AP).—Half of the 400 employees in the Laval laboratory at Nichteroy were reported killed or injured today when an explosion wreck ed the plant.

As soon as they could get near the place rescuers began removing the mutilated bodies of the dead and carrying out the injured.

The hospital at Nichteroy was quickly filled and many of the victims were brought here.

The explosion, which was believed to have occurred in the torpedo-loading room, wrecked the building and an adjoining three-story structure.

Nichteroy is just across the bay from Rio de Janeiro and the injured who could not be accommodated there were carried across in launches.

The Ministry of Marine said it was impossible to estimate the number of dead and injured accurately but it was certainly certain that at least 300 had been killed or badly hurt.

CONVERSION LOAN COMING

$350,000,000 to be Issued to Whittle Down Huge Maturities

New York, Apr. 30.—In an article on its financial pages, written by Geo. Wanders, the Herald-Tribune today says the Canadian government's next debt conversion operations to whittle down the huge maturities of the next four years, will take the form of an exchange offering of $350,000,000 of one-half per cent long term bonds.

The new bonds, the article continues, maturing in 25 years and callable in 15 years, will be offered exclusively to holders of four issues or 5 and 5 1-2 per cent bonds falling due over the next four years, and aggregating $1,083,000,000.

The Canadian Minister of Finance will have authority to increase the issue beyond the stated figure if the bonds are tendered for exchange in sufficient amounts.

The conversion issue of $250,000,000 5 1-2s will carry the same privileges in regard to taxation now enjoyed by the securities to which the exchange offering will apply. Like the internal issues which they are designed to reduce, the new bonds will be payable in Canada only.

WALL STREET BEARS IN RETREAT STOCKS GAIN 2 TO 15 POINTS

Oils Lead Advance With Support of Rockefeller Group

U. S. STEE LGAINS

New York, Apr. 30 (CP).—The stock market ended its gloomiest month so far this year in a mood of cautious confidence of cheer today.

The tank effect of strong support for the standard oil shares were apparent. Wall street brokerage circles were convinced that strong supporting orders for these issues had been related from close to the Rockefeller interests. Bears were sent into a steady retreat all along the line, and advances of two to more than five points were numerous, while Auburn surged up more than fifteen, getting once more above 200.

U. S. Steel regained about a third of yesterday's losses, and miscellaneous issues rising 2 to more than 4 points included General Motors, Radio, General Electric, and subsidiary Gas, Electric Power and Light, American Water Works, Sears, Woolworth, North American, American and Foreign Power, Eastman, Westinghouse Electric, Allied Chemical, Curtis, Anaconda, New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio and Case. Trading slackened about up 6. Standard of N. J. advanced 2 points, a somewhat more than this issue, and Standard of California gained as much. There was a little support in the specials and rails, but it quickly dried up. Curtis Publishing preferred was several points on reduction of its dividend.

Novelist's Aged Son Issues Stern Warning

London, April 30 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)

Crimes against the person which have increased to a disturbing extent in London recently, received a stern warning at the Old Bailey today from Sir Henry Dickens, son of the novelist, who sent one man to penal servitude for five years and two others for three years.

"This crime has reached the state when a body is not safe," Sir Henry said in passing sentence. "I shall treat it with great severity."

Sir Henry, now 82 years of age is the only surviving child of Charles Dickens. He holds the office of common Sergeant of the city, with the duties of a High Court Judge so far time been preparing the briefs in each case.

TWO MOUTHS AND ONLY THREE TONGUES

Brockville April 30 (CP).— A calf with two mouths, three tongues and a crooked tail is a curiosity on the farm of Edward Kennedy at Kemptville. The animal, three weeks old, is apparently thriving and is able to drink though cannot take milk from its mother.

ADMITS THEFT AT MORRISBURG

Ronald Holdsworth Taken Into Custody by Police

Ronald Holdsworth, 17, of England but giving his address as Montreal, came to the police station last night for lodging, but after certain information was elicited from him, he was taken into custody and will be turned over to Provincial Police from the Cornwall headquarters, to be taken to Morrisburg to stand trial on a charge of breaking, entering and theft.

Smart police work by Constable Isnard effected his arrest. The young man was found in the town late last night and was booked by Sergeant Hayden, who was on duty. Constable Isnard, who was in the station at the time, overheard all the man's actions and began questioning him and finally, Holdsworth broke down and told his story to the constable implicating him in the charge quoted above. The young man stated to the constable that on Sunday last he went for a long walk near Morrisburg and while on the hike came to a country store. He entered the store and called loudly, as he claims he thought the proprietor was out, there was no answer, the boy started looking around and came upon a cash box with a considerable sum of money in it. The boy by his own admission, lifted the cash box and also a revolver that was close by and left the store.

Proceedings to the river bank, he opened the cash box and extracted $23.00 leaving a larger portion in the box. The revolver and box were thrown in the river and the boy being afraid to go back, walked all the way west until his arrest followed today.

After the statement had been taken by Constable Isnard, the Provincial Police from Cornwall were duly notified and Provincial Constable Bert Hammer took charge of the boy and notified Cornwall headquarters of the arrest.

RESIGN WHEN VOTE ON FERGUSON LOST

St. Catharines, Apr. 30.—Resignation of three members of the Ontario Cabinet, following the defeat of the Ferguson district vice-president, followed by the resignation of Provincial Secretary High Commissioner G. Howard Ferguson, were announced tonight at a dinner on vegetables were defeated and withdrawn at the annual convention of the association here on Wednesday.

Action of the convention in rejecting the resolutions was considered equally to a vote of confidence in Premier Ferguson, his supporters declared. They were Mrs. Zoe Stevens, Toronto District vice-president; Mrs. E. B. Tanner, honorary president of West York, and Mrs. H. K. Bennett, secretary of Toronto East.

SALVATION ARMY BILL APPROVED

Londong, Apr. 30 (AP)—A select committee of the House of Commons today approved two important features of the pending bill which will permit the re-organization of the Salvation Army.

These were, election of a general by the High Council of the Organization rather than by the appointment by a retiring general and vesting of property of the army in the custody of a board of trustees.

The measure at present is in committee stage after having passed its second reading.

LIFT GLASSES TO THEIR LIPS AND FALL DEAD

Dramatic Scene in Room for Which Man is Blamed

THE LAST DRINK

Chicago, Ills., April 30—While her husband and another witness waited helplessly, Mrs. Ralph Garrison of Kenmanoo, Mich., and a man police said they identified as J. H. Hartung of Dayton, Ohio, lifted glasses to their lips, drank the contents and then fell dead last night in the room of a downtown hotel.

Detectives said they believed that Hartung tricked the woman into taking the poison and killed himself because of his recent divorce decree action of Mrs. Garrison and her husband.

The Garrisons had offered a reconciliation. Garrison came to Chicago with Mrs. Jones after they had located Mrs. Garrison in Chicago. The Garrisons and Mrs. Jones went to the hotel together.

"I've come to reclaim my wife and to gather her belongings and take her home," Garrison was quoted as saying to Hartung.

Hartung smiled calmly. He looked at Mrs. Garrison and said:

"Let's have a last drink together."

Filling two tumblers from a flask, Hartung handed one of them to Mrs. Garrison and took the other himself in a moment they were dead.

Police Lieut. David Schwartz said he had uncovered evidence that Mrs. Garrison was an unwitting victim of the affair.

King Takes First Stroll in Park Since His Illness

Windsor, England, April 30—(AP)—The King emerged from Windsor Castle today for the first time since announcement of his illness made a month ago. He was accompanied by the Queen on a walk about the grounds of the Castle.

They strolled through the park for nearly an hour, the King wearing an overcoat and a brown felt hat. At Frogmore, half a mile from the Castle, an automobile picked them up and they came back for luncheon.

The King let it be known that he had enjoyed the fresh air and sunshine after his long siege, and it was said that he is making excellent progress toward complete recovery.

The Prince of Wales, who got home only yesterday from South America, was up before noon and away from the Castle for he had a lot of business, which had accumulated during his absence. He is staying at York House in London tonight and returning for the week-end.

JAMES PARKER K.C., NATIVE OF STIRLING NAMED COUNTY JUDGE

Is Brother of William A. Parker of This City

F. N. FIELD NAMED

James Parker, K.C., prominent lawyer of Toronto, has been appointed as a junior judge for York County, according to word from Ottawa last night. Frank N. Field, K.C., of Cobourg, is also appointed a junior York County judge. These two additional to the York County judges for Metropolitan Toronto.

The federal authorities also announced the appointment of three judges for other Ontario counties. They are: W. F. Wilson, K.C., of Sarnia, junior judge for Lambton; E. Ingram, K.C., of St. Thomas, junior judge for Middlesex, and Hugh Patterson Innis, K.C., of Simcoe, judge for Dufferin.

Mr. Parker's elevation to the bench climaxes a brilliant legal career which had its beginning in 1911 when he was admitted to the Bar. The new appointee was born in Sterling, Ont., the son of Robert Parker, K. D. He is a brother of Mr. Wm' A. Parker, bank manager of this city. He was educated in Stirling public and high schools and at Queen's University, Kingston for two years he was engaged in banking business in Montreal. He was later manager of the Royal Bank and then he turned his attention to law, entering Osgoode Hall. He has lived in Toronto ever since.

First is Field Officer

Mr. Parker excelled in sports. Mr. Parker has the distinction of having been the first Rugby quarterback of the Canadian Intercollegiate Football Union. Fishing is his favorite recreation and he is a member of several clubs devoted to this sport. He is a member of the Albany Club, the National Club, Toronto Hunt Club and the R. C. Y. C.

In 1917 Mr. Parker was appointed solicitor for the Canada Steel Board and held this important position until the dissolution in 1919. The estate of the John Ross Robertson estate is married and has one son.

Mr. Field was among 35 benchers chosen for the Upper Canada Bar in the annual convocation of Ingram is a former president of the Northern Ontario Canadian Bar Association. Mr. Innis is to be a full time judge since he was one of Dufferin.

It is understood that W. F. Wilson will be called to be succeeded in his position as crown attorney for Lambton by County M. P. Hon. Geo. P. Graham, M.P.P.

Hon. James Parker, who has been appointed Judge of York County, is a native of Prince Edward County, being born in Stirling 57 years ago. He is a brother of William Parker, manager of the local branch of the Royal Bank, and the third son of the Rev. Robert Parker. After graduating from Stirling High School, he attend on Queen's University in 1899, taking an Arts course. After receiving the B.A. he resided in Marmora where he was associated with his father-in-law, Mr. Alex. Carmichael M.P., in the banking business. He retired from the firm to commence studies at Osgoode Hall in Toronto whence he was graduated in due course. He formed the firm of Parker & Crabtree in Toronto where he practiced to date.

Mr. Parker was a director of the Exchange Bank, Prince Edward, in Toronto, and also acted as chief legal advisor. He was appointed by the Dominion Government to a Legal Commission during the war period.

MYSTERY IN DEATH

Poison, mystery, and the Woolworth millions were all tangled up in the death of James Paul Donahue (top), officially reported as due to "mercurial poisoning-suicidal." Donahue married the former Jessie Woolworth (bottom), heiress to the "5 and 10 millions," more than 30 years ago.

EUPHEMIA WINNER 2-YEAR-OLD STAKES

Newmarket, Eng., April 20 (Canadian Press Cable). Euphemia, won the Newmarket two-year-old stakes today by a length from Sir. R. Brooke's Sunset second, with A. D. Rotchschild's Oregon Grape third, another three-quarters of a length back.

Euphemia started at 20 to one, Sunset second 10 to one, and Oregon Grape 20 to one.

Sixteen two-year-olds ran, the race being over the five furlong distance.

INTEREST IN BY-ELECTION

LONDON, April 30.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Polling was under way for Abington-Lyme, Lancashire, and Sir Oswald Mosley, leader of his own new party, was anxiously awaiting the result. For the first time in a political history a candidate is running on the Communist ticket against an official Laborite and a Conservative candidate.

Tremors Most Severe in One District of America

DEVASTATE REGIONS

Moscow, Apr. 30 (AP)—Three hundred and ninety-two persons are known to have been killed in the earthquakes which yesterday devastated three districts of the Soviet Republic of Nakichevan in Transcaucasia.

Two hundred persons were killed and 265 injured in the Ordzug region. In the Shakhtakhty there were 192 persons dead and 600 injured. Eighty per cent of the villages in the Zangezur district were destroyed and great numbers of cattle perished throughout the quake area.

Tiflis and Erivan were badly shaken but there were no casualties. The Queriasian district of Armenia was believed to have suffered many casualties, the quake being most severe there.

Baronet From Backwoods Engaged to be Married

LONDON, April 30.—CP—(By Thomas T. Champion. Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—today's papers carried the announcement of the engagement of Sir Windham Carmichael Anstruther and Fay Sibyl Reichtzner, only child of Erwin Reichtzner of Hazelden Manor and Hayward's Heath, Sussex.

Sir Windham succeeded in England two years ago from Vancouver, after learning of his succession to Baronetcy on the death of a distant cousin. He had been working in a civil engineer in the interior of British Columbia, and when he reached England he became known as "the baronet from the backwoods."

The Anstruther family history goes back seven centuries, the Anstruthers were Scottish Barons. One of the latest baronets was Sir Ian, that of "heredity carver to the Royal Household." Sir Ian is the uncle of the title present baronet, who is 31 years of age. Ian also "hereditary master of the Royal Household for Scotland."

Washington, Apr. 30.—Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British Ambassador, left here this afternoon for his first visit to Canada in twenty-five years. When Earl Grey was governor-general and Sir Ronald was a junior secretary of the embassy here, he used to go to Ottawa for vacations to stay with his cousins at Rideau hall, where there was skating in the winter time and tennis in the summer.

2 INDIANS DIE WHITE IS HELD

Inquest Shows Liquor Had Been Found Near Bodies

Carlyle, Sask, April 30.—(By the Canadian Press)—One white man is in the cells and an Indian and his squaw are dead, the culmination of a tragedy enacted April 21 off the West end of White Bear Indian Reserve, Manitoua, a Reserve Indian, and his squaw, Bella Todman laid gave testimony at the inquest that led to Valentine's arrest on the liquor charge.

The inquest found that Manitoua had strangled his wife and then killed himself in another room, manner Norman Valentine was arrested charged with selling liquor to an Indian. A bottle of Alcohol had been found by the bodies of the two Indians.

The mother of the dead woman and the husband Todman laid gave testimony at the inquest that led to Valentine's arrest on the liquor charge.

Private Bank Was Not That Which Closed

Reference In Despatch Was An Error

(The Canadian Press, New York) New York, April 30.—In a cable report from Sydney, N.S.W., April 28 to the Canadian Press, which was delivered "to the division manager of the Bank of New South Wales, which closed last week." The reference to the bank closing was incorrect. The bank of New South Wales is a strong banking institution and has no connection with the Commercial savings bank of New South Wales which was the institution closed.

QUAKE TAKES HEAVY TOLL OF 392 LIVES IN SOVIET PROVINCE

MILLION LOSS

ERIVAN, Armenia, April 30.—AP—Nearly 400 persons were killed and 2,000 injured in the earthquake which rocked Armenia on Monday, according to preliminary estimates, and property damage probably will exceed $1,000,000.

The shocks were felt generally over the province, but were most severe in the southwest near Nakichevan, where the tremors practically about one minute and was followed by terrifying subterranean rumblings.

The flimsy native huts collapsed in the mountain village s, and at Shah the town of Sisian every house was destroyed. The villages of Ornzun and Megrin also suffered heavily.

Twenty thousand peasants are said to be homeless in the Nakichevan district, living in the open. A heavy rainfall is adding to their misery and food is scarce.

BULLETIN BOARD

LADIES' EUCHRE

The Ladies Society to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers held a successful euchre in the Oddfellows Temple last night which was largely attended. Competition for the beautiful favors was exceptionally keen, the winners being ladies, Mrs. Arthur Newman, Mrs. T. Campbell, Mrs. W. J. Jordan and Mrs. R. Fisher, while the gentlemen winners were O. Eckell, W. J. Jordan, T. Campbell and George Sibery. The door prize was won by Mrs. H. Varley. Dainty refreshments were served before the party broke up and a social half hour was spent.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA WON.

At Queen Alexandra school grounds yesterday afternoon the opening game of the public school softball league took place between St. Michaels and Queen Alexandra, resulting in a decisive victory for the latter, the score being 47 to 6. The line-ups were: Ann Street—Gerow, Dinnink, Knott, Gold, Lloyd, Sanford, Sager, Bayliss, Kiker. St. Michael's—Fitzgibbon, Degenova, Dennis, McGuire, Morrison, Whalen, McNabb, Langdon and Forrester. The umpires in charge were W. G. Anderson and Mr. Fowler.

NEW LEAGUE JOINS.

A new baseball league joined the O.B.A. at a last evening when the Lennox County Leagues were admitted into the provincial body. This league is composed of Napanee, Odessa, Adolphustown Maple Leafs, and Dorlands. They entered in the intermediate class "B" and will no doubt play off with the Trent Valley League winners, at the end of the season. Mr. C. Gibbard of Napanee was elected secretary.

CADET INSPECTION

This morning at 10 a.m. the cadet inspection of the Prince of Wales School took place on their school grounds. Captain Isbester, District Cadet Officer, of the P.P.C.L. Infantry was the inspecting officer in charge. He was accompanied by a few of the collegiate battalion officers. The cadets, thirty strong, presented a real military picture when they passed in column of inspection in their new uniforms. Captain Isbester spoke highly of the boys' ability and asked that they be given a half holiday which was granted. The captain then left for Stirling and Frankford where he conducted inspections this afternoon.

ATTENDING CONVENTION.

Mr. J. V. Doyle, of Doyle's Drug Store, is in Toronto this week the big convention of Ontario distributors for DeForest-Crosley radios which is being held at the Royal York Hotel. Special features were prepared by the committee in charge of the convention which promises to be the biggest in years.

WAS REMANDED.

Sarah Ann Smith, who appeared in police court yesterday, charged with making a false statement to J. Wilfred Holmes, city clerk, when she applied for a marriage license and was remanded for one week, came into court again today and pleaded guilty to the charge. B. C. Donnan, Crown Attorney, requested that she be remanded for sentence until next week and in this request Magistrate Mikel complied.

Three traffic cases were heard. One motorist was fined $3.00 for not stopping at a "stop sign", while two others contributed $10.00 and $3.50 each for driving a car with four passengers in the front seat.

NEARLY FINISHED.

R. H. Ketcheson, census commissioner for south riding of Hastings stated to The Ontario Intelligencer this morning that he had not quite completed the appointment of his enumerators. "I expect to be finished about the week after next," he stated this morning, "as soon as the final appointment is made, instructions in their duties will be given to them by Mr. Ketcheson. Forty enumerators will be required for this district.

SURPRISE PARTY.

A delightful surprise party was tendered last evening to George Fordyce, manager of the local branch of Loblaw's Groceteria, at his home in Cedar street, the occasion of Mr. Fordyce's birthday and the party, numbering about twenty-five in all, spent the evening playing cards and dancing. Refreshments were served and the party broke up at an early hour this morning.

OUT OF HOSPITAL.

Mr. Norman Clapper, who has been confined to the Belleville General Hospital with an injured hand, left that institution last night. Mr. Clapper underwent an operation on that member.

STORE RE-OPENS

Eleven years ago Tanners' Millinery opened its doors on Front Street, the proprietor coming here from Toronto. After over a decade of serving the public the store will now be re-opened on a much larger scale in the A. Cook Co. store. A full line of ladies and children's hats will be carried. The new quarters are much larger and will allow for a much better display. It was announced that the hand-blocking business would be continued.

WON DOOR PRIZE.

Miss A. Karlie of this city was the fortunate winner of the door prize at the bazaar sponsored by the Catholic Women's League and the Knights of Columbus of the city of Ottawa. The prize was in the form of a [illegible] clock.

SALVATION ARMY DINNER.

Last night at the Salvation Army Citadel the songster brigade sponsored a banquet and social evening. Fifty members of the local corps were in attendance. Following the dinner games were enjoyed. Speeches were made by the following: Mrs. (Ensign) Howlett, Sergt. Major Hart, Mrs. James Corden, the oldest living leader of the corps, Mrs. D. Wardle and Mrs. Brown.

PHOTO APPEARED.

On page two of the Toronto Star last night appeared a photo of a young Bakina adopted by Rev. H. H. and Mrs. Cory. The latter is a son of Rev. C. R. Spencer who was Chaplain of the 21st Battalion stationed here and is well known by the parishioners of St. Thomas' Church.

ATTENDED DINNER.

Ald. George H. Griffin, commanding officer of the Belleville Corps of the Naval Brigade, Mrs. Griffin, and Miss Phoebe Donaldson were in Toronto last night where they attended the banquet of the Navy League of Canada at the Royal York Hotel.

TO ARGUE CASE

The civil case of Anderson vs. Wall bridge, which was held in Picton before Mr. Justice Ranley some time ago, will be argued in Toronto on Monday next, according to Clarence A. Payne, K.C., who is acting for George S. Wallbridge in this suit. Mr. Payne has submitted written argument for his client, while R. S. Robertson, K.C., will appear before His Lordship for the Township of Ameliasburg, a party in the suit, while W. J. Wills will argue for Shelley Anderson, plaintiff in the action. This case deals with the question as to whether or not a right of way over the lands of George S. Wallbridge to Consecon Lake Park, a property used for some time by Anderson for a summer resort.

D. H. MORRISON LEADS TWEED BOWLING CLUB

TWEED, April 29—(Special to Ontario Intelligencer)—On Thursday, April 16th the directors of Tweed Amusements Ltd., held a meeting in the Council Chambers. The season's activities were discussed and the treasurer's report was read showing a balance on hand of $436.35. Motions were passed to pay $213.50 to W. S. Gordon, which pays his loan with interest in full and to pay Jas. Ryan $410.00 leaving a balance owing Mr. Ryan of $650 which is the total debt against the rink property. A special effort will be put forth next year to clear off the debt. The total debt at the time of building was around $4,500.00.

Bowlers Elect Officers

The annual meeting of the Tweed Bowling Club was held in the Council Chambers on Monday, April 20th.

The Treasurer Mr. F. J. Hunter presented his report which showed a small deficit carried over from last season.

Officers were elected as follows: President D. H. Morrison. Vice Presidents—Dr. W. A. Paul, Secretary-Treasurer—H. S. Corcoran.

Games Com.—H. K. Wagar, W. E. Spackman, A. W. McGuire.

Grounds Com.—W. Beatty, Dr. Bowlby, Jas. Ryan.

The President, Vice-President, Secretary and Chairman of Committees will constitute the executive.

Work will commence on the grounds at once and every effort will be made to have them in first class condition for the opening about the middle of May.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Carlhagh's Church on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock, Rev. Father O'Riordan officiating when Vincent Rivers, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Rivers of Bogart was united in marriage to Miss Hilda Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Marsh of Tweed. Miss Evelyn Rivers, sister of the groom acted as bridesmaid and Joe Marsh, brother of the bride, attended the groom. The bride was married in a dress of blue crepe de chine with hat and shoes to match. The Wedding March was played by Mr. Rachael Rashcic.

Immediately following the ceremony the happy couple left on a trip to Watertown, N.Y.

The bride travelling in a blue coat and matching accessories. The young couple intend to reside at Bogart.

Presentation to Miss Hilda Marsh

Following the usual monthly meeting of the Sodality on Sunday last a kitchen shower was tendered to one of the members, Miss Hilda Marsh.

The directress, Rev. Sr. M. Leonard, in a few well-chosen words spoke on the beauties of a Catholic marriage, after which she extended the congratulations and best wishes of the Sodality to Hilda. Miss Marjorie Quinn then presented her with a beautiful Irish linen tablecloth. The bride-to-be ably responded, thanking the girls for their kind remembrance.

A tea was served in honor of the occasion. After refreshments were served two girls carried in a large basket decorated with the Sodality colours, blue and white. This was laden with mysteriously wrapped parcels. A great deal of amusement was derived by everyone of the members as Hilda untied each parcel and read the enclosed slips attached to the various articles. When everything had been examined, the girls formed a ring about Hilda and sang "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow".

The meeting adjourned with the singing of "Ave Maria".

The Y.P.S. of Sulphide held their meeting on Tuesday evening. Rev. Price gave the second half of an extremely interesting lecture on "Proper Manufacturing". Other interesting items on the programme were readings by Miss D. McMaster and J. Wallace and a solo by Miss B. Burgoyne.

The W A. meeting of Thomasburg was held on Friday evening at Miss A. Porter's. Mrs. W. A. Morton, President, opened the meeting with Hymn No. 239 The Lord's Prayer in prayer. Mrs. Wesley Morton read Psalm 37. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Correspondence was read and other business was transacted. The meeting closed with prayer.

Mrs. W. Burns of Buffalo, has taken a few rooms over Mr. Louis Rashotte's garage and will now be a citizen of Tweed.

Mr. LaMarr of Ottawa, was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Quinn.

Mr. Frank McGrath of Detroit, is visiting his sister, Mrs. P. Whalen.

Mr. Joe Whalen of Detroit, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Lester Hughes.

Miss Marion Hacker of Wyandotte, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Roy Marsh.

Mrs. W. Dafoe (nee Eva Graham) and baby of Regina, and Miss Edith Graham of New York, are visiting their sisters, Mrs M. Finley and Miss Frances Graham.

On Friday evening a reception was held at Mr. Rivers for the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Rivers. The house was crowded but an enjoyable evening was spent in dancing. A wonderful lunch was served. The bride received many useful presents.

At the euchre party which was held by the Catholic Women's League in the Guild Rooms on Friday evening, Mr. Jas. Wilder was the winner of the gentleman's prize while Miss A. Courneyea won the ladies.

MADOC

Madoc, Apr. 30—The April meeting of the Madoc Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. K. M. Tumelty with an attendance of thirty-five Mrs. C. N. Whytock, presiding. The institute ode and minutes of last meeting were followed by correspondence regarding the district annual, branch annual and summer lecture. The subjects chosen for the summer lecture were "Thrift — making all things count," and "worth-while life purposes."

Report was received of the home cooking sale, proceeds of which were $13.50. Discussing finances, it was moved by Mrs' W. Ross and Mrs. E. West that we hold a dance early in May in the armouries, the admission price to be 50 cents. Committees appointed were: Music, Mrs. W. Whytock and Mrs. J. B. Hough; refreshments, Mesdames Ross, West and Smith; canvassing, Mesdames Ross, Avery, Hill, Henderson, Phillips and Smith; cards and tables, Mesdames C. Whytock, Parks and Irwin; Mrs. Hickle in charge of advertising and bills.

Mrs. J. B. Hough then very ably took up current events of the month after which Mrs. Huffman gave an excellent paper on "Making the Best of What We Have", Beginning with the gallant efforts of the early pioneers, Mrs. Huffman went on to point many ways of making the very best of ourselves ,our environment, and our friends and neighbours.

Arrangements were made for the annual meeting and election of officers in May at the home of Mrs. C. McCoy, and the conveners of standing committees were requested to present their reports of the year's work in writing.

The National Anthem and a social half hour followed.

6TH SIDNEY

6th Sidney, April 30 By Mail—Service next Sunday evening at 7.30. Rev. E. B. Smith, pastor. The choir will be assisted by Mr. Colclough and family of Belleville who will favor us with several items during the service.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Holmes entertained Mrs. W. Phillips and daughter Maud, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Harris on Sunday.

The farmers have been making good use of the fine weather during the past week. Some already are through with their sowing, and the recent rain was much appreciated.

The hum of the milk wagons are again heard for another season, as the factory opened on Wednesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Pope, of Victoria, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Pound and son Ross took tea with Mr. and Mrs. F. Harris on Monday.

Glad to report that little Sylvia Bradshaw is improving.

The W.M.S. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. MacPherson on Tuesday afternoon and was well attended.

Misses Keitha and Magdalene Lloyd attended the wedding of their cousin, Mrs. F. Bailey of Stirling on Tuesday.

On Wednesday evening last the singing class which has been directed by Mr. Colclough of Belleville came to a close. After practice they all wended their way into the church hall where a dainty lunch awaited and a social hour was spent together, and all feeling that their time had been well spent during the winter and regretted Mr. Colclough and family, also Mr. and Mrs. B. Houston who assisted the class. Mr. Houston being pianist, could not be with us often.

STOCKDALE

Stockdale, April 29 (By Mail)—The funeral of the late Mrs. J. H. DEPRESSION AND AFTER.

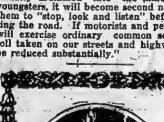
Though the depression has a chastening influence as many realize, in other ways it brings so much distress that many will hope those are right who say that before the snow flies next winter there will have disappeared many or most of the ills which afflict us daily and nightly at the present time.

Depression is the term by which the world pays for excesses in manner of living expenditures and speculation and in interest in the material to the exclusion in many cases of the higher brotherhood and humanity. Prosperity, as Cardinal Hayes pointed out in a radio talk, makes man think of the temporal and the material things of life while the more human qualities are forgotten.

Through depression one may read the message which ought to be clear enough without it, but is not, that all men are their brothers' keepers.

The hope was expressed by the cardinal that the present hour's opportunity is to get into a correct attitude towards others, to take as the chief interest in life humanity, not the things of life. If that is done, then the return of prosperity need not be feared.

THE TURN HAS COME?



From all corners comes the statement that the turn has definitely been made for the better in the industrial and business world. This appears to be based on facts and figures known to executives and ought to have foundation in fact, however, the appearances seem to belie this better sentiment. From Germany, from the words of the British Chancellor, the statement of the Canadian Minister of Finance and from the statement issued by the chairman of the Chambers of Commerce of the United States who remarked that there is a definite trend for the better, come words to satisfy those who have been in the doldrums about the ultimate outlook. Every man of experience has stated that the depression cannot endure for ever, and that the end is in sight.

But is it in sight, are the people thoroughly ready for it? Have they decided to live differently under the return of the prosperity which is said to be just around the corner?

TRAFFIC

The plight of the pedestrian and motorist is brought forward in an illuminating article in the Hamilton Spectator, answering the question, "What price Americanism?" The writer refers to the coming of the tourist traffic which will soon be here in greater or less volume and remarks that Canadian pedestrians are not as disciplined as they are in the United States where pedestrians traffic is regulated. The Spectator goes on to say:

"The dense traffic of the summer tourist season will cause many casualties and terrific toll of life and limb undoubtedly will be taken again. Not all of the responsibility for these tragedies will be placed on motorists. Pedestrians will be to blame, too, if one may judge from the experience of other years. There will again be those who will walk after dusk on the edge of the highways, taking it for granted that oncoming motorists will see them and take the necessary precautions. Drivers of cars are often sometimes blinded by the glare of approaching headlights, however, and there are many cases on record of deaths in such instances of those who walk the vehicular lanes. Pedestrians are not so well educated in Canada as they are in the United States, where, in the big cities, their movements are regulated at intersections by traffic policemen. It would be sheer suicide at busy intersections in Detroit, Chicago or New York, for instance, for a pedestrian to attempt to cross the street before the officer on duty had given the signal to do so. At our main corner of King and James streets, however, where a traffic officer is on guard, pedestrians pay scant attention to his signals. At any hour of the day one may see men and women marooned on the roadway, waiting for a chance to get out of the maze of whizzing vehicles, and, at other intersections where traffic is controlled by overhead signals, thoughtlessly walking against the red lights. It is a matter of record that out of $220,000 accidents between automobiles and pedestrians in the United States, where, as we have stated, pedestrians are better regulated than in this country, the actions of drivers were responsible for approximately only 50,000 of these mishaps. Pedestrians were shown to have been directly responsible for 143,000 accidents, and of the remaining number the responsibility was shared jointly by pedestrians and drivers. The greatest tragedy of the summer motoring season, of course, is the slaying of children who thoughtlessly dash onto the busy city streets while at play. Safety talks are being given to the youngsters in the schools, but these efforts must be augmented by the warnings of parents. If the thought that streets are unsafe as playgrounds is continually drummed into the minds of the youngsters, it will become second nature for them to "stop, look and listen" before crossing the road. If motorists and pedestrians will exercise ordinary common sense, the toll taken on our streets and highways can be reduced substantially."

EXTINCT VOLCANO!

By Allan Michealis

The great hills, rising, form a circle here,
Green-clad and gently sloping from each crest;
Alike the gentle hill and that most near
In April's vivid loveliness are dressed.
Yet once these slopes were one tall mountain's base,
Far, far above uprose its lofty height,
And deep within, a strange and awful place,
Wild fires raged through timeless, starless night.
No man knows when the great eruption came
That tore the breast of Earth asunder wide,
No history records the rocks, smoke, flame,
The lava flow, the gas by which men died.
So well have busy Time and Nature wrought
These hillside farms hold not one tragic thought.

THE BLIND IN THE MACHINE AGE

The world conference on work for the blind has just been told that employment opportunities for persons thus afflicted have been curtailed by the wider use of machinery. The handcrafts are virtually the only occupations to which the blind can turn, and programs for self-support in this field are based on the continued existence of manual arts. Yet the delegate from Sweden reported that even in his own country the forward movement of industrialization is to be reckoned with.

Here is an almost perfect illustration of the difference between the immediate and the long-distance aspects of a problem. The case of the blind is only a special instance of "technological unemployment" so much discussed—the displacement of workers by machinery. The economists still assert, and with reason, that machinery in the long run does not reduce jobs but multiplies them; but few economists would question the real hardships that must be surmounted.

Are machines bad for the blind or good? We have just seen that machines restrict the field of opportunity for the blind. But what of the whole problem of the blind in the Machine Age? In 1880 the number of sightless persons in the United States was 72.6 per 100,000 of the population. In 1900 the number was 85. In 1920 the number was 49.7. As the country passed into the grip of the Machine Age this dread affliction has grown steadily rarer. Like so many other bodily ailments, it has steadily retreated before the higher standards of living which the machine makes possible.

"I thought your wife's name was Elizabeth?"

"So it is."

"Then why do you call her Peggy?"

"Short for Pegasus."

"What has that to do with it?"

"Why, Pegasus is feminine for Pegasus."

"Well?"

"And Pegasus is an immortal steed."

"What of that?"

"Sh, not so loud. She's in the next room. •You see an immortal steed is an everlasting nag, so there you are!"

"That I have," replied the woman proudly.

"How long has he been in America, Mrs. Smith?"

"Indeed. And does he ever come back to England?"

"Every summer regularly."

MODERN ETIQUETTE

By Roberta Lee

Q.—In a family where there is no maid, is it better to have one member wait on the others at the table or to pass the different dishes?

A.—The latter method is preferable.

Q.—Does the bridegroom ever buy his ushers' clothes for the wedding?

A.—No; but he should use good judgment in selecting his ushers, being sure that each can afford the correct attire.

Q.—When are flat contradictions permissible?

A.—Never.

NEW YORK CITY NOT AFRAID OF EARTHQUAKES

On April 26th the capital city of Albany, in New York State, and adjacent communities were shaken for 30 second by a minor earthquake which was recorded in the east as Cambridge, Mass. Students of the earth's crust state that this tremor and disturbances of like kind in the eastern states and eastern Canada are occasioned by belated readjustments of old geological fractures. The most disastrous earthquake of record in these in the eastern part of North America occurred at Charleston, South Carolina, in 1886, Sixty per cent of Charleston's structures were seriously damaged and 100 persons were killed by falling objects and by exposure. Two hundred more were seriously injured. The shock was felt as far north as Toronto and as far south as Jacksonville. "No one can say," maintains Dr. Thomas Jaggar, a noted volcanologist, "that New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore or Washington is geologically immune to such happenings as the Charleston earthquake of 1886." One can only imagine what would happen to the hundreds of tall skyscrapers on Manhattan Island if a serious disturbance occurred. The heaviest shock ever recorded in New York city was a minor one that knocked down a chimney on Long Island in 1884. Though absolutely immune, the great eastern metropolis is seemingly regarded by geologists as outside the serious earthquake belt.—Mail and Empire, Toronto.

OVER 10,000,000 MARK?

The curse that was uttered against the serpent for its machinations against the original Adam, Adam, and his better half in the Garden of Eden, and which brought about the first "lockout" known to labor when the gates were closed against Adam and his soft job, was reiterated many centuries later, with equal vigor as the much vehemence, when twenty-five of the serpent's lineal descendants of the Garter type were locked out of the trade in Mr. Adam Denny's garage, and chased their beer back in all directions threw an unpleasant surprise into the lives of those who in the most trod upon them in getting out the truck on a Saturday night.

According to Mr. Norman Robertson's History of Motor Cars, the first while man to look down upon the valley where Walkerton is now located exclaimed, "If Ford was a good thing like this, what a fool Adam was to eat the apple," and as it is a matter of holy writ as to what part the serpent played in that episode, it is probably a strange coincidence that out of all the inhabitants, the only citizen of the town bearing the appellation of Adam should have his garage chosen and be the first patron to come upon this latest relic of the serpents. People say that there is in a name?" should ponder over this and be wise.—Walkerton Times-Journal.

MAY DAY

President Hoover's statement of the ideals of children's day is fine.

Our children have the right to be born in health; to be well through-out babyhood and the pre-school years to be surrounded with moral and spiritual inspiration; to have the right to play through primary school and well minded habit and skill for study; to enjoy and to profit to the utmost by their full development as the cause of wholesome habits of thought; and deed; hence to the opportunity for adult life, strong in body and inculcated with the sense of fair play and of responsibility for the welfare of others."

May Day was once peculiarly a children's day—"the happiest day in all the year." It still is in many communities. An English visitor in America a few years ago spoke of the custom of maying on that day as giving this city the appearance of sending off a population fit for from the garden of Eden. It has had still other disturbing observances, such as being reserved for the children, not only as a matter of privilege and joy, but also as one of promise of future and happier lives.—New York Times.

A NATURAL CURIOSITY

If one may believe the desk set-gems as a rule, the ladies maintain, there is a woman in his community who is the most philosophic wife on record. The scripture told the male papers that this lady, dropping into the station to say a matter her husband, who disappeared from home six weeks ago, explained that she was not anxious, but curious. She said that she loved her husband, but she never knew him back; she simply wondered "what became of him."

There is nothing more annoying than the husband who disappears, either for six weeks or six months, a time when he should be at home, and gives no clue to his whereabouts. Of course, the longer the absence, the greater the annoyance and curiosity. When this is uncomplicated by any wish for the return of the missing female and no concern for the good thing may have happened, it must become overwhelming.

This is true even of inanimate objects. Nobody misses a pencil, a letter or an umbrella can have gone for days without many people. A good deal of the business done by fortune-tellers and gifts in locating lost property has come from a very human trait.—New York Times.

Relief from Asthma. Who can describe the complete relief from suffering that follows the use of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy? Instantly it starts the fetling of fear that comes when its soft and gentle influence relieves the tightened choking air tubes! It has made dramatic affliction a thing of the past for thousands. It never fails. Check druggists everywhere have sold it for years.

Registering the Children'
By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman
The Bride-to-be Plans Her Own Wedding

Will you please inform me the correct way to sign a hotel register when I register with my two sons. There is no mother? Also, how my husband should register when we are all together?
J.S.

When you are traveling with such young children, it is not necessary for them to register by name. This is what is necessary:

Mrs. John Robinson, San Francisco, and 2 children.

When you and your husband and the children are stopping at a hotel, your husband registers for all like this:

Mr. and Mrs. John Remington, San Francisco and 2 children.

A Delightful Birthday Party
Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. My birthday is coming soon and would like a party but if it is all right to do the following? Ask a friend of mine and another couple to go to the theatre and after the theatre to my home?

2. Shall I get the tickets ahead of time and then give them to my friend that night, or keep them myself?

3. In what way can I invite them?

4. Should the other young man ask the partner he has been with?
H.B.

1. Yes, this would be a thoroughly delightful and correct plan for the celebration of your birthday.

2. By all means buy the tickets ahead of time, so that you will have that deeply comfortable feeling of being "all ready" on the evening of the party. Ask the man guest whom you know best to take care of the tickets for you.

3. The most charming way, I think is to write a little note of invitation.

4. It's best for you to do all of your inviting.

Invitations to the Prom
Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are just preparing to attend our first Prom and we wish to ask a few questions which will clear up this matter of manners.

1. Is it wrong for us to invite young men we have been properly introduced to, but whom we do not see very often because they live quite a distance from our home?

2 The affair is informal. Is it necessary to wear gloves, and if so, what kind? Also a hat? Our dresses will be black.

3. It will be held at a hotel. Shall we go straight home or shall we stop and get another piece of amusement?
Readers.

1. This is difficult to answer, for I cannot make out quite how well you know these young men. But if you have been to several parties with them, there isn't any reason why you should not invite them to go with you to the Prom. However, I suggest that you make your invitation very correct by writing it, so that they will have the opportunity of choice to do as they wish about it.

2. If the affair is informal, you would not wear gloves, which are the sign of formality, when worn in the evening. Wear a very simple dance frock, with no hat.

3. Under the circumstances, it would be in very poor taste for you to suggest going to any other entertainment after the Prom. A Prom, usually is considered enough entertainment for one evening!

BETTY AGAIN CONFOUNDS THE CRITICS

Last year the English tennis experts did not think much of Betty Nuthall's tennis form, so she showed them how bad it was by capturing the United States Women's Singles title. This went she again confounded the experts, who said she was be low form, by giving Elizabeth Ryan, one of the world's foremost players, a severe beating: 6-2, 6-2, in the finals at the English Lawn Tennis Championships. Miss Nuthall is shown here before the popular English tennis star in action and going on the court for a match.

Fashionably Speaking
By Lucille

Dear Readers:

Cottons will lead in summer dresses if Paris is a guide. A recent display in the most sensational phase of the new Paris styles. There is definitely no place that cotton cannot be smartly worn. Chanel, of course, started the vogue for cotton evening gowns with her organdies last year, and Worth made gingham sports frocks two or three years ago but this season the vogue has become universal and one sees cotton costumes of every sort at all sorts of fashionable functions from noon till midnight.

Chanel has added to her famous organdies, evening gowns of cross-barred muslin and dotted Swiss. Often these are trimmed with inscrustations of cotton lace or with many tiny cotton lace ruffles. Her pink organdie, eyelet embroidered all over in silver, is less practical.

"Lanvin also favors cotton evening frocks. Her gowns, entirely made of horizontal bands of organdie, that have the bodice and upper skirt in white and the lower skirt in celestial blue, crushed strawberry or bright red, are among the season's runners.

"Some of Paul Poiret's very grand est evening ensembles are all cotton. One in particular has a frock in bi-

Fashion' Fancies

By Alice Aiden

King Cotton has come back with the universal favor shown to organdie even for evening wear. One of the models designed for late Spring use is of organdie printed in a misty gray lace design with a vivid floral design in red. There is much drapery to the back of the skirt and a very deep "V" decolleage in back.

Absolutely Unfinished is the smart wardrobe without a short or jacket ensemble in black and white. Paris sends a grand model consisting of a suite of thin woollen, a white chiffon blouse made entirely of fine pleats and worn with a bi-jewelled jacket of thin, supple white broadcloth trimmed with revers and cuff inserts of black broadcloth. The jacket is belted with a narrow belt of the white fur.

The Lure of Layers will tempt many women who like frocks of different materials in layers. For instance, there is a new evening frock made of fine black chiffon placed over a black rain foundation. The frock is trimmed with chiffon leaf incrustations at the hips and covers in an outline of tiny white velvet flowers surrounding the deep décolletage which is cowl-shaped in back.

There's Many a Slip going to be worn this year for the present modes demand a foundation. Lovely indeed is a slip of pale blue crepe satin, longer in back, with a top made of flat, shirred, matching chiffon bands.

You Can Hear the Rustle of Taffeta as it steps into the Spring dress parade. Ideal for spring evenings for a lovely young woman will be a cream taffeta gown with a splashy design in red. This model is made on slim-fitted princess lines with the skirt fulness below the hipline. The long skirt is finished with a wide ruche made of flat flower-shaped circles of the material.

Giving Gloves a Hand is made possible by the many short sleeved suits and dresses planned for Spring. A lovely afternoon suit of beige marocain has elbow sleeves that appear longer by addition of broad bands of white fox fur. The beige is set off by black antelope gloves that match to the fur cuffs.

In all probability our dressmakers will be imitating their toys and grooming very much the same role in the play-ground as like a fashion years hence.—E. Phillips Oppenheim.

Summer Plans for Women's Institutes Now Completed

Announcements of the summer meetings of Women's Institutes throughout Ontario have just been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. The list of speakers has been furnished and plans have been completed for a very helpful season for the members.

Among the speakers this year is Mrs. W. Grass of Wooler, well known in Belleville area, where she has been a leader among the Institutes for some time and has rendered valuable service in organizing the convention which has been held annually in this city. Mrs. Grass will address meetings in the counties of Norfolk South and Welland from June 1st to June 5th. Her subjects include such interesting topics as: "The Homemaker," "The Parent and Child," "What a Woman Ought to Know about Law," "The Women's Institute and the School."

In the same counties Miss Emily J. Guest, M.A., will be one of the lecturers during May and June. Miss Guest, who has been in the Department of Agriculture, Women's Institutes Branches for some years, is well known in the city having taught at Belleville High School. She was brought up on an Ontario farm, is an honour graduate of the University of Toronto, with post-graduate credits from Columbia University, New York. She was for a time head of English and History in Belleville Collegiate and was active in organizing girls' sports. From here she was called to active service during the great war, being engaged in food conservation, and the organization of Institutes under the British Govern mental auspices in England, Scotland and Wales. She has given special attention to vocation guidance for young people and is chairman of the Ontario Women's Institutes Provincial Committee on Immigration.

In the area of Hastings East and Hastings West, summer meetings have been arranged to be held from June 12 to 22 at the following places —Philipston, Plainfield, Roslin, Melrose, Tyendinaga East, River Valley, Chaiterton, Uxbridge, and Trenton. The speaker will be Mrs. Jas. Patterson of New Hamburg, Ontario. She brings to her Institute work the experience of life in the city and on the farm, with an undicided affection for the latter. She knows her Institute work thoroughly and her pleasing presentation of her subjects has made her popular to a degree. Her subjects include "Gardening for Profit and Pleasure," "Poultry," "Thrift-making all thiftys Count,' "Worth-while life Purposes," "The Institutes Where Canada's Natural Resources are being Developed."

Over thirty speakers will address meetings during the summer and these include the well known writer, Mrs. Nina Moore Jamieson.

TODAY'S VERSE

AT NIGHTFALL

Each night, the white sheet folded down
Under her chin,
The pillow smoothed for her gold head,
We tuck her in.
The pink quilt spread above her feet,
Out goes the light.
With kisses three, on eyes and mouth,
We say "Good-night."
And in the dark it comforts her
To hear our voices at the stair.

Some day some one with gentle hand
Will tuck me in.
The daziest turf will softly fold
Up to my chin.
I shall not fear when quiet shades
Are near me about,
I shall not miss the light, when love
Will put it out.
And in the dusk some bird will sing
Me "Good-night" and comforting

Correct Manners

The Bride-to-be Plans Her Own Wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to have your opinion as to the proper wedding invitation in the following case:

The bride has no parents, nor has she a married sister. The wedding is being arranged and paid for by the parents of the groom. It would seem as though the invitations should be worded as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Smith invite you to the marriage of their son John to Mary Brown.

Would this be proper, or can you suggest something else in view of the circumstances mentioned above?
Reader.

First, may I say that I don't at all agree with the taste of form of the "circumstances") that this bride-to-be has agreed to? No matter under what circumstances, the bride-to-be should plan to make her own arrangements and to pay for her wedding. Or she should adopt the plans accordingly that is have the most simple of weddings, or just go to the clergyman's home to be married. She should not allow the parents to plan her wedding or to pay for it.

But if she persists in doing this poor form planning, then perhaps it would be best for you to write a note of invitation.

The form that you outline, would not do at all, under any circumstances.

Etiquette at a Dance

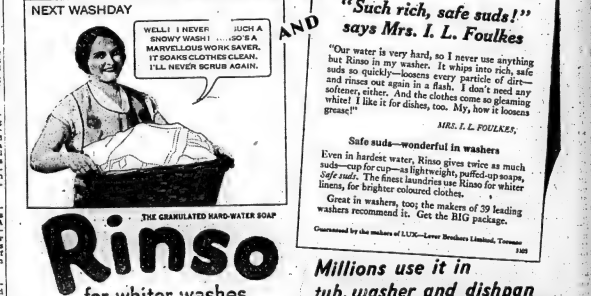
Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When a boy takes a girl to a dance and she is asked to dance by a friend, is it proper for her escort to go and seek another partner? A gentlemen that he should do so. It says that he should not do this.
D.S.

A is quite correct—there isn't any reason why the partner shouldn't have the dance with someone else. This is why a dance is given!

FASHION HINT

"How to make my old short skirts conform to the new length was a problem to me until I hit on this plan. I dropped the hems; and as the old hem had been pressed under, was darker than the rest, I redyed the entire dress, after having bleached the goods, following directions in the Diamond Dyes package.



"I used Diamond Dyes for the redyeing, of course. I have done many things with these wonderful dyes and they have saved me many dollars and have never failed to give perfect results—smooth, even colors that will not spot, streak or fade. I think my things are new when I redye or tint them after having Diamond Dyes. They do give the most gorgeous colors!"

CLEVELAND STAR HURLS NO HIT NO RUN GAME

NO HIT, NO RUN GAME PITCHED IN THE MAJORS

Wes. Ferrell, Cleveland Moundsman Was Yesterday's Hero

By Gayle Talbot, Jr.y Associated Press Sports Writer.

Possibly the Cleveland sluggers had taken to chiding members of their batting staff. Something like this:

"Yeah, if it wasn't for us, where would we be? We wouldn't be riding out in front of the American League if we had to depend on you guys to get going."

Anyway, young Wes Ferrell took it upon himself yesterday to uphold the honor and dignity of the tribe's batting corps.

Any future insinuation that the club's batting order is carrying all the load will fall pretty flat.

Wes went the limit to prove his point. He pitched the first no-hit, no-run game seen in the Major Leagues in nearly two years to lick the St. Louis Browns, 9 to 0, in the first night-bander, starting his third campaign in the big show. He allowed only six men to reach first—three on walks and three on errors by Roy Hunnefield—and not a one of them got as far as second base. He struck out eight and, incidentally, won his fourth victory of the young season.

Ferrell further repudiated the sweatmitts by driving in four runs with a homerun and double. Earl Averill also cracked one into the outer stands by help and the Browns their sixth straight reverse and send them into a tie with the Red Sox at the bottom.

The last pitcher who no-run, no-hit game was pitched by the Giants' southpaw, Jack Bentley, who victimized the Pittsburgh Pirates on May 8, 1929.

The victory kept the Indians a game and a half in front of the Washington Senators, who trounced disputed possession of second place by thumping the crippled Athletics again, 9 to 5. The new Yorkers have dropped four of their last five, with only a 14-inning tie to break the monotony. The Red Sox copped their four run lead off Lloyd Brown yesterday, but four pitchers could not hold it.

Chicago's White Sox tied their previous high mark for the year by making it two straight over Detroit, 3 to 2. They collected their five hits off Whitehill, while Thomas kept seven Tiger blows well spaced. Lucchesi Gehrig stopped the Athletics and Red Sox for the fourth straight day at Boston.

St. Louis and Chicago continued their red-hot argument over the leadership of the National League, and it still is a dead heat. Both won their eighth victory in eleven starts, the Cardinals trimming their five foes 3, and the Cubs downing Cincinnati 5 to 1. They have only two games, rain preventing play at New York and Philadelphia.

Making his second start of the year for the Cards, Jess Haines limited the Pirates to four scattered hits while his mates got to Kremer and Osborn for 12. Adams and Grantham each had a double and single.

The Cubs nicked Red Lucas for only seven hits, but bunched four of them in the fifth inning to score all their runs. Riggs Stephenson rapped a double and single.

Yesterday's Stars

(Associated Press)

Wesley Ferrell, Indians—Pitched no-hit, no-run game, struck out eight and hit homer to beat Browns 9 to 0.

Joe Judge, Senators—Made three hits in five times up in 9 to 5 victory over Yankees.

Tommy Thomas, White Sox—Shut out Detroit with seven hits to win 3 to 2.

Wally Roettger, Reds—Continued hitting streak with three hits in four times up against Cubs.

Jess Haines, Cardinals—Held Pittsburgh to four hits as Cards won 7 to 5.

Two Buddin' "Bobbies"?

—By HARDIN BURNLEY—

When Bobby Jones decided last fall to retire from golf competition so he might be enabled to establish a comfortable fortune, a great void in the world of sports was created. For the 26-year-old Jones in less than ten years had become the supreme master of the links, climaxing his career by winning the grand slam of major events—the British and also the American open and amateur championships all in one season. He defeated the world's best professionals and to follow amateur golf so popular is the interest in Bobby.

Now that Jones has retired—and he attracted paying galleries that made organized amateur golf so prosperous in recent years—that division of the game anticipates a decline in receipts. There are a dozen conspicuous and rather colorful amateurs throughout the nation who could, indeed would not have a tenth the crowd magnetism of the cue and ever-present Bobby.

Among the leading amateurs who have many admirers and who plan to compete for the American title this year is Eugene Homans, of Engle wood, N.J., who defeated Bobby Jones in the final last season and who, at 23, is facing a brilliant future. He is a Princeton graduate and son if a famous old Nassau football back. Homans' golf since child hood Homans has been advancing steadily for three years as an amateur star. The New Jersey youth, should reach the final in the next amateur, will have no Bobby Jones to hail his march to the crown. But among other promising talent, he may find another "budding Bobby" in Charles Seaver, a 19-year-old Stanford student who threatens to burn up California and other links in this season. He's of a powerful athletic build, so strong that he may soon day be known as the best golf driver in the game.

This will be a critical golfing year for the amateurs. Bobby Jones' 1931 ought to determine definitely whether Gene or Charley is likely to continue on to links greatness or be mere stars.

Kingston sure mean business as they sent their entrance fee to Newt. Thompson yesterday. So that looks like a start.

The local Seniors are waiting for the weather to warm up, so that they can get down to practise; and by the way, a few new faces will be seen in the line-up this season.

Point Anne dropped out of the Intermediate League, last night. The league knew that they were too strong with the senior players that they have and would not let them in with players like "Hoot" and "Sonny".

The new four-team Intermediate League looks to be well balanced. That is what makes the game keen competition.

Joe Shortt is getting new entries in the Ki-Y League every day. Any organized club is welcome.

The Ki-Y Baseball School opens tonight at the Y.M.C.A. at 8 p. m. All umpires and managers are welcome.

The Juniors will be out to practise on Saturday afternoon at the Fair Grounds, if the weather permits.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—Ernest Lombardi's schmoocks casts a shadow clear across the plate when the sun is behind him and that the new Brooklyn catcher is figuring on using it to baffle opposing batters this summer.

The present members of the International League, and two former members, were once in the Eastern League. Baltimore, Buffalo, Providence and Syracuse. Hartford of the Eastern was once a member, and so were Troy and Worcester, now not represented in organized baseball. Besides the eight cities that now make up the American League two cities at present in the minors, Baltimore and Milwaukee, were once members. The National League was organized in 1876; the American in 1900.

Charley Barnabe, Little Rock southpaw, was in the big leagues two and a half years and never won a game.

The runner is not out for being hit by a thrown ball unless the umpire rules he deliberately interfered with the throw to prevent a play. Runners may advance at their own risk after a fly is caught, but if they succeed, the batter is not credited with a sacrifice, but is charged with a time at bat.

John D. (Bonnetter) Reese of Youngstown, O., who has saved the careers of many ball players by his skillful massaging of aching muscles and joints, is seriously ill at his home from heart trouble. He is 75 years old.

Umpire George Moriarty of the American League doesn't think a helluva lot of the education possessed by one of the mounted Cossacks on the Chicago police force. George parked the other day in front of Hendricks, where they advertise no din with your means—he frequently stops there while in the Windy City to eat because he claims it is the only place in Chicago where he can hear himself inhale soup—to get a bite to eat before hitting the comerete skip for dear old Woodstock, Ill., his home town. When he emerged from the restaurant a mounted officer galloped up and asked George if he couldn't read, pointing to a sign on a pole nearby. "Sure, son," says George, "what does it say? Escorted Society. Parking forbidden," answered the cop. Taking a second look at it, George came back: "Aw, you're all wet, it says parking limit 25 minutes," and drove off much disgusted with the blind man the city penalized on its police force. A bystander, who overheard the conversation, took a look at the sign and remarked to his companion: "They ought to put up signs like dat for some of dese birds, why it reads; 'Speed limit 25 miles an hour,'"

The Sport Eye Column

Conducted By FAIR PLAY Bouts and Fair Criticism

To say that competition among the golfers at the Belleville Club this year is going to be of the keen variety, is putting it mildly.

Already thirty-two players in the men's section are trying for the eight places open for the Cup games.

John E. Marsh is lining up 16 of the "green hands" while Joe Legault is in charge of 16 of the "old hands." A very good idea of elimination has been arranged. Eight of Marsh's crew will play against eight of their own—The old hands will do the same. Then further elimination of four against four test, in each group.

Finally the eight who have won their spurs will be the qualified group. If you think there will not be some super efforts accomplished in the fight for one of the eight places—you are wrong again.

The boys of the Victoria Club surely should make a success of their dance by which they hope to raise funds for uniforms, etc. It is a pleasure to see the young men co-operating with their officers. This is the spirit that will make them a popular club this year.

Right now, there isn't any doubt but what their dance will be a success. They are real salesmen—as Ivy and Mike Ham. There are many tickets sold now—and will keep on disposing of them up until the 15th of May the big night.

This boost is well merited, the more help they get the better.

Harold Woodley the President of the Bay of Quinte Baseball and Softball, still believes that his loop will operate, although there has been a marked lack of interest shown by all the municipalities. Chaco who have been working for weeks.

He has declared Friday night's meeting open—and invites players managers, or any fan who is interested enough to come out and help organize. This may have an effect—anyway make it early is the motto of the president for Friday night.

Tonight at 8.00 p.m. the Ki-Y—B.A.A.A. baseball school opens at the "Y". No doubt those in charge like to see many on hand. There is no reason there should not be when the boys are serious about their games.

Joe Shortt under whose supervision the school will be held has lined up Walter Cerow, Kris. Colling, Vern Weir, Allan Meagher and Harold Woodley. I think the idea is that each will take one night to talk to all who wish to attend. Talks on rules, umpiring, coaching and playing I understand will be given. The young men and boys should find much to interest them.

The success of the venture depends on how the talent is.

The cold weather will not let me forget the hockey season. I just want to say that the hockey committee of the B.A.A.A. are going about their work quietly—and something is being accomplished.

Although you will hear wild stories, according to information at hand, "Ville" Smith and Jack Sherry two popular boys will not be lost to Belleville hockey.

Fair Play knows other interesting moves being made but is holding them at present. There will not be Junior, Intermediate and Senior as last season but efforts will be centred on two teams.

SEES UGLINESS IN U. S. BUILDINGS

English Author Sees Everywhere Barbarism in U. S.

London, April 30—Arthur Clive Heward Chesterton, author, told the Society for Preservation of Rural England upon his return from the United States that he felt as though he had "just returned from a civilized country—or barbarism, whatever you call it."

Prohibition, "ugly" buildings and Tennessee's rigorous moral code impressed him strongest on his tour, he said, adding that New York was legislating to Americans as to Foreigners.

In Regard to Prohibition, Mr. Chesterton said the law was tolerating in the U.S. with disaster. It isn't true that girls of sixteen should go to dances and drink wine alcohol.

DR BISCH'S DAILY HEALTH HINT

The fear of "psittacosis" or parrot disease is probably over, which is as it should be. The disease was in any case and we must not become panicky about its possibilities.

There are more than 700 species of trees growing in North America above the Rio Grande river.

RUTH HOPES TO PLAY SUNDAY

Bambino is Anxious to get Back in the Yank Line-up

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 30—(Associated Press)—Always the optimist Babe Ruth is quite sure he will be back in uniform and taking his usual out at the ball by next Sunday. Those who say the final word about is his doctor and Artie McGovern, who trains the Babe, are not so sure about it yet but it doesn't seem likely that they can keep him idle much longer.

"I ought to be back there Sunday." Babe said yesterday as he impatiently nursed the left thigh which was injured in a collision with Charley Berry, Boston Red Sox catcher, last week. "I can stand on one leg and hit 'em" he added.

"It's been coming along fine in the last 48 hours. If it keeps on improving the doc says he'll probably let me go out to the stadium Sunday."

McGovern added that except for the injury Ruth is in fine condition and that the enforced rest may do him good.

"He's been going pretty steady for a long time now Winter and summer," Artie explained. "The main thing right now is rest."

"The injury is what they call a blood bruise. Probably a hundred small blood vessels in there burst when the Babe and Berry collided. It will gradually clear up and the Babe ought to be as good as ever."

AUTO RUNS 59 MILES ON GALLON OF GAS

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce motor fuel consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of cars in use have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and more power. The Whirlwind Mfg. Co., Dept. 420-S, Marion G. Milwaukee, Wisc. for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. They also need men everywhere to make up to $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write them at once for free sample and big money making offer.Adv.

Forty Tramp Ships To Carry Grain

OTTAWA, Ont., April 30.—(By the Canadian Press)— Increase from 10 to 25 per cent in the proportion of foreign grain that may be mixed by French millers with domestic grain is welcome news to Canadian holders of wheat.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of Trade and Commerce, expresses the view the change will mean a large increase in exports of Canadian wheat to France. Coming after the announcement of a fleet of tramp vessels, a record number, had been chartered to sail out of Montreal for various parts of the world next month, with wheat, the action called news was most encouraging.

"HALF SHOT AT SUNRISE" AT BELLE

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, Radio Pictures' featured comedians, have gained such a hold on the public during the last year that the studio is now being stormed by interviewers wanting to know, how, why, when and where.

It is useless to ask them the reasons for their success.

"Are we successful?" they inquire. "Gee! Tell us about it!"

It remained for Paul Sloane, who directed them in two of their greatest successes, "The Cuckoos" and "Half Shot at Sunrise" to tell "whether comedians are born funny, or just intelligent enough to make people laugh." The latter production, an all-talking wartime comedy dealing with a couple of AWOL soldiers, opens tomorrow at the Belle Theatre.

The songs, five rollicking ones, were written by Harry Tierney, with lyrics by Anne Caldwell. The settings are the most elaborate ever seen in a production of this type, including an entire Parisian square and gigantic vistas of No-Man's Land.

Dance numbers, offering sensational precision routines, are by the Tiller Sunshine Girls, brought from London for the picture, Dorothy Lee plays opposite Wheeler, while Lenl Stengel and Woolsey comprise a new and laughable screen couple. Romantic interest is furnished by Hugh Trevor and Roberta Robinson. Paul Sloane who made "Hook, Line and Sinker," directed.

INTERMEDIATE MOGULS FORMS 4 TEAM GROUP

A. G. MEAGHER HEADS TRENT BASEBALL LOOP

Canada Cement And Ciacos Forced to Withdraw

Last evening at the Y.M.C.A., the Trent Valley League was formed and officers elected. There were six teams represented at the meeting but only four will face the barrier when the league opens in June. Mr. R. A. Elliott was in the chair. He spoke to the meeting as to the advisability of getting organized as soon as possible. The delegates then voiced their opinions as to the class of ball that is expected. It was decided to enter the Intermediate series in class "B." Point Anne at once said that they could not enter a team without using class "A" players and that they would have to withdraw.

The meeting would not stand for such players as "Hoot" Gibson as it was felt Point Anne would be too strong for the rest of the league.

With Point Anne definitely out, Cobourg threw a scare into the meeting when they withdrew due to conditions at the plant. This left Belleville Victorias, Deloro, Picton, and Bullpitch ready to start the season. After they had signified their intentions of going ahead, little time was lost. The officers elected were: President, A. G. Meagher; Secretary, G. Delaney, both of Belleville and executive of two members from each club. With a few changes they accepted the Central League constitution, adding that no player who had played senior or intermediate "A" in Belleville or Point Anne last year could play in this league. After deciding to meet on May 6th,the the purpose of drawing up a schedule, the meeting broke up each representative feeling that a good night's work had been accomplished.

THE EASIEST WAY

Jean was tired of city summers. She longed for the peace and quiet of long week-ends in a country home. By answering several advertisements over Long Distance she secured the very place, where a sweet-voiced woman assured her she'd "make it just like home." That call brought Jean a great deal of happiness.

The Eskimo word "igiu" is not a synonym for snowhouse, as is commonly thought, but means any house or shelter from the weather. .

How It Happened

On the Sport Trail

In such dire emergencies as those that engulfed the Yankees in Washington on Sunday a manager should always repeat the old tale, all tattered and torn from continued usage, of Billy Murray and the Friday relief pitcher who took a full wind-up with a man on second base. The man on second, of course, strolled down to third at his ease.

On being reprimanded for taking a wind-up at such a time, the relief pitcher said he didn't know there was a man on second.

"What! Didn't anybody tell you?" roared Murray, and then turning to the other players, he said bitterly, "Listen, when there's a man on second hereafter, I want you to tell this bird. Let there be no secrets in this club."

There shouldn't be any secrets on the Yankee club either. If Gehrig knocks a home run, it's a shame to keep the news from Lyn Lary or any other member of the troupe. To take care of such events in the future, it is suggested that when Gehrig circles the Yankee runners on base and the batter hits a home run, the baserunners should be notified of the feat by

(a) The dropping of three smoke bombs from an airplane.

(b) A brass band playing "Show Me the Way to Go Home."

(c) Armed guards squeezing along the base lines to prevent any runner from reaching the dugout except by way of the home plate.

As the 24th of May falls on Sunday, the opening game of the Central Ontario League will be played on Monday, the 25th. The Peterboro outfit will play Wall, Gerow's bunch in Belleville that day, with Trenton seeing Hall.

While those at Saturday's meeting in Belleville decided to look with disfavor on any attempt of Oshawa to enter in the future, yet the Motor City might be permitted to join within the next week, although the schedule would have to be revised.

It's too bad to see a Central Ontario League with Oshawa out of it, but the fault lies entirely with that town, as they kept refusing to commit themselves all along in the hope that they might get something better. They may now find themselves out in the cold, with no baseball at all this summer, except exhibition games.

—Peterboro Examiner.

A recent deal of interest to the horsemen was the sale of the 4-year old mare, Marlin Gratzan, by Richard Gowan to Wm. McStevens. This mare made her appearance for the first time on the local Driving Park on Dominion Fair, 1930, and came inside the money. Her sire is Gratzan, owned by Dr. Benson, Napanee, and her dam, Sonny Wood Dance. She was raised by Mr. Cowan.

Dr. Herrington is driving her for Mr. McStevens and she will be seen in action on tracks of the district this year. The sale price was $400.

Mr. Cowan has a younger horse which he is now training.

—Picton Gazette.

Marse Joe McCarthy stands in or near the third-base coaching box and keeps waving the runners onward when the Yankees are taking their turn at bat. It may be that Marse Joe is running them a bit too hard. They aren't used to it. The old Yankee style of attack was to hit three-bagger and then anchor on that bag until the next fellow doubled or hit a home run.

But Marse Joe is impatient. He wants the boys to advance on infield outs and score on short singles. He wants them to steal bases and go for that extra base on a hit. The boys have been obeying Marse McCarthy's high-speed orders and it seems that they have run themselves into the ground. Babe Ruth collapsed after a collision. Dusty Cooke and Myril Hoag, who cover too much territory in the field, made bad landings and crashed. Red Ruffing had to be pressed into service as an emergency outfielder. At this rate the Yanks won't last through July. Manager McCarthy should go a little easier with them. Taking things a bit slower, they will last longer. The way Marse Joe stands at third base and waves runners onward, a spectator might think he was still giving the clear-track sign to Hazen Cuyler. But not every Yankee player is a Hazen realize that by this time.

INTERNATIONAL TEAMS POUND THE BALL HARD

(Undated International By the Associated Press)

With all the International League Clubs pounding the ball at a great rate, the once that are getting through pitching to hold their opponents more or less in check are the ones that are forging to the top of the standing while Reading and Jersey City, whose hurlers have not been able to last, have been dropping back rapidly.

Reading's Keystones, in last place after ten defeats in eleven games, would have a good ball club if only their moundsmen could keep their other teams from hitting and scoring so often. The Keys have failed to make ten or more a game only three times and have averaged slightly under eleven blows to the contest. Yet their pennant win, losing games in which they have made 17 and 18 hits. Yesterday Reading nicked Frank Shaw for five runs on eleven hits only to drop an 11-5 decision to Toronto as the Leafs collected 15 hits off George Bell and Glenn Leibhardt.

The Jersey, with a little less hitting and a little more hurling than the Keys have won five games each lost eight, holding seventh place today.

Jersey City hit about its average ten blows against Griffin of Montreal, but Jimmy Deshong and Walter Brown could not stop the Royals, who came through after a bad start to a triumph.

Buffalo climbed into sixth place by defeating the Buffalo Bisons 8 to 2 with a late rally. The Bears had to use three hurlers to check their rivals who climbed to a tie in the eighth inning, but Hazenbeck and Myles Thomas came through with a pair of timely blows to drive in three runs in the same inning.

With Beryl Richmond and Herman Bell doing the mound work for the two teams, Baltimore remained in a tie for last by taking a ten inning decision from Rochester 4 to 3. The Orioles won after Jim Stroner's ninth inning homer had tied the score.

On Verge of Battle With Rebel Troops

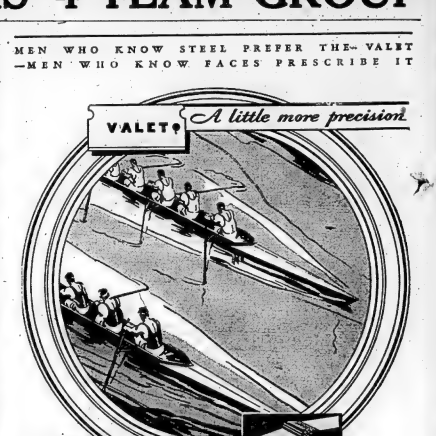
Military Operations Succeed Temporary Truce

LISBON, Portugal, April 30.—AP.—A Government note issued at 4 a.m. today said that military forces besieging Punchal, island capital of Madeira, were on the verge of a decisive victory over the rebel troops holding the capital.

"Military Operations," their character undefined in the note, were said to be progressing after a temporary truce during which a second effort of the Bishop of Funchal to negotiate an Armistice was being considered.

There was no confirmation of reports current here which, created a sensation among the populace, to the effect that the gunboats ringing Punchal harbor had landed troops on the mountainous island of the group, and had bombarded the city.

Young Churchill Is Rebuked By Trustee



Delivered Political Addresses in School of Toronto

TORONTO, April 30—(By the Canadian Press)—Objects have been taken by the Management Committee of the Toronto Board of Education of addresses given by Randolph Churchill in two local high schools recently. It was pointed out that a regulation of the Board prohibited addresses of a political nature in the schools.

"A man who says the sermon of the Mount is out of date and sneers at the aims and objects of the League of Nations is a young fellow we do not want in our schools," said Trustee J. E. Corcoran, commenting on the speeches of Churchill.

TREND LOOKS UPWARD SAYS CHAMBER HEAD

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., April 29 —The trend of business at present is definitely upward, William Butterworth, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said today.

In an address opening the annual meeting for the organization he said that the number of industries that can look forward confidently is growing, many of them being industries which reflect into the condition of other industries and other fields of business, and "inaperennials are appearing in the news of the hour."

"The inherent strength of our economic position has been proved," he asserted, "industries which were depressed have shown a record of problems resolutely faced, so that history of them it was a period in which difficulties of many sorts were liquidated, thus leaving those industries in position to face their future with a boldness a malfuturesness which, but for this time of liquidation, might have proved continuing handicaps."

"The activities of the National Chamber and its constituent members reveal that organized business is going forward, that the idle living business men in mutual efforts have been strongly welded that recent conditions have served to strengthen their collective leadership," he said. "It is the sort of intelligent and unremitting effort that confirms the faith of all those who believe in orderly economic advance is the strength and wisdom of our present economic and social policy."

He said the subject of the convention was business leadership and the "public" and that important problems of foreign trade, Public finance, credit, trust laws and factors of stability would be considered.

POINTING BLACK PICTURE USELESS

OTTAWA Ont, April 29.—(By the Canadian Press)—Painting a black picture of the condition of Agriculture in Western Canada was no service to the country or to the farmers, Premier B. Bennett declared in the House of Commons last night, when he was met with a front attack from Western Liberals who precipitated a debate on western conditions.

CAR BACKED UPON PROSTRATE MAN

Driver is Doubtless Ignorant That He Caused Accident

CORNWALL, Ont., April 30.—CP —Garnet Merpaw, is in the hospital here with little chance of recovery as the result of an accident, of which the person responsible is probably unaware. Merpaw is suffering from injuries to his spine, internal complications and pneumonia.

According to the police, Merpaw had been fishing in a creek about 10 miles northeast of Cornwall with four companions. When the men were about to leave for home, they noticed an automobile parked at the roadside and decided to investigate.

Merpaw and several others crept up on the car from the rear and were but a few feet from it when the motorist starting his engine and putting his car in reverse, backed up at high speed toward the approaching men. Merpaw happened to be lying in the path of the car, which passed over his body twice, leaving him unconscious. Provincial police have so far been unsuccessful in locating the driver of the car.

FRANK MONTANA FOUND GUILTY

Frank Montana was found guilty in police court yesterday before Magistrate Mikel of "failure to give his name and address when asked, he being a party to an accident". The man was fined $25.00 and $13.50 costs and to make restitution to Donald Peck a sum of $32.00 for damages received in his bicycle. The accident in connection with the charge, took place at the corner of James st. and Bridge street west on April 20th Donald Peck riding a bicycle down Murney Hill sighting the car driven by Montana, as it was turning off West Bridge street into James street travelling west.

The bicycle was badly damaged but the rider, Peck, was not hurt although he was thrown a considerable distance. Young Peck appeared along with Gordon Carr, John Keech and Elmer Matthews positively swore that Peck enquired off Montana his name and address but that it was not given, the driver of the car getting in and leaving the scene as soon as he ascertained that the rider was not hurt, Montana in his own defense, stated that he was not asked for his name and address at any time but Magistrate Mikel ruled in favor of the evidence for the prosecution.

Montana admitted that he was convicted some years ago for the same offence. The accused was defended by Charles A. Payne K.C., while S. C. Donnan conducted the prosecution.

"Clergyman" is Unmasked By Authorities; Was Convict

Claims He is Suffering From Rare Oriental Disease

CLEVELAND, O., April 30.—The "Reverend" Ralph H. Thurber, who sent medical authorities of the country looking up his case when he claimed he expected to die from a malignant Oriental disease, yesterday stood revealed by police as an ex-convict with a long police record.

Thurber who died in bed recently returned from 10 years' missionary work in the Straits Settlements and Korea, but police said during part of that time he was serving sentences on bad check charges in Ohio and California penitentiaries.

Officials at Lockport, N.Y., said Mrs Suban Thurber had a son, Ralph who was shot shortly while with the Canadian forces overseas during the Great War and since then had been subject to hallucinations. Mrs. Thurber was believed on her way here.

Physicians at the city hospital, however, said Thurber may be ill from Distomiasis, a disease common in the Far East but rare in this country, as he claims. The disease usually is contracted from eating raw crooked fish and parasites attack the body.

Admitted Convict

Thurber admitted, Detective David Cowles said, that under the name Louis A. Negelin he was in the Ohio Penitentiary from August 10, 1920 to March 18 1930 on a charge of issuing a check to defraud a Cleveland Hotel. Detective Cowles also showed a Ralph H. Thurber served time in the San Quentin, Calif., prison from June 19, 1920, to September 3, 1920 on a similar charge.

A man by the same name also was acquitted on a robbery charge in San Francisco in Feb. 1920 and in 1927 was charged with grand larceny by Buffalo police. He was said to have deserted from Camp Pahlan, Texas, a number of years ago.

Thurber attracted the interest of several national authorities on tropical diseases when he told health authorities he was suffering from dis tomiasis and said he was stricken to death within a month. The rareness of the disease in this country and the consequent lack of familiarity with it puzzled physicians. He told many stories of experiences in the Orient, but an investigation was started when his widow could not be located at the Philadelphia address he gave and the church he claimed to be affiliated with, found no record of him.

CLAIMS PIKE ONE MAN INCORPORATED

TORONTO, Ont., April 29.—(By the Canadian Press).— "He drew $40,000 a year on an investment of one dollar" declared W. J. A. Fair, to the Attorney Generals Department, arguing before Judge Coatsworth today for committal for trial on fifteen charges, accused of the theft of $79,000, $4,200 and $3,327 from Keystone Securities Corporation by obtaining $8,450 by false pretences and issuing a false circular in connection with Abba Mines Ltd.

"Pike was one man incorporated," argues Mr. Fair, "in fact all liabilities he had an investment of one dollar, the public had nothing, but the five voting shares were in the hands of Pike and his relatives."

DEAD DRIVER IS HELD TO BLAME

Three Others Lost Lives Near Chatham in Crash

CHATHAM, April 30.—CP—A verdict placing the blame for the motor accident at Cedar Springs last Tuesday, which claimed four lives, on reckless and careless driving on the part of Isaac Jefferson, the dead driver of the car, was returned by a coroners' jury at Blenheim.

The verdict also said that a telephone pole into which the car crashed was partly responsible and recommended that it be moved somewhere be removed from the highways.

Evidence of high speed and drinking and an intimation that the driver of the car, Isaac Jefferson, was "fooling", was introduced at the inquest. Mrs. Margaret Fowler, who was the occupant of the car and whose husband was killed in the crash stated, that Jefferson, just before the crash, said to his wife, as the car zig-zagged across the road "where do you want to be buried—in the Maple Leaf or in Detroit?" (The Chatham Cemetery is known as the Maple Leaf Cemetery.) Mrs. Fowler admitted having had a drink of beer.

Toronto, April 29 (CP)—M. E. Nichols, vice-president and managing director of the Winnipeg, Man., Tribune, was today elected president of the Canadian Press, succeeding John Scott, managing director of the Toronto Mail and Empire, who for personal reasons, declined a third term. Henri Gagnon, managing director of Le Soleil, Quebec, was elected first vice-president, and W. R. Preston, publisher of the Grand' d Expulsion second vice-president. E. Norman Smith, vice-president of the Ottawa Journal, was re-elected honorary president. J. F. B. Livesay is general manager and secretary.

BROKE PAROLE AGAIN IN TOILS

After the arrest of Michael Dolan early Monday morning on a charge of vagrancy, the police took fingerprints of the man after he had admitted that he had been an inmate of Burwash. The fingerprints were sent to Ottawa and today Chief Kidd received a letter from the Mounted Police stating that Dolan is wanted at Burwash, having broken his parole given by the board. Dolan will be held until officers arrive from Burwash to take him back. He was sentenced on July 29th, 1926, from three to twenty-four months for breaking and entering and theft at Kirkland Lake and on April 18th, 1929, was paroled and shortly after broke that parole. On May 6th of the same year he was apprehended and taken back to Burwash only to be paroled again on November 6th, 1929. The man has not been heard of since due to the good work of the Belleville police, he is again in custody.

They Have Truly Been A Real Friend To Me

Ontario Lady Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mrs. Edward Wardrop Has Used Dodd's Kidney Pills for Many Years.

Dyer's Bay, Ont., April 29th.—(Special)—"They are a real friend to me," writes Mrs. Edward Wardrop, a well known resident of this district. "I have taken many boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and my Rheumatism and they do help me so much. I would not be without them."

"The natural way to treat Rheumatism and Lumbago is to treat the Kidneys and the natural way to treat the Kidneys is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Rheumatism is caused by the presence of uric acid in the blood. If the kidneys are dysfunctioning properly they will retain the uric acid out of the blood and there can be no more Rheumatism.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have been in use in Canada for nearly half a century. They demonstrate their worth in the most serious forms of kidney disease, such as rheumatism, backache, lumbago and urinary troubles.

BUILD YOURSELF A LIBRARY

In suggesting that everybody should build himself a library I am not implying a room-full of books nor even as many as a hundred. A five-foot shelf may be enough space to hold them all perhaps only a round dozen. volumes will fill the needs.

For the point is not the number of books but the kind. A lot of books which are unread and simply look impoling is not what I mean.

What you should have, however, is just the books you actually love and then you should have for your very own.

Many persons do not realize the joy of actually owning a book. To buy it yourself, to mark it with notes if you want to, to read it when you feel like it without thought that it must be returned on a certain date, is an approach to books not generally appreciated.

Because, in the last analysis, book reading is not bitherto as some seem to believe. Nor is it a serious or arduous task.

We must not think of books, for instance, as we did when we were children at school. Often we were there through the fault of our teachers—our books became regular nightmares, things to torment and torture us.

To be sure, we had to learn things then. Many subjects were distasteful to us—or rather, they were not made attractive enough. We had to cram, pass examinations, crowd the memory, and often we benumbed our imaginations in the process and lost the real joy of reading.

Now, when grown up, we should think of books in an entirely different way. No longer should they be a tool we use to study. Always the read ing of a book should be sheer pleasure and nothing else. To read with pleasure does not mean, of course, that our books necessarily need be of the light fiction variety. If we like detective and mystery yarns, well and good. We will find, however, if we vary our reading fare with a work on biography or a good novel or play, or even with a scientific treatise or poetry, that we will exercise our minds and emotions all the more and derive from our reading even more lasting and satisfying joy.

But select what you like or think you will like. If the first few chapters bore you, don't bother to finish the book. Better get another that will hold your interest and fire your imagination than plod through a work that tends to give you a bad taste for other books and further reading.

And then, when you have found a cherish book that you really like, buy it and place it on your library shelf. You will want to read it again, I know. You will surely want to re-read certain passages which you have marked. You will want to see the back of that book and its title great you, every time you look at it.

For books are, indeed, friends—the most dependable friends in the world. Therefore get a congenial collection of them for yourself alone.

Don't depend upon your friends for a library valuable though such aids may be. Buy your books—only books of the very best. Add gradually and wisely to your collection.

When you come to think of it, books are not luxuries after all. A few cents are enough for a classic. Paper editions of the best are available if you cannot afford linen or leather bindings.

But buy a few selected titles anyway, and start that library for it is a thing you will always treasure and

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE IS CONTEMPLATED

Ontario Ready to Sit in on Conference to That End

BENNETT'S PLAN

Leader of Opposition Expresses His Opinion

Toronto, April 30 (CP).—Premier George S. Henry of Ontario, has given his endorsement to proposals outlined by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, for unemployment insurance. Ontario would do its share in endeavoring to better conditions for the working people, he said, when informed that the Prime Minister had announced a scheme to which workers, employers, the Dominion and the Provinces would contribute.

"As to the question of the proportion of cost, Ontario is ready to sit in at a conference to discuss the whole plan," he said.

Labor leaders here indicated that the announcement was "extremely satisfactory". James Wait, President of the Toronto District Labor Council, observed that the plan was along the lines previously suggested by Labor.

Ottawa, April 30.—At the earliest possible moment after the June census is completed and federal actuaries have analyzed the information so obtained, the Bennett Government will introduce an unemployment insurance scheme to which workers, employers, provinces and Dominion all will contribute.

The declaration bringing into immediate view an economic palliative long demanded by Canadian labor, was made yesterday in the House of Commons by Premier Bennett.

After the census taken here accorded full data on unemployment, after the actuaries have condensed such figures into an approximation of the annual cost of a contributory plan, it will be necessary, Premier Bennett indicated, to hold a Dominion-provincial conference at which the extent of the state contribution and the manner of dividing it between the federal and provincial authorities may be decided.

The Prime Minister again made his intentions clear in the closing words of his 30-minute speech. "At the earliest possible moment," he stated "consistent with obtaining all the information we believe essential to make any measure worth while, we will use that information for the purpose of preparing and submitting to the House a measure embodying the views I have expressed."

Rt. Hon. Maurice Hing, Liberal leader, subsequently spoke in the debate which was precipitated by a motion of A. A. Heaps (Ind. Labor, Winnipeg North). Mr. Hing declared himself in entire agreement with the proposal of an unemployment insurance scheme. However, he said if the Government were going to assume the entire burden of old age pensions, why should it not also take on the whole state contribution to unemployment insurance without any demand of the provinces. He suggested the expansion of the present federal annuities scheme to take care of the insurance. He further urged that parliament concern itself with putting industry in all the provinces on the same high standard. There were discrepancies between the various provincial standards of industry, he said.

Palliative, Not Cure

Ottawa, April 30.—A. A. Heaps, Labor member for Winnipeg North sponsor of the resolution, admitted that state insurance was no cure for unemployment, it was merely a palliative. The increased use of machinery and the speeding up of industry had tended to diminish the labor factor. This had developed into a "one-sided economic system" with the concentration of wealth in the hands of a few men.

TWO FLIERS DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Brandon, Man., April 30 (CP). — The first major plane crash in the history of Brandon brought death to two young airmen when their machine crashed from a height of one thousand feet and burst into flames near the local airport last evening. The victims were, William Clark, 21, owner of the plane, and son of Col. and Mrs. P. J. Clark, Brandon; and William Britten, 27, pilot, of Wawanesa, Man.

Corporations Tax Change Criticized

"Indirectly Limited Knowledge" Says Manufacturer

Peterborough, Ont., April 30 (By The Canadian Press)—The action of the Ontario Government in amending the Corporations tax act so as to impose a tax of one-tenth of one per cent on the capital of all incorporated companies carrying on business in Ontario was last night declared to indicate "a limited knowledge of the problems of management." The criticism was made in the address of George Kerr President of the Ontario Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at its annual session.

NEWLYWEDS ARE RECIPIENTS OF TRAY OF SILVER

Foxboro, Apr. 30.—(Many friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith for a surprise in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Murray (nee Miss Marguerite Smith). Rev. Mr. Snell gave a short speech calling on Miss Helen Davis whose address read as follows:

To Mr. and Mrs. Murray—

We are gathered tonight to express our congratulations to you on your recent marriage and to wish you every joy and happiness in your wedded life.

We are glad, Marguerite, that we are not to lose you from our church and community life. We can ill afford to lose even one from our midst and it is a real joy for us to know that we are to have one added to our numbers rather than taken away.

We hope, Mr. Murray, that you will feel that you have come among friends and that, you will soon take your place in our different activities.

Will you accept this gift and as you may find it useful, we ask you to remember that many warm friends are glad to have an opportunity to thus express their love and esteem for you.

Signed on behalf of your Foxboro friends and neighbors, Foxboro, April 29, 1931, Fay Bamber, Helen Davis, Mrs. G. Priest, Mrs. R. Spencer, Erwin Wickett, Mrs. C. Wilson, Mrs. E. Gills.

Miss Fay Bamber, then presented Mr. and Mrs. Murray with a tray of silver. Mrs. Murray then expressed her thanks. Then several were called upon for minute speeches. Games were enjoyed until about 1 o'clock, lunch the gathering broke up midst many congratulations to the happy bride and groom.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Wootton spent the 1st hour of Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Gough spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. B. Reid of Sillsing.

Much sympathy is extended to Miss M. Frederick and Mrs. George Smith in the loss of their brother, Mr. C. Frederick of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson of West Huntingdon and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Simmons of Carmel spent Sunday recently with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Simmons.

We are glad to see Mrs. Roy Wilson up around after her long illness. Mr. John Eggleton is also on the sick list.

Run-Down, Weak Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just give TANLAC the chance to do for you what it has done for millions.

Mrs. Arthur Caloustte, 3307 Chamberland St., Montreal, writes: "Stomach trouble made me so weak and miserable that life was almost unbearable. TANLAC has not only relieved indigestion, weakness, nervousness — it has increased my weight twelve pounds and given me the best of health. I cannot praise TANLAC enough."

Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas, pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no habit-forming drugs; it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. Your money back if it doesn't help.

TRADER HORN

Grown old and tired of adventuring, Alfred Aloysius Horn, who had traded on the rivers of Africa before Livingstone and Stanley, finds solace in the Tap Room at Johannesburg in the Transvaal and earns his living by telling and peddling wire kitchen utensils. One day he asked the young author of Rhodesia's most famous South African novelist, and she induced him to write the story of his early life. The famous book, "Trader Horn," a best-seller all over the world, was the result of his writing and her editing. In this story, which is appearing serially in this paper, Trader Horn tells of adventures with savage beasts and wild cannibal tribes.

The quaint spelling of Trader Horn and his habit of rambling range from his style to that of the spelling details of his former life add to the charm of the narrative.

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Trader Horn," filmed in Africa, is based on the story of his adventures with Nina Aldrich, White Goddess of the Ikorga.

"When I say I was born in Scotland, Mackay, I am not a full Scotchman myself. They're a poor lot, taken all in all. Grandmother she was been good enough for me on the old Flat-and-Spear. My name's Horn, Aloysius Horn at my full Christian name.

Educated at St. Edward's College, Liverpool, where I met a Pop Young pastions Julian Venezuela of Venezuela, South America, later Peru, son of the Peruvian President. Etienne Vangnole of Jacmel, Haiti, nabobs from the cream of the Negro Republic Haiti to the West Indies, other sons of the most prominent people in Brazil, like them the Counts of Zeres in Spain where the most of our best sherry wine comes from), the most cosmopolitan group of youngsters ever gathered together for commercial education. I was only eleven years of age when I entered the College, and of all my schoolmates of the same age, but I believe the old habit of mixing the young Britisher with his brothers of every clime to make him more cosmopolitan and naturally we soon learned each other's language.

I was not long in the cottage when I could speak English, Portuguese and French and I also got some of the characteristics which are diametrically opposite to those of my own young Anglo-Saxon. We were taught French, Latin, Greek, of course, but a regular Oxford tuition by first class professors.

His Chosen Field

However, nothing my parents could say could make me study for law or medicine. I had read of as the hinterland was practically unknown. My ambition was rife as well as piracy, the animals, exotic as elephants was greater than stronger, till I had lost all signs of the rosy complexion I had left England with.

After rounding Cape Horn into the Pacific I was transferred to the Gold Coast behind us we steamed to Bonny on the river of that name, one of the many mouths of the famous Niger River. Here we anchored and immediately began to discharge cargo for the company's agent, Mr. Knight.

The most powerful chief in that part of the country, Ogowe Bonney, now came to pay us a visit, accompanied by a large retinue consisting of warriors and other chiefs and old king. They were well dressed in European clothes and the interpreter spoke good English, having been taught by several roving sailors. They were more than friendly with me, as I had the gumption to speak what few seen. Ogbo Jumbo wanted me to stay in his family circle, offering me all kinds of inducements, even Grecian Nobles drank champagne copiously.

White Man's Grave

H.M.S. Dromedary now put in an appearance and several topics were discussed, such as the war between Ogbo Jumbo and the river chiefs, who were interfering with the free exit of palm produce, and the White Man's Grave. It was not by any means an uncommon occurrence for ships to return from up-river with all white hands down with fever. Genuine Blackwater. Here is the home of a native secret society called Ekpe, and woe betide anyone who offends an Ekpo man. I will describe to you later some of the horrible rites of these societies which are truly terrifying.

I was not sorry when we steamed away from Bonny River, a pestilential which we had taken on board added to the discomfort produced by the heat and vapors were always thicker before sunset, whilst midges, mosquitoes and various winged insects accounted one continual annoyance. Flocks of gray parrots in few over us, noted for their roosting places keeping up a continuous screeching. Once only saw we had a view of the Old Calabar Coast and soon lost behind us our winged tormentors.

We reached the main depot of our firm at Elobey, four or five miles north of the equator. Here we took on a large consignment of ivory, but rubber, as well as flake, some palm oil, also ebony, gaboily wood, etc. Our agent's name was Mr. Carlisle, a good-hearted fellow with the traces of a first water. He held away from fatal ravages on the Cameroons coast, as far as Fernandez Vaz. He soon told me that, as I was the youngest trader on the coast, he would take special care of me, and that my chances of success in life were far better than I had imagined and he would give me every opportunity to show my worth.

Rubber and Ivory

The Angola left after two-days' stay with a very large valuable cargo. One of the company's steamers, the S.S. Batenga arrived as the S.S. Angola left, just in time to transfer to the latter the special cargo of gunpowder, guns in cases, Manchester goods, with the usual slop, hardware, boots, clothing and salt. The latter was packed and stored in three hearty chiefs had been given by the crew left Elobey and were on soon anchored off the beach of one of the chief centres of the West Coast trade.

The post was in charge of Mr. Jeans, a trader in the employ of the company, who had been stationed there for many years. The stores and buildings were built on the summit of a hill, and were beautifully situated and only two hundred yards from the sandy beach. The place was fronted by a native village, principally of grass huts and plains and cocoanut trees. As soon as sent to Gabon to make special study of the ivory and rubber trade, I was put in charge of the ivory and India rubber and I had had for my assistant Ritiga, Chief of that portion of Gaboon city. Many of the natives who came in to sell ivory were half-caste Krumboys all, and traveled long distances.

Scars and Daggers

Most of them were tall, muscular fellows used to hardship and danger. All had filed sharpened teeth, were marked on their faces or necks with scars of tribal significance. They were all well armed with guns, spears and large native-made daggers. Many of them wore scars on their bodies of battles which were lost centers of skins and were as wild and picturesque a lot of savages you could possibly find anywhere.

A chief usually arrived filled with all kinds of smoked meat, including dried smoked rats, which they were very fond of eating. I was curious to know what they carried for food, and they were not choicy, everything they said was beetle, their main food, monkeys of various kinds were delicacies.

They also carried a kind of bean which they chewed in the same manner as a native does tobacco. I tried some of it and found it to be first class. It reddened the lips and mouth and they claim that a few of these beans are sufficient to stave off hunger for several days. Each has as they came in took up separate camping ground, all old fiends had bad feelings were put on one side whilst selling took place.

The Art of Trading

Each trade was measured by the large ones running sixty to seventy pounds, were the most difficult to buy. Each tusk represented so many flintlocked guns and so much gunpowder and so many bags of salt. After the quantity of these had been agreed upon, guns in number (a rounded native term) or exchanged for prints and calicoes and again a bag of salt, would be exchanged for brass and copper rods, leaf bars, spiral wire plates, brass neptunes, trade bukes, knives, razors, files, various kinds of bevy and other articles always kept in stock.

The chief trader had to get the natives to exchange cheap articles for dear ones so that it kept one busy talking and bartering, sometimes for an hour or more before the prices of the largest ivories were settled on. The lesser ones were easily disposed of. The large chiefs and dia- rubber changed hands very quietly. Native-made daggers, spears, a large variety of leopard and monkey skins were a part of their trading stock.

Gorilla-Food

These hunters often brought in live animals, monkeys, chimpanzees and once in a while a young gorilla, likewise baby elephants. These African monsters are more trouble than they are worth, as it is impossible to tame them, whilst the young gorilla dies of stomach troubles. They are reared by natives on cocoanut milk and pieces of wild shallote or onion they are very fond of, without, as the story said.

The fact whilst hunting I found that where you find gorilla colonies you will always find myondo petches. These myondo petches are the native ways like to live in valleys, making their homes where you find the mammoth water vines. These vines are full of delicious cool water and it is really the greatest boon to travelers whilst hunting through the forests. I have often seen them over twelve inches thick and full of water, always cool.

The Oedika and many kinds of fibre Gaboon are found in plenty. You will never be troubled by dysentery whilst using the water found in these vines and the gorilla, because subject to it, which I have taught by nature to use if. The chimpanzee is also found in these glades and is said to breed with the gorilla producing a monkey called a Colocambe. In all my travels I never saw a Colocambe, although I offered a good reward for a live or dead one. So I put this down to the imagination of some superb hunter.

Native Doctors

One of the most interesting natives of the Gaboon was Old Man Pipi, brother of Chief Rilligu. He was a great hunter and also Chief Medicine Man, and had some of the most wonderful cures. There were many diseases that the natives were subject to. One was a species of heart disease and Pipi had a sure cure for it. If not attended to in a reasonable time it was fatal. A pain through the body in the region of the heart was a sure indication of this terrible malady.

Pipi would press the painful spot with his finger and watch closely after the finger was removed. If he felt sure of the location he drew from a small scabbard made of skin an instrument like a flat bamboo needle; this he inserted two or three inches deep between the rib he had selected, always judging from check or right or left as the case might be. The operation was as quick as I conducted that the patient showed little or no signs of pain, was cured immediately to rise and go.

The Old Man also told me of the wonderful medicine men. I should meet later on when I went trading on the Ogowe River. This village he said were wonderful doctors; this I found to be true. Natives who had leprosy went there to be cured. I knew one Gaboon chief who had this fiicted with the disease. I met him two or three years later in the Inlli which is situated on the upper reaches of the Ogowe about eighty miles up, and he said to be a famous place for the cure of leprosy. He looked all right to me and a complimentary letter on his good luck in going there.

While there I found out more about, let to learn about these diseases, and it has often occurred to me that in some efficient man would confer a great benefit on humanity if he would only risk a little time in research on the Wild River Ogowe. I was cured of bad gunshot wounds by these natives, no white medical man being available at the time. I can show you my first wound on the left hand. As I had sold a large lot of the native's gun at the time and it went off. I received a wound which pretty nearly tore off the thumb. This was cured by hot bark emulsions, and the wound was filled with the white of a cricket. Like a cockroach trod underfoot, the white of the stomach comes out on pressure.

INITIATED INTO THE NATIVE RITES

Having given you a slight idea of the character of native who inhabited the Gaboon I will describe to you how I was initiated into the native rites as well as the natives were initiated into the Ekpo Government.

It must be remembered that at the time of my first few years on the Gaboon Coast I was not a believer in, and could naturally not be so to the Germans as they were to the Britishers. The sting of their great defeat at Ashanti was still keen in their memories and this fact was a great help to my English traders, as the big German house of Carl Woermann of Hamburg who were the only real opposition, had instructions never to get possession of a fair share of the trade of that part of Africa.

Whilst the British and German traders were contending for supremacy in the Ivory and rubber trade the French trade was insignificant compared to these two. The rivalry between the British and German races to each other and to the French was a great difference in their friendship to each other. Whilst Germany was suffering defeats in gaining trade in a goodhearted, ingenuous manner, even when the day's work was over visiting each other's factories and talking as to their various mistakes and vied with each other in hospitality. Monday's Hamburg mail was a fine lot of men.

Bangwes and Cerings

By far the greatest number of natives who occupied Spanish and French were Mpangwes and their territory was bounded immediately from the coast and following the north bank of the Ogowe River into Central Equatorial Africa, yet unknown. They paid tribute to no man and were governed by no chief, although I did not know or care about the government as it just mattered to them had never seen a white man, whom they looked upon as a great curiosity.

I have entered many a Mpangwe village followed by a crowd of laughing women and children, who looked at a look at a white man whilst those who happened to be taken by surprise in the bush, put out of their houses and hide behind trees, etc.

Having learnt the ivory and rubber trade I was sent to Adiumango the furthest up-country post of the Company. In the absence of Mr. Jeans I boarded the Pioneer, a large paddle steamer belonging to Hatton and Cookson, the only large steamer was now over this was the last trip this boat could make up the river tip the Ikenga or more. Coming to Cape Lopes we entered the river Ogowe and in a couple of days anchored off the town of Angola, Cape Lopes and this river mouth is inhabited by the Cerings, mostly pirates and slave dealers, and I have often considered the most dangerous spot on the coast especially to the trading craft.

Mr. Sinclair

Leaving Angola we were soon in the Ogowe River proper, and passed quite a number of villages each day. The principal settlement on the north bank of the river and on the north bank of the Ogowe River, Nkomi, Orungu, Avilo and Shabbanda. Further up stream we passed Galwa and Gelgi villages and then came the Mpangwe towns both on the right and left banks, which the natives all seemed to be crowding the banks as we passed.

At the point of an island we now had a view of Carl Woerman's splendid depot where there were large numbers of natives trading at the factory. Here I was met and taken on at the Pier of Hatton and Cookson's trading shed. The crew received by the Agent in Charge, Mr. Sinclair, All were busy in no time landing and taking cargo aboard in a few days the steamer Pioneer departed with a full cargo of ivory, rubber, palm oil, Bali-rubber, also Tongue and Flake Gutta.

Mr. Sinclair was a tall well made man between the Depth of Gaboon and was a hard worker; he had an excellent staff of clerks and when I must say we did double the trade that the Agent in Charge had. On the arrival of the new bookkeeper named Stanley Smith, I was put in charge over on account of the fall of the trade, and I was very interested. The Ogowe, carefully noting the position of each and every channel from the mouth to 100 miles above the trading station.

Life On the Ogowe

I was pleased to leave Adonimango, as I was constantly at my own master. Following the main channel of the Ogowe River, I visited all the villages, visited most of the up and across traders, taking in stock of the amount of rubber, ivory, etc. I likewise bought many large canoes big enough for river trade.

I selected a large well-built canoe and took charge of the best boys, six of whom were old experienced hunters. In my crew I was well filled with rifles and ammunition, food and trading goods, so to my current expenses with, as money was practically unknown on the river trade. I was well supplied on my first trip which turned out most successfully both for myself and the firm I represented.

I chose early morning for a start and the sun was not yet visible when I met Herr Shiff, the representative of Carl Woerman and Co., and discussed matters with him for a short space of time. The old man gave me his best of advice, as he had been a long time with his firm he knew what he was talking about. I left him and fatherly advice did me a great deal of good. So bidding a hearty goodadieu, I was soon far away travelling very swiftly along the river channel.

To the Josh House

The Ogowe was full of strange life and sounds of early dawn, in fact was a veritable zoo let loose. Hippos would surround my canoe, they'd splash, snorting into deep water, crocodiles would slide off the sandy banks and clouds of white-winged seabirds would rise their egg and raised their young, having come from the ocean for this purpose.

By noon we had entered a small creek which led to Lake Ariango and before sunset I was having a good hearty supper on the shore of the most beautiful lake in the world.

By sundown we arrived at a large Galwa village, situated on the north bank of the river. Here was a small house or large Native Josh House, supposed to contain an Ingra, a sacred image, which was never died. This Josh house was situated some distance from the village, as the sacred rites were being held at the time no one was allowed near, especially the stranger or the uninitiated. Some of the boys were very eager to join this Josh but I gave them full permission to do as they wished. The fact I was curious to know all about this Josh or Godman and mentioned this fact to their chief. He said I will see what can be done, and on his return told me that if I waited till the following evening I could singing as he received as one of them.

The First While Man

A special ceremony would be necessary for the initiation of a white man, I was told what to do, on entering the Josh House. This I agreed to and had the pleasure of being initiated. I found the whole affair somewhat inspired drawing the river chart till the evening, for the use of my initiation.

What I saw in the Josh House was such a surprise to me that I shall not attempt to describe it. These ceremonies always take place in the Native Josh House, and the number of lingo for good or evil was supreme, and would always take me to get what I wished. Further I could Bango Ngwe Ngwe and saying Tzali which meant calling Yzai to witness what I

STAR OF
"RESURRECTION"

It is summer in rural Russia, in the year 1891, during the reign of Czar Alexander II.

A hay car makes its lazy way along a picturesque winding road in a vale of the Ural Mountains. The voices of two farmers singing a Russian love song are heard from the rear of the cart.

The lovers are Dmitri Ivanovitch Nekhludof and Katusha Maslova. He is a young prince, she is a peasant girl. Romance is young in their hearts. There is no social barrier between them. Youth and love have levelled it.

The hay cart hits a bump in the road, sends Katusha into Dmitri's lap, and he impulsively kisses her. "Dmitri Ivanovitch!" she exclaims.

"I didn't mean to," he apologizes. "You must never do that again!"

The car lumbers on. They pick up the interrupted strains of the song. Again the cart hits a bump in the road.

"I couldn't help it," Dmitri smiles naively. "It was another bump in the road."

In the sun-room of the country home of Dmitri's aunts, Princess Sophya Ivanovna, a gentle, poetical soul, and her sister, Princess Marya, harsh and scrupulous see Dmitri and Katusha as they ride up to the barn on the hay cart.

"It is scandalous," exclaims Marya, "the way Dmitri is carrying on with Katusha!"

"Marya dear, let them be happy together. Dmitri's vacation will be over soon and he will return to St. Petersburg. Why begrudge them the romance of their youth?"

"Romance! What do you know about Romance? You've only read about it in books."

"It is just because of what I've missed, Marya, and what you've missed, that I want to see them happy."

"There! You've done it again!"

"You forget, Sophya Dmitri Ivanovitch, Nekhludof, our nephew, is a prince, and Katusha is only a peasant."

"Prince or peasant, Marya, love is love!"

"That's something else you've read in books. I will not permit Dmitri to ruin his career."

"Their love is innocent, Marya, and therein lies his safety—and hers."

"I'll set her in her place! Dmitri must be made to realize that Katusha is not only our ward—she is our servant." Princess Marya strides out of the room and from a porch window with roses, calls the lovers

"Katusha," abruptly commands Marya, "you will polish the samovar, put new candles in the upstairs hallway place soap and towels in the bedrooms. You will also lay out Prince Dmitri's linen and polish his boots."

"Then will do that for me, Aunt Marya," Dmitri intercedes.

"I am sending Tihon to the village." Then Marya turns to Katusha a gleam of sublime malice in her eyes. "And tonight you will serve dinner in Tihon's place."

Katusha curtsies respectfully her eyes filling with tears. Marya steps closer to Dmitri and fawns upon him

"Soon you will be leaving for St. Petersburg to join the Imperial Guards."

"I prefer the peace and charm of the country." Dmitri's eyes rest indulgently on Katusha as she disappears through the doorway.

"The charm of the country you will soon forget,' insinuates Marya, "in the service of our Czar."

A few days later a droshky is drawn up at the gate in front of the great farmhouse, waiting to take Dmitri to the railroad station. Upstairs in his bedroom, Dmitri and Katusha are packing his bags.

"In St. Petersburg," naively teases Katusha, "you will meet many beautiful ladies?"

"I suppose so."

"And you will kiss their hands?"

"Probably."

"But only their hands!"

Only the backs of their hands."

Dmitri sweeps her into his arms. She drops her simulated gaiety and looks searchingly into his eyes. "Dmitri Ivanovitch, you will not forget Katusha Maslova?"

"No, Katusha."

"Then swear my little cross— and let me wear yours."

Dreamily, he lifts a chain with a cross from around his neck and places it over her head and around her neck. Then he lows his head and she places the chain of her cross around his neck.

"I love you, Katusha. I love your eyes. I love your voice— and when you smile like that—and blush—I love you."

"And I love you, too, Dmitri."

Just Playing Around

BY LEWIS ALLEN BROWNE

I didn't like the way poor Peter Thompson hustled in all serious-like that I was crazy about playing around.

In the first place I felt sorry for Peter because I knew that I couldn't settle down as the wife of a small-town plumber.

I talked it over with Viola when I got home.

"I don't think I have ever seen that childhood sweetie of yours," she said.

"You haven't missed anything. He's a big strong chap with nice wavy black hair, but he's a plumber. His hands are black and grimy. He thinks a swell blowout is to go to the movies and stop off at the delicatessen to bring home some sauerkraut, weenies and cheese."

Viola laughed and then was serious again.

"If ever I really fell for a guy it wouldn't matter to me whether he was a captain of industry or an umbrella mender," she declared.

"You are as crazy as the nancy who used a stop watch on a small race, Viola," I cried laughing at the very idea of it. "Imagine," I went on, "a picture of me in a little Jerry-built bungalow out on some muddy, barren development, washing Peter's greasy clothes, cooking the corned beef, spinach and spuds, and going to see last Fall's picture at the local movie house ever Saturday night! What a thrill that would be."

"It sure would, Katie, if you lived with the right boy," she said, still seriously.

THE OTHER SIDE

"After all of our motor trips, week end parties—after our roadhouse dinners at the St. Regis and Plaza and Ritz, opening nights at revues at twenty-five a seat—imagine living in the sticks and getting a thrill in seeing a cluster of neighbors hanging out for the week's wash!"

"Yeah! Try the other side, dearie," Viola said, quietly.

"What do you mean, the other side?"

"Imagine the right man for a husband, imagine babies in your arms and a home of your own. No job to lose if you have a headache and oversleep, and a man working steadily for you."

I stared at her.

"If I didn't know you so well,"

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
Since 1857 THE Remedy

said, "I'd almost believe you."

"Then you don't know me so well," Viola answered.

"Who is he?"

Viola grinned.

"I haven't found him yet. When I do I won't be mistaken and let him go. I'll throw myself at him so hard I'll stun him and drag him to the altar before he can get away."

"Thanks," I said, dryly, for I began to believe her and this was a new side of Viola to me, at that time, "as for me, I'll just play around and live life as it is meant to be lived."

Viola reached up and put out the light, settling down to sleep.

"Everyone to her own taste, as the old woman said who kissed her cow," she murmured.

Part of the time Cinabe was up at the Providence in Quebec for the Winter sports. Forrest wasn't back from abroad. It got a little bit dull. Occasionally Viola and I would go out with some of the other newspapermen frolf the West, but they weren't to her liking. They didn't know the live places the way Thad and Chubb, Fox rest and a few others of our friends did. Denny Thurston went around with Viola now and then, but she wasn't crazy about him.

SHE MEETS SUSIE

I happened to meet Susie Lawlor when I was doing a little Saturday noon shopping. She seemed delighted to see me. Her first words were: "I thought I'd die in hysterics when I heard what you did to Arline Parsons."

"Who told you?"

"I heard all about it from Mr. Sanders; he was my lawyer, too. I met him down at Pinehurst."

"It's rather funny now, but I was scared after I got into it," I confessed.

"My dear, I'm back for the rest of the Winter and am planning some nice little parties out at the Long Island place. Please come and bring Viola with you. There won't be any fool husband to watch and be a killjoy. I won't have any guests arriving me because friend husband is having some affair under way and I'm quite free and the sky will be the limit."

"That sounds good to me, Susie. It has been rather dull lately. Drop me a line and I'll get all Saturday off and be there Friday night with a whole set of chimes jangling." I assured her.

Susie was true to her word. Two weeks later we got a nice invitation. Mrs. Myers let us have Saturday afternoon off so we could go out in an early train Friday evening.

I knew more than half the guests. I had met them there before. Denny Dutton was along. Chubb hadn't returned and I hadn't heard from Forrest for two weeks, when he sent me a gorgeous mandarin coat. It came to me through Forrest's lawyer, who had paid duty on it and delivered it to me according to instruction. I brought it along to Susie's "sky's-the-limit" party.

At first it seemed rather tame. An English chap, Lord Percy Nelson, who had been everywhere, was entertaining and got rather chummy with me right from the start.

There was the usual amount of liquor and a jolly midnight feast, with plenty of dancing and a little card playing and target shooting. I didn't gamble. I couldn't get a kick out of it. ...

About two in the morning Susie suggested a swim in the pool. We headed there for suits and came down but the swim was off. Something had broken. There was a leak. No water, no swim, as Denny said. He was awfully wild then.

Some girl yelled that she was too tired to change into hers, so we danced and played around in our bathing suits, and Denny sure made a great hit when he suggested strip poker in bathing suits.

A couple of silly little flappers agreed, but Susie naturally wasn't that wild or foolish.

The party was gay enough, but somehow I didn't get much of a kick out of it. Neither did Viola.

Susie was to have a jazz band down the next day and another dozen lively guests were due, some over night and some just neighbors.

I was down stairs taking a constitutional in the long jazz porch by noon the next day. Only a few more guests up to that hour. I had been too wise to take many drinks and felt fine. A big car came up the winding driveway. I watched to see what the first of the new guests would be like.

Just one man got out. I took a second look.

It was Forrest Malvern!

I dashed out of the sun porch, down the great reception hall and was right back of the servant when he opened the door.

"Forrest! No, no, no!"

"Sweetheart!" he answered and he grabbed me, lifted me up and kissed me.

AN ADMISSION

"I knew you were here," he said, "and I telephoned Susie an hour ago to ask me out."

"You knew I was here," I said, doubting him.

"Got in before sunset last night and hot-footed it for your place. Nobody home. Telephoned Susie this morning at ten and learned where you were. Now, what's the big scandal?"

"That's just as it should be, Forrest. Gee, I've missed you," I said, and I meant it.

"Just for that——"

He grabbed me and kissed me again.

While he was shown to the room Susie assigned him Viola came down and joined me at my breakfast.

"You look like you'd eaten the canary," she greeted me.

"Forrest is here!" I cried.

"Malvern?"

"No one else—but gee I'm glad."

"I'm glad you're glad," she said, rather dourly.

"Aw, for cat's sake, Viola, why do you dislike him?"

"I don't know. Forget it," and she wouldn't say any more.

We had a gorgeous time that day. There was just enough snow for snowballing and Susie had the tennis courts sprayed and frozen so we could skate.

It was around five o'clock when we came in and joined the others who preferred bridge and bonne to the cool pool.

"The pool is fixed—how about a plunge before we dress for dinner?" Susie called.

I knew in a flash how it happened. He had been sent for to repair the pool.

"Why, hello Peter," I exclaimed.

Others were trooping in, screaming and yelling.

"You don't want these people to think you are friendly with a working man," he said, a trifle sarcastically.

"Sure I do, Peter," I insisted. "Well, I don't want anyone to think I am friendly with them," he said grimly. "and Katie, there isn't one of your crowd good enough for you to wipe your feet on!"

(To Be Continued)

THE FIRST IN

I was running for our room in a moment, Viola following.

We were the first ones down and we dashed down the long sun porch, through the hall and out to the bird room where the swimming pool was located.

"First in," I cried and in I went, swimming across and climbing up the other side. The edge was slippery and I would have fallen back if someone hadn't grabbed me, Viola was below, at the edge, by this time. I shook the water out of my eyes and there stood Peter Thompson, in his working clothes.Lol kit at his feet.

OCAL COUNCIL KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS MARK TWENTY-FIVE YEARS' HISTORY, LEADING OFFICERS OF ORDER WERE HERE

J. Butler, K.C., Dean of Belleville Council was Recipient of Gold-Headed Cane and Club Bag—State Chaplain, His Excellency Archbishop O'Brien of Kingston and Other Dignitaries of the Order Spoke.

Celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of Belleville of the Knights of Columbus and honoring E. J. Butler, K.C., one of the best known Knights in Canada, and Grand Knight of the local council, and a pioneer worker for Columbianism in the province, members of the Belleville council entertained at a banquet last evening that adds an outstanding number of outstanding functions sponsored by the Knights of the city. Nearly four hundred were present for the event, which took place in the spacious auditorium of St. Michael's Academy. The presence of the State Chaplain of the order, His Excellency, Most Rev. M. J. O'Brien, Archbishop of Kingston, the local chaplain, Rt. Rev. J. F. Nicholson, V. G., Kingston, and the neighbouring diocese, Dr. E. O'Connor, K.C.M.G., representative of the judiciary and high officials in the Knights of Columbus, marked the occasion as one of unusual note in the history of Belleville Council.

The spirit of the evening was a happy one. Knights and their ladies not only from Belleville, but guests from Kingston, Brockville, Trenton, Napanee, Picton and Deseronto were gathered to commemorate the founding and the founders of the Knights of Columbus in Belleville, a point from which the order spread to many and towns through the work of fifth early members. The decoration of the banquet hall was a praise for these pioneers and of encouragement for their successors. Five panels of the membership from twelve charter men here to a total of over four hundred and fifty at the present time in itself is an indication of the growth the local council has made.

The present Grand Knight, Patrick Donovan, acted as chairman, later calling upon Past Grand Knights A. J. Butler to preside. The banquet, prepared by the wives of the Knights and served by ladies of the Council, was excellent and the hostesses were paid hearty compliments by the guests. The tables were most attractively arranged, with coloured candles in silver holders, carried out in marigolds and tulips. At the head table the entire color scheme of the birthday cake with its five yellow candles. Present at the head table were His Excellency, Rt. Rev. J. F. Nicholson, V.G., Pastor of St. Michael's Church; Rev. A. J. McAuley, Ennismore; Rev. J. W. Slaughter, Madden; Rev. J. J. Kelly, Harrowsmith; Rev. J. A. Powell, Brinsville; Rev. D. A. O'Connor, Tamworth; "the Canadian Fireman", Kingston; Rev. E. M. Lecacy, Deseronto; Rev. L. J. Lennon, Trenton; Rev. Father Keller, Picton; Rev. C. E. Baker and Rev. H. J. Madden, Belleville. Guest of honour table included distinguished visitors, Dr. G. E. O'Connor, K.C.M.G., Kingston; His Honor Judge L. V. O'Connor and Mrs. O'Connor, Toronto; Grand Knight John Boyle, Toronto; District Deputy R. F. Leeder and Mrs. Leeder, Grand Knight Wm. Beam Logue, Mr. James Gowan, Miss Irene Nicholson, Mr. Victor Schollen, all of Kingston; Grand Knight George Thonitzer and Mrs. Shonitzer, Trenton; also Past Grand Knights of Belleville Council, its charter members and present officers.

E. J. Butler, Chief.

Grand Knight P. Donovan, in opening the program for the evening, welcomed the guests present as guests of Belleville Order and paid a heartfelt tribute to Mr. E. J. Butler, the dean of the Belleville Council. The council and those assembled were honoring both as First Grand Knight, first District Deputy when the district created a territory from east of Kingston to Windsor and the first State Officer from Belleville. The members of the Belleville Council, 1908, presented the speaker, took this occasion to express their appreciation of his twenty-five years' service by presenting him with a gold headed cane and his wife with a bouquet of roses.

Mr. Butler, thanking his fellow Knights in a feeling manner for their kindness, gave a brief address in which he outlined the early history of the order in the city. When Belleville council was organized twenty-five years ago, the only councils east of Ottawa were at Cornwall and Pembroke. Belleville has a right to feel proud with its membership now of three hundred and fifty, of the fact that it has been represented by the three district deputies, two or three staff officers, two delegates to Supreme Council conventions, and that it has established a degree team solely of members of the Belleville District Deputy, Mr. Butler assisted in the institution of councils at St. Catharines, Hamilton, Barrie, and Peterboro. Belleville city and town of note from Ottawa to Windsor now has the Knights of Columbus. The degree of organization there are 17,000 members in the province today.

Charter Members.

Rt. Rev. J. F. Nicholson, V.G., chaplain of the Belleville Council, in addressing the gathering, referred to the signal honour in the presence at the banquet table of His Excellency, a token of his paternal interest and unbounded personal regard. Monsignor Nicholson heartily quoted the sentiments of appreciation expressed regarding Mr. Butler and characterized him as a sterling gentleman with the qualities of mind and heart that won the admiration of all.

He paid tribute to the charter members of twenty-five years ago. On this anniversary the old and tried dreams its ranks and though there were gaps to be found behind the scenes and they gone to their reward were remembered as for those who lives on as an inspiration to members of the Order which bears his name to give of their best to God and country.

Speaker at Inaugural.

His Excellency Archbishop O'Brien spiritual head of the Knights of Belleville would always be a very happy time for him.

During the evening a delightful programme was given. Miss Kate Bawden, Mr. John Fahey and Mr. Harold Barrett, contributed vocal solos, while Misses Catherine Smith and Anna Lafferty gave interesting readings. The banquet came to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

At the celebration last evening, honoured guests were the past Grand Knights of the Order. The list of those who have held the position of holding this high office includes E. J. Butler, K.C., Frank Conway, T. F. Hughes, T. J. Barley, the late Dr. J. J. Walsh, J. A. Welch, J. M. Trustsch, John Lally (now of Montreal), J. C. Trudeau, Charles Whalen, Thomas Cushing, Charles Dolan, F. C. Lee, the late A. L. M. Howes, A. B. Collins, E. Garvin and Patrick Donavon, the present Grand Knight.

Managing Director of the National Fire Protective Association, who will address delegates to the convention of the Association on "Our Common Cause" at the dinner at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, on Wednesday evening, May 13.

ST. THOMAS Y.P. PRESENT PLAY

"The Skeleton in the Cupboard" was Exceptionally Well-Done

The group of talented young people of St. Thomas Y.P.U., Y.P.S.A. who presented to the interested and large audience in the Parish Hall last night, the comedy farce, "The Skeleton in the Cupboard" are to be heartily congratulated on the well-doubled success that crowned their efforts. Under the expert guidance of Mrs. E. R. Logie, the players produced a play that is worthy of the highest praise. The cast consisting of Geoffrey Abbott in the role of a bachelor, Bobbs (the tall magnates, Lady Hobbs, Bernice Arbuckle, Mrs. Beaumont (sister of Sir Horace), Francine Evans, Jack Hobbs, (son of Sir Horace), Fred Caldicott, Cyril Bassett, (son of Mr. Bassett), Gordon Chalmers, Mr. Golightly, Jr., Rinsenby Smythers, Mr. Smythers, Frances Lester, Perkins, Leonard Button and Mrs. Blossom, Eva Tester, who are particularly well chosen and each and every one gave to their parts the utmost to the letter.

The audience greatly enjoyed the musical treat that was offered before the opening of the play and during the intermissions when the string trio consisting of Mrs. Ross Hunter, piano, Mr. Ross Hunter, violin and Mr. Glenn Elliot, 'cello provided a beautiful musical interlude. They are all musicians of the highest say.

Each character extracted the utmost from his or her parts and provided the audience with many a good laugh in so doing. In the second act scene of the most amusing situations arose when Jack (Fred Gardiner), who had been sent down from Oxford and not wishing his parents to know it, gets caught in the room by the "love interest" in the play and is forced to hide behind the couch while Miss Smythers (Frances Lester) almost proposes to the curate. What ensues then causes many a laugh and the curate (Mr. Rimming cleverly. Sir Horace (Geoffrey Abbott) was exceptionally good in the role of the heavy father and his role of the scene where he tries to decide waht to do with Jack after yet keep it from the prying eyes of Mrs. Bassett is deserving of great praise.

Mrs. Logie read a very clever synopsis of her own composition just before the opening scene and it sums up the action of the whole play perfectly.

"Dear Friends, we welcome you to this our play,
Though grim the title, yet the story's gay.
It tells of one, the famed Sir Horace Hobbs
Self made, but kind at heart, despite his gobs
Because he gained his wealth
By teeth making pills
To cure the Proletariat of their ills.
He has two homes, palatial and grand

One wife who dotes upon him but who's planned
To climb the social ladder bit by bit.
And with the county ladies make a hit.
And then she strives to put her "h's" where
They'll do most good—to wear a cultured air.
One son, Oxford, Jack, a lively lad,
Adored by Lady Hobbs—boast of his dad.
Jack's very fond of fun and waxing gay
And can't abide his aunt; for people say
That Sarah Bassette, with her curious eyes
Would like the very secrets from the farthest skies.
She has a son called Cyril—who of still lied to aaron strings; but does not lie.
There also is a butler in our play
Who's most devoted to his butler's way.
Raised in homes in High Society
And is chief mentor of the family.
One other servant's needful to the plot
One Mrs. Blossom-Parkins loves her not.
To make our play complete we think
Would like to see some lovers bill and coo
Mrs. Willis Smythers is the lady fair
Her victim is the curate—he's a flair
For art and quaint pretty words and with knowledge frought
He naturally gets less than he ought.
There are the characters we'll now portray
Who's skeleton we'll leave for you to say
We'll do our best to please as you will find
Pray make your judgment most kind.

At the conclusion of the play Mrs. Logie was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses by the members of the cast and Archdeacon Lyons invited the young people to meet the younger people" to linger for a social half hour or so.

41 LIVES LOST TRAIN TOOK FIRE

CAIRO, Egypt, April 30.—(AP)—Forty-one persons were counted dead today, with scores injured, as the result of the strangest catastrophes in the history of railway traffic.

As the Cairo-Alexandria Express rolled along yesterday afternoon, laden with a holiday crowd of pleasure seekers, a hot box developed on one of the third class coaches and set the coach afire.

The train's motion pulled the flam es down the length of the coach, and then one by one into the other coaches. Passengers were panic stricken. Many burned to death. Others preferring to jump from the speeding train, lost their lives.

And think of baking better bread in half the time . . . with half the effort, and at less cost.
QUAKER FLOUR makes better bread, cakes and pastry. Only highest grade western wheat is milled into Quaker Flour. Tested also at every stage in the milling. Baked daily in our own kitchens so we will know it will bake right in yours.
Our booklet "The Quaker Method of Easy Bread Baking" has helped thousands of women to make the most delicious bread, without kneading or setting the sponge. We'll send it gratis if you will write to us . . . or ask your dealer. The Quaker Oats Company, Peterborough.

Father and Daughter Called to the Bar
London, April 30 (CP Cable).—Josephine Mary Butler, of Worthing, along with her father and a woman barrister from the union of South Africa, was called to the English bar last evening. The High Sheriff of Surrey, Mr. Arthur Atkin, is also a member of the English bar.
Mr. Butler qualified for his K.C. a year ago, but obtained a special dispensation enabling him to be called to the bar on the same evening as his daughter.

Old Dutch Cleanser doesn't scratch, it makes the finest cake test. Sprinkle a little Old Dutch on the porcelain enamelled surface of your bath by a smooth cake on the cleanser, and rub gently. You will be delighted to feel or hear the avoidance of gritty particles. Avoid gritty cleansers. The Old Dutch for all cleaning; it's safe.

CLEANS QUICKER
Doesn't Scratch
SAFE CLEANING . . . modern homes must have it. There's safety for all cleaning in Old Dutch Cleanser. The reason is simple Old Dutch doesn't scratch; contains no harsh, chunky grit. Protects smooth surfaces preserves beauty and brilliance; and it's kind to the hands.
Old Dutch cleans quicker than anything else. Its tiny, flat-shaped particles, with one quick, smooth sweep, remove all dirt—visible and invisible. Old Dutch safeguards your home with Healthful Cleanliness.
Use this modern cleanser for porcelain, enamel, tile, marble, pots and pans, refrigerators, stoves, windows and painted walls. Old Dutch goes further—lasts longer and costs less to use.
